Women make good jurors and to them we wish briefly to sum up, the evidence proving the superiority of Magic Dyes, to wit: They color any thing and everything and are easy to use. Give rich, fast colors, which do not crock or fade like most other brands. The packages are larger than 10 cent dyes and color nearly double the goods.

Other brands require a separate package for cotton, while nearly all magic colors will dye cotton, wool, silk etc., with the same package, making them far superior for coloring mixed goods. Furthermore, try them follow the simple directions and your verdict after trial will be for Magic Dyes. Sold A. F. Long & Co.

Here's the Idea
Of the Non-pull-out Bow

The great watch saver. Saves the watch from thieves and falls—cannot be pulled off the case—costs nothing extra.

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and holds it firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

Can only be had with cases stamped with this trade mark.

Jas. Boss Filled Watch Cases are now fitted with this great bow (ring). They look and wear like solid gold cases. Cost only about half as much, and are guaranteed for twenty years. Sold only through watch dealers. Remember the name

Non-pull-out
Keystone Watch Case Co.,
PHILADELPHIA.

OLD OLO'.

New Industry That Promises Good Results for Seller and Purchaser.

"Have you any children, and would you like to buy some cheap clothing for them?" This came from a voice that came from a huge moving bundle of clothing at the back door the other morning.

Here was an innovation in peddler-ism. The clothing club man had been around and all the rest of his ilk, but this was the first of this kind seen. He was invited in and negotiations for some of the stock were opened. There were boys' trousers for seven cents, a whole suit for fifteen and girls' ruffled frocks for five cents, and various other things for ridiculous low prices.

A purchase of twenty-five cents worth made a favorable impression on the bargain man. It needed only a glance to see that the things were made over from larger garments. With the influence of a cup of coffee and a plate of cakes the made-over clothes man was easily inveigled into telling a short history of the make and origin of this new industry. He had a large family. His wife and four girls, all well grown who could obtain no employment, had made some clothes for a neighbor's children in the evening.
This suggested a new manufacturing and mercantile field. The head of the house who sorted rags in a warehouse, set about making a collection of larger garments of the sort that could be reduced in size.
Sometimes he begged them and sometimes he bought them. The garments to be made over are washed before the cutting and sewing begins. A pair of trousers will make two pairs for a boy 10 or 12 years old. A wrap or a dress will make four or five dresses for girls from 5 to 10. The clothes are all well made and clean, and the fit is probably as good as the average. They are primitive in style, perhaps, but what can one expect for a dime? There is no profuse display of buttons. The mother cuts and prepares for the sewing and the girls sew, while the father procures the material and does the selling. Sometimes they net for their week's work as much as $12, sometimes more.

FIVE HUNDRED MILES.
Railroad Building in 1894 Smaller Than for a Number of Years.

During the six months of the present year, up to July 1, only 495 miles of new railroad were built in this country. That is less than for any previous half year for many years. It is only a third of what was built in a similar period of 1891, 700 miles less than during the first half of 1892, and 530 miles below the first half of 1893.
The total track built in each of those years was 2,585 miles in 1893, 4,010 miles in 1892 and 4,012 miles in 1891. Usually the proportion of new track laid in the first half of the year is between thirty and forty per cent of the total reported for the year. If past experience is to be repeated this year, this report of 495 miles built means that only about 1,500 miles will be built in 1894, and such a low figure as that has not been reported since accurate records have been kept.
But there is good reason to believe that the total of new railroad constructed in the twelve months will be larger than the result reported for the half year may seem to promise, judging only from the proportion of work that has heretofore been done in the early part of the year. Railroad men are surprised to know that even 500 miles of new road have been built, so quietly has the work gone on, generally on short lines widely distributed over the country, few of them making connections with roads.
What will be done during the rest of the year depends, of course, on the changes that may occur in the state of financial affairs of the country.
But it is a fact of much significance that the amount of new road in which the investment made is too great to be lost by any failure to complete the projects is probably larger than at this time last year.

Consumption of Meat.

Out of a steer weighing 1,000 pounds there is obtained only 180 pounds of really choice meat, two ribs and two loins, which are sold to fancy butchers and hotel men for eighteen to twenty cents a pound, while the rest of the animal is worth only from three to eleven cents. An average sized hotel of the first class takes $1,400 worth of beef a month. By the time the bone is taken out every pound of beef that goes on the table in a swell hosterie costs fifty cents a pound, which goes far toward explaining the logic of the rates charged by such establishments.

Increase of Crime in Hot Weather.

The increase of crimes of violence during a heated term cannot fail to suggest to the student of social science the multiplication of comfort-giving appliances—and notably of fresh water and cooling shade—as agencies likely to diminish the number of murders and suicides in cities.
If poor people could find more comfort at home they would not flock to gether into places in which bad drink, added to the abnormal excitement produced by the high temperature, soon deprives them of caution and urges them to violence.

Selling Land in France.

Anciently, in many parts of France, when a sale of land took place, it was the custom to have twelve adult witnesses accomplished by twelve little boys; and, when the price of the land was paid and its surrender took place, the ears of the boys were pulled and they were beaten severely, so that the pain thus inflicted should make an impression upon their memory, and if required afterward, they might bear witness to the sale.

As over heard by our reporter. "John please get some sugar at Black's; he gives more for the money than the other dealers; to economize we must be careful to get our money's worth of everything—and Oh! John, don't forget to stop at Long & Co.'s drug store for a bottle of Brant's Balsam, it only costs a quarter and it cured my cough so quickly before. I have confidence in it, besides it is economical to use, the bottles are extra large, while the dose is only a half teaspoonful. Get Brant's Diseases Desperate Growth.

Asthma Bronchitis, catarrh, consumption, dyspepsia, nervous prostration, neuralgia, rheumatism are diseases which are considered "desperate" as well by physician as by patient.

The extinction of those ailments would cut off a great source of revenue of the doctors.

Notwithstanding these and other diseases have been still cured in numerous cases by the Compound Oxygen Treatment. This is not a mere assertion. We can furnish abundant proof and well authenticated records of remarkable cures of seemingly desperate ailments, and we will gladly do so.
If you will write to us, we will send you, free of charge, our book of two hundred pages, with numerous testimonials and records of surprising cures.

Our treatment is by inhalation, and is not followed by any ill effects such as are often caused by the use of drugs.
Home Treatment is sent out by express, to be used at home.

Office treatment is administered here.
