—Grandfather Polk, of this city, and whose age cannot be far from seventy-five years, is actually "cutting" a new set of teeth. The old gentleman seems to think that he is about to be "born again" in the literal sense of that term.—[Wabash Courier.]

—A. Leopold has received his immense stock of fall and winter dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, hats, caps, fancy goods, notions, etc., and is now waging a relentless war against high prices. Call and examine his magnificent stock and learn prices before making purchases.

—Yesterday was a big day at Delphi; 5,000 people on hands. The free lunch was soon gobbled up by the hungry multitude. The programme was carried out as nearly as possible. Delphi outdoes herself, over the completion of the L. D. & C. R. Y.—[Brookston Reporter.]

—Mr. J. H. Peacock has leased the Haloran Hotel and will make a first-class resort of it for the weary traveler. Mr. Peacock has had years of experience in the business and we predict that he will soon build up for the house an enviable reputation. See card in another column.

—You will find prints by the case, 500 pounds of all wool factory yarn, boots and shoes by the carload, at Hopkins' corner. They are all paid for, and will be sold at our lowest possible prices. We console ourselves thus: Whoever sells them under our quotations will make nothing.

—LUDD HOPKINS.

—The opening of the Indianapolis, Delphi & Chicago Narrow Gauge R. R. to Delphi took place yesterday. A grand reception was given by Lathrop's Cornet Band and a large number of citizens of Delphi. Rensselaer has good communication with three important railroads.—[Remington Reporter.]

—J. W. McEwen, of the Sentinel, has been awarded the contract for printing premium list, rules and regulations of the Eighth Annual Fair of the Jasper County Agricultural Society to be held at Rensselaer, Indiana, October 7th to 10th, inclusive. One thousand copies in pamphlet form are to be printed and ready for distribution by the 23d of this month.

—The question that should be asked is not who will be nominated for president in 1880, but what will do the greatest good to the greatest number afflicted with malaria, chills, fever, liver complaint, dyspepsia, neuralgia, sick headache, general debility or loss of appetite? We answer Liebig's Ague Cure, in liquid or pills. Sold by W. J. Imes, Rensselaer, Indiana. 13-2t.

—On account of the continued ill health of my family I have concluded to leave Rensselaer, and for the next thirty days will sell watches and jewelry at a sacrifice. $15 watches for $12.50. Persons who have left watches with me for repairs will please call and get them. If any who have purchased goods of me are not satisfied and will call I will render satisfaction according to guarantee. W. S. ORWIN.

—The list of ministerial appointments of the Northwest Indiana Conference for the ensuing year appears elsewhere in these columns. By reference to the same it will be seen that Rev. W. G. Vessels, who has been pastor of the M. E. Church at this place for the conference year just closed, has been transferred to the charge at Kentland. He is succeeded in the work here by Rev. A. W. Wood.

—Cool and frosty mornings this week.

—Business is livelier in Rensselaer this fall than it has been for several years. Verily, the good times have come.

—Remember that W. S. Orwin, the jeweler, is going to leave, and you can buy watches, clocks and jewelry down to rock bottom prices, as he is bound to sell what he can before leaving. Bring the cash and try him.

—Through some neglect or oversight a part of the proceedings of the board of town trustees was omitted in the report published last week. In the matter of the petition of business men on Washington street praying for the passage of an ordinance requiring the weekly cleaning of Washington street from Front to Van Rensselaer, etc., a motion to reconsider the action of the board in ordering the clerk to draft an ordinance in accordance with the prayer of the petitioners was carried, and on motion the matter was continued until the next regular meeting.

—Rev. S. A. Chaplin, editor of the Restoration, Plymouth, Ind., one of the finest scholars and writers of this country, says: We are not in favor of doing much with medicine in sickness. We trust much to the curative powers of nature and more to the blessing of God. We were, however, induced by Mr. Pershing, to try Liebig's Fever and Ague Pills, and found them decidedly beneficial in our late attack of fever. From their composition, as described by Mr. Pershing, we believe them to be perfectly safe. We would recommend the trial of this remedy to any of our friends who are suffering from any of the malarious diseases of the season and climate. Sold by druggists generally. 12-4t.

—The grand opening of the popular dry goods house of F. J. Sears & Co. on Tuesday evening last was a complete success. Their large store room was thronged with customers and invited friends from early in the evening until a late hour, all of whom were delighted with the excellent display of goods. No pains were spared by the proprietors to make the affair as attractive as possible, and in this respect they succeeded admirably. Such a display has never been seen in the town, and the spectators seemed perfectly amazed at the dazzling splendor that met their gaze on every hand. Dress goods in great variety, fancy goods, ribbons, trimmings, laces, buttons, and notions till you can't rest. In fact, everything to be found in a first-class dry-goods store might have been seen displayed upon this occasion. We congratulate Messrs. F. J. Sears & Co. upon the success of this their first trade opening, and feel safe in predicting that such enterprise as they exhibit will meet its reward.

—The old settlers' reunion at this place last Saturday was not so largely attended as was expected, owing mostly to the change, in place of meeting, from Indian Village to Rensselaer. The committee of arrangements were prompted to make the change on account of the prospects for a scarcity of water at the usual place of holding the reunions, but after the change was announced the continued dry spell was broken by copious showers furnishing an abundance of water to the regions that had for weeks been suffering from the drought. The change occasioned no little dissatisfaction among the pioneers and more or less inconvenience to the committee. However, those who attended spent the time very pleasantly reciting their experience in pioneer life, and recounting the hardships and privations endured in the early settlement of the country. Short and appropriate addresses were delivered by Judge Hammond, M. L. Spitzer, Thos. R. Barker, Jno. Query and others. Taking all in all it was a very profitable and enjoyable affair, and one that will long be remembered by all present.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found the mammoth advertisement of A. Leopold, the dry goods prince of Jasper county. The advertisement is only in keeping with the man and the stock of goods he has on exhibition at his establishment. To say that his stock of fall and winter goods is superb is expressing it in very mild terms. It is simply immense. The shelves of his large store room are filled from top to bottom with prints of the latest patterns, delaines, silks, satins, velvets, muslins, fancy goods, notions, hosiery, etc., etc., and the counters piled up and running over with clothing for men, youths and boys. In fact every foot of available space is packed with goods of every description which were selected with great care, to meet the wants of his customers and the demands of his rapidly increasing trade. All his goods were bought for cash at a liberal discount which gives him great advantage in being able to sell for less than those of his competitors who bought on sixty or ninety days time without the benefit of the discount. Persons who have the cash to buy goods will consult their own interests by first calling at Leopold's examining goods and learning prices before making purchases.

—At almost every fair held in this county which we have attended, we have heard the remark, "Why, I could beat that," or "that is not near so good as some I have at home," and the speakers appeared to be surprised that a premium should be awarded on what they considered inferior articles; and they are ready to accuse the managers of favoritism. Now this should be avoided, and the way to do it is for every man and woman in the county to place their best stock, grain, fruits or other products, and their best samples of mechanical skill or handicraft on exhibition, and if you are awarded a premium, all right; if not, you will have the satisfaction of showing that you are not ashamed of your productions, and have assisted in making the fair of 1879 the best ever held in the county. Let us have every inch of space in the fair grounds occupied this year.—[Warsaw Republican.] There are some people in Jasper county of the class above alluded to who will do well to heed these suggestions. If they have anything that they think is a little better than somebody else's let them take it to the fair by all means and put it on exhibition. The truth is, however, that the persons who do the greatest amount of grumbling have nothing at home that would begin to compare with the articles they criticize at the fairs, hence their dissatisfaction.

REMINGTON POT-POURRI.
[From our special correspondent.]

Cool weather has made its appearance and linen dusters have been consigned to winter quarters.

H. W. Snyder will soon move into his own residence on Ohio street, it being refitted for his reception.

S. M. Black departed for Colorado last week. He leaves many warm friends behind, and his loss will be sorely felt in Remington.

The vacant houses in town are being taken one after another, and everything indicates that in a short time every domicile will be occupied.

The few slight frosts we have had, have done no damage as yet. In fact they have probably been beneficial in checking the growth of late corn and giving it a chance to ripen.

The Remington schools will commence on Monday, the 15th instant. An able and efficient corps of teachers has been engaged, and it is confidently expected that our schools will be second to none this coming winter.

A few farmers are about to move into town for the winter for the purpose of schooling their children. The excellence of schools here and the distance of the country school house at home being the motive causes. This shows an increase of interest in educating the rising generation.

Remington has one hell-hole in the shape of a government saloon that needs purging with fire, and if the proprietor should accidentally fall into the devouring element and be consumed no harm would be done. Drunkenness is getting on the increase again and these doggeries supply the means.

Two or three of the Remingtonians who visited Lafayette during the fair at that place, took too much benzine, and as a matter of course dishonored the blue ribbons which they wore. Persons with no more resolution and stamina than that find the safest course in keeping away from such gatherings.

In riding over the country evidences are plenty of an enormous corn crop. Hundreds of farmers are building commodious and substantial cribs for storing away the grain. In some sections the eye can reach for miles and still gaze upon corn. Yet a few weeks and these immense fields will teem with life, bustle and activity, when the merry huskers commence operations.

J. M. Briggs, who has for some weeks past been suffering from a severe attack of fever, is convalescent and will soon, from present appearances, be able to attend to business again. It is reported that Fred. Bloomer is quite sick with typhoid fever. Take it all in all, however, there is not much sickness in and about Remington. The chills do not seem so plentiful this fall as usual. GAYLES.

CARD OF THANKS.
RENSSELAER, IND., Sept. 8, 1879.
ED. STANDARD:—Permit me to express, through the columns of your paper, my sincere thanks to those kind friends who have rendered such valuable aid in the care of my daughter who has been lying quite ill at the residence of M. E. Baylor for several weeks past. As I go to my home I shall carry with me and ever cherish a fond remembrance of those dear friends, and earnestly hope they may receive a just reward for their kindness and liberality.

With best wishes for all with whom I came in contact during my stay in your pleasant little city, I subscribe myself
Truly yours, JAMES WELCH.

E. R. BURR, Trustee.
J. A. BURNHAM, Teacher of No. 1.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Jasper County Agricultural Society, Monday, September 8th, Secretary D. J. Thompson reported having completed negotiations for and received the deed to the fair grounds owned by the late Jasper County Agricultural and Mechanical Association. His report was accepted. D. J. Thompson tendered his resignation as secretary of the society and as a member of the board of directors, private business interfering with the proper discharge of the duties pertaining to his official relations to the society. Norman Warner was elected to the office of director made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Thompson. Horace E. James was elected secretary of the society.

Old Settlers' Reunion.
The Old Settlers of Jasper and Newton counties held their annual reunion for 1879 in the court house at Rensselaer, Indiana, Saturday, September 6th. The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock P. M., by Hon. George H. Brown, of Jasper county, the retiring president of the organization. Hon. Jared Benjamin, of Jasper county, was chosen permanent chairman of the meeting and president of the society for the ensuing year. Frank W. Babcock was elected secretary. On taking the chair Mr. Benjamin defined the object of the meeting in a short appropriate speech. Regular exercises were then opened with prayer by Rev. Hope B. Miller. The opening address was read by Marion L. Spitzer, Esq. The address sparked with happy allusions to early time scenes, and was full of practical suggestions for the present and future. Then followed off-hand speeches in response to calls by the chair from Judge Hammond, John Query, "Uncle Gus" Bingham, Thomas Robinson and Samuel L. Spirling of Jasper county, and Messrs. Thomas Barker and Thomas Buswell of Newton county. A general good feeling prevailed throughout the meeting, and after the speeches there was a hearty vote in favor of continuing the organization and for holding the next annual meeting on the first Saturday in next September at such place as the executive committee shall select. On motion the president was authorized to appoint an executive committee of five, to have charge of the business of the society, to make arrangements for its next reunion, etc.; also to appoint an advisory committee of twelve; these committees to be appointed at the convenience of the president and to be announced through the newspapers of the two counties.

The executive committee as appointed by the president consists of Thomas R. Barker and John McCarthy of Newton county, William K. Parkison, Charles M. Watson, Frank W. Babcock of Jasper county.

The advisory committee consists of Simon Alter, Samuel L. Spirling, A. W. Bingham, Thomas Robinson, Marion L. Spitzer, Alex. Rowen, John Query, of Jasper county, Zachariah Spitzer, Thomas Buswell, Ransom Elijah, Henry S. Harris, Newton county.

The Rensselaer, Kentland, Remington and Goodland newspapers were respectfully asked to publish these proceedings.

JARED BENJAMIN, President.
FRANK W. BABCOCK, Secretary.

Commissioners' Court Proceedings.
Appropriations for repair of bridges, as follows:
In Newton township, on Curtis creek, near John Yeoman's, $30 00.
In Barkley and Hauging Grove townships, the Parker bridge, and the Moore bridge, each $75 00.
In Rensselaer, the bridge over the Iroquois, $21 00.
Shelby Grant, Sup't of Poor Farm, submits his semi-annual report. No. of inmates—8. Receipts—$172 27. Expenses—$1001 60.
The Board contracted with Dr. H. W. Reigel to attend the poor in Carpenter township for the next six months for $74 50.
Joseph Willett was refused license to retail intoxicating liquors in Remington.
Petitions for numerous bridges, and appropriations therefor, continued.
The application of Francis M. Hays and Mary J. Goff for a ditch in Barkley township, was considered, and Messrs. John C. Porter, Henry Fisher and John W. Hargrave appointed appraisers to assess benefits.
The Sheriff was authorized to receive the pump at Court House well from F. W. Bedford when satisfied it works according to warrant.
Contract entered into with Charles P. Hopkins to paint the Groom, Bedford, Hoover, and Carpenter creek bridges for $33 00.
Change of road in Marion township, petitioned for by Alfred Thompson et al., and one in Newton township, petitioned for by Abraham Freeland et al., the viewers having reported favorably, and no remonstrance offered, were granted.
Other road petitions continued, and matters of minor importance passed.
The allowances made by the Board at this term aggregate $2,065 97.

THE REVIVAL.
The revival of business is noticeable on every hand. The merchants who built high hopes on what would come after harvest are free to admit that the revival has been greater than they expected, and everything is entirely satisfactory. The prospects for a heavy fall trade are the best for years. The disposition to pay cash for whatever is purchased has not been so great since 1866. It is seldom that credit is asked for. This is one of the most healthy signs that comes to prosperous business, and the general opinion is that it will be a long time before the people will think again of getting into debt. Their experience has been a dear one, and they do not want to repeat it. The outlook for the future could not be better. There is no surplus goods in the hands of the consumers. They need goods, and have now got the money with which to get them, and the necessity for a credit system has passed, and trade is booming in every direction, and the merchant who goes into trade with industry and enterprise for his motto, will be rewarded with success.—[Lafayette Journal.]
