TROQUEUX POULTRY YARDS.

(One-half mile east of Rensselaer, Ind.)
C. W. CLIFTON, Proprietor.
Breeder of Buff and White Cochins, White and Black Leghorns, Light and Dark Brahmas, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans and B. B. R. Game Bantams. Eggs in season. A few Buff cockerels for sale.

Buckwheat is excellent for laying hens, if not fed too freely.

Give a woman a hen instead of a gun, if you want to see her shoe 't.

To BREEDERS.—Your card will be inserted in this paper one year for $3.

The skin of a boiled egg is the most efficacious remedy that can be applied to a boil.

True affection grows stronger as it grows older—the same may be said of cheese and eggs.

Protect your fowls against the cold November winds, more especially the younger ones or they will stop growing.

High perches cause injury to heavy fowls when descending. The roost should be about 20 or 24 inches from the ground.

Poultry shows to occur: Washburn Valley Poultry Association, LaFayette, Ind. R. T. Wells, Sec., Dec. 10 to 17, 1879.

Logansport (Ind.) Poultry and Pet Stock Association. C. H. Miller, Sec., Dec. 29, '79, to Jan. 2, '80.

Indiana State Poultry Association, Indianapolis. H. C. G. Bais, Sec., Jan. 8, to 15, 1880.

Northern Indiana Poultry Association, Fort Wayne. J. H. Welch, Sec., Jan. 27 to 30, 1880.

Vulture Hocks.

Is not generally well understood. The Vulture Hock proper is a hock projecting two or more inches straight back from the joint, like a spur, and is composed of stiff hard feathers. If the hock is of soft feathers and curl inward around the joint, it is no disqualification. Such a bird will beguile chicks with full and fine leg and toe feathering.

Chicken Diseases.

CANKER.

Very similar to roup but of the nature of diphtheria and much more difficult to cure than roup. It seems also to be caused by taking cold, but is contagious. Ulcers usually form in the throat, mouth, and on the tongue, but sometimes on the head, in the nostrils, and even the eye, destroying the sight. REMEDY.—Provide a small swab, cleanse off twice a day the offensive cheesy matter, and wash with well chlorinated soda, or strong alum water, dusting the sores with burnt alum or powdered borax. Give a pill daily made of 2 gr. of blue mass and 2 grs. of quinine. Give tonic food and Douglas Mixture to drink. Remove the sick fowls, as it spreads by touch. Disinfect as for cholera or roup.

Vermilion Fowls.

This pest is much wider spread than any one would at first believe. It indirectly is the cause of more deaths, more poor, weak, undergrown fowls than any other one cause. If you don't believe this, go out to your poultry yard, pick up the first moping or poor fowl you may see and carefully examine it, especially on top of the head. We copy the following from The Poultry Yard: "The best as well as easiest remedy for getting rid of vermillion fowls, and keeping them clear afterward, is first to clean and whitewash the roosts, and then a liberal supply of salt to the wash. Then have the entrance to and from these roosts small enough so that a sponge saturated with kerosene oil hung over the entrance would come in contact with the back of the fowl every time it goes in or out. Supply the sponge with oil once a week."

Dark Brahmas.

The Dark Brahma is nowise inferior to the Light Brahma, while in some respects it is superior. For instance, their color does not soil with the smoke and dust of town like lighter colors. They are remarkable for their size, beauty of form and feather, excellent flesh, egg producing, extreme hardiness and early maturing. They are active and better foragers than some others of the larger breeds. Their description, with the exception of color, is about the same as the light Brahmas. Cocks should have very dark mottled, or better, solid black breasts. General color black. Feathers on head, hackles and tail coverts should be a silver gray penciled with black. The hen should appear of almost a uniform color, beautifully marked with steel gray pencilling. Both outer and middle toes should be feathered.

WHAT AN OLD MAN HAS NOTICED.

I have noticed that all men are honest when well watched.
I have noticed that purses will hold pennies as well as pounds.
I have noticed that in order to be a reasonable creature it is necessary at times to be downright mad.
I have noticed when the purse is empty and the kitchen cold, then is the voice of flattery no longer heard.
I have noticed that silks, broad-cloths and jewels are often bought with other people's money.
I have noticed that whatever is, is right, with a few exceptions—the left eye, the left leg and the left side of a plum pudding.
I have noticed that the prayer of the selfish man is, "Forgive us our debts," while he makes everybody that owes him pay to the utmost farthing.
I have noticed that he who thinks every man a rogue, is certain to see one when he shaves himself, and he ought, in theory to see his neighbors, to surrender the rascal to justice.
I have noticed that money is the fool's wisdom, the knave's reputation, the poor man's desire, the covetous man's ambition, and the idol of them all.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1879.

GO AND SEE GRANT.

A grand reception will be given General Grant at Chicago, Wednesday, November 12th, under the auspices of the Army of the Tennessee and all ex-veterans, which will be the largest and grandest affair of the kind ever yet undertaken. The citizens of Chicago have agreed to make it a holiday, and will close all business houses and turn out en masse to do honor to the great chieftain. The grand parade will move promptly at 3 o'clock p. m., with 80,000 men in line, infantry, cavalry, artillery, citizens, Army of the Tennessee, Union Veterans, Grand Army of the Republic, 200 bands of music, secret societies, trade unions and orders, and governors of states. At night the city will be illuminated by the electric light and the most brilliant display of fireworks ever seen. In order to give the citizens of Jasper county an opportunity to see the ex-president and witness the grand display, the I. D. & C., L. N. A. & C. and B. & O. railroads will run an excursion train over their roads which will leave Rensselaer at noon on Tuesday, the 11th instant, arriving in Chicago at 7 o'clock in the evening. Round trip tickets, good for return passage until November 17th inclusive, $3.00. Let everybody who can, avail themselves of these low rates, and go and see the renowned ex-president. It will probably be your last chance to see the great chieftain, to whom almost every nation has paid homage.

—Grant in Chicago next Wednesday.

—Teachers' Institute in Hanging Grove township to-day.

—D. A. Fayette is now driving the quill for the Flora Record.

—Hallowell was duly observed by some of the fair damsels of Rensselaer.

—Samuel Rothrock, of Monticello, is seeking for John L. Purcupile & Co.

—The Blue Ribbon temperance meeting will be held at the Court House to-night.

—Mr. D. B. Miller and wife returned, Monday evening, from a visit to Valparaiso.

—Daniel Moran and W. B. Pierce, Remington attorneys, attended court here this week.

—Hon. McCue and W. S. Lingle, of LaFayette, were attending court in this place this week.

—The new paper mill company at Monticello advertises for fifty men, and offers $1.50 per day.

—S. C. Scott, of Crawfordville, now occupies the position of express messenger on the narrow gauge.

—Town Marshal Powers has made extensive additions to his dwelling on the south side of the river.

—A new post office called Keener has been established in Keener township, with George Boer as postmaster.

—Dec. Payne, the gentlemanly tonsorial artist of Remington, gave THE STANDARD office a friendly call yesterday.

—The Marion Township Teachers' Institute will be held at Bowling Green school house on the third Saturday of this month.

—Look out for a new stock of overcoats and fancy suitings at T. M. Jones' next week. Large stock on the way.

—Mr. U. Z. Wiley and Mrs. Dawson Smith, Fowler attorneys, were in attendance at the Jasper circuit court on Monday last.

—Mrs. J. M. Hopkins is prepared to do stamping for ladies' needle work. All work warranted. Call and see her patterns.

—Elder N. F. Ravlin, of Chicago, is drilling a class in elocution, at this place. The class numbers about thirty-five persons.

—Cards are out announcing the marriage, on the 16th instant, of Mr. Louis Wildberg, of Kentland, and Miss Bertha Tuteur, of this place.

—A pound party for the benefit of Rev. A. W. Wood and wife was held at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday evening. A good time is reported.

—Dr. I. B. Washburn has removed his office to the room two doors below the Stone Building, where he may be found during office hours.

—Mr. Ira W. Yeoman, of Goodland, attended court in this place yesterday and day before. Of course he gave THE STANDARD office a call.

—Excursion from Rensselaer to Chicago next Tuesday, to the Grant reception. Fare for round trip only $3.00. Read notice of the grand affair in this column.

—County Auditor Nowels entered upon his official duties last Monday. He starts in as though he meant business, and we have no doubt he will make an efficient officer.

—Any man with an ordinary amount of brains, cao, in time, get to be a very typewriter. So says a galoot from Remington, who has barely talent enough, to run a wheelbarrow.

—The vegetable man of the Monticello Herald has a production at his office in the shape of a radish weighing twenty-five pounds and measuring thirty-eight inches in circumference.

—Married, November 24, 1879, at the residence of Mr. Samuel Ball, by Rev. D. J. Huston, Mr. Francis M. Winkley and Miss Emma J. Ball, both of Monon township, White county.

—Miss "Madge" Osborn returned Saturday evening, from Whitehall, Michigan, where she had been for several days, watching at the bedside of her sister Mamie, who is now slowly recovering.

—Marriage licenses were issued during the week past to the following parties: Henry B. Murray and Vilette B. Fielder; Joseph I. Adams and Susan M. E. Castor; Henry B. Steele and Cassie A. Hurley.

—Will Kirtley has gone to Peru to marry. Will bring his wife home the first of next week.

—Considerable time has been occupied in the Jasper circuit court, this week, by a change of venue case from Benton county.

—Married, November 6th, 1879, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. D. J. Huston, Joseph I. Adams and Susan M. E. Castor, all of Jasper county.

—The "Rolland Hughes" engine jumped the track, near Pittsburg, Thursday night, in consequence of which the train did not reach this place till about midnight.

—"Gates," our sprightly correspondent at Remington, gave us a brief call Tuesday. He reports farmers in southern Jasper all busy "shucking" corn, and locals "fearfully and wonderfully scarce."

—"The miraculous gifts of the Spirit"—their purpose and perpetuity," will be the subject Sunday next, morning and evening, at the Christian Church, by Elder D. T. Halstead. The public cordially invited.

—Mr. W. S. Orwin bade his Rensselaer friends good-bye, last Tuesday, and departed for Rushville, his future home. Mr. Orwin is a gentleman in every sense of the word, and will make friends wherever he goes.

—Died, of membranous croup, on Wednesday, the 5th instant, Cora May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, aged three years. Funeral held from the house on Thursday, Rev. Mr. Wood conducting the services.

—FOR SALE.—Part northwest of 25, 27, 7, 3 acres. The above tract is situated in Remington, Jasper county, Indiana, and is a very desirable property. For particulars call on or address Geo. W. Johnson, Rensselaer, Indiana.

—Wanted, to buy or trade for small farm of 80 to 120 acres, in Jasper county. Good location desired. Will not object to small incumbrance. Will pay part cash. Call on or address Wright & Reeve, real estate brokers, Rensselaer, Indiana.

—The members of the Rensselaer bar, together with a number of visiting attorneys, gave a literary entertainment in Starr's Hall, Wednesday evening, which was indeed a rare treat for all who were fortunate enough to be present.

—New goods at Mrs. Rothrock's millinery room. All the latest styles, from "a love of a bonnet" down to infants' caps. Prices low, and satisfaction guaranteed. Stamp- ing, for ladies' ornamental needle work, done on short notice, and at reasonable rates.

—The narrow gauge trains, for some unaccountable reason, are not run on schedule time. Especially is this the case with the afternoon trains. It will be a great convenience to the traveling public when telegraphic communication is established along the road. [Monticello Herald.]

—"Squaw winter" is what they call it, and it came last Saturday night in the shape of a snow storm, the first of the season. The ground was covered Sunday morning to the depth of three inches with the "beautiful" which remained until Tuesday. "Indian summer" will be next in order.

—Z. Dwiggins, of the Citizens' Bank, went to Chicago, this week, to purchase a new bank safe. It is understood that the banking firm of R. S. & Z. Dwiggins will soon open a branch bank at Oxford. They are both energetic, enterprising business men, and make a success of everything they undertake.

—Cotton & McCoy is the firm name of the extensive lumber and coal dealers at this place, instead of Cotton, McCoy & Son, as was published in these columns last week. When in need of anything in their line give Messrs. Cotton & McCoy a call. They are paying the highest market price for grain and hogs.

—William Hays, who was tried in the Jasper circuit court, this week, upon a charge of trespassing, was found guilty and fined $40. On failure to produce the required amount he was committed to jail. His residence will be in Monticello for awhile. Sheriff Robinson accompanied him to his new quarters yesterday.

—Married, at the residence of the bride's father, in Barkley township, by Justice Marlon, November 5th, Mr. Henry B. Murray and Miss Vilette B. Fielder, all of Jasper county. Harry has made a wise choice, and THE STANDARD congratulates him upon his new departure. May the happy couple live long to enjoy the blessings of wedded life.

—"A Broken Home" is the title of the drama to be rendered by the Rensselaer Dramatic Club at Starr's Hall, next Thursday evening. This is one of the first temperance plays of the day, and draws large audiences wherever it is performed. Let everybody turn out. It is well worth twice the price of admission. Remember the time.

—A grand meteoric display is announced for the night of the 13th instant, which Prof. Tice says will eclipse all former exhibitions of this nature. Doors open promptly at one o'clock in the morning, performance commencing shortly thereafter. Admission to the entertainment free to all who will take the pains to get up at that hour to witness it. No postponement on account of the weather.

—On Thursday evening, November 13th, the Rensselaer Dramatic Club will present to the public "The Miller of Derwent Water" and the thrilling temperance drama entitled "A Broken Home, or Three Glasses a Day." These plays partake of both the sublime and the ridiculous, and are pronounced first class by all who have witnessed the rendition of them. Programme and full particulars will be published in due time.

—At the temperance meeting held in the Presbyterian church Monday evening, Ed. Brooks, a roustabout lecturer, entertained the audience a few minutes with an interesting account of his "rise and fall," etc. He also delivered a temperance lecture in the court house, Tuesday evening, to a fair sized audience. Ed. has evidently been a "brick" in his time, but he has reformed and is now working for the reformation of his fallen fellows.

—For the week ending November 7th, 1879, letters and postal cards to the number of 1,099, and newspapers, circulars and miscellaneous matter to the number of 1,635, making a total of 2,734 pieces, were mailed at the post office in Rensselaer, Indiana.

—Judge James A. Carnahan, a prominent attorney of LaFayette, and Grand Vice Chancellor of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias of Indiana, paid Rensselaer Lodge No. 82 K. of P., an official visit on last Thursday night, and was given a hearty welcome by the brave Knights of this place. During the evening he assisted in conferring the three several grades of rank, and the boys all attest that he is one of the most proficient workers in Pythianism in the state.

—Susan B. Anthony delivered her lecture upon the subject "Woman wants bread, not the ballot," in Starr's Hall, last evening, to a respectable sized audience composed of the more respectable class of citizens of Rensselaer and vicinity. She handled her subject in an able manner, and it is not unlikely she convinced a few of her hearers, especially those of her own sex, that women should be granted the privileges of the ballot. Miss Anthony is a pleasing speaker, and has evidently given her subject much study, but whether she and her co-laborers ever accomplish the work they have undertaken remains an uncertainty in the minds of a majority of the people. It will be a great task to educate the voters of this country up to that point, but it may eventually be accomplished.

—IN MEMORIAM.
HALL OF FRAIRIE LODGE, No. 125, F. & A. M. Rensselaer, Ind., Oct. 30, 1879.

To the W. M., Warden and Brethren of Prairie Lodge No. 125, F. & A. M. Rensselaer, Indiana:

Your committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence on the decease of Brother Gordon A. Moss, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, It has pleased the Grand Master of the Universe to remove from our midst our worthy Brother, Dr. Gordon A. Moss,

Resolved, That we recognize in the life and conduct of our deceased brother those characteristics of a kind husband, affectionate father, and our order an earnest and faithful member, which well merits the emulation of us who survive. That in his death his bereaved family mourn the loss of a kind husband and father, our fraternity an honored and cherished member, his profession an able and worthy associate, our community an upright and conscientious citizen.

Resolved, That we tender our sincere condolence to the widow and children of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be spread upon the record of this Lodge, a copy transmitted to the family of the deceased and a copy furnished each of our town papers for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
MARION L. SPITLER, } Com.
