

Richmond Palladium

Published every evening, (Sunday excepted) by

ISAAC JENKINSON.

120 Main St. and 9th Main St., corner Ninth.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1890.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, at the Post Office, Richmond, Ind.

Served by carriers in Richmond or sent elsewhere by mail to subscribers at 25 CENTS PER WEEK; single copies, 25 CENTS.

Specimen numbers sent free on application.

Correspondence containing news of interest and importance desired from all parts of the country.

No attention is paid to anonymous communications.

Republican County Convention. Office Republican County Central Committee, Richmond, December 1890.

To the Republicans of Wayne County:

The Republican State Central Committee have designated Saturday, January 11, 1890, for the holding of county conventions in each county of the State. In pursuance of this action I now call upon the Republicans of Wayne county and all persons desiring to act with the Republican party, to meet in mass convention at the Grand Opera House in the city of Richmond at 11 o'clock a.m. on Saturday, January 11, 1890, for the transaction of the following business:

For the election of delegates to a District Convention for the purpose of selecting a member from this Congressional district upon the State Central Committee. For the selection of delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held for the purpose of nominating candidates for State offices.

For the determination of the manner of expressing the choice of the Republicans of Wayne county for a candidate for Congress in the Sixth Congressional District, and the selection of delegates to the Congressional District Nominating Convention.

For fixing the time and manner of nominating candidates for judicial, legislative and county offices.

For the selection of a county central committee and township and precinct committees.

And for the transaction of any and all other business which may come before the convention. The business to be transacted at this convention is important, and a large and general attendance from all the townships is requested.

JOHN L. RUPE,
Chairman Republican County Central Committee.

THE influenza is spreading, and now nearly every city in the Union is in the swim.

NEARLY $9,000 has been subscribed for the erection of a monument to the late Henry W. Grady.

BECAUSE of his denial of the legitimacy of the revolution in Brazil, Dom Pedro's name has been struck from the civil list and his subsidy cut off.

THE Telegram is entirely too modest; even if it does disclaim being a newspaper, it ought not to leave all the important news to the "local press." It is, perhaps, too much of a mugwump, to print President Harrison's letter, still it ought to have found room for the other important news which appeared last evening in the "local press," but which it omitted.

The weekly circulation of the Telegram is gradually increasing. That paper keeps a solicitor in the field who boards out the subscriptions and is thus enabled to send in two new names a week. Sometimes the paper is refused when offered in payment for bed and board, and then—well then the solicitor draws on the future.

THE two next numbers of the Century will contain the last chapters of the life of Lincoln. In January there will be given a vivid description of the last days of Lincoln, an account of his assassination and funeral, and of the attack on Seward. Supplementary articles, by Confederate and Union officers, on the "Pursuit and Death of John Wilkes Booth" will accompany this installment. Among the illustrations is a diagram of the box in Ford's Theater, a fa-simile of a play bill found in President Lincoln's box after the assassination, etc.

GEN. IMBODEN, the well-known ex-Confederate, was before the Ways and Means Committee yesterday in the interests of a protective tariff. Mr. Imboden says he represents not skilled labor, but unskilled labor. The men who worked the mines in the South were principally negroes. These people had to be provided with work. If they did not receive work they would live on the whites dishonestly. A negro would not steal if he could get work. Negroes were the best mine workers. They were practical, industrious and faithful, if they were paid promptly and treated kindly. Let Congress do nothing which would deprive these people of the opportunity of making an honest living by delving in the ground with pick and shovel. He (General Imboden) was a protectionist; he had always been one, and he believed that if in the South there could be a fair and square vote on the protection issue, without any extraneous issues, the protectionists would overwhelmingly carry at least four or five Southern States. The North had been made rich by protection; it was now the opportunity of the South to become rich. If anybody was to be protected, he would rather make an American rich than a Hungarian, an Italian, or a Belgian. Mr. Imboden said that he voted the Democratic ticket at the late election with great reluctance. On the question of protection he was a Republican, but on local questions he was a Democrat.

JOHN BROWN's fort at Harper's Ferry, says the Commercial Gazette, is to be removed. The ground upon which it stands has become valuable, and must be removed in the march of improvement. The associations of the old house are memorable, but it has been a shabby-looking affair, and is about as useless a piece of property as the country contains. It was originally constructed for fire engines for the protection of the armory at Harper's Ferry, the ruins of which are one of the marks of the great civil conflict that soon followed upon the John Brown raid. It was well known at the time of the raid that Brown did not make a good selection of a place in which to defend himself when his enemies became too numerous. On the contrary, he walked into a trap. It is one of the incidents best remembered in connection with the raid that the capture of Brown was finally effected by a squad of marines under the command of Colonel, afterward Confederate General, Robert E. Lee, who gave the order to the marines to burst open the doors of the old engine house with a fire ladder, used a scaling ram.

"How to Cure All Skin Diseases." Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, &c., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. out 29 to the 28th.

Christmas Entertainments.

ST. PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The Sunday-school of this church held a Christmas service yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. The school was in the upper room, where carols were sung by the little folks, after which they adjourned to the lower room, where a treat had been prepared by the ladies. There were about 150 pupils present, all of whom seemed to enjoy the refreshments, which consisted of choice candies, fruits, nuts and cakes.

NORTH A STREET FRIENDS.

This school gave their Christmas exercises in the basement of the church yesterday evening. The program consisted of exercises by the different classes, an essay by Mrs. Clark, a dialogue by three pupils and recitation by Ruby Clark. Following this the children were treated to fruits and candy.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The exercises at this church last commenced at 6 o'clock by a supper given in the lecture room to the entire school. The supper was one of the first of the season and was enjoyed by the large number of children present. The infant class seated in small chairs around a low table constructed especially for them, presented a very pleasing picture.

The exercises commenced at 7 o'clock. The program was by little girls, interspersed with music by the school, and a solo by Frank Braffett, a duet by Miss Cora Abernathy and R. R. Jones, and a cornet solo by Charles E. Bell. The entire program possessed much merit, and every number of it was greeted with applause. Following the program was the distribution of presents. Rev. Alexander Gilchrist made a few remarks at the close and presented A. F. Scott with a handsome Bible, a birthday offering from his friends, it being his 78th anniversary.

MAIN STREET FRIENDS.

The holiday entertainment of the Main street Friends' Sabbath school was held last night. As is the custom at this school, a sumptuous repast was spread in the basement for the children and adults, (numbering last night about 300) and it was much enjoyed. After the repast very interesting exercises were held in the auditorium. A pleasing feature of the evening was the stereoscopic views of scenes in Egypt and the Holy Land with explanations by President Mills, of Earham. The alphabet exercised by twenty six little girls and boys of the infant class was also much appreciated.

Beware of Ointments for Cancer that contain Mercury.

as Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do are ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine, it is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle. deed-dim

Death of a Pioneer Citizen.

Elias Morris, one of the oldest and best-known citizens of Harrison township, died yesterday, after an illness of several weeks, of neuralgia of the stomach. He was born November 6, 1817, in Harrison township, and we believe close by where he has lived for more than seventy-two years. His wife Margaret, to whom he was married in 1844, survives him, as well as five children. Mr. Morris was an honorable citizen who by thrift and industry accumulated large land and personal interests. He enjoyed the confidence of everybody, for he was a good man upon whose life and character no reproach was ever cast. While he was not connected with any church so far as we know, yet he emulated Christian virtues in his path through life.—Cambridge City Tribune.

The funeral occurred yesterday at the Lutheran Church in East Germanatown.

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Not if you go through the world a dyspeptic. Dr. Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets are a positive cure for the worst forms of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Flatulency and Constipation. Guaranteed and sold by A. G. Lukes & Co., druggists.

23-dim

PENSIONS FOR VETERANS.

Resolutions Adopted by Sol Meredith Post Last Thursday Evening.

To the Commander and Comrades of Sol Meredith Post, Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic.

Your committee constituted to report the views of the post on the pension measures now before, and to be submitted to Congress, have the honor to report that

Whereas, The comrades of Sol Meredith Post No. 55, Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, have long since been convinced that the soldiers of the war for the Union in the late rebellion of the Southern States had a right to demand justice and equality in the settlement of claims for pensions, and having seen with pride and satisfaction that the President of the United States in his message to Congress has recommended the passage of the so-called "Dependent Pension bill," endorsed by the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, and that the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State have already introduced bills in furtherance of justice and equality to the soldiers of the Union, therefore, be it resolved,

First. That we, the comrades of said post, are in favor of such dependent pension bill as recommended by the President.

Second. That we are in favor of the bill introduced by Senator D. W. Voorhees and Representative Thomas M. Browne and other members of Congress from this State for the repeal of the "Arraignment Limitation act."

Third. That we heartily endorse the appeal of our comrade, Alvin P. Hovey, president of the Service Pension Association of the United States, demanding of Congress the passage of a service pension law for all surviving Union soldiers of the late war.

Fourth. All this we do not only because we believe that right and equity demand it; but because our country is in an era of unprecedented prosperity, the national treasury is overflowing, we are at peace with ourselves and the whole world, our form of government is made secure in the affections of the people and the Union has been cemented by the blood of our comrades, and because the surviving veterans of the Union are broken in health, many ruined in fortune, and more are invalids from wounds, disease and exposure.

Such legislation is due them as an act of justice and not as a pittance to paupers, and further because such legislation was cheerfully granted to the survivors of the war of the revolution, the war of 1812 and of the Mexican war, and should not be denied the gallant survivors of the soldiers who by their sacrifices and valor preserved the glorious Union of the States.

Fifth. That copies of these resolutions be forwarded by the Commander of this post to Comrade Alvin P. Hovey and to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Indiana.

T. W. BENNETT,
W. K. YOUNG,
J. S. OSTRANDER,
G. W. AVEY,
W. W. HOLLOPETER,
Committee.

I hereby certify that the above resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting of Sol Meredith Post No. 55, G. A. R., held on Thursday evening, December 26, 1889.

BENJAMIN STARR,
Post Commander.

Attest: JOHN M. WINSLOW,
Adjutant.

White Hair Turned Black.

The patient was a woman aged 72, who had had snow white hair for twenty years. For the symptoms of commencing uremia, due to contracted kidney, twenty to thirty minims of extract of jaborandi was prescribed several times daily. The drug was taken from October, 1886, to February, 1888. During the autumn of 1887 the eyebrows were becoming darker, and the hair of the head also became darker in patches. This continued until the patches of hair were quite dark, contrasting with the patches of snow white hair. The hair did not universally change before her death.

In 1881 Dr. Prentiss had published another case of kidney disease, pyelo nephritis, treated with pilocarpine. The hair of the patient, largely aged 25, changed from light blonde to black under the influence of the drug. The pilocarpine was administered hyposmotically (one-sixth of a grain) twenty-two times in the course of two months; the dose was then increased. In one month after commencing the treatment the hair changed from a light blonde to a chestnut brown; four months later it was "almost black." It is satisfactory to find that eight years afterward, the hair is again a dark brown. Dr. Prentiss ascribes the phenomenon to the jaborandi and its active principle, pilocarpine.

Cases where, as the result of the influence of the nervous system, in pain or fright, the hair has changed color, are pathological curiosities. So little is known, however, of the physiological influence of the nervous system over the growth and nutrition of the hair that it is at present quite impossible to understand how a drug administered internally can affect the color of the hair. It would be interesting to learn from other practitioners who have used jaborandi or pilocarpine for an extended period, what's a any change in the color of the hair has been noticed.—Therapeutic Gazette.

20th-dim

Fruit in England.

English agricultural journals draw attention to the great increase in fruit growing in that country of late years. In 1839 there were some 90,000 acres of fruit trees all told in England. Now, however, the area has increased to 214,000 acres. But even with so great an increase in the supply the demand is far from being satisfied, and as a consequence last year nearly four million bushels of apples alone were imported, at a cost of £800,000, most of them coming from America. English farmers are consequently urged to devote still more attention to the cultivation of fruit. —San Francisco Chronicle.

The description of a missing man who was sent to the Columbus (O.) police headquarters contained the statement that he was sixty five years old, and small for his age.

Senator Blackburn wears a broadbrim sombrero that is said to make him look more like a cowboy than a man who has spent half a lifetime in Congress. Days are worth dollars. Address R. F. Johnson & Co., 1026 Main St., Richmond, Ind. deed-dim

The Second Assistant Postmaster General is everywhere spoken and written of as John S. Clarkson. His name is "Ja." but he says that he never knew the time when people would believe that he will have it "John," though he cannot explain why.

The Barracks house in the Cabinet Room of the White House is occupied by Secretary of War Proctor.

Whereas, The comrades of Sol Meredith Post No. 55, Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, have long since been convinced that the soldiers of the war for the Union in the late rebellion of the Southern States had a right to demand justice and equality in the settlement of claims for pensions, and having seen with pride and satisfaction that the President of the United States in his message to Congress has recommended the passage of the so-called "Dependent Pension bill," endorsed by the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, and that the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State have already introduced bills in furtherance of justice and equality to the soldiers of the Union, therefore, be it resolved,

First. That we, the comrades of said post, are in favor of such dependent pension bill as recommended by the President.

Second. That we are in favor of the bill introduced by Senator D. W. Voorhees and Representative Thomas M. Browne and other members of Congress from this State for the repeal of the "Arraignment Limitation act."

Third. That we heartily endorse the appeal of our comrade, Alvin P. Hovey, president of the Service Pension Association of the United States, demanding of Congress the passage of a service pension law for all surviving Union soldiers of the late war.

Fourth. All this we do not only because we believe that right and equity demand it; but because our country is in an era of unprecedented prosperity, the national treasury is overflowing, we are at peace with ourselves and the whole world, our form of government is made secure in the affections of the people and the Union has been cemented by the blood of our comrades, and because the surviving veterans of the Union are broken in health, many ruined in fortune, and more are invalids from wounds, disease and exposure.

Such legislation is due them as an act of justice and not as a pittance to paupers, and further because such legislation was cheerfully granted to the survivors of the war of the revolution, the war of 1812 and of the Mexican war, and should not be denied the gallant survivors of the soldiers who by their sacrifices and valor preserved the glorious Union of the States.

Fifth. That copies of these resolutions be forwarded by the Commander of this post to Comrade Alvin P. Hovey and to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Indiana.

T. W. BENNETT,
W. K. YOUNG,
J. S. OSTRANDER,
G. W. AVEY,
W. W. HOLLOPETER,
Committee.

I hereby certify that the above resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting of Sol Meredith Post No. 55, G. A. R., held on Thursday evening, December 26, 1889.

BENJAMIN STARR,
Post Commander.

Attest: JOHN M. WINSLOW,
Adjutant.

Hot Tea-Biscuits and Rolls every Evening.

NO WE WILL NOT REDUCE Cummins' bread

checks after January 1st.

909 Main Street. deed-dim

Are You a Sufferer from any one or more of the following diseases?

Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Cancer, Eczema, Malaria, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Torpid Liver, Piles, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Lumbago, Leucorrhoea, Headache, Consumption.

Or from any Blood or Skin Disease? Have you tried anything so far WITHOUT RELIEF?

Then bear in mind, please, that disease is caused by microbes or germs in the blood. Living matter, as it were propagating themselves by the millions, and in time do not only cause excruciating torture, but finally death itself, to the sufferer.

We want you to try this remedy, and if you will faithfully comply with directions, we will positively guarantee you a cure, providing the most vital organs have not been entirely destroyed from diseases already.

We promise you, and we are ready to stake our reputation on it, that with the first purchase of the "Microbe Killer," you will reap such substantial benefit as to