: GREETING :

SEASON 1898.

IT is with much satisfaction that we announce that our new line of Wall Papers for the season of 1898 is now in, and is far superior to any that we have heretofore carried. This season's collection comprises the best designs and colors of the very best and largest manufacturers in this country, and includes many patterns especially colored to harmonize with the modern draperies and carpets, and to every variety of room or light.

Every Pattern New.

Special attention has been given to the following grades: White Blanks, Glimmers, Scintillaires, Bronzes, Ingrains, Crepe, Leather Papers and Varnish Tiles.

We also carry a full line of Burlaps. The new colors—Forest and Empire Green, Imperial Red, Rust Brown and Dark, rich effects, which will undoubtedly be very largely used this season, have been liberally selected.

We will be able to offer you prices that will command the line in preference to any made by other dealers, and we beg to assure you that an inspection will convince you that we mean exactly what we say. Remember, we do not sell any TRASH. Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting a continuance of the same, we are yours respectfully,

NICHOLSON & BRO., 729 Main Street

I Am Ready

Lovers of art will find the salesroom of F. Schultze & Co., 125 and 130 east fourth street, very interesting, as the beautiful Dresden china paintings, plaques, panels, cabinet plates, and other ornamental articles for drawing rooms, dining rooms, and chambers cannot fail to find favor. The armor trophies so desirable for halls, jardiniere pedestals for porches, and the handsome Teakwood taborettes that are now in vogue, the charming productions of the Royal Copenhagen porcelain works for which this firm is exclusive agent as well as Libbey's beautiful cut glass, for which F. Schultze & Co. have likewise the agency for Cincinnati, justly attract the attention of all connoisseurs of ceramics.

Runaway.
Two horses hitched to a large wagon, belonging to Henry Miller east of the city, ran away this morning in the alley north of Main between ninth and tenth streets. The animals were bruised up considerably and were taken to Decker's barn where they were given attention.

The Sponger.
As a usual thing a newspaper sponger is the most free to criticize the policy of a paper. He lays in wait for the paper at the boarding house or some public place, and reads it through. While others endeavor to read, this sponger sits around and cringes. If everybody was like this chronic newspaper thief, subscribers would be few and far between.

Exchange.
John Weisgarber of Richmond was here calling on friends Tuesday evening. He will go to Indianapolis this evening to be examined for the Illinois cavalry, which he proposes to enter if successful in passing the examination.

Swindlers.
A gang of swindlers have been operating in the piano business in several parts of the state, and have found a number of victims. They ask permission to place a piano in the house, agreeing to give music lessons and other priviledges. Later a proposition is made that if the person assists in selling three pianos they are to keep the one left in the house. The agreement, of course, is drawn up in writing, and the agent goes away. In due time another appears with a note having the person's signature and demands payment. A word of advice—deal only with the agents who you know through the advertisements in your home paper.

Hang Out Your Flag.
Every patriotic citizen of Richmond, who has a United States flag should get it down from the attic and hang it out where every one can see it. A number of the business houses have followed the lead of larger cities and it would not be amiss if all would do likewise.

MONEY PAID

For the Highest Scores at the National Bowling Alley.

The National bowling alleys has paid the money for the highest scores for the month ending April 23. The highest scores were as follows for the month:

Phillip Corossa, 216; Fred Gould, 244; C. Hasecoster, 217; C. Soper, 200; Nichter, 202; S. W. Bricker, five back, 192.

Business still goes on at a lively rate at that alley, and the bowling lasts from early in the morning till late at night. The fads seem not to be dying out to any great extent.

The Binkley Case
[Cambridge City Tribune.]
Last Saturday a post mortem was held on the remains of Miss Etta Binkley at Dublin by Coroner Zimmerman and Dr. Bulla, at the instance and the assistance of the state's attorney and the coroner of Peoria, Illinois, to exemplify a statement made by Miss Binkley prior to her death in a hospital in that city. As a result four persons are under ban in that city—Fred Patee, for whom the dead girl worked, and who has acknowledged to being an accessory, Dr. Belle Howard, who has fled the state, Dr. O. B. Hill, a member of the hospital staff and a prominent physician, and Miss Coolidge, matron of the hospital. Patee acknowledged his complicity in the affair when he voluntarily tendered Mrs. Deane $2,500 to maintain silence, and it is presumed that he also saw the other parties in the same way. Mrs. Deane accepted the tender and turned the whole affair over to the state's attorney to prosecute the villain to the bitter end. Murder most foul and damnable has been committed, and there can be no question that the guilty parties will be made to pay the penalty of law.

Announcement.
To the Voters of the City of Richmond:
I am an independent candidate for mayor. The nomination was not of my seeking. It is non-partisan in character, being urged and promoted by members of different political parties. The object is purely a business one—to secure an honest, economical and public spirited administration of city affairs. To this end I pledge my most earnest efforts, if elected.

As there are still many voters whom I call not to see in the present time and the day of election I take this means of asking their support.

BENJAMIN F. HARRIS.

Surveying This Way.
The Dayton and Eaton electric railroad is just nearing completion, and it is now expected that by next July everything will be in good running order. The road is completed as far as West Alexandria, and the work is now being pushed from Eaton to that point. There is still considerable talk of extending the road to this city, and it is said that already the road is quietly being surveyed between this city and Eaton and the plans drawn up for the extension.

A WISCONSIN WONDER.
Gigantic Natural Bridge Hidden in the Wilderness of the State.
Few people know that Wisconsin possesses a natural bridge, with nearly if not quite as many attractions as the bridge of George Washington. The Badger bridge is located in the town of Honey Creek, about 20 miles from this city and 8 miles east of Prairie du Sac. The bridge is, in fact, only a gigantic archway detached from the face of a rocky bluff facing the Wisconsin river by the village of Honey Creek, which lies between the old prairie of the Sac Indians and the bluff. One is amply repaid for a visit by the attractiveness of the place.

A devious route through a farmer's plowed field is trodden by a guide in reaching the face of the cliff until within a short distance of the bluff that the archway can be seen because of the timber and underbrush partially concealing it.

Upon stepping between the bluff and the arch the immensity of the task which nature has accomplished is apparent. The under part of the arch is about 50 feet above the floor in the highest part and varies from that down to about 30 feet where it joins the supporting rocks. The span is from 10 to 25 feet thick and about 15 feet wide. The pathway across the top is a trifle over three feet wide in away from home and started for this place. Our Marshal soon located the "kiddies" and returned them on the evening train to their parent. The boys said they were acrobats and brought their suits with them intending to give a performance here to raise a little "spare change." No doubt they did some expert tumbling when they got back home and faced their irate parents.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, New York, bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time 'he goods were unknown in this section; today Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Wherever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale by A. G. Luken & Co.

Theater goes will be afforded a rare treat at the Princess Rink, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Friday evening, April 29, when the greatest champion of free speech and free thought on religious questions, Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, will deliver his brilliant lecture, "Liberty of Man, Woman and Child." It is needless to remark that his friends and admirers will turn out in large numbers to hear him.

Americans are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one-third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. W. Vaughn, of Oakland, Kentucky, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and find it to be the best medicine I ever used for cramps in the stomach and bowels. "The streets are filled with beautiful things, mostly German officers," writes Lillian Bell from Berlin in "The Ladies' Home Journal." "The only trouble is that they themselves seem to know it only too well, and as they will not give us any of the sidewalk we are obliged to admire them from the gutters. The only way you can keep German from knocking you into the middle of the street is to walk sideways and pretend you are examining the shop windows. Paris seems a city of leisure; Berlin a city of war. The streets of Paris are quite as full of soldiers as Berlin, but French soldiers are not impressive. They are undersized and badly dressed and badly groomed. Their trousers are much too long. To me they seemed to need only a belt at the ankle to turn them into perfect Russian blouses. But English and German soldiers seem to be in perfect condition, as though they could go to war at a moment's notice."

its narrowest place, and a cool shade is needed to make the passage over the span. The person standing upon the top of the span is probably 100 feet above the average level of the surrounding country, and the scene spread before him is one of rural Wisconsin scenery unsurpassed. Although the country has been settled for many years, yet the ruggedness of the scene seems hardly diminished by the hand of man in his efforts to conquer the soil and make for himself a home in these romantic surroundings. Except for the occasional log house, or, rarely, its frame successor, the place would seem as though in its original condition, so completely hidden from view by tangled underbrush and heavy woods are the tiled lands of the husbandmen.

About the base of the archway are signs of human visitations, and the visitor learns that here the people of the surrounding country come to celebrate the Fourth of July, and the remains of rustic booths, a broken beer glass or two and other signs of past pleasures are noted. Underneath the floor of the arch is a huge cavern 7 feet high, 25 feet deep and from 30 to 50 feet long, created by the action of the water rushing down the face of the hill and under the archway after a heavy rain. This cavern makes a natural beer cellar, which the inhabitants of the region, nearly all of whom are Germans, utilize as a barroom upon the occasion of the celebration referred to.

The Wisconsin natural bridge is certainly worth traveling miles to see.—Milwaukee Sentinel.
