

One Large Scar

Is All That Remains of Great Scrofula Sores

Neighbors Could Not Bear to Look Upon Her—A Grand, Complete Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla After Others Failed.

"I was taken with neuralgia in my head and eyes. Not long after this, a scrofula sore appeared on my left cheek, extending from my upper lip to my eye. Other sores came to my neck and on my right arm and one of my limbs. They were very troublesome and painful and soon became great running sores. My face looked so bad that some of my neighbors could not bear to look at me and advised me to wear a bandage, but I feared this would irritate the sores and make it worse. So I Could Not Hide the Sores.

My niece, who was familiar with a case similar to mine, which had been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, urged me to try it. Finally I was persuaded to do so, and in a short time I saw it was helping me. The sores began to heal and the neuralgia in my head was better. In a few months the sores on my arms and limbs all healed; those on my neck gradually disappeared and now they are all gone. I have never had any more of scrofula since. One large scar on my right arm is all the sign that remains of my terrible affliction. The neuralgia is also cured." Mrs. J. M. HATCH, Elms, New Hampshire.

Mayor Taggart of Indianapolis is expected home today from his mission to the Gulf of Mexico in search of his daughter who was lost on the ill-fated yacht Paul Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Taggart have the profound sympathy of this community.

Why should President McKinley be builded into announcing his purpose with regard to the Philippines? The only purpose he has in the premises at present is the ratification of the treaty, which will place the whole question where it belongs, in the hands of congress.

While congress has been caviling over the question of ratifying the peace treaty two national conventions, that of the manufacturers at Cincinnati and of the stock dealers at Denver, representing two of the largest business interests in this country, have declared emphatically and unanimously in favor of prompt ratification.

Every Republican paper in the state, that referred to the subject at all, denounced Henry U. Johnson's performance in the house yesterday. The Indianapolis Journal says of it:

"The speech of Hon. Henry U. Johnson might almost be characterized as sound and dry signifying nothing. When Mr. Johnson said 'I propose fearlessly, without regard to its effect on my personal fortunes, to make a plea for liberty,' he played to the galleries. His public career will end on the 4th of March next, and his personal fortunes, so far as politics are concerned, are all. It was not for him to refer to the subject."

Mr. Johnson's only endorser in the state are the Indianapolis Sentinel and its ilk.

In a speech in the house yesterday General Grosvener stated the case exactly when he declared:

"But for the course of events here, beginning before we were in the last campaign, there would today be peace and co-operation in the Philippines. The expressions of those who were opposing the administration encouraged the resistance of the insurgents and his gang" at Iloilo, while here in this capital Agoncillo was insultingly demanding of the President that he define his position. He had seen a letter from Dewey read in New York a few days ago in which Dewey said the treaty was ratified and the insurgents were taught that they were not supported by a great party in the United States there would be an end of strife, and peace would be established."

According to the annual report of the Indiana bureau of statistics, just issued, there were 25,043 marriage licenses issued and 2,896 divorces granted in the state the past year. The number of men imprisoned during the year was 23,188 and the number of women 1,302. Making due allowance for the galaxy of courts and juries this last item is unmistakable evidence that women as a class are about twenty times better than men. Yet, in about nine divorce cases out of ten women are the plaintiffs, which indicates plainly that they are the greatest sufferers from unfortunate marriages. This fact should be born in mind by the framers of divorce laws. While what may be designated as "loose" divorce laws should not be tolerated, the fact should be lost sight of that divorce laws which are practically prohibitory are calculated to work injustice and cruelty to the innocent and better parties in divorce suits. To refute this proposition it is asserted that such divorce laws would remedy the matter by preventing unhappy marriages. This would perhaps be the case to some extent, but it would not by any means be a cure-all. So long as humanity and society are constituted as they are now there will be ill-mated and unhappy marriages. So long as men become criminals and drunkards and brutal after marriage there will be suits for divorce, and there are no present indications that the sons of Adam are improving in these respects.

ADDISON P. RUSSELL.

A New York correspondent of the Los Angeles (Cal.) Daily Times, writing of Henry James, William D. Howells, and other literary celebrities, has something to say of A. P. Russell, who has a large circle of friends here, and, as stated in these columns some time since, had conferred upon him by the Ohio university the distinguished academic title of Doctor of Literature. Mr. Russell, by the way, before he became a confirmed bachelor, was a great bean and was supposed at one time to be deeply smitten with the charms of a handsome Centerville girl. But here is what the New York correspondent says:

"Some twenty years ago American readers received what they very generally accounted a most gracious gift in a book called 'Library Notes.' It was one of those books that selected and connected up for them in a relishing way a great wealth of the good things that had been spoken or written. In succeeding years other books of the same kind, 'A Club of One,' 'In a Club Corner,' and so on, came from the same author. From one and all it was manifest that they could have been written only by a man who had traversed pretty nearly the whole field of polite literature and had traversed it observantly and fondly; and many a reader of them, I do not doubt, envied the writer the delightful days and nights which they fancied must have been his lot. The fancy, if it occurred, was very close to the fact. It has fallen to few men in this work-a-day world to have so long a stretch of good reading as has been allotted to Addison P. Russell, the author in question, and today, at this age, he is still in the full enjoyment of his life-long pleasure."

This has not been, however, a mere stroke of good fortune. Mr. Russell got the thing he particularly delighted in by striving for it, and carefully shaping his life to that end. He began his life as a printer in the office of a country newspaper. In time he became the editor, and, perhaps the proprietor of such a newspaper; and this led by easy steps to his taking some part in politics, and achieving finally the office of secretary of the state of Ohio. At the conclusion of his term he was appointed financial agent of the state of Ohio, resident in New York City. This was a special office long since rendered unnecessary by new financial arrangements and machinery, and abolished. It was rather profitable to the incumbent, and the understanding of his friends is that by filling it Mr. Russell was able to lay the capital which has enabled him ever since. His way of life has always been a very simple, and even frugal one; he had the good fortune to end early what he wanted, and the character to keep it when he got it. Yet he has not been simply a man of the study. He is large, ruddy, clean-shaven man of striking presence, with a fine old-fashioned courtesy and a real gift in conversation, and in the days when he went more from home than he does now he was a distinct social and intellectual influence through a considerable section of country. The same influence of good reading that enriches his books also appears in his talk, but never pedantically or oppressively; all tends to good fellowship and pure entertainment. Thus, through many years, he has been a pleasure and inspiration to his personal friends, as well as to the public, and his life ought to afford him great satisfaction in the contemplation of it."

The Ravages of Grip.
That modern scourge, the grip, poisons the air with its fatal germs, so that no home is safe from its ravages, but multitudes have found a sure protection against this dangerous malady in Dr. King's New Discovery. When you feel a soreness in your bones and muscles, have chills and fever, with sore throat, pain in the back of the head, catarrhal symptoms and a stubborn cough you may know you have the grip, and that you need Dr. King's New Discovery. It will promptly cure the worst cough, heal the inflamed membranes, kill the disease germs and prevent the dread effects of pneumonia. The main price 50 cents and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A trial bottle free at A. G. Luken & Co.

REAL ESTATE
To Be Assessed in the Spring. But Not by the County Assessor, as Has Been Erroneously Given Out.
Some time ago, when it was stated that Captain T. W. D. Bruff had been appointed to define and trace the boundaries of the real estate in the county, in preparation for the spring assessment, the PALLADIUM stated also that the quadrennial assessment or reappraisal of real estate would be made. It was stated yesterday by one of the city papers that the reappraisal would be made by the county assessor, A. G. Compton. This is incorrect, as the appraisal and assessment will be under the direct supervision of the township assessors. In this township the work will be in charge of James P. Reid, township assessor, and will begin within two or three months.

The Deadly Grip
Is again abroad in the land. The air you breathe may be full of its fatal germs! Don't neglect the "Grip" or you will open the door to pneumonia and consumption and invite death. Its symptoms are chills with fever, headache, dull heavy pains, mucous discharges from the nose, sore throat and never-let-go cough. Don't waste precious time treating this cough with treacher, balms, or poor cheap syrups. Cure it at once with Dr. King's New Discovery, the infallible remedy for bronchial troubles. It kills the disease germs, heals the lungs and prevents the dread after effects from the malady. Price 50c and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A trial bottle free at A. G. Luken & Co.'s drug store.

Baby's Coming

means pain, danger and possible death for some wives. For others it means practically no discomfort at all. There is no reason why childbirth should be a period of pain and dread. Several months before a woman becomes a mother she should prepare herself for the critical ordeal. There is a preparation made which is intended for this purpose alone.

The name of this wonderful preparation is Mother's Friend. It is a remedy of the only remedy of the kind in the world, and is endorsed by physicians. It is a perfect cure for all the troubles of pregnancy, and is sold by mail on receipt of price.

Five Books containing invaluable information for all women, will be sent to any address upon application to The Bradford Regular Co., Atlanta, Ga.

PIE SOCIAL.
A Pleasant Event at the North A Street Friends' Meeting House Last Night.

There was a very enjoyable social by the young people at the North A Street Friends' meeting house last night, following the business meeting. The young people's event at that meeting house are always largely attended, because if there are any people there who are not young they have found it out themselves, and no one cares to break the news to them. The event last evening was called a pie social. The ladies each brought a pie, and the gentlemen were sent to the table to select a pie from those as yet unselected and the baker of it had to sit down and help him eat it, while the men told a story. A number of excellent pies were eaten, and some splendid stories told. The evening passed off very pleasantly indeed, as such events at that place always do.

Shakespeare's Great Words to Men.

Probably no words of Shakespeare have so impressed weak men as those well known lines: "Canst thou minister to a mind diseased, raze out the troubles of the brain and with some cure bring back the heart?" This thrilling yet plaintive cry finds an echo in the heart of every man, who, through ignorance or weakness, has brought himself to a condition of nervous debility. Modern medical science has indeed provided the "antidote," and the discoveries of a great physician have placed within reach of every weak and erring man the power of strength giving, vitalizing and invigorating remedies which will restore him again to strong, vigorous and powerful manhood. We refer to the marvelous medicines of Dr. Greene, of 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., one of whose discoveries, known as Dr. Greene's Nervura, has made his name famous throughout the world. These medicines are powerful restorative medicines for weakened and nerve-exhausted men give hope of perfect and complete manhood to every suffering man. Dr. Greene can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter, and you can use those great remedies and be cured at home, without the loss of time and expense of a trip to the city. By all means write to Dr. Greene and get his advice about your case. It will cost you nothing and may result in making a new man of you.

THE GOLD WAVE.
It Came According to Program, and Was Cold Enough.

Yesterday morning started in mild enough for April, so mild, in fact, that the PALLADIUM's weather reporter stated that the weather was so warm that there was plenty of gas, a very remarkable condition indeed. As always happens when the weather reporter comments on the warm weather, it turned cold before a snow was out, and the article had to be "killed" before press time. The weather prediction of the weather clerk yesterday by telegram was that it would be cold, and was a cold wave was out on once. It came, and last night people threw the water out of their pumps and left the hydrants running, while a fire was left burning in the kitchen whether gas was burned by meter or mixer. This morning there was a temperature of 8 above zero by rational thermometers, while some ranged from fifteen above to 20. There is a little snow on the ground, sufficient to protect the wheat roots from the freezing cold.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate, and rectum, and gives the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

GRIP'S GRASP.

FASTENS ITS DEADLY CLUTCH UPON MILLIONS.

From East to West, North to South. Everywhere, Evidence of Its Presence is Plainly Apparent—Phantom-Like it Swoops Down Upon Its Victims, to Some it Deals Death, to Others Something Worse—Shattered and Wrecked Nervous Systems.

LaGrippe is a much more dangerous disease than many have been led to suppose. In its first stages it will yield to proper treatment, but as an ordinary disorder, but owing to its infectious character, innumerable microbes are deposited and its development into many serious complications is exceedingly rapid and destructive. It leaves the nervous system shattered and wrecked; saps the vitality and renders its victims easy prey to pneumonia, nervous prostration, heart disease, insanity, etc., which invariably prove fatal later on.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is the grip's most formidable foe—it robs it of its terrors. It goes to the very root of the disease and promptly drives it out. It builds up the worn out tissues and fortifies the system against all after effects.

Mr. J. M. Allison, 54 Tacoma avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "A severe attack of laGrippe shattered my nervous system with such severity that at times I felt that I would go insane. I could not sleep, was restless, and my condition was deplorable. I began to think that my case was hopeless, but hearing of Dr. Miles' Nervine I concluded to try it, and now I am satisfied it saved my life. It brought me sleep and rest, steadied my nerves and promptly restored my health. I have never experienced any after-effects and to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine I owe my present good health."

All druggists are authorized to sell Dr. Miles' Remedies on a guarantee that if they do not cure, the money is refunded. Be sure you get Dr. Miles' Remedies. Take nothing else. Write us about your troubles and ailments and we will send you a bottle of a trained specialist absolutely free. Book on heart and nerves sent free.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE KING DRAMATIC COMPANY.
The King Dramatic company, which has won great fame by its perfect presentations of famous scenic melodramas, will open its week's engagement at the Phillips on Monday evening by a grand production of Hands Across the Sea. This famous play, written by Henry Patterson, and directed by the company's manager, Harbor Lights, The World and other great successes, is perhaps the most notable of all similar plays combining, in a most dramatic and effective manner, a series of stirring scenes. It is a play of the highest order, and is a most successful and popular melodrama.

Honey Bees From the Philippines.
The Department of Agriculture will introduce into this country the great honey bees found in the Philippines. These bees are twice as large as those of this country, and produce five or six times as much honey. They are a long tongue, and can reach nectar in many flowers that our native bees cannot. While this move will be of material benefit, it will not bring more than Rooster's Stomach Bitters, which reaches and cures any ailments that other remedies fail to cure. Such ailments as indigestion, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, malaria, wasting diseases, and affections of the kidneys and blood. We especially recommend the Bitters to men and women whose nervous systems are shattered.

WOMANLY

A sweet woman, the picture of health, speaking with enthusiasm, said, "I don't see why you do not send out women to talk to women about the merits of Pabst Malt Extract, The 'Best' Tonic. There are so many women that are run down, with nerves shattered, with a lack of vitality, feeling a sort of restless indecision which is an outgrowth of over-exertion. If you could only get a woman who knows as well as I do how 'Best' Tonic will build one up, and who has enough earnestness to tell them about it, you would certainly have largely increased sales. There is Mrs. —, who was as thin as she could be, and her poor little baby, puny and undeveloped. I told her about 'Best' Tonic. In three weeks you ought to see the difference. The improvement is something great; mother and baby both feel it and show it."

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.
No Wonder the Editor Was Stunned With Surprise.

The country journalist, having concluded his work of devil, printer, book-keeper, job printer, reporter, editor, press hand, mailing clerk, solicitor, compositor, and ad solicitor for the day, had sat down to study out what string to pull to get enough money to meet a note of $14.38 coming due next Saturday, when a man he did not know came into the office and sat down without being asked to do so. For a minute he looked around the place and at the presiding spirit of it before he spoke.

"You are," he said slowly, "the proprietor of this establishment, and it is a newspaper office?"
"It is," replied the wondering editor.
And this is your product?" he said, holding up the week's issue. "A newspaper?"
"Yes."

"The million-fold multiple of thought?"
"Yes."

"The richest treasures of the art preservative of arts?"
"Yes."

"The Archimedean lever that moves the universe?"
"Yes," and by this time the editor was getting ready to escape by the window.

"And all for a dollar a year," said the visitor, still in that dreamy tone, as he let his soft blue eyes fall over the page. "It's a darn shame," he went on, going down into his pocket, "here's a dollar, and I'll send you in a cord of wood and a bushel of apples and four gallons of elder next week."

Then he got up and went out without a word, leaving the editor staring after him.

Swift Retribution.
There was a wicked leech in Menderville, Mike's eye as he saw the little girl coming out of the restaurant side door, carrying a small tin pail.

The idea, he exclaimed to his comrade, "It's our duty to stop it," was the leecher's thought.

Before the little girl could turn the corner the tramp loomed up before her and exclaimed, "I'm sorry, lady, but I couldn't see you carryin' that pail any further. It's agin the gallantry."

The little girl began to cry. Mike seized the bucket and in a moment had the bottom of it pointed toward the sky. The effect was volcanic. A team flew in all directions. His one accusation solved the mystery.

"Soap suds!" And when the restaurant proprietor heard and desired to know why his children could not blow soap bubbles about being interfered with, the truth of poetic justice had not a word to say.

Woman's Way.
Mrs. Triggs—"Oh, dear, did you ever hear of such luck? Mrs. Waggleway has made me a present of a vase that must be worth at least $20. But that's not all, it always goes! Had luck come any more hard up and can least do to face it?"

"Triggs—Why, you dull thing, you see that I shall have to give something in return which will be worth at least $3 more?"
