HADLEY BROS.

Ladies!

In our previous advertisement we asked you to call and see our new wall paper. We also gave you a few hints as to the character of the same. We are now prepared to show you to the very best of advantage, and are going to make every reasonable endeavor to get your entire patronage this year. There is probably no other wall paper house in Richmond that studies the welfare of its patrons so conscientiously as we do. A look at our line puts you in direct touch with the most carefully selected wall paper in Richmond. You will be head and shoulders above the average if you buy from us, in style, design and quality, as we sell but two or three rods of a kind in the city. Ours is a line ~~that no lady can afford to miss~~. It's brimful of clever designs, effective, artistic colorings. This applies to the white blanks and cheaper grades as well as to the most expensive ones. See them and you will agree with us. You don't take any chances in seeing our wall paper, except being separated from your good money; but then you separate willingly when you see what you get in return. Put your time against our salesman's and see for yourself. Respectfully Yours,

NICHOLSON & BRO.

The board of public improvements met yesterday afternoon. The petition for a sewer system with sixties feet wide was withdrawn.

The wooden bridge over the Whitewater near the post mill was ordered repaired, and some petitions for privileges to build sidewalks were acted upon favorably.

The commencement at Hagerstown last night was a success in every way. The exercises passed off nicely. The commencement address, "Education in Life," by J. Bennett Gordon, was a masterly one, and was thoroughly appreciated. The address was followed by "Superintendence in an excellent talk."

The receipts of the Richmond post office for the fiscal year ending tonight were as nearly as could be calculated a few hours in advance, $41,000. It was expected that the receipts for today would run up some hundreds of dollars, and this will put the office over the first-class line by considerably more than a thousand dollars.

Yesterday in the Wayne circuit court George C. Hausey, who was granted $700 damages in Henry circuit court and $1,500 in the Wayne circuit court on a new trial and change of venue, was taken up on motion for a new trial, said motion being made by the defendant. The new trial was granted. The time and place for the new trial have not been set.

The force is decreased by two, in comparison with that of Friday when the last assessment of chattel property alone was made, there being one fewer in the office force and one fewer in the outside aid.

The work will begin on Monday next.

TWO DEPOTS

For the Cincinnati, Richmond & Muscatine Railroad—South Side People to Locate Their Own Station.

A GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

That of the Rev. A. W. Lampert's Class at First M. E. Church Last Night.

The entertainment given by the Sunday-school class of the Rev. A. W. Lampert at the M. E. church last evening was a success from every standpoint. As a matter of fact it was meritorious, and it was a financial success as well, quite a neat sum being realized from the crowded house that greeted the thirty-eight young ladies and their excellent music.

The first number was a chorus by the entire class, "Ebb and Flow." This was followed by Miss DeLong in a recitation, and then by the class singing "The Wave," a chorus by the class. Miss Olive Lemon gave a recitation, and Miss Edna Saylor sang a solo "Queen of the Earth." The Rev. Lampert then gave a description of his life in the south, entitled "A Hoosier Boy in Dixie." This was humorous up to the close, when the speaker descended from the heights of eloquence to the depths of pathos in describing his home-coming. The chorus then sang "Dixie's Land," and the encore portion was given as a solo by Miss Mary Friedly, it being a humorous "take-off" on the pastor's experience in "Dixie Land." It was quite a happy hit. The words of the parody were by Miss Ada Ellis.
