A FAKE.

By some mysterious way an unsigned call for a Republican caucus of the five precincts outside of Wayne township at the court house at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, slipped into yesterday's PALLADIUM. We wish to state emphatically that no such call was authorized.

Admiral Schley seems intent on making the American people thoroughly sick of his case.

It looks as if the Ishmian camel question would hang fire in congress a good while. The advocates of the Panama route seem to be making a good deal of headway.

We have received a copy of the Indianapolis Sentinel Almanac for 1902. It is one of the best statistical works of its class, and contains 416 well filled pages. The price is 25 cents.

Representative Watson yesterday introduced a bill in the house to create the office of Fifth Assistant Postmaster-General, to have charge of free postal delivery in city and country.

The defeat of Perry Belmont for congress in the seventh New York district shows that Tammany is on the run all along the line. The district is now represented in congress by a Democrat. Lessler, who has just been elected, is a bright young Republican who will be heard from later on.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, calls our attention to an adulterant called "Kremo," a yellow white powder which is being sold to creameries and dairymen. Dr. Hurty declares that Kremo is a fraud and warns the people of Indiana against its use.

Congress will probably grant the franking privilege to Mrs. McKinley. A bill in the house for that purpose was favorably reported by the post-office committee. The privilege has been granted to six other women, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Logan.

The Chicago federation of labor, having been persuaded by newspaper articles that the public schools of that city were a hotbed of fads, appointed a committee of labor leaders to visit the schools and make an investigation. To the surprise of the committee they found nothing to condemn. Most of the so-called fads were, in their opinions, the best features of the schools.

The attempt to create class feeling among the Republicans of this city out of the fact that the township convention was called for Saturday afternoon is utterly unwarranted. These conventions have always been held in the afternoon, with perhaps a single exception, and there never before was any question raised as to the propriety of holding them at that time. The state central committee, for the sake of uniformity, fixed the time for Saturday or Friday, and the chairman of the county committee simply followed precedent in naming this time. The afternoon was adopted no doubt to accommodate farmers in the townships who could not conveniently come out at night. It would probably be more convenient for some of the shop men if the meeting were held in the evening, but there is hardly a manufacturer in town that would refuse to let off any of his employees on Saturday afternoon to attend the convention. It is impossible to exactly suit the convenience of everybody. We do not believe that any intelligent Republican can be persuaded that any class distinction was intended by fixing the time for the convention on Saturday afternoon. Certainly no Republican worthy of the name would attempt to work up such a feeling.

OLD TIMES

When Richmond Had Carriage Factories Thick on Main and North Seventh Streets.

The final destruction of the old McClellan homestead on north seventh street calls attention to the fact that this was about the last landmark of the pioneer industry of Richmond—the carriage business. Those were almost the first articles manufactured in Richmond—carriages and buggies, and seventh street was the location of all the factories. Timber for carriage building was plenty here, and specially good, which gave Richmond the "bulge" on the business. Most wonderful carriages and buggies were made here, too, by men who knew their business better than any others, so that Richmond carriages sold all over the north and northwest even faster than they could be made. All was hand work—"jour. work"—even the irons were all hammered out by hand. Thus Richmond was supplying all this country with carriages even before the turnpikes were made.

Among the factories then in existence, forty years or more ago, John D. McClellan had a shop on the corner of north A and seventh street. Clayton Hunt and Charles Starr, father of Harry Starr, had a factory where the sisters of St. Mary's school now live. Ed McCann, uncle of the Conner boys, had a factory where Joseph Stevenson now resides. The factory of S. R. Lippincott stood where Cunningham's shoe store is. The present site of the Colonial building was then occupied by a carriage factory, while the rear of what is now the Irvin Reed & Co. corner was a carriage factory run by George Mattis. John Thomas, father of Sam and William Thomas, made irons for carriages in a shop where Harrington's leather store stands. S. S. Strattan had a carriage factory further north, at the corner of Ft. Wayne avenue. It is stated by an old resident that Richmond then turned out more carriages than she does even today and gave employment to more men in that line of work than now.

Statue of McKinley in The South.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 9.—Hon. J. B. Duke of Durham, N. C., has ordered from an Italian sculptor a design for a heroic bronze statue of President McKinley. He wishes the south to erect the first McKinley monument. He will place this figure in the park of Trinity college at Durham.

A Good Recommendation.

"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have a bad taste in your mouth, feel bilious, have no appetite or when troubled with constipation, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afford. For sale by A. G. Luken & Co. and W. H. Sudhoff.

Charley Lane Edits Again.

A telegram from Ft. Wayne announces that The Dispatch, a weekly local paper with 3,500 circulation, passed into the control of Charles R. Lane today. It will be published, the new editor says, with especial reference to the rural communities of Allen county. Mr. Lane is still well remembered in Richmond, though he has been in Ft. Wayne for some years, where he holds a position as coal oil inspector. He once ran the Sunday Register in Richmond, and was formerly one of the editors of a Ft. Wayne daily for some years.

A Cure For Lumbago.

W. C. Williamson, of Amherst, Va., says: "For more than a year I suffered from lumbago. I finally tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me entire relief, which all other remedies had failed to do." Sold by A. G. Luken & Co. and W. H. Sudhoff.

Fatal Railroad Collision.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 9.—The north bound express on the Mississippi Valley road collided with a south bound freight twelve miles out. Henry Foster, fireman of the freight, was killed; Engineer Campbell of the freight, Engineer Baldwin, Fireman Wasson of the passenger and three brakemen were injured. The passengers were not hurt. The accident was due to a heavy fog.

Simeon Crockett, four cases, selling without license and selling on Sunday.
James McCaffrey, four cases, selling without license. Mr. McCaffrey is a druggist.
Martin L. Young, three cases, selling on Sunday and other Sunday violations.
Matthew Shew, three cases, Sunday selling and other Sunday violations.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Long—Josiah C. Long died this morning at his home, 113 south eleventh street, after an illness of several months. He was the father of Mrs. Harry Moore of this city, and Mrs. Fred Lincoln of Philadelphia. His age was 74 years. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house. Interment in Earlham. Mr. Long was married on May 14, 1856, to Rebecca Young of Collinsville, O., and they lived in this city since 1860, during which time Mr. Long was identified with many enterprises in Richmond, principally with the Ezra Smith Mfg. Co., of the wood working department of which he was superintendent for many years. For the last ten years he has lived a retired life.

Sowers—Geo. A. Sowers, aged 61, was found dead in bed this morning at his home near East German town. He spoke to his wife when she went down to get breakfast, but when called later failed to reply. On going to his room he was found to be dead. The cause was heart failure.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL.
"The Telephone Girl" with many added features and with a cast of exceptional merit, will be the attraction at the Gennett next Saturday. The piece is a musical jingle by Messrs. Morton & Kerker, a brace of gentlemen who are responsible for the majority of the New York Casino successes. This season many innovations of an interesting and important character have been made. There are an abundance of specialties, and as before, an exceedingly beautiful feminine chorus. The leading members of the organization are Irving Brooks, Marie Richmond, Annie Lloyd, Ruby Kendall, the Browning sisters, Anna Conrad, Elizabeth Goodall, Leona Amrose, Marion Harlan, Amy Thompson, Elsinore Richfield, Linette Fiske, Grace Gordon, Irene Young, Mildred Franklin, Nadine Sidney, Eugene Wiener, Charles K. Burrows and Charles Whyte.

QUO VADIS COMING.

The advance sale will commence on Friday morning for the engagement at the Gennett of F. C. Whitney and Edwin Knowles' gorgeous production of "Quo Vadis." Contrary to the policy usually adopted by attractions with the success achieved by this one and the evident great expense involved there will be no advance in price, and the best seats will be sold. Wherever Messrs. Whitney & Knowles' "Quo Vadis" has been presented the time of its engagement has always seemed to be too brief. A case in point was its eight weeks' run in Chicago, where matinees had to be given every day as well as night performances, in order to accommodate the crowds. This is the "Quo Vadis" which caused the sensation and tempted so many inferior versions. An opportunity is now offered to see the real "Quo Vadis" for the first time here.

LIQUID AIR.

The condition of the plat at the Westcott pharmacy for the liquid air lecture at the Gennett tomorrow evening plainly shows that our people are taking proper interest in this rare opportunity—which is rare—afforded them by the enterprise of Prof. Fiske of the high school. We are about the first city in the state to get such an exhibition.
In Lyceum history there has never been anything so universally demanded, as an attraction, as are these liquid air lectures and demonstrations. One city offered $1,800 for a single lecture. A number of others have paid $1,000 and $1,200, and such crowds have attended the lectures that parties paying these seemingly high prices have more than doubled their money. Mr. Fiske has no idea of making money out of this exhibition. He brought it here through his interest in science and in the schools. It is a work of value to the community.

Scratch, scratch, scratch; unable to attend to business during the day or sleep during the night. Itching piles—horrible plague. Doan's Ointment cures. Never fails. At any drug store, 50c.

HER MONEY GONE

Wayne County Woman Carried Away By the Dower Deed.
Hagerstown, Ind., Jan. 9.—Susan Bowman, an aged widow, was returned from Chicago, where it is claimed she was victimized by Dowie. She was taken into the Zionist organization and in entering it she surrendered what little money she had—about $200, having been impressed by the apostle that she had no right to hold wealth individually.
Before going to Chicago she was at the Wayne infirmary for some time. She was very queer and refused to eat or sleep except in the superintendent's family quarters, and finally she left because that did not suit her. For several years she lived with her son-in-law in Florida, and then came here to stay with relatives. When she went to Chicago she had $200, sent her by relatives to pay for a life place in an old woman's home. She is now homeless.

Lisbon, Jan. 9.—Mousinho Albuquerque, tutor to the crown prince of Portugal, left the Turf club last evening for a drive and committed suicide in his carriage by shooting himself with a revolver.
