

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC

Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nerve Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nerve Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nerve tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nerve Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nerve Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF

Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Headache, Sick Headache, Female Weakness, Nervous Chills, Paralysis, Nervous Paroxysms and Nervous Choking, Hot Flashes, Palpitation of the Heart, Mental Dependancy, Sleeplessness, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervousness of Females, Nervousness of Old Age, Neuralgia, Pains in the Heart, Pains in the Back, Failing Health, Broken Constitution, Debility of Old Age, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Heartburn and Sour Stomach, Weight and Tenderness in Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Frightful Dreams, Dizziness and Ringing in the Ears, Weakness of Extremities and Fainting, Impure and Impoverished Blood, Boils and Carbuncles, Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Ulcers, Consumption of the Lungs, Catarrh of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Chronic Cough, Liver Complaint, Chronic Diarrhoea, Delicate and Scrofulous Children, Summer Complaint of Infants.

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nerve Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nerve Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nerve has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 22, '98.
To the Great South American Nerve Tonic:
Dear Sirs:—I desire to say to you that I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing doing me any appreciable good until I was advised to try your Great South American Nerve Tonic and Stomach and Liver Cure, and since using several bottles of it I must say that I am surprised at its wonderful power to cure the stomach and general nervous system. It is the best I have ever used, and I feel sure that it will be the best to supply the demand.

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITUS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nerve and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nerve Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and only one great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nerve Tonic.

HARRIS E. HALL, of Waynesboro, Ind., says:
"I owe my life to the Great South American Nerve Tonic. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerve Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

No remedy compares with South American Nerve Tonic as a cure for the Stomach. No remedy will all compare with South American Nerve Tonic as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its power to build up the whole system is wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle-aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may regret the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nerve Tonic is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and ailments.

ONE OF WOMAN'S WAYS.

She Hates to Pay Out Bills That Are Clean and Crisp.

"Most women hate to spend new money," says an observant salesman. "I haven't the faintest idea why this should be so, but I've noticed it often right here in the store."

"A woman will make a purchase and pull out her purse to pay the bill, but if she happens to have a bill with a clean, crisp note in making up the amount she is greatly annoyed. I've seen women with fat wads of bright brand new bills flustered when they had to pay for purchases because they hadn't sufficient old money to meet the charges. They would dig out the contents of their purses and stow the crisp notes to one side, and if they couldn't scrape up the sum in a few cases I've known them to go out with out buying."

"Others will give utterance to little feminine exclamations of dismay and will hastily pay for the articles selected in the new money. Then they will march off with quite a show of indignation, just as if they had been invaded into spending the money."

"I know one man who always takes his salary home in beautiful, clean old tickets. He has caught on to this peculiarity of the sex, and he says it saves him all kinds of money."—Philadelphia Record.

Chinese Honesty.

As for the honesty of these people, I appeal to every English merchant or banker from Peking to Hongkong to answer if he ever heard of a dishonest Chinese merchant or banker. So far from that, not only has every English bank two Chinese men to receive and hand out money, but every bank in Japan has the same. The English will tell you half in jest, that the Japanese is an oriental Yankee and does not trust his own people, and they will tell you, half in earnest, that the English bankers employ Chinese to handle their money because they never make mistakes.

These people of China have never had anything like a bankrupt law. If a man cannot pay his debts or some one does not secretly come forward and pay them at the end of each year, he has "lost his face," and so he dies by his own hand. Yet, with all their piteous poverty, they have no such words as "hard times," for everything must be settled up at the end of the year. There can be no extension of time. Confucius forbade it.—Joaquin Miller in North American Review.

Champagne and Cancer.

There is a remarkable coincidence between the spread of cancer and the largely increased daily consumption of effervescent wines and waters among the wealthy classes. Prior to the sixties champagne was a drink was, even in higher circles, partaken of but occasionally, nor were aerated waters consumed in anything like the quantity now with the frequency that they now are. These beverages, and indeed all effervescent drinks, owe their sparkle to the carbonic acid gas which they contain. My contention is that the upper classes by their habit of constantly imbibing effervescent beverages, which are solutions of carbonic acid of greater or less strength, so prepare their mucous tissues as to make them a favorable host to the cancerous fungus, if fungus it be.—London Medical Times.

Broke His Circuit.

The shades of the goose and the turkey were discussing the circumstances which had attended their respective takings off.

"Did you offer any objection when first the cruel farmer laid hands on you?" sympathetically inquired the gobbler.

"Yes," replied his goosehood; "I cried out, 'Hello, what's this?'"

"What did you say next?" inquired the now thoroughly interested fowl.

"Oh," the goose replied, "I did not say anything more. Just then I was wrong off."—Michigan Lyte.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Gives Working Strength.

"I know you expected a letter from me some time ago, but I will state my reasons, plainly, why I did not write before this," says Mr. Joseph Grass, of Brewer, Perry Co., Mo. "It was because I did not wish to deceive anyone. I wanted to be sure that your 'Golden Medical Discovery' had benefited me and it took time after I stopped taking the medicine before I felt sure I had realized permanent results from its use. After taking six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one of your 'Pleasant Pellets' am able to do a day's work with any man. I cannot express in words the good your medicines have done me."

CAN'T TRUST THEM.

By Barry Pain.

"Personally," said James Robinson, "I don't think I shall ever get married."

"You are somewhat young to come to so sad a decision," said the interviewer. "Possibly you have had some bitter personal experience of the sex which you would hardly care to submit to the cold gaze of the public."

"Don't you fret yourself about that. Anything I tell you you can use on the terms we arranged. And I should not take the risk of telling you anything I wanted you to keep to yourself. As to my being young, I may be, but I've seen a good bit of women. And I say you may possibly like them, and you may possibly admire them for some things, but I'm hanged if you can trust them."

"Dear me!" said the interviewer. "And I'm not so precious easy taken in as some chaps are. Now, there's Tilson—absolutely anything's good enough for him. I said to him one day, 'Take three triangles, all the same size, and arrange them so as to make the name of a well known cricketer.' He asked me not to tell him and said he believed he could do it. He made his triangles and got to work. Later on he came to me and said he was pretty certain the name was Fry and asked me if it wasn't. 'Well,' I said, 'that would be telling you nearly all of it.' So he wouldn't be told and said he'd bet he'd get it before the end of prep. All through prep, he was working at it as hard as he could go. The triangles looked like Euclid at a little distance, so that he didn't get copped. Besides, you can do what you like in Piggy's prep."

"Piggy?" inquired the interviewer. "Piggy—one of the masters—he's no good. Well, after prep, Tilson owned up that he couldn't do it. 'What?' I said. 'Can't arrange three triangles so as to make the name of a well known cricketer?' 'No,' said he. 'No more can I,' said I. 'And I never heard of anybody who could.' Then he chivied me, and we got into the bootroom and slung boots at one another until he sent one through the window. He was in a proper row, too, next day because he hadn't done any prep. Oh, you can always catch Tilson."

"Which things are in the nature of a digression," observed the interviewer. "Nature of a which? Well, I'm not like Tilson, and I know most catches. But I've been taken in by women more than once, and I don't trust any of them any more. Some time ago I used to get up to the sickroom just before going to bed. I'd got a cold and cough and a tickling in the throat, and the matron gave me lozenges that weren't bad—I've paid money down for things that weren't half so decent to eat. So I'd sit on the table and chew those lozenges and say that a day in bed would put me right—though that never came off. I used to talk, and she encouraged me to talk, and she used to talk herself. If I thought the grub wasn't quite up to the usual mark, I'd mention it. I'd make criticisms on the masters. I'd tell her about any special little lark we were having. And she used to listen to it all, and would have sworn she was on my side. Yet she used to pass the whole blessed thing on—peached regularly. There's a viper for you."

"Thus early does one learn discretion," observed the interviewer. "Not so blessed early either," said James Robinson. "I got done again after that. I didn't know then they were all alike. I thought that matron might be an exception. It was in the holidays when I was stopping at my uncle's at Salford. I've got three cousins there—all girls—and they'd got another girl, a friend of theirs, with them. Her name was Dora Lemaire. My uncle being the rector, he naturally corks me into his choir, where they can't sing for bananas, and I do a solo for them on Sunday. That was the beginning, of course."

"Why?" "Because all women are keen on anybody who sings or plays pretty well. This Dora Lemaire began to take a lot of notice of me. Consequently I began to take some notice of her. Some ways she wasn't bad."

"How old?" "She was a bit older than me. Perhaps about twenty-five. But if she'd been all right in other ways I wouldn't have let that interfere. I killed a water hen with a caty (that's a thing I bet you've never done) and gave her the plumage for a hat. Played tennis with her, though she wasn't up to my class. Let her play my accompaniments. Exchanged photographs. Showed her how to make jumpers. Ran five miles to catch the post in the next village for her one night. She kissed me once. Everything seemed to be all right. And all that time she was making game of me to my cousins (I found that out from the youngest of them) and repeating particularly private things that I'd said to her and sort of jeering at me. What's more, she was engaged. And that letter I took to the post for her was to the man. She's married him now. When I was leaving, she wanted to kiss me again, but I wouldn't. No, you can't trust any woman. I've done with them."—Black and White.
