BEELER'S HILL

Being Cut Down by Contractor Henry Miller.

Henry Miller the contractor, is again at work cutting down Beeler's hill, southwest of this city. It is estimated that it will require several months to complete the work, which has been temporarily abandoned for the last few months on account of the frozen condition of the ground. The hill, one of the familiar landmarks around here, is being cut down to make going to and coming from Richmond easier for the farmers, as, on account of the exceedingly steep grade, most farmers from that part of the county prefer a long circuit around and consequent loss of time to climbing the steep and long hill.

STAGE LIGHTS.

Their Various Uses and the Names by Which They are Known.

Lights play an important part on the stage of the modern theater, and they have many uses. The spot light, for instance, is employed to cast a circle of light upon the stage where a single person is to be brought into especial prominence. It consists of an arc electric light inclosed in a cylindrical hood about the diameter of a stove-pipe and provided at the open end with a condenser lens for the purpose of concentrating the rays upon a small area.

A flood light is an arc in a rectangular box painted white upon the inside to serve as a reflector. It is supposed to flood the stage with light; hence its name.

Bunch lights are clusters of gas or incandescent lights either arranged within a reflector or exposed naked. They are used back of a scene behind doorways, where light is needed off the stage to represent the illumination of that part of a dwelling not shown. For the same purpose "strip" lights are used—rows of incandescent lights fastened to a strip of wood provided with a hook, by which it may be hung to the back of a scene when required.

"Side" lights are incandescent lights arranged on either side of the proscenium arch. Sometimes they are built within the arch or they are arranged to be swung outward when the curtain is raised.

The footlights are familiar to all, and the "border" lights are those hung over the stage directly above the scenery, shutting off the top of the stage. These are arranged in a trough like an inverted "U" to cast their light down upon the stage. These are practically all of the lights used upon the stage of a house, though magic lanterns are employed at times for the simulation of water effects, moonlight ripples and lightning. The old fashioned calcium, using the oxyhydrogen gas, is so seldom employed in the modern theater as to call for no comment.

OHIO RIVER RISING.

(By Associated Press.) Cincinnati, O., March 7. — Capt. Bassler, of the weather bureau, says that heavy rains have fallen, especially in the upper part of the valley. Headwater tributaries are rising. From Wheeling to near Point Pleasant the river is falling. From Point Pleasant down it is rising and at Cincinnati will pass 45 feet on Tuesday. It is likely to go much beyond that on the present conditions. The stage at Portsmouth is 44 feet, a rise of two feet seven inches. At Catlettsburg the river has risen two feet.

DEATH TRAP

Crossing on the Pennsylvania Railroad Being Investigated.

The horrible list of tragedies that have taken place at the Panhandle crossing at New Castle have aroused the city council of that city to action. It has decided to have an actual count made of pedestrians and vehicles that cross the Pennsylvania tracks at the five street crossings in order to find out just what ought to be done, judging from number of those crossing whether a flagman should be stationed there or an overhead crossing put in. Five section hands counted the number of those crossing Saturday and will count today and the actual count will be sent in to the Pennsylvania officials. Council has said that, unless some steps are taken by the railroad company to afford protection to the public, it would rigidly enforce all violations of the speed limit, etc., and that trains will be stopped. After the extent of the travel has been ascertained it is thought alarm bells or other safety devices will be placed at the crossing besides the watchman.

RICHMOND GIRLS

After Graduating at Earlham Will Teach in Porto Rico.

Five of Earlham's next June graduates intend to put their education to a test. They have made application to teach in the public schools of Porto Rico. Two of the five are Richmond girls—Bessie Middleton and Edna Moore—the others, Edna Ferree, of Marion; Agnes Slanker, of Wapakoneta, Ohio, and Daisy Cox, of West Newton.

A MINISTER

In Indianapolis Wants "Victory to Perch on Japan."

The Rev. J. Cummings Smith preached a sermon at Indianapolis yesterday at the Tabernacle on the theme, "A Contradiction, That is Argument." The subject had special reference to the Russo-Japanese war. In closing Rev. Smith said:

"May Japan win, for Japan is not altogether a heathen country, nor is Russia altogether a Christian country. It is salutary sometimes to pause and try to define well-used words like Christian and heathen. "If I were a missionary I would want victory to perch on Japan. But not too much or too quick a victory, but just enough victory to be decisive and to leave a sober, serious impression on the splendid little empire."

CALIFORNIA'S GREATNESS.

California has the largest seed farms in the world.

California leads all the states in the production of barley.

The Golden Gate is the western portal for America's great future commerce.

California is the only state in the Union in which bituminous rock is found.

California has a larger per capita wealth than any other state in the Union.

California produces more oranges and lemons than any other state in the Union.

The United States mint at San Francisco is the largest institution of the kind in the world.

For many years past San Francisco has been and still is the leading whaling port of the world.

The glory of California's flowers is practical. The state produces more honey than any other.

California produces more English walnuts than all the other states, and they are of better quality.—Exchange.

A Home Thrust.

There is a good story told about the late Henry Bergh. While walking about the streets of New York city one morning he saw a teamster whipping a balky horse.

"Stop that, you brute," he exclaimed, "or I'll have you locked up inside of five minutes! Why don't you try kindness on the animal? Don't you suppose a horse can be reached by a kind word the same as a human being?"

"I believe ye're right, sor," replied the teamster, a quick witted Irishman, who, with all his faults of temper, was not a bad man at heart, "an' if a horse has feelin's, sor, don't ye s'pose his driver has too? Thry a kind word on the driver, if ye please."

The stern face of Mr. Bergh relaxed into a smile, and in the better understanding that followed the horse forgot that it was balking and started off in a trot.

A Scathing Retort.

An English lawyer who had been cross examining a witness for some time and who had sorely taxed the patience of the judge, jury and every one in the court was finally asked by the court to conclude his cross examination. Before telling the witness to stand down he accosted him with this parting sarcasm:

"Ah, you're a clever fellow—a very clever fellow. We can all see that." The witness leaned over from the box and quietly retorted:

"I would return the compliment if I were not on oath."—"Personalia."

Vulgar Admiration.

Mr. Muchash—What are you doing out there in the night air? Come into the house. Gladys—I was just admiring the moon, papa. Mr. Muchash—What business have you admiring the moon when there are so many things in the house that I have bought expressly for you to admire? Anybody can admire the moon.

His Luck.

Lowscads (despondently)—I might just as well be dead. What good am I, anyway? Why, I believe that I've been refused by every girl in town! Henpekke (excitedly)—Touch wood! Touch wood, quick, or your luck will change!—Smart Set.
