Amusements

For Her Children's Sake.
The attraction at the Gennett on next Friday, March 11th, will be Sullivan, Harris & Woods' fine production of Theodore Kramer's companion play to "The Fatal Wedding," entitled "For Her Children's Sake." This big New York success has been secured at no little trouble and expense, and a large business is already assured. The play opens brightly and ends happily. In the interim a series of heart throbs and laughter, as well as tears, are com-mingled. There are thrilling climaxes and dramatic surprises that keep an audience in a constant state of expectancy, but the end is as every one would have it be. In this beautiful tale of real life, the pitiful figure of an old vicar, childless and wifeless, plays an important part. Against the background of his love stands in bold outline the wayward child. We see the wicked influence of a bad woman on a good man and the wayward but repentant child. There is the vicarage where the outcast daughter learned at her father's knee the truths of everlasting faith that are to lead in time into the safe harbor where the storms and stress of life are forgotten. We also see an old woman, a faithful servant of the family, following the heroine in all her wanderings, protecting and guarding her with a mother-like devotion. The play has succeeded because it is all so human, so true, that there is no resisting it. This is another one you should not miss seeing.

The following from the Chicago Tribune speaks for itself:
"Coming out of Powers' last evening, after witnessing the performance of 'The Rivals,' a bright-eyed young woman was overheard saying: This has been a profitable evening; and then she added, half resentfully 'why don't we have more of them?'" Her remark, it is believed, voiced the sentiments of nearly every person in the large audience that had just received Sheridan's comedy with every evidence of delighted enjoyment. The language of the play may seem to us antiquated in expression and certain of the characters may impress us as old-fashioned, but the wit, because it is genuine, is keen, and the humor of the situations, by reason of the skillful ease with which they are created, has lost none of its power to amuse and gladden.

Not only the eye is gratified by witnessing one of these "old-fashioned" comedies — especially when they are presented with as much taste as was "The Rivals" last night — but the mind, too, is roused and entertained and the auditor departs at the performance's close feeling that he has been not only diverted and amused but refreshed and invigorated. Such an evening is, in truth, "profitable," for the recreation that is one of the chief ends of theater-going has been obtained and the mental faculties have not been left unused, or what is more damaging, been dulled by inanity and worse. Why do we not have more of them is a text requiring too far reaching treatment to receive attention here even were it desirable.
Managers, players and public are each in part to blame for the infre-quency of such evenings of profit, but it is doubtful if the chief portion of such blame can with justice be laid at the door of the public."

If the theater-going public of Richmond desire to spend a "profitable evening, should they fail to see "The Rivals" as presented by Joseph Jefferson, jr., and William W. Jefferson at the Gennett theater Saturday, matinee and night, with their all star cast, then they will be doing themselves an unpardonable injury.

WILL PUT IT TO VOTE

Mine Workers Will Decide the Strike Question by Referendum.
Indianapolis, March 8.—The 190,000 union mine workers of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, western Pennsylvania, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, western Kentucky, central Pennsylvania and West Virginia on Tuesday, March 15, will declare a strike in the soft coal fields to begin April 1, or will vote for peace for two years by accepting, by their individual votes, the compromise offer Saturday by the operators of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and western Pennsylvania to the miners in those districts.

The question was referred to the local unions by the miners in national convention before they adjourned sine die. It was at least a considerable step toward averting the great suspension that was practically ordered Saturday, when the miners disregarded the advice of all of their leaders, including President John Mitchell, and voted against accepting the terms offered by the operators. That recommendation was for a 5.5 per cent reduction.

Though a step has been taken toward averting what would be the greatest industrial suspension in the history of the country, no one at this time can foretell what the result of the ballot of the membership will be.
It will be canvassed in Indianapolis on March 17, by the national tellers.

GETS THEM GUESSING

House Members Wanted to Know Contents of Postoffice Report.

Washington, March 8.—Postal affairs engross the attention of the house practically to the exclusion of all else. The subject was introduced by Mr. Overstreet, chairman of the committee on postoffice and post-roads, who submitted the report of that committee on the Hay resolution calling for certain information regarding the use of "influence" by members of the house to secure increase in salary for postmasters. Interest centered in the data accompanying the report, which had been furnished the committee by the postoffice department, relating to members of the house. There was a full attendance of members on both sides of the chamber when Mr. Overstreet stated that he had been directed by unanimous vote of the committee to recommend that the Hay resolution be tabled, as the information wanted accompanies the report. Minority members urged that that debate and vote on the resolution should be deferred as they had not had an opportunity to read the report, so an agreement was reached to postpone further action until Wednesday and 4,000 copies of the report were ordered printed. There will be three hours' debate on the motion to table and a formal amendment will be offered by the minority to provide for a general investigation of the postoffice department. Mr. Overstreet in connection with the report said that in his opinion there was not a Mrs. Wm. B. Knapp, 831 E. 8th St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "I write this hoping that it will be the means of helping some suffering sister who has any weakness or trouble peculiar to women. Seventeen years ago last fall I was taken sick with weakness, and was in bed all winter. Just as soon as I would get up I would fall and fall. Three of the best doctors in our town could not help me; then my husband wrote to that dear old Dr. Pengelly and he sent me medicine and advice. The first dose helped me, and in one month I was up doing my work after being sick in bed from the 21st of November until the next May. The medicine he sent me was Zoa Phora, and if it hadn't been for dear old Dr. Pengelly and Zoa Phora, I would not be here to write this."

trated medical book, "Dr. Pengelly's Advice
