THE QUESTION OF UNREST.

When Grover Cleveland stood out against the growing tendency to silverism in his party he was standing for his convictions and his influence was brought to bear for the well being of his country. In this he showed sturdy, sensible manhood opposed to the idiosyncrasies of the radicals in his party, but now when he speaks of "growing unrest" in the country and implies that it is caused by weakness or folly, or evil intent, on the part of this administration, he displays a spirit that might be expected from a Bryan but hardly from a Cleveland. When he considers the question of unrest in this country he certainly ought to know that it is the greatest question that Americans are called upon to face, a question that is to be pondered seriously and as thoroughly as possible. Beyond all other questions it calls for a condition absolutely free from partisan spirit. A man that is half big enough to be president of this country ought to be able to see this at a glance. So it is reasonable to infer that Grover Cleveland does see it. Then he should remember that while the contributions to this "growing unrest" have come for many years from various sources yet from no other one source has come so great a contribution as from his own party in the campaign of 1892. Even the ignominious failure of this man's own administration contributed less to this persistent and dangerous condition of mind than the heedless and unscrupulous harangues made in his behalf in that campaign. Everybody with an eye half open knows very well that there is unrest, and a perilous degree of it in this country, and it seems to us that taken as a whole, there is no other one cause of it that approaches in degree the persistent efforts of the Democratic party to stir to their utmost the evil passions in human nature.

PAVILION AND GLEN.

There is quite a difference of opinion as to the duty of our city council in the matter of an appropriation for a pavilion at the Glen. These opinions are outside of the council of course.

In conversation with one of the leading professional men of the city today, he expressed himself freely on the subject and favors the following plan on the part of the council: Let them issue bonds to the amount of $25,000 at 5 per cent, payable in five, ten and fifteen years. Devote $10,000 to the construction of a pavilion and $15,000 for the improvement of Glen Miller Park. These improvements should be made under the direction of a competent landscape gardener. He is in favor of the present generation paying the bills and the future generations enjoying the park. We are not at liberty to reveal the name of this progressive citizen, but his views are worthy of consideration. Glen Miller is to be the place of rest and recreation for the citizens of Richmond and they can well afford to incur the expense necessary to make it the most beautiful park in Indiana. Nature has done her part well and it remains only for man to put on the artificial touches.

This matter has been under discussion long enough to have reached some definite conclusions. The park board has heard opinions and suggestions from those who know how such things ought to be done, but the suggestions vary so much that they cannot all be included in final plans. The people who have charge of these matters ought to know well what is needed and then act entirely on their own responsibility.

A Marion paper is authority for the statement that the entire Marion school exhibit will be sent to the St. Louis fair. Mr. Millis, who will have charge of the Indiana educational exhibit, says that the Marion exhibit "excelled any other work he had received." The general understanding is that Prof. Millis is to draw a salary to look after the exhibit and not make the awards. At the educational exhibit at Chicago, there were tons of manuscripts that never saw the light. Will it be the same at St. Louis? There will be no competition now, of course, since the superintendent or manager of the exhibit has given Marion the first place among the schools of the state.

Delaware and Ohio. Yes, these two states are now in a list where Indiana used to be. The criminal is protected in Indiana, and the law, in due course of time, metes out justice. Over in Ohio they do not wait long enough to reach a pole or tree. They kill the prisoner and then hang him. They did the same thing with Haman's sons.

There is no danger of race suicide over in Utah. That brazen-faced polygamist, Joseph F. Smith, says that he is the father of forty-two children.

Popularity of Electric Machines.

Doing the Right Thing. Although gasoline is apparently the favorite power for automobiles, it is quite certain that there is a big field for electric machines, especially for ladies, physicians and others who either find the carriage well adapted for their uses or who prefer to have a machine of limited power than to have one which requires some knowledge of mechanics in order to get it in running order.

It was a noticeable fact that at the New York Automobile Show electric runabouts were in excellent demand.

The mileage of these electric carriages are being increased so that fifty or sixty miles is possible on a single charge of the battery. This is considered a comfortable day's journey.

Births.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sasser, a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Paul Comstock, a girl.

STATE CHARITIES.

According to a bulletin issued by the Indiana Bulletin of Charities and Corrections the five institutions of the state show a decrease in the per capita cost, while the population of each increased during the year. Each insane person cared for during the year cost the state on an average of $170.52. Central has the highest per capita and Easthaven comes next.

Charles Farrell, captain of the Muncie polo team, gave an elaborate clam supper to about twenty-five of his friends in the place of William McEvilyan, on Hoyt avenue, after the polo game last night. The affair was on the eastern style, clams, potatoes, onions, frankfurters, sausage, pork chops, eggs, kidneys, fish, tripe and other edibles being cooked together. Mr. Farrell prepared the guests by opening several bushels of shell oysters and clams, to be eaten raw. The sea food had been shipped from the old home of the host in Fall River, Mass., for this occasion.—Muncie Times.

According to Secretary Durbin's books the amount of fines assessed so far this season on players in the Western Roller Polo league exceeded the total amount of last season more than four times. In the record of fines the Richmond team takes the lead with a total of $23, of which $16 was on Bone and $7 on Cunningham, sr. Fines aggregating $10 have been chalked up against Wodtke, of Anderson, and $9 on Way, recently with Indianapolis. All other fines were $2 or less, the total being $61. The books also show that all fines have been paid by the players. Last season the total amount of fines was only $15. Most of the fines against Bone and Wodtke were for "back talk" to the referees, while Way drew nearly half of his penalty for fighting. Several of the $2 fines were for quarreling and personal mixups during games.

The Eagles defeated the Clippers in a close game Friday by the score of 6 to 3.

Friday night the Storks were defeated by the "Picks" by the score of 8 to 5.

Saturday the Royals defeated the Crescents in a hard fought game by the score of 7 to 2.

The "would be players of basketball are trying to get up a new team. If they succeed they will push the Giants for first place and probably will land second in the race for basketball championship of Garfield.

The Giant basketball team of Garfield will possibly play the High school team at the Garfield gymnasium Friday; if so it is hoped by the Giants that they will give the basketball team of high school as good a drubbing as the Garfield polo team gave the high school polo team last Friday.

EMERGENCY RATION

A man has lived forty days without other food than his own fat.

Fat is man's emergency ration. The fat is stored in convenient hollows all over the body against the day of necessity.

Consumption makes heavy demand on the storage of fat. Nature uses fat to fight the disease. The crying need of the consumptive is fat.

Scott's Emulsion contains the best fat to be had, next to human fat itself. Scott's Emulsion is a natural substitute for human fat. It prevents waste. It furnishes the consumptive with nature's own weapon for fighting the disease.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

SCHOOL NEWS

Happenings and Future Events at Garfield.

(By Charles Starr.)

The Garfield teachers have this year made a study of Prof. Dewey's book, "The School and Society." The whole book is a plea for a closer union between the home life of the children and their school work. There has been a constant effort to bring this about at Garfield and with some measure of success.

The eighth grade history classes take up in connection with each term's work one or more typical events and study these much more carefully than is possible with all the events. This careful study of types prepares the pupil to more readily understand the topic less fully treated. The 8 A's are now studying the Louisiana purchase. Each pupil is supplied with a pamphlet which gives some of the details of the diploma leading to the purchase, the dispute regarding it, and the provisions of congress for governing the territory.

The opening of the second month of the term finds things moving smoothly. The new pupils are now familiar with the departmental plan and are able to arrange their work to better advantage. The responsibility of arranging his plan of work for the different study hours is an important factor in the development of a boy's character.

Mrs. Hill was unable to be in school Monday and Tuesday because of the serious illness of her daughter. Her place was supplied by Miss Marguerite Hill.

At a meeting of the polo players it was decided to disband one of the teams—the Elks—and distribute the players among the other four teams, thus strengthening these and making the games more interesting.

General exercises were held in room 4 Monday, 8:30. Mrs. Test gave the pupils a brief talk on "bird life" and the purpose of the Audubon Society.

The speedy Garfield team, the Royals, defeated the high school team at the Garfield gymnasium Friday night by a score of 6 to 0. The Garfield team played in excellent form and never throughout the game did the high school team have a chance to win.

The Eagles defeated the Clippers in a close game Friday by the score of 6 to 3.

Friday night the Storks were defeated by the "Picks" by the score of 8 to 5.

Saturday the Royals defeated the Crescents in a hard fought game by the score of 7 to 2.

The "would be players of basketball are trying to get up a new team. If they succeed they will push the Giants for first place and probably will land second in the race for basketball championship of Garfield.

The Giant basketball team of Garfield will possibly play the High school team at the Garfield gymnasium Friday; if so it is hoped by the Giants that they will give the basketball team of high school as good a drubbing as the Garfield polo team gave the high school polo team last Friday.

DOWIE'S OPINION

Of Politicians Given From Australia.

Dowie's violent epigram that politicians are like a deck of cards, the longer you shuffle them the dirtier they get, was thought good enough to telegraph all the way from Australia. It sounds like Sam Jones. It is one of the rough, brutal witticisms that do not hurt very much, for nobody thinks he is a politician. The politician is a hazy sort of personality, the creation of an idea half personified, and of certain human qualities necessary in doing campaign work. He exists today and is resolved back into the working masses tomorrow.

It is only when the politician gives up his professed useful occupation and devotes himself to politics and nothing else that he takes on the character that in many minds is undesirable. Most of the political work in the United States is done by men who serve the community usefully in other ways. They may be professional men, merchants of manufacturers. When they become politicians, and politicians only, then they must depend on politics for their living. In doing so there must of necessity be a good deal of shuffling, with the result that something of Dowie's description seems to fit.

Politicians get into the business as crack billiard players and crack golfers and all the other crack experts of everything drift into professionalism. They take more interest in the game than in their vocation, and presently find themselves doing nothing else. They take up the game, the fad, the fad takes possession of them, and if it pays they keep at it. The faddist in games makes it endure to the end, while the professional politician has some of the instincts of the gambler, and he can't keep from playing, win or lose.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
