Only a fair sized crowd saw the game Saturday evening but in the first period at least, witnessed some of the best polo, in the true sense of the word, seen in this city this season. The first period was filled with fast and pretty plays and it looked as though the Nortonites were going to make a hard fight but in the second period the advantage gained was taken away by Richmond's brilliant playing and from that time on the excess of Richmond's goals over those of Anderson was the only thing to be decided, for the game was won by the middle of the second period when Richmond ran away with the game.

Craig played a fairly good game at first rush until the third period when Mercer went in for the first time this week, but so greatly was Anderson outclassed that it was not able to make a goal after the first period. Bone was the star of the entire game and his sensational carrying of the ball the entire length of the floor, through all the opposing players, brought the fans to their feet again and again.

Young Cunningham played a splendid game at cover point. He was fast all through and won the plaudits of the crowd. In fact, the entire team played a faultless game.

Twenty-seven hundred persons at Marion Saturday witnessed a game fast, spirited and full of pretty plays, especially on Marion's part. Two new players were in Marion's winning team, Devlin and Gavitt, of Lafayette, the former playing half and the latter second rush. Gavitt made some of the famous angle drives that won for him last year the honor of having made more goals than any other player. Burgess played a star game, covering almost the entire cage and making some very difficult

Catarrh

Invites Consumption

It weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and breaks down the general health.

stops. DeWitt took Farrell's place part of the time and Warner appeared in the third period.

Elwood, while putting up a good game was outclassed Saturday at Indianapolis and was only able to make three goals, while the fine work of McGilvary at coverpoint enabled the Indians to roll up a total of eleven. Cashman was decidedly off in his playing and let some easy ones get by him. Lyons, while putting up a fine game, was not at his best, and did little towards breaking up the team work of Coggs, McGilvary and Pierce. Pierce played a fine game, covering the floor well and giving McGilvary many fine chances which the latter was not slow to take advantage of. O'Hara and Coggs guarded Roberts and O'Malley in true Mansfield style and Lyons and Fitzgerald gave Bannon several stops. Score—Indianapolis, 11; Elwood, 3. Stops—Bannon, 44; Cashman, 38. Referees—Clements and Moran. Attendance—1,600.

Central League Games.

The phenomenal work of Sutton at goal saved the game for Fort Wayne Saturday evening at Logansport. He was in front of all the drives of the opposing rushers and his record of sixty-nine stops out of the same number of chances sets a new mark for central league goal tenders. Harry Way failed to appear for Logansport and Moran went in and played a good game. The Logansport team was outclassed in every department by Ft. Wayne and the distance between leaders and tailenders was increased. The regular lineup was presented by both teams.

Score—Fort Wayne, 6; Logansport, 0. Goals—Jason, 4; Whipple, 2. Stops—Sutton, 69; Sutherland, 32. No fouls. Referee—Kilgore. Attendance—950.

Kokomo was decisively beaten by Danville at the former place. Devlin, the Kokomo center, took the place of Hayes, who is ill at present and Houghton went to center, putting up a good game. Campbell, for Danville, was the star, caging five out of six goals and playing a fast game. The Danville team had its regular lineup.

Score—Danville, 6; Kokomo, 2. Stops—Weimert, 41; White, 42. Fouls—Campbell. Referee—Caley. Attendance—900.

The Richmond team appeared on Saturday night in new uniforms. The new suits are the same as the old ones—blue and white—and are very becoming. In baseball it is considered a Jonah for a team to break in new uniforms, but Richmond got around this, winning easily.

ENTERPRISING R. B.

Operates Big Hot Houses and Gives Women Passengers Bouquets.

(New York Commercial.)

At Niles, Mich., a little city not particularly famous in any other direction, over 500,000 women annually get free bouquets. A railroad company has just rebuilt its hothouses there on a scale that redoubles their former capacity. It matters not whether it is midwinter or midsummer, there is always a fragrant shower of cut flowers whenever a train stops at the pretty station.

More than 10 years ago the officers of the Michigan Central conceived the idea of raising enough flowers to enable them to throw in the lap of each woman passenger, be she of high or low degree, a boutonniere of cut flowers. An employe in uniform, bearing a basket filled with the favors, passes through the train distributing the fragrant bunches. The men do not count in this matter, and must be content to see the women enjoy the gift.

The entire floral department of the road, as well as the hothouses at Niles, are under the charge of John Gipner, an experienced florist, who has presided over the department since its inception.

The new building at Niles is one of the most extensive and substantial that has ever been erected for the purpose. It not only holds a never failing supply of flowers for the tiny bouquet for the women folks, but in it are stored thousands of plants that in the spring are shipped to every part of the system to be used in beautifying station grounds.

In the building there are 10,000 feet of glass. In one bed, built on a steel frame, underneath which steam pipes are coiled there are 4,000 geraniums, which is only a part of the supply of this variety. The carnations run up into the thousands. There are sweet peas from bushels of seed, and violets of all colors that ever bloomed.

In different parts of the roomy structure are found snowy oleanders, yellow asters, purple phlox, heliotrope, tiger lilies, dahlias, azaleas, coleas and every thing to delight the gaze of every one fortunate enough to behold the sight.

If troubled with weak digestion, belching or sour stomach, use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will get quick relief. For sale by A. G. Luken & Co., and W. H. Sudhoff, fifth and Main streets.

IS OATMEAL A CURSE

London Physician Raises Hornets' Nest by Telling Public So.

(New York Times.)

An English physician has raised a hornets' nest about his own ears and greatly excited the Scottish subjects of his Majesty by gravely asserting in the columns of the London Daily Mail that, instead of being a wholesome and nutritious food, oatmeal porridge is rapidly attaining the proportions of a "national curse." An eminent Scotch physician comes to the defense of his English colleague and ventures the assertion that the oatmeal diet of Glasgow children is directly and solely responsible for the prevalence of rickets in that city. If he is right, oatmeal is not the efficient bone-forming food which it has been considered. He further says:

"Rickets is enormously on the increase in England, especially among the poorer classes, who, misled as to the value of oatmeal as food, give it to their children for breakfast, and so fill them up with a stodgy and insufficiently nourishing food, instead of more easily digested things, such as bread, meat and milk, a less quantity of which would supply far more nutriment. People who feed their children on oatmeal are literally starving them. Oatmeal is one of the greatest blessings the medical profession has ever known. It fills their surges and it increases their incomes. What the effect of its increased popularity will be on the national physique, though, I am afraid to think."

Here are statements which are either true or false. In either case the matter is of interest to some millions of American mothers who have established oatmeal porridge as the staple of the nursery, and who are a long way from desiring to inflict a "curse" upon children they value. Since we have made it a topic of breakfast-table conversation, the family physician is likely to be called upon to give an expert opinion on the subject, and for this he would do well to qualify by a study of its literature. It is not a matter concerning which the medical adviser of a family can conscientiously give an ill-considered or ignorant opinion. An English physician of standing who has the courage of his convictions, in that he is willing to be quoted, says:

"When a man comes to me suffering from indigestion, I say: 'Do you eat oatmeal?' In answer to the 'Yes,' which I anticipate, I reply 'Drop it.' That is all the dieting I prescribe. If people would eat more meat and less messes like porridge they would be all the stronger. We should have fewer insipid-looking people among the ranks of our young men and women."

What this adviser would say to a dyspeptic patient who never ate oatmeal it would be of interest to know. Perhaps he would prescribe it, on the familiar principle of similia similibus, etc. Really the matter is one of great and increasing importance, and it is one concerning which a great many people will desire to be better advised than they are now.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by A. G. Luken & Co., and W. H. Sudhoff, fifth and Main streets.

FOR THE LADIES

Some Few Things About Petticoats.

In silk skirts the tendency is in the direction of the circular flounce.

Either that or some other device is employed to give the required fullness at the bottom.

Brocades, moires, taffetas and foulards in satin as well as the lighter weight silks, are seen, but with never a rustle left in any of them. Soft silks are the only ones in vogue.

The demand for black has been surprising. This is no doubt due to the fact that many black separate skirts will be worn this season.

Furthermore, black, taffeta shirt-waist and walking suits are very fashionable and as the skirts of these garments are unlined they naturally require a black petticoat to go with them.

Nevertheless, the colored silk petticoat is by no means neglected. Blue, brown, tan and green are the favored shades.

Ruffles, tucks and ruchings have to a considerable extent superseded platings.

However, there are a number of skirts on every line which are trimmed with the combination of ruchings and platings.

In the popular-price skirt the flounce is not so deep as in the medium and high-priced goods.

In the latter every change possible has been made in trimmings which will make the dress skirt stand out.

The cotton skirt has proved an excellent seller this season. The only complaint the manufacturers have to make is that the advance in the cost of material makes their profit very small, and, also, it is often difficult to get the desirable materials.

Mohair skirts are also in good request, and those in small shepherd's check in black and white and blue and green are favorites. In plain colors reseda green and light golden browns are well thought of.

There is a good demand for the white petticoat in walking lengths, on account of the fashion of the in-step-length dress skirt for both city and country wear.
