IT WAS A SURPRISE

Colonel Younghusband Was Not Looking For Attack From Tibetans.

CAUGHT AT LUNCHEON

While the British Officers Were Eating Sandwiches the Terrific Onslaught Was Commenced.

Natives Were Apparently Ignorant of the Effect of Modern Fire-arms.

London, April 2.—The India office has issued long dispatches sent by Col. Younghusband, commanding the British mission to Tibet, through Lord Curzon, viceroy of India, which confirm the story concerning the engagement between British and Tibetans near Guru Thursday. The dispatches add that a Lhasa general fired the first shot, thereby inciting the Tibetans to attack, and show that but for the fact that the Tibetans were so hemmed in that they could not use their weapons, the British loss might have been much more serious.

Later dispatches show that so little was the onslaught expected that the British officers were eating sandwiches and adjusting cameras. Mr. Candler, correspondent of the Mail, was sitting unarmed writing. He had a narrow escape from death, receiving twelve wounds. Col. Younghusband and his staff were not far distant and also were wholly unarmed, and it is evident that but for the personal courage and presence of mind of Col. Mac-Donald and his officers a terrible disaster might have occurred.

The Tibetans displayed dogged fearlessness, apparently being incited by the smallness of the British force and ignorant of the effect of modern fire-arms.

The whole affair occupied only ten minutes and, even in the retreat, the Tibetans disdained to scatter and run, and marched solemnly in lines under a hall of fire.
