THE WORLD TO BE A WHISPERING GALLERY.

Some one has dreamed or discovered that Solomon could send messages over a telegraph system in two directions at the same time. The genius of a modern scientist has given us the quadruplex telegraph instrument by means of which four messages may be sent simultaneously over the same wire. This instrument surpasses the one used by Solomon. Literally the whispering gallery came with the invention of the telephone. The area of the gallery, however, had its limitations until Pupin thought of placing the induction coil in the circuit and now we can whisper across the ocean. Marconi did better. He has given us wireless telegraphy by which he absolutely annihilates space and eliminates the ordinary connections. He can speak with his friend in mid-ocean or on the farther shore.

Now comes Nikola Tesla with an invention by which he is to abolish the newspapers, and, with a little instrument which can be carried in the vest pocket, one can receive messages from all parts of the world. The messages are sent from gigantic transmitting towers in all directions at the same time. The farmer will get the news while following his plow, and the banker while he is riding from his suburban residence to his place of business.

If this new system works, a man may stand in the middle of the Sahara desert, and, by means of an inexpensive instrument, receive news of events in the United States and China. We reproduce here the conclusion of Tesla's article in the Electrical World:

"When the great truth accidentally revealed and experimentally confirmed is fully recognized, that this planet, with all its appalling immensity, is to electric currents virtually no more than a small metal ball and that by virtue of this fact many possibilities, each baffling imagination and of incalculable consequence, are rendered absolutely sure of accomplishment; when the first plant is inaugurated and it is shown that a telegraphic message, almost as secret and non-interferable as a thought, can be transmitted to any terrestrial distance the sound of the human voice with all its intonations and inflections faithfully and instantly reproduced at any other point of the globe, the energy of a waterfall made available for supplying light, heat, or motive power, anywhere—on sea, on land, or high in the air—humanity will be like an anthill stirred up with a stick. See the excitement coming."

The Indianapolis Sentinel indulges in satire or some other kind of ire when commenting on the Republican congressional convention held at Indianapolis last Saturday. It says: "There is usually harmony at a funeral." At whose funeral? It takes more than a dentist to kill the nerve of some people.

The microbe crank fears that disease may be transmitted through kissing. Now the doctors in large cities are forbidding their patients the use of the automobile, because it has a tendency to wreck the nervous system. There is a limit being placed on some kinds of pleasure. What next?

Andrew Carnegie has promised a million dollars, if necessary, to the Republican fund for legitimate campaign expenses. He makes this offer on account of a reputed conspiracy among the moneyed men of New York to refuse financial aid to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign.

"Vimmen chump at conclusions der vay dey chump at a house—backwards." Yest and they are right nine times out of ten. Many a man would be a richer and better man if he would let his wife substitute her conclusions for his.

A man in Denver has declined a bequest of more than a million dollars. He said he was not morally entitled to it and advised that it be given to his sister. How unlike the orator of the Plat.

Taking Desperate Chances.

It is true that many contract colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding cold and paves the way for more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds, can be had for a trifling sum?

A. E. Owen, who resided in this city in the year of '59-60 and then removed from here to Kansas City, Mo., is in the city today en route to New York. In his short stay in this city he had nothing but praise to offer for the improvements and general change that has taken place since he left. A visit to the west side was a revelation to him, as he stated that when he left here he thought Richmond had reached her limit.

CROCODILE TEARS.

As a culmination of the many internal dissensions which have from time to time broken out on the Muncie polo team this season, Charles Farrell, center and captain, has been given his release and another man will be placed in his stead during the remaining week of polo in Muncie. Farrell is one of the best centers that ever stood on skates when he is at himself, but, of late, he has been dissipating and has repeatedly quarreled with other members of the team. The limit was reached Friday when an open rupture between himself and Higgins was occasioned on the return from Elwood, where Muncie lost. Farrell tried to lay the blame on Higgins, and some sharp words followed, which culminated in an open rupture that was not healed. Saturday, Higgins refused to accompany the team to Richmond. Each player, it is stated by Manager Petty, refused to go on the floor when the other was on. As a consequence the retirement of one was necessary.

There is no question that Muncie could have won the pennant easily had there been harmony in the team. The aggregation was conceded the flag by everybody, but the friction that had been smothered all season, again broke forth and the end of the race shows the result. — Muncie Times.

Because a couple of doctors employed by the Panhandle Railroad company cut off his arm while he was unconscious, J. J. Burroughs, a fireman, has sued the Pennsylvania company and two Elwood doctors for $10,000. The injured man alleges that he would not have lost the use of the arm if it had not been for the incompetency of the physicians.

Burroughs says that last fall he was thrown from a locomotive cab near Nevada, Tipton county, striking his head on a car and that the train ran over the fleshy part of his hand. He now says that the flesh wound was ignored by the physicians and that, when he was given ether, his arm was cut off and he was unaware of the fact until five days after, when he grew well again. The suit is attracting great attention among local railroad men. Burroughs was well known here, having a run between Richmond and Logansport and the local firemen are sorry to hear of his misfortune in the losing of his arm.

The Knights of Columbus entertained their lady friends last evening with a delightful dancing party, given at their club rooms. About twenty couples tripped the "light fantastic" to the music of piano and drum, and a most happy evening enjoyed.

The St. Agnes court of Lady Foresters gave a most enjoyable card party at St. Andrew's school hall last evening. Progressive euchre was the feature of the evening there being about thirty-six tables in progression. The ladies' prize for games was awarded to Mrs. Joseph Geier, a handsome knit wool shawl, and Mr. Will Clements was the happy winner of a pair of neat house slippers.

After the awarding of the prizes the set of silver knives and forks, the premium for the correct guess on the number of beans in a jar, was presented to Miss Regina Maag, her guess being 1197, which, singularly, proved to be the exact number.
