CITY MISSIONARY

month, we believe, are doing much good. They are given helpful talks on the care and management of children and other subjects of importance to those whose work is bringing up these little ones.

Then, each week we have a Cooking School for a dozen young girls and they are learning to prepare many simple meals. These girls of today will be our mothers of tomorrow and we believe that much of the drunkenness and misery that come into homes can be traced to the inefficiency of the mother. Poorly prepared meals, ill kept rooms, and a scolding wife have driven many a man to the saloon. We are doing all in our power to help these young girls to become neat and careful in their work and dress.

Lately we have started a sewing school for the young girls and all kinds of sewing will be taught, beginning with the seam and each stitch will be taught thoroughly before the child will be allowed to go on with another. We try to encourage the women we help, to take more care of their homes and to be economical with the stores given them, and we know that many we have helped a year ago now provide for themselves and many call on us only in sickness, thus leaving places for the new cases which are continually coming up.

It is our custom each spring to get vacant lots throughout the city for our people to make some gardens for themselves, and we help them all we can, getting the lots, having them plowed and looking after them. This we find is a great help, as the vegetables they raised go far toward keeping them through the winter.

Our Religious Work.

It must be supposed for a moment that the work of the city missionary is confined to relieving the purely temporal wants of the destitute, but in every case it is our aim to satisfy the soul hunger, bind up the broken hearted and tell of Him who said "Come unto Me all ye who are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

The work at the Mission and Colored Baptist church, the Sabbath-school and Christian Endeavor, do all we can to save these people and we are anxious to get others.

This winter at our revivals a corps of young people have been converted as well as several older persons.

It has been our aim to endeavor to turn to Jesus, those whom we are compelled to help, and meet in the office and at their homes, and we are pleased to be able to report in several cases we have been successful.

On the whole, we think our work this year has been of a higher grade than last year, as we have started several new lines of work. Our reward for our work can be summed up in one verse from the Book of Books.

"In as much as ye have done it unto the least of one of these, ye have done it unto Me."

Respectfully submitted,

Elizabeth W. Candler.

A FORMER SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

PROF. GEORGE P. BROWN WAS IN RICHMOND TODAY ON HIS WAY TO

NORTHERN ASSOCIATION

Mr. Brown Remembered Here For His Work in the Public Schools.

Prof. George P. Brown, a former superintendent of the Richmond schools, was in town today. He was on his way to Winona, where the Northern Indiana Teachers' association is in session. Mr. Brown was superintendent of the Richmond schools from 1860 to 1868 and then became superintendent of the Indianapolis schools. From that position he went to the presidency of the Indiana State Normal school at Terre Haute, where he remained until 1886.

Mr. Brown graced all these positions with rare scholarship, fine executive ability and that dignity of manner that always characterizes the gentleman and scholar.

For the past twenty years he has been editor of the "Home and School," published at Bloomington, Ill., where he has resided since leaving our state. Unlike many such men, he has never had a degree conferred upon him, though eminently qualified for such an honor.

His friends in Indiana are numerous, and are always glad to see him in the Hoosier state.

COURT HOUSE

Nothing Much Doing at the Temple of Justice.

The court house is a quiet place today, not one item of any consequence being filed.

Clara B. Broman asked to be relieved from the life partnership with John H. Broman.

Sheriff Smith will take Otto S. Bertram to the Michigan City penitentiary tomorrow. He intended going today, but the train on the C. C. & L. railroad was late, owing to an accident south.

MILITARY PARK COMMISSIONS.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, April 7.—The house committee on military affairs today authorized a favorable report on the bill to terminate the existing military park commissions of Chickamauga, Gettysburg, Shiloh and Vicksburg and the creation of a commission of five. Those appointed within the next ten years must have actively participated in the civil war and two in the Confederate army. The first members shall consist of one member each of the existing commissions and one regular army officer.

STILL THEY COME.

(By Associated Press.)

Sandusky, O., April 7.—In a freight collision today, near Lakeside station Fireman Frederick Doell and Brakeman William P. Okey were killed. Brakeman John Brady, Engineer James Cullon and Brakeman George Ward were perhaps fatally injured. The collision occurred during a dense fog.

JUVENILE COURTS FOR OHIO.

Columbus, O., April 7.—The house today passed the Treadaway bill establishing juvenile courts.

ABLE TO BE OUT.

George Schepman, who was so seriously injured at Indianapolis some time ago, is now able to be out with the aid of crutches. He is in good condition and cheerful.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Stambach.—The funeral of Mrs. O. J. Stambach was held at Logansport Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Vincent's church. The burial was at St. Vincent's cemetery.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

For those intending to go to Connerville Sunday, a special car will leave fifth and Main streets at 9 o'clock. Returning leave Connerville at 10:30 p.m., arriving home about midnight.

THE ANGEL AT THE GATE.

I dreamed last night of a better land,

A heavenly home, an angel band, A rolling river, rippling streams, Of shady bowers and sunny gleams. The waters clear as crystals flow, And sweetest balmy breezes blow. Where walks were gold, and golden gates,

Where shining angel-keeper waits.

To guide the soul to realms unknown, But ere I spoke the vision had flown. Stay, oh stay, one moment more,

For here upon this earthly shore,

There is no hope except in God,

And e'en beneath our feet we trod

The flowers that bloom to cheer our way

To guide the soul to endless day.

Oh shining angel at the gate,

Wilt thou but one brief moment wait.

To tell me of that city fair

I'll ask the not that thou wouldst share

The sorrows of this trial life

Its toils, its burdens and its strife.

But tell me of that land of God

Ever I am laid beneath the sod.

Oh, tell me of that city fair

And I will my own burdens bear.

Yes, tell me, I will patiently wait

Wilt thou meet me at the gate

To guide me safely to that shore

When the toils of life are o'er

When God shall call the spirit home

When I shall here no longer roam,

When I shall cross death's dark river

When the heart strings cease to quiver

When all earthly ties are broken,

When the last goob-hye is spoken,

Then wilt thou angel meet me there

To guide me to heaven's portals fair.

THANKS.

Benjamin F. Mattis desires to express, through the Palladium, his sincere thanks to his neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during the sickness and death of his wife. The sincere sympathy and beautiful flowers will never be forgotten.

WEBSTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coppock of Richmond attended the commencement here last Friday.

The funeral of Harmon Gregg took place from the home three miles south of this place last Sunday morning and was conducted by Rev. S. H. Jones and was largely attended. He leaves a wife and family besides many friends to mourn his loss. Death came as a release to him after about five years of suffering from rheumatism.

Prof. Baldwin and family are moving this week to their farm.
