I had been sick several years with Indigestion and nervous prostration, which kept me almost bed-bound. I had been treated by four doctors. I received only temporary relief. I was very weak and helpless and unable to attend to my household duties. After consulting about Dr. Miles' Nervine, I concluded to give it a trial. The first few doses brought restful sleep at night, and an appetite for food, which had been lost. I am well and able to do all my work.

A ROW IN SIGHT

New York State Democrats Promise to Mix It In Convention.

TAMMANY VS. D. B. HILL

An Ancient Slight to Croker Will Be Avenged By That Chief-tain's Successor.

Murphy Throws Down Gauntlet to Hill and the Gage Is Accepted.

Albany, N. Y., April 18.—If the policy adopted by the friends of Alton B. Parker, at whose head stands former United States Senator David B. Hill, is carried out at the sessions of the Democratic state convention today, there is likely to be precipitated upon the floor of the convention a battle royal which has not had a parallel in state political conventions for many years.

Since the Saratoga convention of 1900, when General Charles N. Bulger of Oswego, representing Senator Hill, putting his finger almost under the nose of Richard Croker, denounced Tammany Hall and its politics, Tammany has waited as an organization to present its compliments to Mr. Hill, and although it is perfectly apparent today that the interests dominated by Mr. Hill control a large majority of the convention's vote, it is a foregone conclusion that such orators as Bourke Cockran, Thomas F. Brady, Charles A. Towne and Victor Dowling will on the conclusion of Mr. Hill's attempt to wreck the party. These are not statements of mere supposition, for although Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall will not say a word, and although former Senator Hill is equally reticent, those who are extremely close to them are making definitely these assertions:

First—On behalf of Mr. Hill, that unless Tammany withdraws what he calls a useless opposition to the instruction of the state delegation for Judge Parker, Tammany Hall will be practically read out of the convention, delegations in its favor outside of Manhattan refused a seat in the convention and Tammany as a body not allowed to name a national delegate at large.

Second—On behalf of Mr. Murphy, as representing Tammany Hall, that New York has met defeat in national conventions only when it has instructed its delegation; that because of this fact that the party platform and policy are as yet vaguely defined, it is unwise to send an instructed delegation; that Tammany, casting the greatest proportion of the Democratic vote in the state, is entitled to name a delegate at large; that a Democratic state committee should not be elected at this convention, but the matter should wait until the fall convention, when state issues are dominant.

Mr. Murphy for nearly an hour was in conference with Senator Hill. He presented to Mr. Hill the name of W. Bourke Cockran of New York as Tammany's candidate for delegate at large. It is understood that Mr. Hill immediately asked him to name his candidate for president of the United States, a request that Mr. Murphy parried by saying that Tammany had no candidate, but firmly believed and would reiterate its belief in the convention today and at the national convention at St. Louis, that it should not be compelled to name its candidate or be instructed for any particular candidate until the platform was agreed upon and a proper man found who would be in accord with its issues.

To this Senator Hill replied that it must be perfectly apparent to Mr. Murphy that almost two-thirds of the delegates to today's convention are in favor of instructing for Judge Parker and that Tammany should therefore graciously accede to the majority demand. If it did not, Mr. Hill is quoted as saying, then Tammany must take the consequences of its opposition because the delegates at large must not include any man who might on the floor of the national convention repudiate the unit rule as adopted for instruction by the state convention.

When Mr. Murphy left Senator Hill's headquarters he was asked whether he would make a statement. This he positively declined to do. Senator Hill when seen said that so far as he understood the matter Tammany was prepared to take the fight to the floor of the convention. He saw no objection to that and believed that was the place to fight it out.

A STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

Republican Candidates Beginning to Sigh for the Comforts of Home.

Indianapolis, April 18.—The candidates for places on the Republican state ticket are beginning to look very tired. Most of them have been in the campaign actively for several months and the pace is strenuous. Frank Smith of Brookville, candidate for reporter of the supreme and appellate courts said today that he had not seen his family for nearly six weeks. When he started on his last swing around the state he closed his home till after the convention. L. P. Newby said that he had not been home for a month. J. Frank Hanly of Lafayette, who has been traveling over the state continually for several months, has been home but few times. He had a reunion with his family here yesterday, but will not go home till after the convention. The other candidates are reporting similar experiences, and some of them are beginning to wonder if the prizes sought are worth the necessary labor. This is the nervous period, for within ten days the result of their labor will be known.

L. P. Newby of Knightstown, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, told a good story on himself today. Recently a newspaper friendly to him asked for a good picture from which a cut could be made. Newby wrote to a firm looking after such matters for him here, instructing them to send a cut to the paper. A few days later he received a copy of the paper containing the picture of a very large, fine-looking man on the front page. Below the picture was his own name. Newby did not make an investigation, but within a week the original of the cut was returned to him and he saw that his representatives here had sent the picture of another man. Newby said laughingly today that he had the benefit of being advertised as a much handsomer man than he dared to think he is. Newby and the other candidates for lieutenant governor will open headquarters here this week.

Jerry Matthews, private secretary to Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, was here today mingling with the politicians. He says that Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge will leave Washington for Indianapolis the latter part of this week. He believes that a majority of the members of the Indiana delegation will be able to come to the convention regardless of the reports that they can't get away from congress at this time. Matthews declares that great interest is felt at Washington in the forthcoming keynote speech of Congressman James E. Watson of Rushville, who will be permanent chairman of the convention.

John McCardle of New Richmond, who arrived here today to help manage J. Frank Hanly's campaign for the remainder of the week, is one of the prominent grain dealers of the state, and he naturally keeps a close watch on crop conditions. He said today that the wheat crop has been practically ruined in Indiana and that the yield will be very poor. He anticipates, however, that there will be a larger crop of corn and oats than before if the weather conditions permit, for many farmers are now plowing up their wheat to plant corn and oats.

Secretary Sims of the state committee has arranged with the railroads for reduced rates to the Republican convention here next week. A rate of one fare plus 25 cents will be allowed next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Tickets will be good returning until Thursday. Word received here indicates that there will be a very large attendance.
