AMERICAN TEACHERS

IN THE PHILIPPINES—AT PRESENT 811 OF THEM.

LIST TO BE INCREASED

Good Salaries Paid—Leave of Absence Granted After Three Years.

(William E. Curtis, Special Cor. of the Chicago Record-Herald.)

Manila, June 5.—Dr. Barrows, superintendent of education, tells me that there are on duty at the present time in the Philippines 811 American teachers, of whom 263 are women. The appropriations of the commission for next year authorizes the employment of 873. Last year there were 911. About thirty new Americans have arrived recently or are en route to fill a portion of the vacancies which have been caused by resignations, and the remainder will be appointed during the summer. Since Sept. 1, 1902, the bureau of education has been brought under the civil service commission as having passed the required examinations. The selections for the existing vacancies will be made by the bureau of insular affairs of the War Department at Washington, but thereafter the papers of all successful candidates will be forwarded to Manila, where the selections will be made by the general superintendent of education.

The appropriation bill classifies the teachers according to their yearly salaries as follows:

Three at	$2,000
Eight at	1,800
Six at	1,600
Fifty at	1,500
Eighty at	1,400
Sixty at	1,300
Fifty at	1,100
Three hundred and fifty at	1,200
One hundred and sixty at	1,000
One hundred at	900
Six at	800

All teachers are brought here at the expense of the government with the understanding that they will remain on duty at least two years; and, in order to secure a fulfillment of the contract, a certain sum is deducted from their salaries each month until the cost of transportation is reserved. At the end of two years the money is refunded to them. Those who remain through three years of continuous and satisfactory service are given free transportation home, their salaries for the vacation period and one-half salary en route. Those returning home at the end of two years are given the government rate of transportation only, which is equivalent to half-fare.

After three years of continuous and satisfactory service teachers are allowed leaves of absence for four months to visit the United States, with full salary, government rate of transportation home, and actual necessary expenses back to their posts. Those who have served only two years are allowed government rates or about half of their expenses, going and coming, and half pay during their leave.

As nearly all the teachers now in the Philippines came out here in 1901, their three years of service have expired, and many of them have already started, or are expected to start soon for their first visits home. The great majority of them expect to return in time to begin the school year next fall. They are very much needed; they like the service and the country; most of them are deeply interested in their work; and the terms of their engagement are satisfactory, especially since the teaching force was placed under the civil service laws.

FAIRVIEW

It was said by one of our business men that the Merchants' Association of this city, were trying to do away with trading stamps, or premiums of any kind, to customers, because he said it took away their profits. He said also that there isn't a day but what some society or organization, including the churches in all, would send out solicitors for money or to sell tickets, and these we do not like to refuse. The association of merchants is trying to do away with this also.

On Saturday night of last week, a social dance was given at the home of Alford Ryan, four miles north of the city. A number of young folks from the city attended.

Miss Elsie Marine, of Converse, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brower, 1022 Sheridan street.

Some of the ladies in our part of the city, were considerably worked up over the report that after the Fourth, there would be no trading stamps given out. Some having books partly filled, others with books almost complete, were out trying to buy enough stamps to fill out their books.

"Mighty fine and fitten" better spend a dime for a red package of "Faultless Soda" and the "Goodness" will never be forgotten.
