Grimes—Christopher Grimes died this morning at 8 o'clock at his home, 31 Railroad street, of heart disease, at the age of seventy years. The wife, Mary, and two daughters survive. The funeral arrangements will be given tomorrow.

Hiser—The funeral of John Hiser occurred yesterday morning at 10:30 from the home of his father at Hiser's Station, conducted by Rev. M. Swadener, who also preached a short discourse. A quartet consisting of Omar Guyton, George Callaway, Miss Rose Greisinger and Mrs. Hollowell rendered some excellent music. Mrs. Abbie Harris also sang a solo. Interment was in Lutheran cemetery, East Germantown, in the family lot. The following classmates of the deceased acted as pallbearers: Professor Mont Torrence, Professor Elmer Oldaker, Elmer Walker, John Shroyer, Harry Sourbeer and Omar Neff.

TOMORROW IS CIRCUS DAY

BARNUM AND BAILEY WILL GET HERE EARLY

GRAND STREET PARADE

Show Comes Over Panhandle From
Piqua, Ohio—Shows on Nineteenth Street.

The anticipations of the small boy, who during the past four or five weeks, has been looking forward to circus day with mingled doubt and expectation, are about to be realized. Tomorrow the sights and wonders of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest show on earth are to be locally revealed. "Tomorrow" the bands will play (as only circus bands can play.) The "grand, gorgeous and altogether glittering" free street parade will illumine the streets, the air will be filled with the strange cries of the peanut merchants and watching the gaping crowds, the elephants will go through their multifarious "stunts" with only an occasional trumpet note of protest, the living skeleton will perform his daily task of eating three square meals and losing flesh; the flying meteors will take a few more trapeze-impelled journeys through space, the champion bareback rider will turn a summersault from one horse to another, and land on his feet, without turning a hair; the acrobats and contortionists will violate a few physical laws and come up smiling; Volo, the volitant, will ride 50 feet through space on a bicycle, and Ancilotti will turn a complete somersault on a wheel while "looping the gap," and each will deprecatingly bow himself out of the big tent like a man who has performed deeds of daring and is too modest to acknowledge it; and, finally, after the string of race horses has set the nerves of the crowd tingling with the excitement of flat races, and Roman standing races and monkey and pony races, and races between two and four-horse chariots, the concert, the inevitable concert, "which takes place ladies and gentlemen, immediately after the big show" will come as a fitting climax to the wonders of the exhibition.

In other words tomorrow is show day! The big show will arrive at an early hour, coming from Piqua via the Pennsylvania railroad. The five trains used to transport the paraphernalia of the show will be unloaded in the railroad yards. The tents will be erected on the show grounds on nineteenth street.

The two performances to be given here will be preceded between 9 and 10 o'clock by a gorgeous free street parade. The route will be the usual one over the principal downtown streets. The performances begin at 2 and 8 p. m. sharp. The doors will be open an hour earlier. There will be much of interest to see in the zoological pavilion. The menagerie is notably complete and is especially interesting this year from the fact that four specimens of the exceedingly rare giraffe are exhibited. There are also 30 big and little elephants, a baby kangaroo, a baby zebu and scores of other animals well worth study. In the zoological department is also presented the remarkable congress of human prodigies, including the wonderful Hovarth family of midgits. A musical entertainment and characteristic dances of Russian Cossacks are incidental features of the preliminary display. The performances in the main exhibition tent begin with the new spectacle "The Durbar at Delhi" a gorgeous bit of oriental life and coloring. The circus performance which enlists the supreme efforts of 300 clever artists from all parts of the world follows: The Imperial Viennese Troupe, the Florenz and Grunatke families of acrobats; the Herzog horses, the Guiletti company of menage riders; twelve great horse men and horse women who perform simultaneously in one big number, four in each ring. These are some of the big hits of the show. Owing to the great amount of paraphernalia to be handled, the sensational Volo and Ancilotti acts will be given in the early part of the program at the night show.

Reserved seats will be on sale show day without any advance in price at J. L. Adam's drug store, 601 Main street and on the show grounds at the opening hours.

Anna Bradbury returned from Porto Rico this morning.

DAVID B. HILL.

(Walter B. Welman in Chicago Record-Herald.)

And there's David B. Hill—Hill, the man all the West said was to be the boss of Parker, the new master of the Democratic party, the uncrowned king. Hill has strutted his brief hour on the stage. He, too, is passing. During the next four years one may climb a dusty stairway in Albany, N. Y., and in a dingy law office at the top find a saturnine looking man, surrounded by law books and newspapers and old political speeches he himself had made in his palmy days, ready to take any sort of a case in court for any sort of a client.

FOOTBALL TEAM

First Work on Getting One Up at Earlham Now On.

The coach and captain of the football team which will represent Earlham on the gridiron this autumn are now, although it is very early, already beginning to consider the probable members of the team and squad. The schedule is made, but will probably be changed before the opening of the season. Under Captain Hobbs, Earlham should put out a good team, one that will win, this fall.

GRACE CHURCH

Is Being Gone Over and Improved.

The Grace M. E. church on north tenth street, is undergoing many improvements tending to its beautifying outside and in. A coating of dark red plaster is now being thinly put on over the entire structure. This will be "pointed" by cement lines so as to make it resemble pressed brick and when the work is finished it will give a very handsome appearance to the church. Other improvements are being made on the roof and around the eaves. About two weeks longer will be necessary before the work of improving is all finished.

GENNETT THEATER

Is Undergoing Slight Repairs.

The Gennett theatre is undergoing slight repairs at present, preparatory to the change of the entire theatre in time for the opening of the winter season. Scaffolding has been erected on the north side for the installation of a fire escape to north A street. Inside the renovators are busy also, cleaning things up.

DIVORCE GRANTED.

This morning Judge Fox granted a divorce in the suit of Flaunders vs. Flaunders.

LEADING CITIZEN

Of Eaton, Died of Peritonitis Last Monday.

(Eaton Register.)
A week ago last Monday night Mr. H. H. Farr took suddenly ill and from a diagnosis of the case his disease was thought to be appendicitis. Dr. McCann, of Dayton, was summoned there on Wednesday and he also agreed with the home physicians, but did not deem an operation necessary for the present. Mr. Farr continued to improve, but on Saturday night his condition became suddenly worse and on Sunday Dr. Weist, was sent for. He diagnosed the case as peritonitis. His case was pronounced hopeless and on last Monday morning about 2 o'clock, after one week's illness, Mr. Farr breathed his last, surrounded by his grief-stricken wife and children.
