Rheumatism

Is one of the constitutional diseases. It manifests itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles, but it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires constitutional treatment acting through the blood, and the best is a course of the great medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla which has permanently cured thousands of cases. For testimonials of remarkable cures send for Book on Rheumatism, No. 7, C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

MYSTERY IS EXPLAINED

Prohibitionists Secured Tomlinson Hall For Meeting to Notify Presidential Candidate.

This Announcement Puts at Rest Sensational Rumors in Which Bryan Was Mentioned.

Indianapolis, July 9.—The Prohibitionists have rented Tomlinson hall for July 22, and will on that day hold a monster meeting of national scope, at which Dr. S. E. Swallow of Harrisburg, Pa., will be formally notified of his nomination for the presidency on the Prohibition ticket. Dr. Swallow has been considering the matter of his acceptance or declination of the nomination since the convention last week, and only reached the decision to accept within the last day or so. Rumors were rife for a time that the renting of Tomlinson hall by Charles Newlin, chairman of the Prohibition state committee, had been at the instigation of W. J. Bryan, who intended to call a bolting convention after the close of the St. Louis gathering, but the announcement by Mr. Newlin of the real use to which the hall is to be put sets these at rest. The statement is made that the notification meeting will be even larger in point of attendance than was the national convention.

HALF-HEARTED CAMPAIGN

Result at St. Louis Leaves Democrats Dispirited.

Indianapolis, July 9.—That the convention at St. Louis is bringing about a condition of affairs in the Democratic party that will inevitably result in a half-hearted campaign weakened by the defections of many of the party's leaders both in the East and in the West, is a fact that is patent to the most casual observer, according to prominent Republicans. Republican papers all over the country are pointing to the bitter strife that has been waged between the Bryan and the anti-Bryan wings of the party as an infallible indication of what to expect next fall. Said one Republican today: "The silence of the Democratic party on the money question in its platform is one thing that is certain to breed trouble in the ranks. Both the Bryanites and the anti-Bryanites will claim the omission as a victory, but the victory really belongs to Bryan, to whose influence is due the fact that the gold plank in the platform was knocked out. While the knocking out of the plank will please certain of the Bryanites, others will certainly be angered at the refusal of the convention to declare for the free silver fallacy. The knocking out of the plank, too, is sure to anger the Eastern Democrats, who counted on such a plank in order to secure the support of certain monoged influences in the East that are said to be opposed to the policy of President Roosevelt. Other omissions in the platform, such as the refusal to say anything positive on the negro question, and the weakness of the declaration in regard to the tariff as compared to former platform demands, will result in divisions of the party in the South and the West, and such divisions cannot fail to work to our benefit. We have little to fear this year from the Democrats."

State politics have been lost sight of during the last few weeks, and little will be stirring until after the Democratic state convention to be held here later in the month. It is not believed that the active campaign will be started earlier than six weeks or two months before the election, both Republicans and Democrats having practically agreed upon this. A speaking campaign of greater length than this, it is urged, loses interest, and in this day of newspaper interest is absolutely useless. The papers of the state, it is urged, can be relied upon to keep the political pot boiling, without the aid of spellbinders or political orators of either party. Besides this, conditions have changed greatly within the past few years, and drum corps, torchlight clubs and the like have lost much of their former campaign value. The work that counts nowadays, say leaders of both parties, is the quiet kind that gets the votes, and not the whoop and hurrah methods of a dozen years ago, when the voters had to be lined up several months before election and kept in line only by the most strenuous efforts of managers. The new plan, it is also said, is a money saver.

Fourth Victim Claims Damages.

Brazil, Ind., July 9.—Mrs. Mary Griffin has filed suit in the Clay circuit court against W. S. Bogle, Jr., demanding $5,000 damages. On the Fourth the defendant, as alleged, threw a giant firecracker into the buggy in which the seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Griffin was seated, and in the explosion flying fragments struck the girl in the eye, endangering her sight. The defendant is the son of Walter S. Bogle, the millionaire coal operator.
