The Close of Chautauqua

The closing sessions of the Chautauqua occurred Sunday with an immense attendance and brilliant program, the crowd exceeding that of the previous Sunday, many people from the country and adjoining towns bringing baskets of lunch and spending the entire day. Picnic parties were to be found in all parts of the Glen, many families and parties from the city also taking their suppers to the park and staying for the evening meeting and concert. This was one of the most successful and remarkable Chautauquas ever conducted by Mr. Shaw, seven having been in session this summer under his management. Mr. Shaw, with Mr. Speed, expects to hold a series of short "indoor Chautauquas" during the winter. Mr. Speed to be associated with Mr. Shaw in the future in the management of the various organizations of this character under Mr. Shaw's individual auspices. Mr. Shaw regards the Chautauqua just held in Richmond as one of the most brilliant ever organized by him and is delighted with the prospect for next year. Mr. Shaw himself is to be congratulated upon the successful issue of that just past and the people of Richmond are indebted to him for the pleasure and profit afforded by the numerous entertainments and entertainers brought here by the managers of the Chautauqua under his immediate supervision. The work of Mr. Frank Reeves, the secretary of the Commercial Club, which organization was responsible for the holding of the Chautauqua, has been untiring in his efforts to make the whole affair a complete success and the citizens of Richmond are also indebted to him as the chief local influence in its management. The splendid trio of lectures given every morning in conjunction with the County Institute was one of the important factors in the interest inspired by this year's series of entertainments and it is hoped that the same arrangement may be made for next year.

Sermon by Rev. William Sunday. The immense audience, which filled the great tent and was massed round its sides, greeted the appearance of Rev. William A. Sunday, known as "Billy" Sunday, the famous "baseball evangelist." Mr. Sunday, as is well known, was once the star of one of the most famous baseball clubs ever organized among professionals, being a member of this club for eight years. Mr. Sunday's address Sunday afternoon was eminently characteristic of his manner, full of fire, enthusiasm, truth, with an unusual use of the language which is startling in effect. Mr. Sunday impresses his audiences with the absolute sincerity of his convictions, his unsparing wit, scathing invective, merciless denunciation of hypocrisy and social evils being received with enthusiasm by his hearers who warmly applauded his telling points. His sermon from the text "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My word shall not pass away," was an earnest appeal for righteous living and an unwavering belief in the Bible as the only rock upon which faith could be anchored, denouncing all unorthodox interpretations of "the word." Mr. Sunday devoted all the strength and variety of his remarkable vocabulary to the denunciation of the various social evils with special attention to divorce and the drink habit, his seathing arraignment of the liquor traffic calling forth immense applause. In the evening Mr. Sunday made another brilliant and eloquent address to a great audience.

Mrs. Katherine Oliver McCoy, on Sunday afternoon confirmed the impression made by previous appearances of much dramatic power, held in reserve, in her presentation of certain portions of Barrie's famous novel "The Little Minister," this arrangement being Mrs. McCoy's own. Mrs. McCoy has an international reputation as the most successful interpreter of Scotch character and dialect before the public and on Sunday afternoon gave a Richmond audience one of the greatest pleasures it has had in listening to her presentations and impersonations being given with the most fascinating refinement, her unusual voice with its carrying power adding to the ensemble of effect attained by her. In "The Little Minister" she displayed an intimate appreciation of the purely feminine entity as embodied in "Babbie," which was as delightful as was her conception of the boyishness of "The Little Minister," despite his acquired ministerial gravity. Taken as a whole this was one of the most charming entertainments of the Chautauqua season.

Closing Concerts by Jubilee Singers.

The Dixie concert Company whose members made many friends while here, and whose concerts, altho' always brief, were invariably received with great appreciation by their audiences, appeared twice Sunday in the afternoon and evening in programs of a character suited to the day, and gave many well known hymns and other compositions of this nature in a spirited and effective manner. The solo numbers by Madame Buckner, Miss Hoeker, Mr. Buckner, Mr. Board and Mr. Hall were warmly received, none of these singers having appeared to greater advantage than in this program of a more strictly religious character. The members of this Company made a fine impression in Richmond and future appearances will be greeted with the greatest cordiality. The programs as presented on Sunday are given below in detail:

1. Lord's Prayer.
2. Look Away Over Jordan.
3. Prepare Me Lord.
4. Dreams of Paradise—Solo.

5. None Can Cross.
6. Just for Today—Solo.
7. Little Wheel.
8. Almost Persuaded—Quartette.
9. Brighter Milder Skies—Anthem. Sunday Evening Sept. 4th.
1. Steal Away Jesus.
2. When the Rocks and the Mountains.
3. There is a Green Hill far Away—Solo Baritone.
4. This Old Time Religion.
5. Prepare Me a Body.
6. Nearer My God to Thee—Quartette.
7. Sweet Sabbath Eve—Quartette.
8. I'm a Rolling.
9. Great and Marvelous—From famous Mass in B.

Saturday.

The second and last lecture given by Rev. George H. Stuart, the popular Southern lecturer on Saturday afternoon, was given before an unusually large audience for Saturday as it is the experience of managers of Chautauquas that Saturday afternoon lectures are never well attended. In this instance however, a very large number of people greeted Mr. Stuart, and testified to their appreciation of his wit and telling points, by their frequent laughter and applause. Mr. Stuart's lecture was entitled "Opportunity," and its purpose, namely, that anyone can accomplish anything in life, or at least attain to some degree of success, if animated by the spirit of determination. He very happily illustrated this with numerous stories of success brought about despite most adverse conditions, and ridiculed mercilessly the purposeless and the coward. Both Mr. Stuart's appearances gave the greatest pleasure to his audiences and satisfaction to the managers of the Chautauqua.

Jubilee Singers.

The two concerts given by the popular Jubilee singers on Saturday afternoon were, as usual, greatly enjoyed, each number eliciting much applause. Madame Buckner in "Swanee River," sung by request, made a great impression and Mr. Hall was twice called out after his appearance in solo. The air from "The Strollers," was given with such great effect in the afternoon that it was repeated by request in the evening. Mr. Buckner's heavy basso was heard to advantage in solo in the evening concert, the latter, on account of the lateness of the hour of beginning, being brief.

Mr. Shaw's Lecture.

A series of charming pictures of picturesque and historical spots in Ireland was shown by Mr. Shaw and Mr. Speed, prefaced by an eloquent and interesting talk by Mr. Shaw on the beauty and prosperity of this country and the mistaken notion given to the world of its down-trodden condition by a few Irish political agitators. Mr. Shaw during one of his several trips abroad toured Ireland on a bicycle and was delighted and surprised with prosperous conditions found in that Island. Mr. Shaw's lecture was one of the most attractive and instructive features of the Chautauqua.

Mrs. McCoy's Readings.

Saturday evening Mrs. McCoy showed her wonderful versatility in the following short program establishing herself firmly with Richmond audiences as a reader of power and charm:

"Convalescence of Mr. M' Cleary,"
J. J. Bell.
"Keeping a Seat at the Benefit,"
"Horse wi' the shiftin' b'd."
"Cecilia, the Pharisee," Marian Michelson.
"Dutchman's Serenade."
