REV. ELLIS' ACTIONS AT OXFORD

TOLD IN A DISPATCH FROM THERE TODAY.

HE HAD NO MONEY

But It is Believed Bessie Slick Paid the Bills—The Story as it is Told.

(Special to the Palladium.)
Oxford, O., September 8.—Rev. Elwood O. Ellis, who was in the Retreat here came up into the business center of the town on Monday and contracted with a liveryman for a horse, buggy and driver to take him to Woods Station. The price was $1.50, but Ellis beat it down to $1. Ellis first went to Burkhardt's bakery and bought two bags of lunch. He was then driven to the vicinity of the tanyard, where the woman was waiting. After she had joined the party the rig and its occupants were driven to Woods, arriving there about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.
The driver says Ellis bought tickets for Cincinnati for himself and the woman, and that the couple left Woods on the 1:10 train. This was the last seen of Rev. Mr. Ellis and his companion.

FELL TWELVE FEET

Eight Painters Have a Narrow Escape.

(By Associated Press.)

Cincinnati, September 8.—Eight painters fell twelve feet to the floor of a suspension bridge from a scaffold which collapsed. Lefe Shirvin, Clarence Hensley and Jasper Hall were seriously hurt.

A Series of Fatalities.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 8.—Three accidents out of the ordinary occurred here. Wesley Orth, twelve months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Orth, fell into his father's cistern and was drowned. John Katzmire was kicked in the head by a mule and fatally hurt. Robert Lester, a farmer of Westport, while driving in this city, was thrown from his wagon, breaking his spine.

Temperance People Retire.

New Castle, Ind., Sept. 8.—After three years of fighting the temperance people have retired and the town will have three saloons. After much expense and effort, one saloon secured a license two months ago, after the town had been "dry" for several weeks, and this week the county commissioners granted two additional licenses, making three in all.

Trolley Conductor Killed.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Samuel Price, conductor on car No. 34 of the Indianapolis & Northwestern Traction company, was instantly killed at Senate avenue and Tenth street. He was caught between the end sill of the car and the back end of a wagon. His chest was completely crushed and a gaping wound was made in his head. He died instantly.

Victim of Trolley Car.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Bertram Schwinge, a young man who lived at 2906 Talbot avenue, was struck by a car of the Noblesville line of the Union Traction company, at Central avenue and Twenty-ninth street and received injuries that caused his death a few hours later at the city hospital.

She Spurned the Proposal.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Ida E. Reddington, in demanding a divorce from her husband, alleges that he recently asked her to enter upon a campaign of blackmail, and after she spurned the proposal he threatened to kill her.

Voting Machines Rejected.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 8.—The Madison county council has made no appropriation for the purchase of voting machines at the coming election. The total appropriations for the year approximate $100,000.

License Supersedes "Speak-Easies."

Russellville, Ind., Sept. 8.—After two years' experience with "speak-easies" and quart shops, Russellville has returned to the licensed saloon, George Kinder securing a license.

Electrician's Fatal Fall.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 8.—Thomas Beanning, electrician, who fell twenty-five feet after receiving 2,200 volts, cannot live, the fall and the shock affecting his kidneys.

CASE THAT IS INTERESTING

QUESTION OF RIGHT TO ENFORCE TAX BEING TESTED

CIRCUIT COURT RULING

City of Ft. Wayne Secures a Judgment and the Defendant Appeals His Case.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—An appeal filed in the supreme court involves the question whether or not an owner who places a stock of goods in the store of an established merchant where he undertakes to sell them at auction under a contract for the payment of a commission to the merchant on all goods sold is liable to taxation as a transient merchant. Artin Simoyan of New York has been conducting such sales at different cities in the state, and his goods were taxed at Muncie on the first of March. When he took them to Fort Wayne the authorities demanded a license of $20 a day from him as a transient merchant, and the assessor entered his goods on the tax duplicate at $7,500, more than twice what they were worth. Simoyan sued to enjoin the collection of the license fees and taxes, but the circuit court decided against him.

A DEADLY DUEL.

Warrick County Neighbors Meet and One is Slain.

Boonville, Ind., Sept. 8.—As a result of a duel at Degonia, this county, in which a shotgun and a rifle played a part, Robert Davis shot and instantly killed John Swaney, a well-known resident of that place. Swaney was a real estate dealer. Davis and Swaney quarreled over house rent alleged to be due from Davis, and Swaney went to the Davis home to make collection. As he approached the house he was seen by Davis, and the latter armed himself with a shotgun. When Swaney reached the door angry words passed between the men, and Davis shot at Swaney, but missed him. Swaney then rushed into the house and secured a rifle, with which he fired at Davis. He was then shot and killed by Davis. The murderer was arrested and committed to jail. Public sentiment is aroused against him.

Kuhlman—Mary E., wife of John Kuhlman, died last night at her home, about five miles southeast of this city. The funeral announcement will be furnished tomorrow.

POLITICAL STRAWS

Early Campaign Signs Favorable to the Republicans.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The taking of the sixty-day poll began today under the direction of the two state committees. Owing to rigid instructions given out it is probable that it will not be completed before the first of next week. It will probably be ten days before it is received here in tabulated form. This poll will show the way the political straws are flying. The Republicans are elated over the result in Vermont and are pointing to it as an indication that the farmer vote is with them. They will now be more disappointed than ever if their poll does not show a very substantial increase among the farmers. On the other hand the Democrats say that the result in Vermont can have no possible application to Indiana and that the poll will show that they are in good position. The Republicans will have the first meeting of their executive committee here tonight, and it is probable that two or three of the members will arrange to spend their time at the headquarters until the last gun is fired.

Jerome Herff of Peru, candidate for state treasurer two years ago, who represented the Indiana Democrats at the nomination of Henry G. Davis of his nomination for vice president, was here today. He gave out some highly interesting information to the effect that Davis will make a two-days' tour of Indiana on a special train. He does not know the date, but he seems positive that Davis is coming. There is much curiosity in Indiana as to how Davis will be received. It is generally understood that he is a courtly old gentleman and capable of making a good campaign in spite of his advanced age. But owing to the efforts made to inspire organized labor against him it will be interesting to note how he is received by that formidable element. With Davis and Fairbanks and possibly Uncle Joe Cannon and Bryan doing a special train stunt, the latter part of the campaign should be highly entertaining.

James E. McDonald of Ligonier, a well-known Democratic politician, brings some interesting information regarding the Twelfth district. The Republicans have been counting on carrying the district for Newton W. Gilbert, their candidate for congress as well as for their state and national tickets, but McDonald says that the party is once more united and that an old-time Democratic plurality will be the result. He predicted the re-election of Congressman Robinson by a plurality of over 1,000. Robinson and Gilbert are now conducting a very active campaign. There was much Hearst and Bryan sentiment in the Twelfth this year, but McDonald says that there are very few Democrats who are not supporting the ticket.
