CHEAPNESS VS. GOOD WAGES.

The paramount issue of this campaign as announced by the candidate for vice president and echoed by all other Democratic leaders including the candidate for president, is the "demand for a political change." Ex-Senator Davis has used a new expression for the old Democratic demand that "Republican rascals" be turned out and "Democratic reformers" be given control of the government. But he has not advanced a new idea. It was the main argument in 1892 and then as now Democrats gave high prices as the reason for their demand for a political change. They promised then as now to change the business policy of the government so as to bring in an era of cheapness.

They were successful at the polls and they fulfilled their promise to make things cheap. At the head of the marked-down price was labor. The market price of labor broke immediately after the election of Grover Cleveland and a Democratic congress. There was a bear market from that date for four years or until after the people decided on another political change and elected Mr. McKinley president and a Republican majority in congress. Then the bull market on labor began and it has continued to the present time. Wages went down from the date of Cleveland's election and continued to go down until McKinley was elected. Since November 7, 1896, wages have advanced and last year they were 18.8 per cent. higher per hour than in 1894, and the average weekly earnings of labor were 51.4 per cent. greater in 1903 than in 1894. Do the wage earners want another business change like that brought about by the political change in 1892? If so, they should vote for Judge Parker and the Democratic candidates for congress.

There were other things in which the Democratic party kept its pledge to make things cheaper as the result of a political change in 1892. The money in circulation fell off and the national debt increased as did also the interest charges. The exports of American products decreased and the imports increased. The value of farm products fell off and so did the value of farm animals until sheep were given away and horses were sold to pay the freight of carrying them to market. Everything became cheap and there was no market. The people who earn a living had nothing with which to buy because they had no market for their labor and could not get work and wages. The president of the American Federation of Labor, a Democrat, Samuel Gompers, reported that 3,000,000 men were out of work in 1893 who had plenty of work and good wages in 1892. The farmers had to mortgage their farms as the result of that political change, but in doing that they were simply following the policy of the Government under Democratic administration, for the Government was for some years running its ordinary expenses by borrowing money and issuing bonds number of clubs rates of interest. Candidate Davis has been frank in his demand the systematic political change that there may be a business change. The issue is stated. It is a contest between cheapness and remunerative wages, for the price of labor is the basis of all prices.

"The Democratic party planted Alton B. Parker at St. Louis and it will reap the presidency," Charles W. Knapp at Esopus yesterday. Yes they did plant Parker at St. Louis and will reap a president from others' sowing.

It will not take the American people long to choose between Judge Taft and Carl Schurz as to which is the most competent to give advice concerning the proper method of dealing with the Philippine problem.

Judge Parker claims that the Republican Senate will watch the Democrats and prevent them from doing any harm, which would be just like a father watching his boy play with a loaded revolver.

Neither the gold standard nor national prosperity is irrevocably established. Both are matters of legislation and both depend upon the supremacy of the Republican Party for their permanency.

The workman knows that the difference between Republican and Democratic administrations is the difference between good times and bad, between wages and want.

Certain timid persons insist that the President is too strenuous in his utterances. Few, however, prefer the cloudy common places of the Democratic candidate.

Bryan says that Judge Parker will be elected. This kind of prophecy from Mr. Bryan causes some of the Democrats to have nervous prostration.

The American people are slow to repeat calamitous blunders. They remember 1892.

AMUSEMENTS.

Opera House Tomorrow Night.

Manager Murray is justly proud of the New Phillips Theater and although the finishing touches have not been completed, and will not be until after the meeting Tuesday night, everything will be in readiness for Uncle Josh Spruceby, Wednesday. To make good his announcement that the house would be opened Saturday he cordially invites all to come up that evening and look over the new play house and see just how nice it really is. With its splendid stage, large and comfortable seating capacity and new electric light effects the house is sure to be popular.

Uncle Josh Spruceby.

As a large audience was leaving a prominent New York theater recently a very refined looking lady was heard to remark to her escort, "That play is sweeter and prettier than the Clover Blossoms Down in Clover Lane." The play she had just witnessed was the more than interesting pastoral play, "Uncle Josh Spruceby." Could anything prettier be said of a drama? Uncle Josh Spruceby opens the New Phillips Theater next Wednesday, matinee and evening.

CARL MEYERS

To Enter the Millinery Store of A Strauss.

Mr. Carl Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Meyers, of North Fourteenth street, has accepted a position with A. Strauss, of Indianapolis. Mr. Meyers will go into the store for the purpose of gaining an insight into the millinery business, learning the same in detail. Later on he will go on the road for Strauss and sell millinery goods. For several years past Mr. Meyers has fitted himself for a position of this kind. After leaving high school he took a course in shorthand and typewriting and is a stenographer of no mean ability. Besides this Mr. Meyers has been at the Westcott hotel long enough to become acquainted with the traveling men of the country and had splendid opportunity to learn their ways. The Palladium recommends Mr. Meyers to his new employers.

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 28 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free.
