NON-PARTISAN JUDICIARY.

Governor Odell of New York has set a good example for other when he appointed Judge Cullen a justice of the Supreme Court of New York. The appointment will hold good until January 1, 1905, when the newly elected judge will succeed Judge Cullen. The appointee is a life-long Democrat and a man of high character. The Republicans will endorse him tomorrow at Saratoga and then there will be no question about his election.

One of the three great departments of our government ought to be entirely non-partisan. Patriotism founded on party policies should be the ruling principle in the making of laws, but when it is necessary to interpret them, everything should be considered with an eye single to justice and justice only. Happy is the judge who can rise above party and party bias and rule upon the merits of a case.

In commenting on this appointment, among other things the Louisville Herald says:

"Happy will it be for America when in no State a citizen shall have to ask of judges in court what their party may be. The Republican should feel absolutely safe with his case before a Democratic judge, and the Democratic litigant safe before a Republican tribunal. New York's election returns this year will be everywhere scanned closely to see the Empire State's unqualified and emphatic declaration that the courts of the State must be free from partisanship. New York's action in that respect will determine that of other commonwealths, neither few in number nor small in importance."

DAN REID AGAIN.

Dan Reid has returned from abroad and has been interviewed on the subject of the United States senatorship from Indiana. Like all modest men, he indicates that he is in a receptive mood and further that he would feel honored to represent Indiana in the United States senate. He said, too, that he would not be a candidate and that is another evidence of his modesty. This does not mean, however, that he would not accept the senatorship if tendered him. If his friends will urge his claims, there are good reasons to believe that he would enter the race.

The Palladium has contended that business ability is just as necessary in the upper house of congress as legal ability. Mark Hanna was an eminent example of ability along business lines. His counsel was eagerly sought by the leading lawyers in the senate and he was nearly always right. Mr. Reid has been conspicuous for his business ability and would be a worthy successor to such men as the late Mr. Hanna.

Eastern Indiana is entitled to a senatorship and now is a good time to line up for Mr. Reid. He says: "I would esteem it an honor to represent my State in the senate." This should forever set at rest the idea that he does not claim Indiana as his home.

Congressman Watson is to speak at Lafayette tonight and the Lafayette Courier says editorially: "If you want to hear the issues of the campaign put forth in such a manner as to 'stay put' you should attend the Watson meeting Tuesday night. The Indiana congressman is one of the best political speakers in the country and Lafayette is fortunate in getting him to open the Republiean campaign."

At the opening of one of the Indiana high schools yesterday, says an exchange, "One of the first events of the opening day was the organization of the football team." Some of these days the high schools will wake up to the fact that the tax payer will require some other kind of a "first event" when the schools open for the year's work. The people of Indiana believe in higher education, but will not always tolerate athletics as a substitute for intellectual culture.

Well, well! Now there is a plan on foot to organize hens into unions. It arises through the demand of organized labor in the east that all eggs carried by union men shall bear the union label. But the eggs themselves—there's the rub. The difficulty, it is claimed, has been surmounted by an ingenious little device affixed to every hen in good standing (or setting), which will stamp the egg indelibly with the desired label at the psychological moment.—Times Star.

Mr. Reid's prediction that Indiana will give 35,000 plurality for Roosevelt contradicts the rumor that Mr. Reid intended to support Mr. Parker for the presidency.

THE FIRST APOSTLE

Would Like Newspaper Men Present When He Emerges.

Waukegan, Ill., September 12.—In preparation for assuming his new role of "Apostle" next Sunday, John Alexander Dowie has gone into seclusion where he will spend the remainder of the week in prayer, resting and making plans for his work following the ascendency to the height toward which his life has been devoted.

He told his people Sunday that he would at once go into seclusion following the meeting, at which 5,000 persons were present. He told his people that they were also to spend the week getting ready for his important step; that they should pray continuously, and live the most pious seven days they have ever lived in order that nothing might interfere with the solemnity of the occasion.

He gave orders that this week's Leaves of Healing containing his letter should be read and reread in every household; that where but one person lived, that person should read it; that where others were, all should get together and familiarize themselves with what he intends to do in order that Wednesday evening they be prepared to cast a referendum vote as to whether they favor him assuming the new role, "The First Apostle."

Dowie praised the press as he never praised it before. He said the papers today did more toward spreading the word of the first apostle and for God than they ever did before in anything pertaining to the kingdom of Christ. Accordingly reserved seats for reporters are to be saved next Sunday, and every paper is urged to send reporters to hear Dowie make the all-important declaration.

MEANS BUSINESS

Wants Her Husband to Call Her "Hiss."

Indianapolis, Ind., September 13.—Mrs. Marie Albert, of New Orleans, who has traveled a thousand miles to force her husband, Frank L. Albert, to acknowledge her as his wife, arrived in Indianapolis to seek him. She went to Anderson Sunday. She learned that he had been in that city two months ago, promoting a street carnival. Mrs. Albert is a beautiful woman of thirty years. She carried proofs of her marriage to Albert at Algiers, La., six years ago.

"I have been hunting my husband for a year," said Mrs. Albert. "I believe that I have trapped him at last. He can't escape me now. Why do I want to find him? For several reasons. He has written me threatening letters, saying that should I find him he would say that I was not his wife. I want to make him acknowledge me; then I shall bring action for divorce."

AGED FARMER

Instantly Killed Near Seven Mile on Sunday.

(Special to the Palladium.)

Camden, O., September 13.—Elihu Stubbs, aged seventy-two years, was struck by a south bound passenger train on the Panhandle Sunday arriving at Duffield's crossing about one mile north of Seven Mile and instantly killed. Accompanied by a boy by the name of Frank Chapin, he was driving out to a pasture to milk several cows. At this crossing the tracks are hidden by the woods and Stubbs did not hear the approach of the train until the horse had reached the tracks and then it was too late. He struck the horse with the whip. The horse gave a violent jump breaking away from the buggy and left it standing on the tracks.

The Chapin boy was thrown from the buggy when the horse jumped and escaped injury. Mr. Stubbs was a retired farmer and was living with his son, William in Somerville. He leaves three children, Mrs. Clayton Phares, of Eaton, and Jessie and William.

Special fares to Indianapolis via the Pennsylvania Lines.
