EDITORIAL

A writer for a current magazine says the World's Fair should be regarded by the visitor as a university course.

Charles Wagner, who is now visiting in this country, has been recognized in the past as one of the most forceful citizens of the French Republic.

You will receive a welcome at any of the churches today. Read the Palladium, then go to church and thank God for the benefits derived from a morning paper.

The court house will soon be without a fence. We liked it with a fence, but it looks better without. The county commissioners thought so, or they would never have ordered it removed.

The benefits of interurban lines in Richmond are being felt more and more every day. Our merchants are benefited by this means of locomotion more than by the steam roads. What we want now is an electric line north and south. Richmond is coming.

The Morning Palladium seems to give general satisfaction. We received many compliments on the first issue—substantial compliments in the way of subscriptions. Several persons on rural routes telephoned into the office that they received papers shortly after 8 a. m. This is indeed encouraging and we appreciate the kind words of our friends.

In the death of Senator Hoar the nation loses a great and good man. He was a man of broad intellectuality and was a scholar as well as a politician. Though he disagreed with his party on the question of expansion he never became unpopular for it. He towered high among men and was a model citizen of the nation.

The campaign of 1904 is now on in earnest and it will be a battle of words from now until the vote of the nation is cast. Both of the great political parties have their best speakers in the arena, and the next month will witness some splendid gatherings and eloquent appeals to the voter. President Roosevelt and the party that stands back of him are in the forefront to remain. The Republican party has made a record she is proud of and will ever strive to keep that record unsullied. Men may go wrong, but the principals that the party stand for are far above and beyond men.

ORATORY CRAZY

Woman's Debating Club at Depauw
Preparing for Earlham Girls.

Greencastle, Ind., October 2.—Prof. J. F. Brumbaugh, of the department of oratory, Depauw University finds to his satisfaction that there is a lively interest in oratory and debate among the new students as well as the old. At a called meeting in the interest of this college work he enrolled twelve who were candidates for the debate team and a similar number who were expecting to enter the oratorical contest. The young women of the university are interested in organizing a women's debating club for the purpose of training a team to meet the women's team from Earlham in the spring.

There are several requests in the hands of the department for joint debates with the Depauw team. The last one coming in was one from Cornell College, Ia. There probably will be two debates this year, one with the first team and the other with the second team.

POLO TALK

Cunninghams Will Be on the Rush Line.

The Cunninghams will again be seen on the rush line for Richmond this season at least for a while as the proposed trade for "Pap" Roberts seems to have fallen through with. The committee which was appointed to arrange the schedules for the polo teams have decided that holiday matinee games will be played this year, but on account of both Christmas and New Years falling on Sunday the games will either be played on the Saturday previous or the Monday after. The question of salaries did not come up in the meeting of the directors at all, but another meeting will be held to discuss that question. It is not thought that many players will be signed before the first of November.

THE FIRE

Engine Room of the Kramer Manufacturing Co. Damaged.

The engine room of the Kramer Manufacturing company was slightly damaged by fire last evening, the greatest damage was probably caused by water. Mr. Kramer was unable to tell last night what the loss would be, but thought that it would be slight. He expects to have everything in running order by Monday morning or just as soon as insurance adjusters finish their work. The blaze destroyed part of the roof of the engine room and part of a partition. The fire was probably started by the boiler. The building was fully insured.

Mr. W. H. Dafler, of Cincinnati, was in the city yesterday. He was the guest of Mr. T. A. Bescher.

REPUBLICANS SHOW GAINS

SIXTY DAY POLL JUST COMPLETED

THE RESULT OF THIS WORK

Is Very Gratifying to the Republicans

—The Socialists Are Gaining Ground.

A sixty day poll has just been completed of the county and it can be positively stated that results show a phenomenal gain for the Republicans. The result of this poll has not been given out by the Republican County Committee, but it is known that gains shown are highly satisfactory to them. Never since the Garfield campaign will Wayne county have gone so heavily Republican as this year and the record of the vote polled in that campaign may even be exceeded.

One of the remarkable conditions brought to light by this poll is the unexpected strength the Socialists party is showing. Their ranks have been swelled by silver Democrats who refuse to swallow Parker's dose of gold.

Notwithstanding the bright Republican outlook, the County Central Committee has arranged for numerous political meetings all over the county this month.

Then ext meeting that will be held in Richmond will be on the evening of October 10, when J. Frank Hanly speaks in the Coliseum. On the afternoon of the same day Mr. Hanly will address an open air meeting in Franklin township in a grove near Bethel.

Senator Fairbanks is billed to address a local audience the third or fourth week of this month, the exact date, however, has not been set.

About the middle of October James E. Watson will address an open air meeting at Jackson park and about the same time Daniel E. Storms, Secretary of State, will speak at Fountain City and perhaps at Hartstown. This will be settled later. Chairman Gardner has also arranged to have Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, speak in Richmond the later part of this month.

SUIT DISMISSED

The Dam Will be Built and There is No Suit Pending.

The recent suit of the Richmond Street and Interurban company against the Starr Piano company and Clarence Gennett, in regard to building a dam across White river, will be dismissed from the circuit court docket on account of an agreement being reached by the contending parties yesterday. Representatives of the Piano company, the Street Car company, the Light, Heat and Power company and the city met yesterday and it was agreed that the dam should be built and that the Piano company should bear three-fifths of the expense. This will save the city about $600.

BERT NOBLETTE

Played at the New Phillips Last Evening

"You have foiled my plans woman, but I will yet be revenged," hissed the villain as he rushed at the heroine with a knife nearly as long as a small saw. At this critical instant a gallant negro policeman rushed upon the scene and amidst the deafening cheers of the audience foiled the villain once again.

This hero with the black cork make up was Bert Noblette, an old Richmond boy, and the lady whom he rescues is his wife, whose stage name is Adelaide Marshall. The scene and place of rescue was at the New Phillips last evening in "The Midnight Flyer."

All through the play Noblette, who takes a negro character, kept a good sized Saturday night crowd laughing at his funny actions. At the conclusion of the last act Bert greeted several of his old friends in the "flies." He says that he has not been in Richmond for over five years and he is mighty glad to see the old town again. He has been in vaudeville for the past few years and relates with pride that he also created the original negro part in "Younger Brothers, the Train Robbers."

Mrs. Noblette has created a number of characters and last year she starred in "Old Kentucky." She played Hetty in Younger Brothers, "Roanoke" in Roanoke and Tennessee in Tennessee Pardener. Mr. and Mrs. Noblette will star next year in one of George Ade's farce comedies.

Colored Swindler.

Dan Reid, a young colored man who has been swindling several merchants about town, is still at large, though the police are making earnest efforts to locate him.

New Election Commissioners.

County Clerk E. M. Haas, who by virtue of his office is a member of the board of election commissioners, has appointed two others to assist him. Those appointed were John S. Fitzgibbons and Pettis Reid. The board is composed of two Republicans and one Democrat.

Who has the ticket for the horse and buggy given by the Druids which is number 6292? This is the number of the ticket which proved to be the lucky one in the drawing which occurred last night. Twenty-five numbers were drawn out and the twenty-fifth was kept. The others were put back and another drawing of twenty-five was made. This was done until four numbers were held and then the drawing ceased. The person who holds the lucky number has three weeks from midnight last night in which to put in a claim for his property. The other numbers and their position are 6,270, 1,108 and 2,504.

MAS. MAUZEE HANGS HERSELF

for committing the deed. She had taken a bath and dressed herself in a new dress, every detail of her toilet being attended to with the utmost care, even to fastening a small pin at the neck of her dress. She went into the small dormer closet just off of the bath room and taking a new rope she slipped it around her neck and standing on a chair fastened the loose ends around the rafters above. She then tied these ends into a number of tight knots and kicked the chair away from her. Her neck was not broken and it is presumed that she slowly strangled to death.

It will never be known at just what hour she committed the deed as the family was away from the house nearly four hours. She has lived with her granddaughter, Mrs. Neal, for a number of years and her daughter, Mrs. Williams came from Chicago just a few weeks ago to visit her. Mrs. Mazzee was well known and her untimely death is mourned by a host of friends.
