NATIONAL LEAGUE

Convention Held at Indianapolis to Elect Officers.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 7.—The National Republican League convention at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon re-elected President J. Hampton Moore. The fight was apparently his from the first, but it was opposed with vigor by the Kansas and Nebraska delegations, and by the members of the Republican College League.

Scott Bonham, of Ohio, and Dr. McPatrick, of Illinois, were the opposing candidates. The vote, as announced, was as follows: Moore, 793 2-3; McPatrick, 249 2-3, and Bonham, 287 2-3. The fight against the re-election of Moore was pursued with vigor, but the administration, apparently, had the forces well in hand.

The second day's session of the National Republican League was opened at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and after the invocation by the Rev. M. L. Haines, President Moore announced that the election of officers would be made the first business of the convention. Treasurer Redding took the chair and called for nominations.

Albert J. Edwards, of Reading, Pa., placed President Moore's name before the convention in a glowing speech. The mention of Mr. Moore's name was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration. Charles A. Trimble, of New Jersey, made a brief address seconding the nomination. He was followed by Philip Rosentheil, of New York, who added the unanimous endorsement of his delegation.

D. D. Woodmansee, of Ohio, a former president of the league, nominated Scott Bonham, of Cincinnati. His speech was full of regrets for his opposition to Moore, whose record as president was eulogized.

William G. Edens, of Illinois, in his brief address, made a pointed reference to the "preferred program" of nominations and presented the name of Dr. J. B. McPatrick, of Chicago.

The Drawback of Invention.

There are many ingenious inventions which are subject to some fatal drawback; in fact, strictly speaking, what we call an invention is hardly an invention so much as a discovery—a discovery of the way in which some new application may be made of immutable laws. The devices which do not work conflict with one or another of these laws. Among devices which do not work may safely be classed the misrepresentations and fabrications in which certain Democratic organs have so freely indulged since the nomination of President Roosevelt. The people have seen already several of these untruths disproved, and they are not likely to put overmuch faith in future yarns.

An inventor once went to an officer in the general staff of the army with a contrivance which he claimed was going to revolutionize modern warfare. He was going to make a balloon and attach a powerful explosive to it, with a lighted fuse, and send it up in the air when the wind was blowing toward the camp of the enemy. The explosive would go off, and there would be no enemy any more.

Said the general: "Yes, but suppose the wind should change and blow back toward our army?" "Then," said the inventor, laying his hand on the general's arm, "our army would have to get up and run like Sam Hill."

The Democratic balloon had some powerful lies in it, but they are blowing back home. It is bad for any newspaper or individual to get the reputation of being a liar.

FOUR DAYS' ASSAULT

REPORT OF SAME IN GENERAL STOESEL'S REPORT

TO EMPEROR NICHOLAS

Japanese Efforts Directed Against Commanding Position—Carnage Terrible.

St. Petersburg, October 7.—Emperor Nicholas has received General Stoessel's official report of the desperate four days' assault of the besiegers upon Port Arthur, from September 19 to September 23, from which it appears that the unofficial report from Che Foo was by no means exaggerated.

The Japanese displayed frenzied bravery but they lost 10,000 men and their only success was the capture of two redoubts guarding the water works.

They prepared for the assault by a general bombardment and then launched their attacks simultaneously from the north and west. Night and day they fought under a cover of a continual bombardment from their siege guns and finally reached the redoubts on the north side, but only after the defenses there were completely demolished by shell fire from the west.

The Japanese efforts were directed chiefly against the commanding position on High Fountain, which faces Pigeon bay, slightly south of Fort Etse.

The mountain is 500 feet high and if it had fallen its possession would have given the Japanese a tremendous lever against the chain of inner defenses. The carnage there was terrible and culminated September 22, when the Japanese succeeded in reaching and occupying the Russian armored shelter trenches, whence they expected about the next day to storm the summit.

Two Arrests Made.

Two men who confessed to having left clothing in the river bottoms were arrested about 2:30 this morning by Officers Winters and Lawler in the barn of Weber & Holzapel, junk dealers in North D street. The men are typical hobos and gave the names of Charley Riley and Pat Kelly without any particular residence. When searched nothing incriminating was found on them. They claimed that the new clothing had been given to them.

GRIP CONVALESCENCE

There's nothing better than Scott's Emulsion after the grip. When the fever is gone the body is left weak and exhausted; the nervous system is completely run down and vitality is low.

Two things to do: give strength to the whole body and new force to the nerves. Scott's Emulsion will do it; contains just what the worn-out system needs.

Rich blood, healthy flesh, resistive force, more and better nourishment are what Scott's Emulsion supplies to the convalescent.

Scott's Emulsion is the original and has been the standard emulsion of cod liver oil for nearly thirty years. Why buy the new, untried, cheap emulsions or so called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil, when you can buy what is sure to help you?

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

NEW THEORY ON PHTHISIS

ST. LOUISAN DECLARES AFFECTION OF LUNGS INCURABLE

DOCTOR FRED KOLBENHEYER

Makes Statement Before Concluding Session of International Congress on Tuberculosis.

St. Louis, Mo., October 7.—Dr. Fred Kolbenheyer, of St. Louis, today made the statement before the concluding session of the international congress on tuberculosis that phthisis of the lungs can not be cured. Dr. Kolbenheyer explained the discoveries of Professor Otto von Schroen of the royal university of Naples. Professor von Schroen was unable to be present and sent his paper to be read. Professor von Schroen explained that a patient suffering from consumption could live for years in apparent health, but under favorable circumstances the germ of the disease would become active and destroy the lung tissues.

In cases of phthisis of the lungs, the professor said, he had discovered a new germ, which together with the germ that hitherto had been known to doctors to destroy all animal life, existed only in the cases of phthisis of the lungs.

The following resolution was then adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of four be appointed who shall constitute a committee on publicity, and who shall be empowered to enlarge their number by enlisting the assistance and cooperation of prominent educators, manufacturers, philanthropists, and others who may be able in various ways to assist in carrying on a strong educational campaign against tuberculosis.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Mich., was appointed chairman of the committee.

Part of the session yesterday was devoted to the discussion of sanitariums suitable for the treatment of patients afflicted with consumption and methods to prevent infection. The discussions embraced the medical and surgical aspects of tuberculosis, beneficial climatic conditions, and the effect of light and electricity on patients in the course of treatment.

A joint session of the congress and the Medio-Legal society of New York was held. E. J. Barrick, of Ontario, delivered an address, in which he favored a municipal sanitarium, where those afflicted with tuberculosis could be treated, and where they would not necessarily have to be taken from their own positions and families.
