

One of the greatest American millionaires once said to his physician, "A million dollars, Doctor, for a new stomach," and then the sick man groaned and turned away. One of a man's greatest pleasures is the birth of a new appetite, and this belongs to many a good fellow who is living on small wages, but the rich man without a stomach has to forego the good things of the table because his stomach rebels. Without a healthy stomach and a good digestion, our blood is thin, watery and poor, our heart action is weak, our liver does not do its duty, and man is miserable and unhappy. In this condition man is prey to the germs of influenza, consumption, malaria and all the ills that he is heir to. Consumption can be treated by natural methods which are as close to nature as possible.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., years ago understood this disease, and after a long period of experiment discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them up in a form that would be easily prepared and ready to use. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It gives no false stimulation because it contains no alcohol and no narcotic. It helps digestion and the assimilation of such elements in the food as are required for the blood. Instead of a cod liver oil, against which the already sensitive stomach will declare open rebellion, this tonic has a pacifying action upon the sensitive stomach and gives to the blood the food elements the tissues require. It maintains the patient's nutrition by giving him a tonic, diuretic and assimilating nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and in this way fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., are done away with. It fortifies the body against the germs of consumption, grip and malaria, and it builds up the tissues and puts on healthy flesh.

When the druggist says he has something that is "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, do not be because he hopes to make a better profit, but his own mixtures have not stood the test of long experience nor had the success that Dr. Pierce's medicines have had.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Gennett.

Despite the bad weather a large sized audience was present at the Gennett theatre last night to witness the vaudeville production. Everyone was well pleased by the entertainment, as it is so well balanced in all lines. Vaudeville seems to have taken a firm hold on the Richmond people and Manager Swisher is providing his patrons with the best to be had.

Smith Brothers, the team that presents a balancing act the equal of which is hard to find, will prove a popular attraction with local audiences. Professor Gus Fredericks, the pianist, continues to maintain his reputation as a soloist and accompanist. Hastings and Burns, who style themselves "grotesques eccentrics" certainly are deserving of the title as their act is unusually clever. Miss Marie Laurens, the prima donna soprano, has a magnificent voice and her singing is a revelation. George Klein, the Dutch comedian, and Clarke and Temple, who present the laughing absurdity "Front and the Maid" and Ernest Renk, who sings the illustrated songs help to form the bill that is presented this week.

Enthusiasm Was a Decided Feature.

Enthusiasm on the part of the audience at the New Phillips was the feature of the performance at this popular vaudeville house last night. Despite the stormy weather and counter attractions, an audience of liberal proportions was present and gave such a cordial reception to the performers and nearly every number was recalled. When Manager Murray secured Miss Annie Golden in singing, imitations and monologue, he almost secured an entire show in the one number. She made an instantaneous hit with the audience and was kept on the stage a much longer time than would ordinarily be allotted to her. Miss Golden is exceedingly clever and has a way of taking her hearers into her confidence. James Rose in Hebrew monologue was also recalled. He gives a good interpretation of the stage version of the Hebrew and does some odd dancing. Carro and Carro, comedy acrobats, have some new features, Stanley and Leroy, the latter presumably a woman, but who turns out to be a man in female attire, made good, especially after the audience discovered the deception that was being practiced. Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hughes, comedy sketch artists, are fully able to maintain their part of the program. Cal Lankert sang "When the Golden Sunset Fades Beyond the Hills" and "Dear Isabelle," and the motion pictures concluded a bill that will assure liberal patronage for the New Phillips throughout the week. Through an oversight Miss Golden's name was omitted from the printed program, but she makes herself known notwithstanding.

At Gennett.

Perhaps there has never been so lavish and adequate a production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as that which Mr. Kibble will offer amusement lovers next Thursday at the Gennett theatre, Matinee and night. The scenes which are large enough to fill the most spacious stage, could not easily be improved. Those representing the Ohio river in winter, the rocky pass in which George Harris protects his family, the St. Clair plantation, the levee at New Orleans, the cotton fields in full bloom and the "Celestial City," are all the most notable efforts, each picture being the reality as closely as that which paint and canvas will permit, and the stage perspective is so deep that the effect is exceptionally pleasing. The company is worthy of its environment. So many skilled actors have never before been engaged together as in this play.

Frank Leo, the eminent minstrel star, offers an excellent study of "Uncle Tom," preserving the atmosphere and accent of the old slave to a remarkable degree.

SEA SHORE PALACE

ONE OF THE MOST NOVEL STRUCTURES IN COUNTRY.

Twelve Story, Fireproof Hotel Built Without a Single Brick, Iron Beam or Timber.

Atlantic City, January 15.—An absolutely fire proof hotel, twelve stories high, built without a single brick, steel beam girder or column, is Atlantic City's latest novelty. The like of this structure is not to be found anywhere else.

For various reasons—one being that the noise of erecting a steel frame building would have driven away guests from adjoining hotels—the builders and architects were called upon for plans by which it would be possible to put up a structure 326 feet long and 100 feet high, without the racket made by steel riveters and stone workers.

The first exclusively hollow tile and cement building on a large scale is the result. The necessity for keeping comparatively quiet was only one trouble of the builders of this architectural wonder. At the very outset the builders, the National Fireproofing Co., were confronted with a foundation problem, which was finally solved by driving 1,300 piles into the sand of the beach by jettying. On this foundation a frame of concrete uprights and girders, strengthened with steel rods, was raised. Next came the walls and floors, all of fireproof hollow tile. Outside the tile is pebble dashed, and makes a very handsome and substantial appearance. Inside, the plaster is applied directly to the tile. In the floors hollow tile is also used between reinforced cement, thus saving weight and making of the transverse, as well as the upright partitions so many impassable fire barriers.

Comparatively low cost, great saving in time and fire proof qualities unapproached in any other form of construction, are the special advantages claimed for this new style of building.

Beginning work on June 17th, the builders were able to promise to complete the job so quickly that the hotel could be furnished and ready for business on February 1st. Noteworthy features of the new sea-shore palace will be that every room will have a bath and a bay window. There are two sun parlors, one 25 feet wide and heated by six elaborate fireplaces, overlooking the boardwalk, and another running along the length of the hotel. But from the viewpoint of the hotel patron, the best thing about this new hostelry, is that it cannot burn. Engineers and builders are more deeply interested in the novel features of construction developed in this hotel (the Marlborough-Blenheim,) and many experts have been here to inspect it.

SHE HIT MASHER

FEMALE GOLF PLAYER NEARLY KILLED INSULTER.

Used Salts to Revive Fallen Man

For Two Minutes She Feared He Would Not Recover from Blow.

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Peanne T. Higbie, golf champion of the Crescent club, of Brooklyn, and an enthusiastic boxer and fencer, had the satisfaction of knocking out a masher with two blows, restoring him with her smelling salts and seeing him stagger away thoroughly whipped.

The affair happened while Mrs. Higbie was returning from church to the home of her mother in this place. Regarding her adventure, Mrs. Higbie said:

"I am quite accustomed to being alone evenings in Brooklyn, and have never been annoyed before. In Worcester I thought there was no possibility of annoyance, and so strong was this impression that even after the man had spoken to me I thought he had made a mistake and really thought he knew me. He walked up to me and said, 'Good evening, Miss Perkins.'

"He was short and slight and wore a black Van Dyke beard. I told him he was mistaken and started on, but he grabbed my arm. Then I struck him. I don't know how many times, but it was twice anyhow. If he hadn't angered me so I wouldn't have struck him so hard, but I guess

I put all the golf and all the boxing I know into both blows.

Fell to the Curb.

"He fell when my second blow landed and struck his head heavily on the curb. This frightened me. When I bent over him he was bleeding and unconscious. I thought I had killed him, and I worked harder to bring him to consciousness than I had to put him to sleep. He must have been unconscious two minutes, during which time I rubbed snow in his face and applied my smelling salts to his nose. I never felt a more joyful sensation than when I saw him open his eyes. We finally found his hat and I helped him to his feet. He mumbled something about making a mistake and the last I saw of him he was walking unsteadily away.

"It was the first time I have had a chance to use my smelling salts. The vinaigrette has been a standing joke in my family; but I always carry it, and the Worcester masher seemed to appreciate its pungency. A small man as he is in constant danger of a whipping from a woman he annoys, and he owes it to himself to hereafter select persons nearer his size."

OUR GLASSES CURE

Office hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Examinations free. Nos. 4 and 5 Aldine Building, Main street, near Tenth.

Headache Cured.

Mrs. Ryan, wife of Lee Ryan, laywoman on South Tenth street, says: "For years I had suffered with severe headaches almost constantly. I was told by several specialists that my eyes were the cause of it, so that I finally consented to the wearing of glasses which would help me for only a short period, when the headaches would return again. I was told that nothing more could be done for me unless I submitted to having drops put in my eyes to suspend the accommodation. I was fearful of the effect, as I knew of others whose eyes had been permanently weakened from the effects of a mydriatic. I consulted Mr. and Mrs. Lingerfield and Miss Switzer, as I noticed in their advertisement that they corrected all latent troubles without the use of a mydriatic. I am very much pleased with the results, as it is now nearly one year since they fitted me with glasses and my head has not ached since I have worn them. I am grateful, too, to have found some one who was able to correct my trouble without the use of drops."

Mydriatics.

We do not use Belladonna, Atropine or other mydriatics, injurious drugs all of them, and belonging to a past stage in the science of optics as applied to eyesight testing. Total dilation with a powerful mydriatic will set your eyes at rest. It will set them at rest so well that in a great many cases it will take the eyes a year or more to get back to their normal conditions, and very often rest them so well that the eyes are never comfortable again. By means of modern methods we obtain more accurate and satisfactory results without the use of drops, also avoiding much of the discomfort and often serious danger to the patient.

Mrs. Commons, wife of E. L. Commons, proprietor of the Willow Grove Dairy, says: "My eyes were more thoroughly tested by Mr. and Mrs. Lingerfield and Miss Switzer than by any o'nei optician I had previously consulted. The glasses they furnished me are giving entire satisfaction, and I wear them with perfect comfort, which I had not been able to do heretofore."
