A S-S-SERENADE.

C-come to me, I-love. The hour grows late.
And lo, the drowsy whippoorwill
Doth murmur to his drowsy mate.
While I am c-c-catching quite a ch-ch-chill.
My f-f-faithful heart for thee doth b-b-beat.
For ne'er hath it affection lacked.
I fain would sing to thee, my sweet,
But, oh, my d-d-doggoned voice is c-c-cracked!

C-c-come to me, I-love. My k-k-kul-nine's gone.
But still my heart is t-t-t-true to you.
My overcoat is yet in t-t-true to you.
Put love is e'er the s-s-same! A-achew!
Sweet C-c-Cupid stands b-b-beside me here,
B-b-but, oh, he ought to g-g-get some clothes!
(Then hasten with a b-b-b-blanket, d-d-d-dear,
Or, dern it all, I will b-b-be f-f-f-frozen!—
—San Francisco Call.

His Point of View.
"I'd have you know I always weigh my words."
"Yes, you're right, and you don't forget to give good measure."

He Kept the Motion.
A colonel in one of the Pennsylvania regiments during the war was particularly opposed to the soldiers foraging and stealing supplies. But the boys would forage in spite of everything, trusting to luck to run the blockade and safely reach their tent with the captured prize.
A jolly young soldier was caught one night sneaking into camp with a juicy hind quarter of mutton impaled on his bayonet. "Where did you get that meat?" demanded the colonel sternly.
"Killed it in self defense," was the unblinking reply.
"In self defense, eh?"
"Yes, sir. You see, colonel, the critter flew at me out here in the woods a ways, and I wasn't goin' to let no wild animal get the best of me while I was fully armed an' able to defend myself, so I—"

"That'll do; you're excusable this time, young man," said the colonel relaxing into a smile, "and, by the way, I've got a little errand for you."
"Yes, sir," answered the culprit saluting.
"When you have turned that game over to your messmates you can go and get the other hind quarter and bring it to my tent."—New York Times.

A Warning.
The poet awakened with a shuddering scream.
"What is it?" cried his wife. "What is it?"
"A terrible dream," he said. "I spent an hour last evening writing a poem about the glory of the good old times, and I dreamed just now that by some magical influence I had been set back some eighty years. No telephone, no telegraph, no gas, no electric light, no plumbing in the house—no modern convenience whatever!"
"But that needn't have frightened you," said his wife soothingly.
"That wasn't the worst of it. There were no magazines to which to sell poems about the good old times."—Judge.

Daily Planting.
"I understand," said the tourist on top of the coach, "that this settlement raises more horse thieves than any community in the west."
"We ought to raise a few of them," replied Amber Pete as he touched his gun. "We certainly plant enough of them, pard."—Chicago News.

One Remedy.
"Gracious!" exclaimed Miss Passay. "I know I must look a perfect fright. I can't do anything with my hair at all."
"No?" said Miss Pepprey. "Surely you can take it back and get it exchanged, can't you?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Painful Points Too.
"You're a queer looking thing to want to fight with me," said the young bulldog contemptuously. "You're not in my class."
"Perhaps not," replied the porcupine quietly, "but I think I can give you a few points."—Brooklyn Life.

Our First Cotton Mill.
The first cotton mill in this country was established in Beverly, Mass., in 1787. It was designed to manufacture cord and bed ticking.

Japanese Auctions.
Japanese auctions are conducted in the following manner: Each bidder at an auction writes his name and bid on a slip of paper, which he puts in a box. When the bidding is over the box is opened and the goods declared the property of the highest bidder.

Short-hand.
During the past three centuries more than 200 different systems of shorthand have been devised. Pitman's was first published in 1840.

The Ostrich.
An ostrich does not leave its eggs to be hatched by the heat of the sun. It often, however, leaves the nest to seek food and always avails itself of the heat of the day to take its recess.

The Vulture's Eye.
The eye of the vulture is so constructed that it is a high power telescope, enabling the bird to see objects at an almost incredible distance.

Speaker of the Commons.
Formerly the speaker of the house of commons retired on a pension of £2,000 per annum for two lives. A speaker, however, who was childless wished that the pension should be £4,000 per annum for one life—his own—and it has since remained at that sum.

Chinese Names.
Names of Chinese provinces have a personal interpretation, the same as Indian names. For example, the Kan-shu province signifies sweet, sedate, while Chih translated reads direct rule, and Anhwei means peace-glory.

THE BIG TRIBE OF HOKENDAUQUA

Thirty-Three New Warriors Initiated Into Mysteries of Red Men Last Night.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

CHARLES POTTER IS NAMED SACHEM FOR COMING YEAR—TEN WARRIORS DELEGATES TO THE GREAT COUNCIL.

Hokendauqua Tribe of Red Men had a big time last night in the wigwam, taking in thirty-three candidates besides electing a new set of officers for the ensuing year. The meeting was a large one, and many of the members were present to vote in the election and witness the degree work.

The election of officers was spirited, there being several candidates for the different positions. The officers were named as follows:
Sachem, C. Potter.
Senior Sagamore, Ona Miller.
Junior Sagamore, Walter Sours.
Prophet, George Bowman.
Trustee—L. M. Hayes.

Following the election, the thirty-three candidates were given their degrees. The following were admitted and became warriors in the Hokendauqua camp: John W. Preble, John Puthoff, Clarence Flatter, W. B. Owens, Clarence Bollmeier, Ed. Kemper, Harry Jones, Thomas Allen, Albert Hardwick, William Pilhe, Clarence Phenix, Sam Jones, William Ellingwood, C. W. Turner, John W. Townsend, William Stiner, P. Higgins, William Moon, William French, C. Wynn, Frank Helmig, Moody R. Lamb, William Armstrong, Charles Bennett, Chris Lawrence, Clifford Harworth, J. C. Somers, W. H. Linthicum, Frank Kimmernan, H. Kirkman, William Soper, I. R. Dickinson and Ross Von Kokayne.

Hokendauqua Tribe will be well represented at the Great Council of Indiana tribes, which will be held in Indianapolis, next fall. The following were named as delegates to this council: George J. Knollenberg, William Dickerson, Ed. Stow, Henry Sheppard, James Turman, William Yingling, Frank Neal, Wesley Brown, Dempsey Pierson and Carl Baker.

REP. ADAMS ENDS LIFE WITH PISTOL

A Popular Member of National House Commits Suicide at Washington.

HIS ENDING WAS TRAGIC
AFTER SHOOTING HIMSELF IN THE HEAD HE WALKED TO THE BATHROOM AND WASHED AWAY THE BLOOD.

[Publishers' Press]
Washington, June 1.—Representative Robert Adams, of the Second congressional district of Pennsylvania, died at Emergency Hospital, in this city, at 11:30 o'clock today, as the result of a pistol shot fired through his mouth into his head with suicidal intent. The act was committed some time between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, at the club chambers of the Metropolitan Club, where Mr. Adams had lived for several years. It was not until 8 o'clock, however, that he was found by Horace Clark, one of the negro bellhops, whose habit it was each morning at that hour to carry hot water to the room. On opening the door, Clark found Mr. Adams entirely nude, sitting upright in an arm chair. Washed Away the Blood.

A ghastly feature of his attack was the fact that after shooting himself Mr. Adams proceeded out into the hall and to the bathroom, where he washed himself and then returned to his room. The walls and bathroom were spattered with blood.

It was Mr. Adams, who reported, conducted through the House and had charge of, in conference with the Senate, the Cuban resolutions, and drafted, introduced, reported and passed through the House of Representatives in one hour the declaration of war against Spain.

Leaves Note to Caterer.
Adams left the following note addressed to James Black, colored caterer, in charge of the club chambers, where he lived:
"Notify H. G. Clements, 1326 L street, Telephone Main 1863. Also Francis P. Adams, 1317 Wallace street. Left money for breakfast bill. You can divide things in the closet."

Robert Adams was one of the most popular representatives in Congress, and he had been identified with many matters of world-wide importance. He became prominent at the beginning of the session of Congress by introducing and championing the "whipping post bill," which had been recommended by the President, Mr. Adams had to stand a great deal of good-natured chaffing during the debate on the bill.
