In the evening the party came to the city and took up their station in the South Seventh street park, where one of the best displays of fire works of the night was shown. The park was crowded and the hospitality of the congregation included most of the south end.

TYPHOID FEVER.

Sources of This Dangerous and Protracted Disease.

Although there is always more or less typhoid fever in most of the larger cities of this country, the late summer and autumn are the seasons when it is most to be feared.

The disease is not so formidable, as regards the mortality, as some others, but its great length and the evil consequences which sometimes follow it in the form of weak heart, weak spine or nervous disorders make it quite as serious as some which are more fatal, but far less protracted.

Unless one knows how the disease is usually spread one cannot hope to avoid it, and so it may be useful to consider in what ways the germs of the malady find their way into the system.

Water is the usual vehicle for typhoid germs, as is well known, and probably all great outbreaks of the disease in cities are due to an infected water supply. This has been strikingly shown in Philadelphia, where some parts of the city are supplied with filtered water and others with unfiltered or mixed water. Comparing two parts of the city in which the conditions, except as to water supply, are almost the same, it was found that in the one supplied with filtered water the occurrence rate of typhoid fever was one in five thousand, while in the others, in which the unfiltered water was drunk, it was one in sixteen hundred.

But a city with an ideal water supply may be scourged with typhoid fever, although less severely, through the medium of impure ice, and it is almost as important to know where the ice is cut, or with what water it is made, if artificial, as where the city water comes from. Not long since a number of officers on one of the United States ships in the Mediterranean squadron were taken down with typhoid fever. When the source of the infection was traced it was found to be some ice bought at Athens, the ice machine on shipboard having broken down.

Another source of infection is found in oysters that have been fattened in streams contaminated with sewage. Not only has typhoid followed the eating of these fish, but the typhoid bacilli have been found in the stomachs of the oysters.

Raw vegetables used for salads may have been grown in soil contaminated with slops used as fertilizers or may have been washed in infected water.

Unless a water supply is above suspicion all that used for drinking, tooth cleaning and in the kitchen should be boiled and the drinking water cooled by putting vessels containing it on the ice, not by putting ice in the water itself.

Finally, great care should be taken to screen all food from flies, for if there is a case of typhoid fever in the neighborhood flies may become most active distributors of the poison.

Cultured a Little Bit.
A young woman studying at the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia is credited by the Philadelphia Record with the invention of a word which should fill a long felt want. In the circle in which the young woman moves the word "culture" is in her opinion overworked and misused, being dragged in on every occasion to describe persons of a certain status as to intellect and breeding. "Are they cultured people?" the young woman was asked concerning some acquaintances, and her reply was, "No, they are only cultured."

The "Only" Ones.
Senator Perkins of California is the only whaler in congress, Representative Washington Gardner of Michigan the only clergyman, Representative Anthony Michael of Chicago the only grocer, Delegate Kallanale of Hawaii the only prince, Representative John Thomas Hunt of Missouri the only equestrian, Representative Edward L. Minor of Wisconsin the only licensed master of steam vessels and Representative S. W. Robertson of Louisiana the only college professor.

Echoes.
Every one is familiar with the phenomenon of echoes. In a cave in the Pantheon the guide, by striking the flap of his coat, makes a noise equal to a twelve pound cannon's report. The singularity is noticed in a lesser degree in the Mammoth cave in Kentucky. In the cave of Smellin, near Viborg, in Finland, a cat or dog thrown in will make a screaming echo lasting some minutes.

Teacher—What are manapuals? Boy—Animals which have pouches in their stomachs. Teacher—What do they have pouches for? Boy—To crawl into and conceal themselves in when they are pursued.—Figaro.

A person may not merit favor, as that is only the claim of man, but he can never merit charity, for that is the command of God.—Sterns
