

GANS WON LONG FIGHT ON A FOUL

Nelson Turns a Dirty Trick at End of a Most Notable Ring Battle.

LASTED FOR 42 ROUNDS

COLORADO FIGHTER HAD BEST OF THE AFFRAY THROUGHOUT—WAS HARD AND BITTERLY FOUGHT.

[Publishers' Press] Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 3.—Gans won the fight tonight on a foul in the 42d round. He completely outclassed Nelson and through the contest, Gans and Nelson weighed in at three o'clock and came within the requirements. At 2:54 Nelson entered the ring, being closely followed by Gans. Both men were clad in heavy bath robes.

Division of Receipts. Jack Welch of San Francisco, acted for Gans and Charlie Nixon of the same place, acted for Nelson. The betting was 100 to 60 on Gans with no takers. The tempting offer of $10,000 to $7,000 did not meet with any response. President Rickard made the announcement that the actual size of the purse was $33,500, of which Nelson will receive $22,500 and Gans, $11,000.

Gans won the toss for corners and chose the southwest corner for the sun would be at his back. Sullivan announced that the men weighed 132 pounds each. Nolan protested this, saying that the weights were not made public.

Young Roosevelt There. Young Roosevelt was in the crowd and hugely enjoyed the fight.

The battle throughout was a bitter contest. Nelson resorted to all sorts of tricks. There was much wrestling and at times the men kicked at each other. Much blood was drawn by both.

In the final round they clinched and as they broke away Nelson deliberately struck Gans low and the colored man slowly sank to the floor. The blow was clearly observed by everyone in the arena and there was not a murmur of dissent from the spectators by the way the long drawn out battle was terminated. Siler miving Gans to his corner and touching him on the shoulder to indicate that he was the winner.

Joe Thomas Winner.

Chelsea, Mass., Sept. 3.—Joe Thomas, of California, knocked out Honey Melody of Boston, in the eleventh round tonight.

Did Not Appreciate Advice Offered Him

It was on an open street car, and the passengers put it down that the man with his jaw tied up had the toothache. One of them was not satisfied with inference, but leaned forward and collectedly inquired:

"Does she lift you when she aches?" The sufferer glared at him, but made no answer, and he presently continued:

"I'll bet it's a double tooth and that the dentist will have to yank three times on it."

"You villain!" shouted the sufferer as he wriggled around, while three or four others made indignant protests.

"All right, all right; I won't say any more," said the stony hearted man as he sank back, "but for the information of the crowd in general I will observe that toothache is caused by the cold air striking an exposed organ. You probably never gave a thought to it, but there are exactly 3,500 nerves radiating from your gums, and the exposure of any one of these causes pain. Speaking of teeth, do you know what the strength of the jaw is? It is computed that when a full grown and healthy man shuts his teeth down as hard as he can on a pine board he is exerting a force of one horsepower. Every time you bite into a sandwich you use enough force to open a door. Should you yell 'Police' at the top of your voice the air pressure would be sufficient to lift one of your shoes seven inches high. Should you sneeze you waste power enough to pull a turnip out of the ground, and the force of a hearty laugh would drive a brick half way through a raw potato. That's all, ladies and gentlemen, and no collection will be taken up or vote of thanks looked for."—Brooklyn Citizen.

"When you are boarding a snow trolley you should be good to them, for you may be entertaining an angel unaware."

"Perhaps," replied the practical hotel keeper who had had experience, "but I always make them pay cash in advance anyway if they haven't got baggage."

"No, but he popped the question on the Fourth of July."

Biding His Time. "It is a shame the way she abuses him. I wonder he would stand for it." "He has to; they are not married yet."

A Practical Test. "Married people are more loyal than single ones."

"Why should they be?" "Because they believe in the United States."

GIANTS LOSE OUT IN THE ELEVENTH

Some Local White Rooters Chide Colored Players and They Get Excited.

ONCE HAD A LARGE LEAD

GERMANTOWN, OHIO TEAM FACING A SHUTOUT GETS TOGETHER AND WINS A HARD EARNED VICTORY.

Local white rooters chided the Giants yesterday and with five runs to the good, the colored players went up in the air and when the eleventh inning was over they had lost to Germantown, Ohio, by the score of 6 to 5. The game was a time threatened to break up in a row. During the latter part of it, the rooting against the Giants became offensive to some of the players and they so expressed themselves. The rooters did not let up and there was a gathering of both colors that looked certain to end in a scrap. It passed over however but seemed to have such an effect on the nerves of the local players that they did not do themselves justice from then on.

Harris who was freely hit in the eighth and ninth, gave way to Benson, who held the visitors for one inning. The box score.

"THOSE OVERALLS" WON

In Spite of Their Name They Beat Beallview by Score of 12 to 11—Interesting Game.

The Beallview baseball team was beaten by "Those Overalls" at the Beallview grounds yesterday afternoon, by a score of 12 to 11. The game was a close one and was anybody's game until the last moment of play. "Those Overalls" contend that the Beallview team played several Starr Plano Players, and were therefore really stronger yesterday than they were at any other time. This, however, did not mar the pleasure of yesterday's game, as it was a good natured battle from the start. It is very probable that the two teams will meet later.

SAVING TIME IN MAIL DELIVERY

Chicago Postoffice Abolishes Use of Back Stamps on Letters Received.

IT SAVES THIRTY CLERKS

IF EXPERIMENT PROVES SUCCESSFUL THE PLAN WILL BE FOLLOWED IN OTHER LARGE OFFICES.

[Publishers' Press] Washington, Sept. 3.—Experiments with a view not only to saving expense but to economizing time are being tried at the Chicago postoffice. It is the elimination of the backstamp on letters which indicate the precise time of arrival in the delivering office. The service of about 30 clerks is being saved and the time of delivering of letters to recipients from the hour of arrival in Chicago is reduced from 20 minutes to two hours. It is proposed to try the experiment in other large postoffices. If it should be as successful as it has been in the Chicago office, the use of the back stamp probably will be eliminated entirely.

A POTTERY TOWN.

Chingchea Is Unlike Any Other Place in China.

For at least 900 years the town Chingchea, in China, has been devoted to the making of pottery. Everything in Chingchea belongs to the porcelain and earthenware industry. The houses are for the most part built of fragments either of old kilns or of the fire clay covers in which the porcelain is stacked during firing. The river bank is for miles covered with a deep stratum of broken chinaware and chips of fire clay, and the greater part of the town and several square miles of the surrounding country are built over or composed of a similar deposit. Chingchea is unlike anything else in China. The forms, the color, the materials used in the buildings, the atmosphere, are reminiscent of the poorer parts of a civilized industrial center. There are 104 large pottery kilns in the town. The greater part are in use only for a short season in the summer. During this busy season the population of Chingchea rises to about 400,000 souls, but of this total nearly half are laborers drawn from a wide area of country, who come for the season, live in rows of barracklike sheds and do not bring their families with them. Visitors to Chingchea pass along street after street where every shop is occupied by men, women and children, all engaged in the designing, molding, painting or distributing of pottery. The river bank is crowded for three miles by junkie either landing material and fuel or shipping the finished product.
