Marines Protect Plantation.
Boston, Sept. 17.—A private cablegram received here by E. F. Atkins of Cuba says that the general conditions in South Santa Clara province are desperate, but that the Atkins factory or sugar manufacturing buildings on the Soledad estate have been saved from the insurgents by the presence of marines from the gunboat Marietta. About 2,000 people are employed on the Soledad estate, which is one of the largest in Cuba, controlled by an American.

Ordered to Cienfuegos.
Havana, Sept. 17.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Dixie received orders from Washington to proceed to Cienfuegos. It is believed that the small force of the gunboat Marietta is not considered a sufficient guard owing to the conditions in the besieged city.

Admits the Deed.
Canton, O., Sept. 17.—James Cornelius, a well known sewer contractor, is under arrest and in jail, charged with the murder of his wife, who died in a hospital as a result of a fractured skull. Cornelius admits striking the woman with a window weight during a quarrel and told the police he meant to kill her.

Using All His Time.
"Funny about Jones. He would like to acquire the habit of walking in his sleep."
"What does he want to do that for?"
"Walking is such fine exercise, and he hasn't time to take it when he is awake."

All on Credit.
You have heard of the charge of the light brigade.
And the credit they got for the act as such.
And doubtless you often have wondered why they didn't come down to the store with the cash.

Self Defense.
"I do so love gossip."
"When I have something sensational to tell it keeps people from talking about me."

Too Common.
"How would you like to have an automobile, Weary?"
"Not for me, Mike. Nottin' will answer for Weary but de wings of de wind."

We Like Fruit.
For strictly orchard products which found markets and presumably were consumed during the year ending June 30, 1905, the American farmer received $85,751,846, and we raised in American vineyards 1,500,000,000 pounds of grapes, which crop brought our American vineyardists over $15,000,000 more. American subtropical fruits brought the producers nearly $10,000,000, and we imported from the West Indies and southern Europe $25,000,000 worth of tropical fruits.—Ernest C. Rowe in Leslie's Weekly.

Our Railways.
The average number of passengers in each railroad train in the United States in 1904 was 50.23. This represents a growth from about 39 a train in 1898, but is still far below the development attained abroad. In 1898 Germany carried an average of 71 persons in each train, and India had the large figure of 189. The development of the electric railway in this country and the frequent train service help to keep down the average. On each of the 212,000 miles of railway in 1904 there were carried an average of 104,193 passengers. That is to say, the aggregate passenger mileage of the country, according to the Railway World, divided by the mileage of the track, gives the figure named. In Germany, as far back as 1898, this figure was 342,000 persons; in France it was 283,000 in 1897, in India 289,000 and in Austria 214,000. The figures for Great Britain are not obtainable.

The Chinese Pen.
The Chinese pen from time immemorial has been a brush made of some soft hair and used to paint the curious formed letters of the Chinese alphabet.

South African Ant Hill.
The largest structure on the earth when compared with the size of the builders is the ant hill of Africa. Some of these mounds have been observed fifteen feet high and nine feet in diameter. If a human habitation were constructed on the same scale it would be more than seven miles high.

White Flowers.
In all mythology and folklore white flowers are supposed to spring from tears.

Brazil's Tree Frogs.
To protect its ova and young from the attacks of fish the tree frog of Brazil builds a tubelike subaqueous fortification of mud, which it jealously guards until its froglets are large enough to take care of themselves.

Remarkable.
"She is quite gifted."
"In what way?"
"She can hand out a superior line of advice on any subject under the sun at a moment's notice."

Popular Literary Stunt.
"He claims he is making his living writing."
"Writing home for money."

Those Fool Questions.
"Hello," says the man, seeing his friend sauntering forth with pole and net and bait basket. "Going fishing?"
"No," replies the friend, turning on his heel. "No; I'm going to stand on my head and keep my hair from falling out. What made you think I was going fishing?"—Puck.

No Chance to Forget.

The Motor Armchair.
Anybody who has had a good case of seasickness must have felt that he would welcome the electric chair as a relief. Now an electric chair for seasickness has been tested on an English channel steamer and an ocean liner. You sit in a saug armchair. A motor under the seat is connected with the ship's electric current. You sit and take vibratory treatment. Up and down and crosswise you are shaken. Most sitters need but one treatment. Their tendency to seasickness is vibrated out of them. Some need a second sitting. A few are seasick as soon as their treatment ends. It is a preventive, mark you, not a cure. The theory is that seasickness is essentially a nervous malady, and that vibration reduces the nervousness. Certainly imagination and expectation have much to do with the disorder. Blessings on the new armchair if it can block quick coming seasickness. But many believe and many doubt.—Everybody's Magazine.

Tough Greenbacks.
A little incident showing the genuineness and enduring quality of the paper on which our greenbacks are printed occurred up in the Maine woods last winter. Three years ago a lumberman who had been given a ten dollar bill on his wage account lost the money on his way home. One day in January last a friend found the bill in an open field, where it had been dropped, still intact and easily recognizable after having been drenched in the rains, frozen by the snows and bleached in the sun for three years. Being restored to its original owner, the bill was sent to the United States treasury, where it was promptly redeemed in new paper.—Leslie's Weekly.

OUR MOTHER TONGUE.

He may be a druggist who drugs. But he's not a hustler who hugs. And no thinker ever has tucks. Though you can't get a craftsman to draw. A respectable draftsman may draw. And a drinker may often be drunk. We say of the swimmer, "He swam." But not of the trimmer, "She tram." And we never rovers have roven. Though a man who has brought may not bratch. The one who has caught still may catch. And many a thrower has thrown.

'Tis common for callers to sail. But if isn't for tailors to tail. And more than one plan are not plen. If the broker is not one who brokes. Still the smoker may be one who smokes. And more than one man are called men.

Though never a spender has spoon. The kind hearted lender may loan. And many a dealer has dealt. We may say that the man who weaves wove. But not that the one who grieves grieves. And no squealer ever has squealed.

Pearls are measured by the grain. Three and one-half grains go to a carat.

The Two Cent Piece.
The bronze two cent piece was first coined in 1864, being authorized by act of congress in the same year. The issuance of this coin was discontinued Feb. 12, 1873.

The Turquoise.
The turquoise was once supposed to have the power of indicating the condition of the absent beloved. While the blue remained clear in its color all was well. When it turned dull and green disease was near, and when the green predominated death was at hand.

Era of the Martyrs.
The "era of the martyrs," a famous era in use in the early church, commemorates the tenth and last great persecution by Diocletian, beginning Feb. 23, 284 A. D.

British Crown Ruby.
The ruby in the center of the Maltese cross on the top of the British crown is the stone that was given to the Black Prince by King Pedro of Castile after the battle of Nejarra. Henry V. of England wore it in his helmet at Agincourt.

The abhorrence of respectable British persons for the synonym for "gullible" is almost as extraordinary as its popularity with the lower classes. In days gone by O'Connor spoke of the "base, bloody and brutal Whigs," and the Times in reporting him rendered it very ingeniously, with a view to exhibit his bad language, as the "base, b— and brutal Whigs."

The Clove.
The spice known as the common clove is the undeveloped bud of the Caryophyllus aromaticus.

Bottle Nursing.
It is commonly supposed that nursing infants with the bottle is a modern custom, but some time ago Dr. Gottstein pointed out that that custom was widely prevalent in German cities 200 years ago, and more recently Dr. Grotzahn discovered pictorial evidence of such nursing 1,500 years ago.

Children cannot lay claims to having any sense until they admit that their parents know best, and they are no longer children when they admit it.—Aitchison Globe.

HEALTH NEVERS.

Never hammer at a bit of bad feeling in the house till you shape it into a disease.

Never ask people if they've ever eaten greasy food over that attack of disease. You might bring it on them again.

Never swallow a baby in order to keep it warm, so that it will take cold as soon as a breath of air strikes it.

Never "feed a cold" or any other disease. Let your stomach have a rest. You will not starve if you go without food a week.—Carleton's Magazine.

A Kicking Horse.
A kicking horse may be cured by tying one of his fore legs with a rope to the hind leg on the other side. Then, as soon as he commences to kick, he jerks his front leg off the ground and goes down in a heap. Two or three doses of that kind will cure the worst case possible.

Spiders.
Spiders always come out of their holes shortly before a rain, being advised by their instinct that insects then fly low and are most easily taken.

The Gnat's Mouth.
The gnat's mouth consists of a small lancet for piercing the skin. This instrument is inclosed in a delicate sheath, and beneath it there is a pumping apparatus for drawing out the blood of the victim. The gnat is so small that the red corpuscles of the blood would be too large for its system, and it sucks only the serum.

Renewing His Youth.

"Did you buy the mummy you were looking at?"
"No; it was too fresh."
"You mean the salesman was?"
"No; the mummy."
"But it had been dead 3,000 years."
"I know, but they had just dug him up."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The man who takes his punishment quietly is apt to be not as meek as he seems.

There are some men who might be worse than they are, but they don't know it.

A theory that doesn't allow for friction is apt to get a pretty hard rub.

WIRE QUESTION BEFORE COUNCIL

Deuker Suggests that Street Car Company Be Made to Use Iron Poles.

JOINT POLE AGREEMENT

NO ADVANCE IS MADE IN NEGOTIATIONS WITH CENTRAL UNION ON ACCOUNT OF ABSENCE OF STATE MANAGER.

A communication from the board of works to the council was read last evening in which the board stated that nothing definite in the status of the joint pole agreement between the city and the Central Union Telephone company had been reached, owing to the fact that the state manager of that company was absent from his headquarters at Indianapolis.

This communication brought up the Main street pole question again. Mr. Deuker moved that the city attorney see if an ordinance could be drawn up compelling the street car company to place iron poles on Main street, and the telephone and other companies affected to place their wires underground.

Mr. O'Neal, of the board of public works, stated that the street car company was now investigating the advisability of anchoring their Main street wires to buildings, a scheme which has been found to be very practicable in many cities throughout the country.

CHIEF COLLINS MAY FALL

Chicago Politicians to Protect Themselves May Overthrow Superintendent of Police.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—A plot to overthrow Chief of Police Collins is reported in police and political circles to be breeding among city politicians who fear the startling disclosures he may make in the present police department fight.

LOWE SAYS HE WON'T PAY

CLIFFORD CASE UP AGAIN

Tax Adjustor with Whom City has a Contract, Says He Never Agreed to Expense of Clifford's Suit Against the City.

At the meeting of council last night W. E. Lowe said that he was not under contract to bear the expense of $200, connected with the suit of Fremont Clifford, against the city, which was tried at Greenfield last June. Lowe denied that he agreed to do so, although Councilman Engelbert suggested that he had given his word to that effect. Lowe said the litigation growing out of the Morrison estate with which Clifford was connected, arose before he (Lowe) made a contract with the city.

NEW FOOTBALL BOUGHT

AND PRACTICE IS BEGUN

High School Lads Already Have the Football Fever and Are Ready to Don the Moleskins—The List of Candidates.

Although school work at High school has not yet started, the football candidates have already held a meeting and a new foot ball has been purchased. There are quite a number of good candidates and the outlook for a fast team is very bright. Some of the very enthusiastic candidates even began practice last evening on the public play grounds. Manager Murray has sent letters for games to several high schools, including Winchester, Greenville and Rushville.
