RUSSIAN PEASANTS BEATEN TO DEATH

Terrible Cruelty of Cossacks
Was Revealed in Trials
Held at Odessa.

IS BEYOND IMAGINATION

HELPLESS TILLERS OF THE SOIL
BEATEN FOR FOUR HOURS
AND THOSE WHO LIVED HAD TO KILL EACH OTHER.

[Publishers' Press]
Odessa, Oct. 2.—The evidence in the trial here of the peasants who are charged with burning and pillaging a number of estates in this region revealed the most horrible atrocities. The district chief, who arrived as soon as the devastation had been committed, had the peasants supposed to be implicated, assembled before a company of Cossacks. He then ordered the priests to administer the last sacraments of the church. The Cossacks were then permitted to beat the peasants, and for four hours and a half, blow after blow was rained upon them until the Cossacks became tired of their brutality. A number of the peasants were beaten to death, while those who still lived were compelled to thrash each other. It is said that a number of innocent persons were slaughtered. Despite these revelations 63 of the 97 peasants placed on trial were found guilty.

"THE ONE WOMAN" STAGED

Initial Production of the Dramatization of Thos. Dixon's Novel
Made at Norfolk.

[Publishers' Press]
Norfolk, Va., Oct. 1.—Thomas Dixon's dramatization of his latest book "The One Woman" was given its initial production in this city tonight and won applause and praise. Mr. Dixon in his play has departed from the lines of the book, laying his scenes in California and Alaska instead of in New York—the scene of the story as it was published in book form.

However a petition is being signed by fifty persons, to have the names of Judge Abbott and Arch Little placed on the ticket. Both men have consented to serve another term.

AN AMERICAN OF COURSE MADE THE BEST RECORD

Frank H. Lahm, the Aeronaut, Covered Greatest Distance in International Cup Contest Being Held at Paris—One Man Missing.

[Publishers' Press]
Paris, Oct. 2.—Fourteen of the balloons which started in the international cup contest Sunday, descended in safety today, after some very exciting experiences. The only missing aeronaut is C. S. Rolls, the Englishman, from whom nothing has as yet been heard.

Frank P. Lahm, the American, covered the greatest amount of distance of the aeronauts, landing seven miles from Whitby, England, Monday afternoon. Alfred Von Wille, the Italian, covered the next best distance, he landing at New Holland, near Hull, England.

THE REAL COLONEL SELLERS

Optimistic James Lampton, as Mark Twain Knew Him

In the opening chapter of his "Autobiography," printed in the first fortnightly number of the North American Review, Mark Twain tells thus of the original Colonel Sellers: "Many persons regarded Colonel Sellers as a fiction, an invention, an extravagant impossibility, and did me the honor to call him a 'creation,' but they were mistaken. I merely put him on paper as he was. He was not a person who could be exaggerated. The incidents which looked most extravagant, both in the book and on the stage, were not inventions of mine, but were facts of his life, and I was present when they were developed. John T. Raymond's audiences used to come near to dying with laughter over the turnip eating scene; but, extravagant as the scene was, it was faithful to the facts in all its absurd details. The thing happened in Lampton's own house, and I was present. In fact, I was myself the guest who ate the turnips. In the hands of a great actor that piteous scene would have dimmed any manly spectator's eyes with tears and racked his ribs apart with laughter at the same time. But Raymond was great in humorous portrayal only. In that he was superb, he was wonderful—in a word, great. In all things else he was a pygmy of the Pygmies."

The real Colonel Sellers as I knew him in James Lampton was a pathetic and beautiful spirit, a manly man, a straight and honorable man, a man with a big, foolish, unselfish heart in his bosom, a man born to be loved, and he was loved by all his friends and by his family worshiped. It is the right word. To them he was but little less than a god. The real Colonel Sellers was never on the stage. Only half of him was there. Raymond could not play the other half of him. It was above his level. There was only one man who could have played the whole of Colonel Sellers, and that was Frank Mayo.

James Lampton floated all his days in a tinted mist of magnificent dreams and died at last without seeing one of them realized. I saw him last in 1884, when it had been twenty-six years since I ate the basin of raw turnips and washed them down with a bucket of water in his house. He was become old and white headed, but he entered to me in the same old breezy way of his earlier life, and he was all there yet—not a detail wanting. The happy light in his eye, the abounding hope in his heart, the persuasive tongue, the miracle breeding imagination—they were all there, and before I could turn around he was polishing up his Aladdin's lamp and flashing the secret riches of the world before me.

A Runaway House.

A runaway house is certainly a novelty, but a record performance by one is reported from Butte, Mont. It was moved on rollers, broke away, ran a distance of three blocks and killed four horses, as well as tearing down telegraph poles and wires and wrecking vehicles. A house that has not been trained to stand quietly is dangerous to have around.—Baltimore News.

INDIAN EASIER TO TEACH THAN WHITE

So Says Rev. Wm. Jasper Hadley in Address to High School Students.

ADVICE TO YOUNG PEOPLE

TELLS THOSE APPLYING FOR POSITIONS NOT TO APPROACH BUSINESS MEN THROUGH MEDIUM OF LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION.

The scripture services were conducted by the Rev. Wm. Jasper Hadley of Iowa yesterday morning at High School. He is a Hoosier by birth but has taught school in Iowa for 27 years, six of which he spent in teaching the Indian children. Contrary to the general belief, he says that the Indian children are easier to teach than the American children because they do not get into mischief as easily.

Mr. Hadley is a staunch friend and credits the Quakers with having put Indiana's school system in the lead of all others. His talk was largely on "The Preparation for Life Work." On the subject of recommendations he discourages the use of letters, saying that a good business man in talking with you for three minutes, can tell more about your character than four or five typewritten pages could do.

EIGHT HOUR DAY AND OPEN SHOP

The Methodist Book Concern to Withdraw from the United Typothetae.

LABOR'S PARTIAL VICTORY

MINISTERS AND LAYMEN CHEER FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES WHEN THE ACTION IS TAKEN—STILL NOT A UNION SHOP.

[Publishers' Press]
Chicago, Oct. 1.—The Methodist Book Concern will grant an eight hour day, establish the "open shop" and withdraw from the United Typothetae of America. This announcement was made today at the Rock River conference. A remarkable scene followed the reading of the report which had been signed by both the Eastern and Western divisions of the concern. Ministers and lay delegates cheered for fifteen minutes. The resolutions commending the action of the concern were adopted at once. This action is considered a victory for labor, but not wholly so, because of the recognition of the open shop. The fight against the book concern has been for an eight hour working day. At last years conference the book concern was criticised for the stand it maintained on the labor question.

The new working day and "open shop" will go into effect on November 1st, but the secession from the typothetae becomes effective immediately.

Presiding Elder White, in charge of the "Shop meetings" which have been held here and elsewhere, praised the action.

"At some of the shops we have been barred from holding meetings because of the Methodist book concern position relative to labor," said he. "The union men have become antagonistic to our meetings in some places because of the concern's attitude. Now I believe all shops will be open to us."

HOPE TO OPEN ON MONDAY

NEW SCHOOL A MODEL ONE

Building in District No. 11 Is Now Almost Ready for Occupancy—Playground in the Basement—Entire Cost $6,000.

If the plans of Trustee Potter and County Superintendent Jordan are carried out, the school at District No. 11, just west of this city, will begin Monday morning. The work of putting the finishing touches upon the new building is being rushed as fast as possible and it is thought that school can be started at that time. The work of leveling the yard and the placing of the desks is being done this week. The building when completed will be one of the most modern country schools in Indiana. Not only will it have an indoor playground in the basement for winter use, but will have a double heating and ventilating plant. The school building, when completed, will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000.

MUST PAY THEIR TAXES

New Move Is Taken by Board of Public Works Against the Employees of the City.

The employees ran up against an unlooked for snag yesterday when they journeyed to City Treasurer Johnson's office to collect their pay. They received their checks all right, but at a second glance they noticed that they were subject to delinquent taxes. It has been the habit of several employees of the city to let their taxes drag and as many of them are at the present time in arrears of their taxes, it made them thing a great deal yesterday. The Democratic officials say that they are acting in accordance with the law.

Last year's record was three hours and sixteen minutes.

Chas. Bertsch Injured.

Cambridge City, Oct. 1, (Spl.)—Chas. A. Bertsch is rapidly recovering from a bad accident which occurred last Friday evening in the Bertsch Shear and Roller Shops on East Church street. While bending a large bar of iron in the machine room, he lost his balance and in attempting to regain it tripped over on a small bar projecting from one of the machines near by, and fell to the floor. The fall caused a fracture at the ankle, and tore the ligaments loose in the calf of his leg.

Sirius and the Sun.

A new estimate of the comparative amount of light received on the earth from the sun and from the brightest (apparent) fixed star in the heavens, Sirius, has been made by Mr. Cersaski of the Astronomical observatory of Moscow. The sun, according to his estimate, sends us about 17,000,000,000 times as much light as Sirius does. But this of course is a matter governed by relative distance, so that if the earth were halfway between Sirius and the sun Sirius would appear between sixteen and seventeen times as bright as the sun.

BRYAN ENTERTAINS WITH PUMPKIN PIE

First Reunion of the "Home Folks" Is Held at His Lincoln Country Home.

IS AN ANNIVERSARY DAY

TWENTY TWO YEARS AGO BRYAN WAS MARRIED AND NINETEEN YEARS AGO HE WENT TO NEBRASKA TO LIVE.

[Publishers' Press]

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—An old fashioned pumpkin pie dinner was served to over 100 guests tonight at Fairview, the country home of William J. Bryan, with the former presidential candidate as the host. The function was in honor of "Bryan home folks," only members of the party that journeyed by special train to New York to greet Bryan on his return from his world tour being on the invitation list.

During the trip west from New York to Lincoln the "Home Folks" perfected this organization, elected officers, and voted to meet annually. Bryan was asked to entertain at the first reunion and fixed October 1st as the date in view of the fact that today is the 22nd anniversary of his wedding and the 19th anniversary of his arrival in Nebraska to become a citizen of the state. There was no formal toast list but there were several impromptu addresses Bryan included.
