TO REPUBLICANS:
We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress.

The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and, that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents issued by the Committee.

Help us achieve a great victory.
JAMES S. SHERMAN, Chairman,
P. O. Box 263, New York

THE REAL ISSUE.

The campaign is nearing the flag end. All the oratory that shall take place between now and election day, November 6, probably will not be able to change the result from what it would be if the election were today instead of ten days hence. The same principles apply to this election as to others of past campaigns. The Republican policies are well defined; it is difficult to find upon what sort of principle the Democracy is asking for the support of its own forces, let alone those of the Republicans. With the same old-fashioned audacity the Democrats are asking Republicans to leave their camp. Probably there will be many who will be led astray, and yet when one settles down to a close analysis, he cannot be otherwise than puzzled to find the attraction. Is there anything in the Democratic platform anything in the Democratic promises, that looks inviting? Is there single reason why a Republican should about face and vote for the party whose leaders have done everything contrary to good principles of Republicanism, which means that they were against the best principles of good government, it is not evident in the campaign now drawing to a close. Congress is at stake in this election.

There is perhaps not the slightest danger that anything else will result than Republican victory, but there is danger in over-confidence. The Republicans owe a duty to themselves in going to the polls and voting for Republican Congressional candidates. There is no just cause for the stay-at-home Republican in this campaign. The voter will be supporting President Roosevelt quite as much in the forthcoming election when he votes for a Republican congressman as he did when he voted for President Roosevelt's election two years ago.

ENEMY OF JAPAN.

Japan, flushed with its victory over Russia, is beginning to find fault with the United States, and, according to advices received here, the feeling in the Island Empire is growing very bitter against this country. America's profit against Japan's policy in Manchuria, the killing of Japanese seafarers, the murder of a Japanese president in San Francisco, John D. Rockefeller's charges that the Japanese are treacherous, in a commercial sense, and Congressmen Hahn's war threats—all have aroused the little brown man. The last straw was added, however, when San Francisco excluded Japanese children.

from the public schools to make room for the whites. This has stirred the masses of Japan to bitter enmity, and the State Department is on the anxious seat.

THE "NEW" POTATO.

And now it's the alcohol potato. Professor Hansen, in charge of the agricultural experiment station in South Dakota and now acting as special agent for the Agricultural Department, has reported to Secretary Wilson from far up in Labrador that he has discovered a new species of potato that will produce more alcohol in one acre than the other kind can provide from four times that space. Secretary Wilson believes the find is invaluable, and predicts that the cultivation of the "alcohol potato" will be as extensive as the cultivation of the sugar beet.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Voting places have been selected for the coming battle of ballots, November 6. In some of the precincts difficulty was had in getting suitable places but it is understood that everything has been arranged satisfactorily throughout the county.

Despite the law on betting, there are the usual number of persons who are "taking chances" and wagers are being made on majorities or pluralities, as the case may be. Bets are private, none being posted. Many bets are being made on Watson's plurality in Wayne county; also in the district. So far as learned there has never been a bet made that Watson will not be elected.

The special train bearing Vice-President Fairbanks and party into Richmond will reach the city at 5 o'clock on next Wednesday evening. There doubtless will be a big crowd of country-folk in the city that day for inquiries are coming thick and fast into the county headquarters. Chairman Gardner anticipates that the Fairbanks meeting will be the biggest held in the Sixth congressional district this campaign.

Over in Henry county the Democratic slump has been so pronounced during the past few weeks that it is conceded on all sides that the Republican plurality will be equal to that of two years ago. It is declared by the Republican campaign managers that there are less than twenty-five Republicans who will bolt the ticket; while there are a vast number of Democrats who will shy at their own ticket.

Election returns from the county will be received at the court house on election night. Instead of the election officers meeting and making the official count the day following, the canvass of the returns must begin immediately following the first count of the ballots and the proper officers at each voting place must go immediately to the office of the county clerk and present his tally sheet, ballots etc. In Richmond the task will not be difficult for election officers, but in more remote parts of the county, there will be a long drive necessitated.

THE CAMPAIGN LAGGING

CHAIRMAN HARRIS SLEPT.

Train Carried Him Beyond Fountain City and he Had to Negotiate a Loan From the Conductor Before he Could Arrange His Plans.

The Fountain City Times contains the following interesting "Campaign Story" in which Chairman Harris of the Democratic County Committee figures prominently:

Conductor McGee (on the midnight train one night last week, shaking George Harris roughly by the collar) Hey Harris, wake up, do you have any idea where you are at.

Harris—(sleepily). Reckon I do; I am going home.

Pat—Well all right, but it appears to me you're farther away from there now than when you started, we're north of Winchester.

Harris—WHAT!!!

Pat—it's a fact, what are you going to do about it?

Harris—Guess it's one on us. I'll just go on up to Portland and then go down in the morning, but (takes a rapid invoice of his pockets and displays three collar buttons, a bag of "Red Band", just 39 cents in cash and everything else taken up with Democratic election literature) say Pat, does that look good for a night's lodging and breakfast to you?

Pat—Well hardly, here take what you want of this (fishes out a handful of change.)

Harris stepped sheepishly from the nine o'clock train the next morning. The boys got next to the story in a short time and the unfortunate man, Chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee, will probably never hear the last of it.
