ADJUSTMENT OF TROUBLE LIKELY

It is Said That City and Panhandle Are on Fair Way Toward Settlement.

BOARD WOULD KNOW COST

MEMBERS OF BOARD OF WORKS DON'T WANT CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN TILL THEY KNOW NEEDED EXPENDITURE.

Though the agreement has not been drawn up and signed by the railroad representatives and by the city's officers it is said to be practically certain now, that there will be a satisfactory adjustment of the differences between the city and the Pennsylvania railroad company relative to the opening of West Second street and the manner by which the contracts for the superstructures of the two subways shall be let. The Board of Works and the railroad officials have had several meetings and there was a disposition on the part of both sides to reach an agreement which both could subscribe to and which would meet with the approval of the citizens.

One thing the Board desires to ascertain before the work is begun, is just what the cost of the subways will be. If the contracts for these were to be let by the railroad company without the city having an understanding as to the cost, it might be ascertained after the work was well under way that even the forty per cent of the total of the street opening which the city will pay, would be in excess of what the board thinks should be expended. The Board of Works concedes to the Pennsylvania the right to devise plans for the superstructure of the subways and to let the contract, but it believes that before there is any move made to carry on the work, it should be determined just what the entire improvement will cost. Estimates as to the cost of the opening of the street, the putting in of gutters, curbs and sidewalks, can be made with much accuracy, but an estimate on the bridge construction might prove altogether inaccurate.

It is said that the agreement which is now being drawn up will provide that bids shall be asked for on the building of the subway superstructures and the city be given an opportunity of seeing just what the expense will be. If the cost is regarded as excessive, there can be some remedy, perhaps, whereby a different sort of structure may be built at a less cost. If the city should tie itself to an agreement as recently proposed by the Pennsylvania, there would be no recourse even though the cost of the subway superstructures should prove much too great. The railroad representatives appeared, it is said, to appreciate the attitude of the Board of Works and there is a decided effort being made to draw up an agreement that will be satisfactory to both sides.

WILLIAM HINSHAW VIOLATES PAROLE AND IS ARRESTED

been in consultation with Governor Hanly for several days on this matter, and yesterday the Governor decided that the evidence that George Freeman had against Hinshaw and Freeman's wife was sufficient to cause Hinshaw's arrest. Hinshaw will receive a hearing before the Governor probably tomorrow, and if the charges that Freeman prefers are found to be true it is expected that the parole will be revoked and Hinshaw will be sent back to Michigan City penitentiary to serve out the rest of a life sentence.

The story presented to the Governor by George and Will Freeman, seems to be that Mrs. George Freeman and Hinshaw were sweethearts as young people. Afterward Hinshaw married the woman whom he is alleged to have killed, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman were married.

It seems that after Hinshaw's parole in January, 1905, he got in communication with Mrs. Freeman through a married sister living at Lynn, Randolph county, where Hinshaw went after his parole. Some time after, according to the story, Mrs. Freeman told her husband that she wished to go to Lynn to spend a few days with her sister there. Mr. Freeman agreed, but said that she had better take the two younger children, one about nine and the other about three years old. She agreed to take the younger, but objected to taking the older one, and he was left with his father.

Met Hinshaw Several Times. Mrs. Freeman and the three-year-old child went to Lynn, then, according to the story. There she met Hinshaw several times, and it is alleged that she visited him at his mother's house, near Lynn. She stayed several days longer than she expected, and wrote her husband that she would be gone some time yet. He consented.

Several days after her arrival, it is alleged, Hinshaw came and took Mrs. Freeman and the three-year-old son out riding. They went to Shirley, in the eastern part of Hancock county, according to the story, and there stayed over night, the child sleeping on a couch in the room. Hinshaw registered under his own name. The story is not clear as to how he registered.

The next morning Hinshaw is alleged to have hired a buggy from a Shirley liverman, giving Hinshaw's name to the liverman as Brown. They drove practically all day and then returned to Lynn. A few days later Mrs. Freeman is said to have returned home.

Some time after that Freeman is said to have received an anonymous letter, telling him of the Lynn and Shirley happenings.

HAD HIS PICTURE "TOOK" TO BE SENT BROADCAST

Supt. Bailey is Still Firm in Belief That he has a Criminal Find in James Huffman Arrested Here for Stealing Horse and Rig.

James Huffman, the horse thief, who will be taken to Michigan City in a few days to begin his sentence in the Indiana prison, has had his picture "took" by the city police photographer, and Supt. Bailey will send several copies of them to police departments in Chicago, St. Louis and elsewhere. The superintendent feels that Huffman has had more than a local record. The man's demeanor since arrested indicated strongly that court proceedings were not new to him. He realized that the jig was up and wanted no delay. He asked to be given a chance to plead guilty and be taken to prison so that he might begin on his term. Huffman evidently is not the man's right name, but he will give no other and there was not a scratch of paper in his pockets when arrested that would lead to his identity. This was another thing that made the police believe the man has had a criminal past and Supt. Bailey is anxious to ascertain something about the prisoner.

Had a House Warming.

Milton, Ind., Nov. 8, (Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Lantz entertained about two hundred friends Wednesday afternoon and evening with a reception in honor of their son, Fred Lantz, and his bride, nee Elizabeth Morris. It was also in the nature of a house-warming it being the first social function in the handsomely remodeled home. The nicely decorated rooms had an added beauty in vases of chrysanthemums and carnations. A dainty luncheon was served and flowers were favors.

BUT FAIR INTEREST IN HEREFORD CATTLE SALE

Cambridge City, Nov. 8, (Sp.)—The Hereford cattle sale at Oakland Farm Wednesday afternoon was fairly well attended, and the stock sold at medium prices. The lack of interest taken in the sale was due to the few cattlemen and breeders present. The ordinary stock were sold at fair prices but the sale of registered cattle was postponed indefinitely. There were sixty head of hogs, twenty-five head of sheep, two milk cows and a colt sold besides the Hereford stock, to different parties. Among the prominent breeders present were J. B. Ratliff of New Castle, F. J. Field of Camden, O., and B. B. Clark of Liberty, Center, Ind.

TRY TO ANALYZE CAUSE OF SLUMP

Generally Believed That Watson's Falling Off Due to Unjust Charges.

SHOWN BY THE CITY VOTE.

IN COUNTRY WHERE THE EFFECTS OF BIASED ATTACK ON WATSON WERE NOT FELT THE VOTE WAS NORMAL.

Republicans who have been attempting to make an analysis of the Wayne county returns to determine just what caused the awful slump in the vote for Congressman Watson, have failed to find just where the real trouble lay. Many opinions are expressed.

"It was an unjustifiable sentiment," said one prominent Republican yesterday, "that caused the banner Republican county of the Sixth district to almost fall off the Republican side, and I believe that had Mr. Watson made his denial to the charges sooner than he did, the result would have been different. For a long period Congressman Watson's stand on public questions as a congressman had been falsely placed before his constituents. Thinking that the charges made against him were not believed despite the fact that there was no denial, Congressman Watson and his friends did not consider the situation dangerous. Congressman Watson's stand on the tariff and on the immigration bill were in accord with the views of his constituents, despite the charges to the contrary. Mr. Watson showed this in his final address two days before the campaign ended. I fully believe that before the next session of Congress is over that many of the Republicans who were misled and who voted against Congressman Watson will see that they were grievously mistaken. They will watch Congressional proceedings closer themselves instead of taking utter charges, inspired by enemies, as being the truth. I do not think that Republicans who voted against Watson are deserving of criticism. They sincerely believed they had a grievance, but had they taken the trouble to have investigated deeply they would have found that their grievances were not based on fact."

Country Vote Saved Watson.

The returns made by the canvassing board show that the country vote is what saved Congressman Watson from defeat. In every part of the district farmers could not be led into the factional strife that existed in some of the towns and cities. Wayne county gave Watson but 464 plurality and the country voters gave him this, for the city went against him.

The State ticket's vote was up to expectations. There was a clear plurality of more than 2,100 for the head of the State ticket and Wayne county's record stands third in the entire State. Marion and Delaware counties were the only ones which gave greater Republican pluralities than Wayne for Fred Sims, candidate for Secretary of State.

According to the Democratic leaders in Richmond, the failure of the Rev. T. H. Kuhn to be elected was due almost entirely to the State Democratic committee which refused to give any assistance in the way of perfecting the district organization. It is also stated that the Rev. Mr. Kuhn will be a candidate for Congress from this district once more, two years hence.

Kuhn Issued Statement.

Mr. Kuhn yesterday issued a statement in which he thanked the voters of Wayne county and the Sixth district for the support given him in his race against Congressman Watson. Mr. Kuhn declares that the "fight is on to a finish."

The official returns from the entire district were received yesterday. There were no material changes from the figures announced yesterday. Congressman Watson's plurality is 1,507.

IS VERY HARD TO PUNISH UNDER THE PRESENT LAW

Supt. Bailey Says That Although Boys Have Committed Many Thefts in Richmond Lately it is Hard to Put Them in Jail.

Though Supt. Bailey of the Richmond police department is convinced beyond doubt that the various petty robberies that have taken place in the city during the summer and fall are the work of juveniles, he admits that under the workings of the juvenile court law it is difficult to put a stop to such work. There are a number of young boys, most of them under fifteen years of age, who have been in the tolls several times for alleged thefts but they cannot be jailed and unless the juvenile court sends them to the reform school there can be no punishment meted out.

Supt. Bailey said that a colored boy under sixteen who was recently sent to the reform school had been charged with theft five times previously to the charge which finally landed him in the Plainfield institution. Another colored boy who was sent to the reformatory had been arrested seven times before he got his just deserts. The recent robbery of the Women's Exchange, in which several dollars in cash were stolen is laid at the door of young boys and the police are still at work on the case.

The evangelistic services at Grace M. E. church on last night took the form of the old time Methodist revival. The sermon by Rev.
