DISGUSTED WITH THE BAD SERVICE

West Side Residents Would Rather Walk Than Wait to Catch a Street Car.

AN APPEAL TO OFFICIALS

WHEN REPRESENTATIVES OF TRACTION SYNDICATE COME HERE SOON THEY WILL BE TOLD OF SITUATION.

West side citizens are still dissatisfied with the failure of the Richmond Street and Interurban company to give them service equal to east side patrons and it was announced yesterday that a committee of west side people would call upon the representatives of the traction syndicate when they come here to confer with the city's Board of Works relative to the franchises which "they do not hold." The complaint of the west side people who are served by the Earham line is that the fifteen minute schedule is broken by the interurban cars. The regular interurbans makes stops only at certain crossings and the limited cars are scheduled so they will not take city passengers to or from the west side. On the West Richmond and Fairview lines the schedule is a half hour one and the citizens think that better service should be given. They contend that the street car company's claim that the business does not justify such service is not well grounded. In answer they say that with frequent cars the business would be increased. As it is now a majority of persons would rather walk than wait a half hour for a car.

BRAVE CONDUCTOR FLOORED BAD MAN

Twenty Passengers Had Been Robbed When Train Officials Took a Hand.

ALL VALUABLES RETURNED

DARING HOLDUP ON CHICAGO AND ALTON PASSENGER TRAIN, WHICH TERMINATED WITH ROBBER IN JAIL.

[Publishers' Press.]
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—One of the most unique and daring robberies in the history of the southwest was committed 100 miles east of Kansas City. Between Slater and Armstrong, Mo., a distance of 21 miles, a masked man single-handedly robbed 20 passengers in three cars of a fast east-bound Chicago & Alton passenger train. After half an hour he secured approximately $2,000 besides several watches and other pieces of jewelry. The man finally was overwhelmed by E. H. Heywood, the conductor, who knocker a raised revolver from the robber's hand and forced him to the car floor. The robber was bound made to disgorge and four hours after the robbery was committed was placed in jail.

The robber said his name is Truehart and that he comes from California. He was recognized by the engineer as the same man who in an exactly similar manner and at the same place on the road went through the rear sleeper of an east-bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific overland limited Nov. 9. Truehart, who refused to give his full name or tell what town he comes from, said it was his brother who held up the Rock Island train. Truehart boarded the smoking car at Slater. His eyes were covered by a mask. Leveling a revolver at two passengers in the seat nearest the door, he ordered them to pass over their money and valuables and to do it quickly. The men complied. Truehart placed the loot beneath his belt and proceeded to give his command in a loud voice to the man in the next seat forward. The car full of passengers was thoroughly aroused and ready to comply. When the robber systematically robbed the passengers in the smoker of their belongings he passed to the door, keeping them covered. It was a 25-minute run from Slater to Glasgow and he awaited the arrival at the latter place. As the train stopped at Glasgow he swung off and boarded the chair car. Through the chair car the robber's tactics were repeated. Next he entered a sleeper and began again to compel passengers to surrender their valuables.

Heywood appeared on the scene here and Truehart, with the command "Throw up your hands," pointed his revolver at the conductor's breast. Instead of complying, the conductor, quick as a flash, knocked the revolver from the robber's hands, threw himself on the man and bore him to the car floor.

The two men struggled fiercely while the passengers were in a panic. Finally the dozen male passengers in the car came to the conductor's aid and the robber was literally pinned to the floor. When Armstrong was reached a marshal boarded the train. Truehart was tied hand and foot and taken into the station. He refused to talk except to berate the passengers for cowardice and to declare that Heywood was the only nifty man among them. The money and jewelry was taken from him and after more delay and confusion among the excited passengers, the train continued.
