BEST SHOT IN THE ARMY

IS A FIRST SERGEANT

War Department Makes an Announcement Concerning Several Competitions that Have Taken Place During the Year.

(Publishers' Press.)

Washington, Dec. 21.—Martin B. Dunbar, first sergeant of company E, Fourth infantry, is the best rifle shot in the army, according to official announcement at the war department, giving the results of the several arms competitions of the army for 1936. His aggregate score was $21. His nearest competitor was James A. Landers, sergeant of company N, Twelfth infantry, whose score was $20.

The winner of the first prize among the commissioned officers was Captain Frederick G. Stritzinger, Twenty-second infantry, whose aggregate score was $02. First Lieutenant Bruce Palmer, Tenth cavalry, had the next best record, a score of 792.

The best pistol shot is Captain James A. Cole, Sixth cavalry, who made a score of 287. The next best pistol shot is Oscar G. Robinson, a corporal in troop D, Ninth cavalry (colored).

PRESIDENT DEFIED

BY SCHOOL BOARD

San Francisco School Authorities Will Not Recede from Their Position.

HAVE FRAMED UP REPLY

ASSERT THAT PRESIDENT'S CRITICISM WAS BASED ON FALSE ASSUMPTIONS—WILL BE THEIR OWN JUDGES.

(Publishers' Press.)

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Flora B. Harris, residing in Tokyo and widely known as a missionary, recently addressed a communication to the San Francisco board of education, in which she deplored San Francisco's attitude toward Japanese in public schools.

The board of education framed a reply, which asserts that the Japanese have not been "excluded from the schools," that "the president of the United States has employed a similar assertion in framing a message to congress, and notwithstanding the wholly unfair report made of the entire school incident by the secretary of commerce and labor, Victor H. Metcalf." Continuing the reply says: "The fact that the president of the United States, basing arguments upon erroneous assumptions, frames against a loyal people scathing criticisms regarding a matter which is purely one of local concern, does not in the least deter the people of the Pacific coast, who, after all, are doubtless the best judges of their own immediate needs and welfare. The board of education will not recede from its position."

Skating on the lake at Glen Miller park will be permitted again this winter by the Board of Public Works. The boys are anxiously awaiting for a good freeze.

MANIAC TRIES TO

MURDER A JUDGE

Brooded Over Lost Estate and Held Judge Cutting Responsible for It.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

ASSAILANT DREW REVOLVER AND FIRED AT HIS INTENDED VICTIM WHEN WITHIN TWO FEET OF HIM.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—An attempt was made by Frank F. Ellerbrook of this city to assassinate Judge Charles S. Cutting of the probate court. The attempt was almost successful, and it is difficult to understand how the judge escaped injury.

As the judge entered the court building on his way to his chambers, Ellerbrook, who was standing in the hallway, stepped forward and when but two feet distant drew a revolver and fired point blank at the judge. Judge Cutting instantly turned and struck his assailant a heavy blow in the face, almost knocking him down. Before Ellerbrook could recover, Judge Cutting grabbed him by the throat and threw him backward over a steam radiator and held him, despite his desperate efforts to escape. Deputy sheriffs who had heard the shot hastened to the assistance of Judge Cutting and took the revolver from Ellerbrook. Judge Cutting then allowed Ellerbrook to rise from the radiator, and the man attempted to attack him once more. The two men struggled back and forth across the hallway, and the judge with the assistance of the deputy sheriffs hurled Ellerbrook to the floor. The man still continued to struggle and fought until exhausted. He then commenced to beg for mercy, saying: "Don't hurt me, please don't hurt me."

He was lifted to his feet and taken into the office of a deputy sheriff, where he refused to give any information regarding himself. He was taken to a police station.

Ellerbrook was frequently about the probate court, and for some time labored under the hallucination that he was deprived of his rights to a share in the estate of his sister, who died several years ago. He claimed the estate was closed up without proper notice to him, and repeatedly appealed to Judge Cutting to reopen the case. Judge Cutting told him that if he would furnish proof that the estate was improperly closed he would reopen it at any time. This was unsatisfactory to Ellerbrook, who repeatedly accosted the judge, demanding that he be paid what he considered his share of his sister's fortune.

At the police station Ellerbrook talked in an incoherent manner about the money he should have received from Judge Cutting. He said the matter was taken up before Judge Kohlman and Judge Patten, both predecessors of Judge Cutting, and that they also denied him satisfaction. "Judge Kohlman told me that I was a drunkard, and good-for-nothing," said Ellerbrook. "The others told me the same, and it angered me. I could get no satisfaction in the courts and decided to kill the judge before whom the matter is pending."

In the next breath Ellerbrook said: "I did not mean to shoot the judge. I only wanted to have him put on trial himself. I pulled the trigger twice. Once the bullet failed to explode, and the other bullet struck the floor. I did not aim to shoot the judge at all." The police declare that Ellerbrook is undoubtedly insane and will take steps to have him sent to the asylum. "I guess I had a pretty close shave," said Judge Cutting after reaching his chambers.
