

CHARITY BALL WAS EVENT OF SEASON

Socially and Financially Affair
at Coliseum Last Night Was Success.

MUSIC BY HEIDELBERG'S

GREAT BUILDING WAS LIGHTED
BY JAPANESE LANTERNS, GIV-ING A BEAUTIFUL AND WEIRD EFFECT.

Probably the society event of the season was the charity ball given last night at the Coliseum by the ladies of the Flower Mission. Not only were the society people of Richmond present, but many out-of-town guests were also in attendance. Heidelberg's orchestra of Dayton, furnished the music.

The Coliseum was lighted by Japanese lanterns, giving a most beautiful and weird effect. The orchestra platform at the west end of the Coliseum, was tastefully decorated with palms and ferns, which afforded a complete screen to the musicians.

The boxes were filled while a large number of people found seats in the balcony.

The box parties were composed of the following: Box No. One: Mr. and Mrs. George Cates, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shively, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Hollingsworth, Mrs. George Love and Miss Alice Forkner.

Box No. Two: Mrs. J. R. Weist, Mrs. Harry Weist, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cilley, of New York, Mr. J. V. Cilley, of New York and Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Smith of Easthaven.

Box No. Three: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gayle and son, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland King Chase, Mrs. Robert Kelley, Mrs. John Nicholson and Miss Helen Nicholson.

The out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mesdames F. F. Saxton, of Chicago and Scott McDonald of Newport News, Va., Misses Edna Crockett of Knightstown, Julia Law of Chicago, Charlotte Keller of Columbus, Ind., Jennie and Julia Robbins of Detroit, and Mann McGrath of Washington, D. C., and Mr. John Ratliff of Spiceland.

One of the most noticeable and attractive features of the evening was the delightful gowns worn by the ladies. All were superb.

In addition to being a success as a society event, it is understood that quite a neat sum was cleared by the ladies of the Flower Mission, which will be used to carry on their work during the coming year.

The Pain Family

You know them; they are numerous, and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become exhausted or irritated, Headache makes you miserable; if the stomach nerves are weak, indigestion results, and you double up with pain, and if the more prominent nerves are affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

"I find Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills an excellent remedy for overcoming headache, neuralgia and distressing pains of all sorts. I have used them for the past seven years in this capacity with the best of results."

LIMITED SERVICE WILL BEGIN JAN. 1

Fast Cars to Run Between Dayton and Indianapolis in Four Hours' Time.

SCHEDULE IS GIVEN OUT

MEETING OF OFFICIALS AT DAY-TON YESTERDAY FOR PURPOSE OF ARRANGING SERVICE FROM COLUMBUS TO INDIANAPOLIS.

The much mooted and long talked of limited service between Indianapolis and Dayton will begin January 1, according to the statements of the interurban officials in this city.

According to the announcement made in the offices of the Indiana, Columbus and Eastern at Indianapolis, the trip between the two points, a distance of 109 miles will be made in four hours. The new cars which have been doing limited service between Richmond and Indianapolis for some time, will be pressed into service between the two points. The cars are capable of easily making sixty miles an hour when put under forced schedule and it is probable that after the through trips are made several times, the schedule will again be changed, and quicker time arranged for.

Excess fares will be collected between Richmond and Indianapolis and Richmond and Dayton. No excess fare will be charged when a through trip between the terminal points is made. Little or no baggage will be handled.

The traction officials of the syndicate met in Dayton yesterday, and it is thought that some system was discussed whereby a through schedule between Indianapolis and Columbus Ohio, could be arranged. According to the new schedule, which will go in effect Jan. 1, cars leave Indianapolis at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m., daily, arriving at Richmond at 10:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., respectively. Coming to Indianapolis, cars will leave Richmond at 10:25 a. m. and 5:25 p. m., arriving there at 12:55 and 8:00 p. m., respectively.

It is expected by the promoters that at least three thousand people will be crowded into the Coliseum on that night.

CHRISTMAS FOR ORPHANS

JOY AT THE WERNLE HOME

Merchants of the City Send Toys,
Candy, Ice Cream and Other Good Things to Unfortunate Children—
Jones' Most Liberal.

The charity and thoughtfulness of the merchants of the city toward the orphans at Wernle Orphans Home was never better illustrated than on last Wednesday when the Jones Hardware Company sent a wagon load of toys to the institution for the children confined there. The little hearts were made happy and Christmas was a Christmas, in the fullest sense of word, for them. There are sixty two children quartered at the home and there were presents enough to go twice around. The total value of the toys contributed by the Jones Hardware Company amounted to almost fifty five dollars.

The Greek candy store sent out 45 pounds of their finest candy in addition to five gallons of ice cream. George A. Cutter a groceryman of 204 South Seventh street contributed eighty pounds of candy to the home for Christmas purposes.

In addition to these several other merchants of the city made small gifts to the home.

THE OLD NIAGARA.

PERRY'S FLAGSHIP IN THE BATTLE OF LAKE ERIE.

History of the Brilliant Naval Fight in Which the Vessel Fiercely and the Project to Raise the Long Submerged Hulk of the Ship.

A. L. BATES.

Oliver Hazard Perry after he left the Lawrence in the celebrated battle of Lake Erie in the autumn of 1813, just ninety-three years ago. Sentiment in favor of preserving relics connected with leading events of the country's history has grown very strong in recent years. There is much romance in the history of Commodore Perry, and it was on the Niagara that he won the victory over the British. For some years succeeding the war of 1812 the Niagara was used as a receiving ship, but, becoming too old and dilapidated for that purpose, was sunk in Lake Erie, off the city of Erie, in what is known as Misery bay. For many years even the resting place of the old hulk was forgotten, but in 1869 representative S. A. Davenport of the Erie district called public attention to the fact that the Niagara lay substantially intact at the bottom of Misery bay, and his successor in congress, Arthur L. Bates, introduced a bill in 1902 providing for raising and rehabilitating the ship and placing it in a permanent building of brick and stone on the grounds of the Soldiers and Sailors' home at Erie. This became a law at the last session of congress, $20,000 being appropriated for the purpose.

The victory of Perry on Lake Erie has been celebrated time and again in song and story, and Irving Bacheller, in "Dri and I," has given one of the most graphic descriptions written of what took place on that eventful day in 1813. Perry's victory was the more notable on account of the extraordinary obstacles he had to encounter in building his fleet, enlisting and training his men and finally on account of the fact that he was ill of a fever when the battle was fought. At the beginning of the battle on Sept. 10 his flagship was the Lawrence, and his fighting burgee bore the dying words of the brave commander for whom the vessel was named, "Don't give up the ship!"

So well did he men observe this motto that the Lawrence sustained the concentrated fire of her foes for two hours, until every gun she had was rendered useless and only a fraction of her crew remained on deck. The carnage was terrible. His young brother was struck and lay stunned as if dead. When he saw that to remain on the Lawrence was to lose the day, Perry determined on transferring to the Niagara. This astonishing feat he at once performed, leaving the Lawrence in a small boat at 2:30 p. m. and rowing to the Niagara amid a deluge of shot from the enemy. Proudly standing up in the boat with his commander's pennant, so that the Americans in the other ships might see him and be reassured, he arrived safely at the Niagara's gangway and took command. In about seven minutes from the time the fight was thus reopened and about fifteen minutes from the time Perry reached the Niagara the first of the English vessels struck her colors. A few minutes later all resistance on the part of the British squadron had ceased, and Perry, with his fleet, was master of Lake Erie. Then he sent the historic message to General William Henry Harrison, commanding the United States land forces. "We have met the enemy, and they are ours—two ships, two brigs, one schooner, one sloop. Yours with very great respect and esteem, O. H. Perry." England had lost an entire squadron by surrender, and her humiliation at being whipped by these untrained, raw Americans was great.

Perry was only twenty-seven when he won this victory. He was greatly honored by congress and the people and died of yellow fever in the West Indies in 1819.

Manchurian Dogs.
In Manchuria dogs are raised for their skins. A fairly prosperous Manchurian dog farmer will own a thousand or more dogs.

The words "scot free" are a Scotch proverb from the old English word scot, meaning a portion of tribute or taxation, and it is still in use in the Scandinavian languages to signify treasure. In modern English, however, it occurs in only two expressions, the legal phrase "to pay scot and lot" and the ordinary phrase "scot free."

Secretary Root brought with him a unique memento of his trip to South America in the form of a gold plate presented to him by the sailors of the Peruvian navy at Callao, Peru. The plate is handsomely inscribed and contains the coat of arms of Peru. Mr. Guy Laking, in charge of the famous collection of armor at Windsor castle, has come to America to study ancient armor. Mr. Laking, who is an armor expert, says the Metropolitan museum, New York, with the Duke de Ding collection, has the finest assemblage of old armor in the world.

Perspiration.
Human perspiration if injected into dogs or rabbits acts like a deadly poison. Perspiration secreted during hard muscular work has more toxic power than the ordinary kind, while that obtained from subjects whose secretion has been checked by cold is very poisonous.

The Carp.
People marvel at the mechanism of the human body with 248 bones and 90 arteries. But man is simple in this respect compared with the carp. That remarkable fish moves no fewer than 4,386 bones and muscles every time it breathes. It has 4,320 veins, to say nothing of its 99 muscles.
