Discrimination Injunction.

[Publishers' Press.]

St. Louis, Jan. 1.—In United States circuit court Judge Finkelnburg issued an interlocutory decree in the case of the Missouri and Illinois Coal company of St. Louis, which operates mines in Illinois, against the Illinois Central railroad, ordering the railroad to furnish cars to the coal company. The decree enjoins the road from refusing to supply cars when the same shall reasonably be required, and from all discrimination in favor of the coal company's competitors, except under circumstances and conditions which under the law excuses the defendant company from supplying cars.

Lumber Case Appealed.

[Publishers' Press.]

New Orleans, Jan. 1.—It was announced that the Southern railway and other roads involved appealed to the United States supreme court the case of H. H. Tift and others, Georgia lumbermen, in the famous 2-cent increase on lumber shipped to points north of the Ohio river. This is the first of a number of suits which grew out of the 2-cent raise in rates of 1903, and a subsequent decision of the interstate commerce commission ordering the increase taken off. This the roads refused to do and the lumber men appealed to the courts.

Banditti in Cuba.

Havana, Jan. 1.—A report was received by Governor Maxgorn from Governor Sobrano of Pinar Del Rio province saying that an armed band, variously estimated to number from two to 12 men, is committing depredations in the country between Guanines and Cape San Antonio. The movement is not believed to have any political significance, and the men apparently are only bandits. Rural guards are in active pursuit of the band.

SOL MEYER TALKS OF THE OUTLOOK

Former Richmond Man Tells of Financial Prospects for the Year 1907.

REVIEWS THE PAST YEAR.

SAYS THAT CONSERVATISM IN FINANCING NEW VENTURES HAS BEEN ONE OF THE MOST STRIKING CHARACTERISTICS.

The Indianapolis Star of yesterday in a special New Year's feature gave the opinions of the leading financial prognosticators of the country and included among them the outlook for Indianapolis and Indiana, a financial dissertation by Sol Meyer, of Richmond, now an Indianapolis banker and broker and probably the best informed man in his business in Indiana.

In part Mr. Meyer said:

"That the new financial year—new in the scenes of being subject to new governing conditions—does not begin simultaneously with the new calendar year has become a truism. Looking back it is easy to see that, taken in this sense, the new financial year in which we are living really began last September. Nevertheless it is natural to group the financial phenomena of 1906 into the twelve calendar months and pretty much all forecasts of the coming year are based on such a view of the matter.

"The events of the past year have been momentous. Indianapolis and Indiana have had a good year. Not only have we made substantial progress, but industries generally in this State have had their full share of the country's great business activity. Our local market has reflected to a certain degree the optimism now prevailing throughout the country.

"On the other hand conservatism in financing new ventures has been a marked characteristic of our financial institutions of late. Two years ago almost anything of relative merit could be sold, but now, while deposits in our institutions are up to the full measure, all loans are being made up on ultra conservative lines. There can never be widespread disaster where investments are made upon legitimate lines. A good investment, although earning a small interest return, is a good investment in hard times as well as in times of prosperity.

"Nineteen hundred and six will certainly be known as a year of great prosperity, and while the prices of stocks and bonds have not been greatly advanced, the large earnings of most of our corporations have put our dividend-paying stock upon a surer and safer basis, while it has brought much nearer the day for paying dividends on those stocks which have not yet reached this much-desired goal.

"With an unprecedented volume of business for 1906 and a heavy volume of orders looked for by the manufacturers, the financial and commercial interests of the country can not but look forward with the utmost confidence to the incoming year."

Will Return to Beloit.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Jan. 1.—Rev. E. D. Eaton, pastor of the North Congregational church of this city, announced that he accepted an invitation to return to Beloit college in Wisconsin and resume the presidency of the institution.

GIVEN HOLIDAY PARDON

MURDERER IS RELEASED.

Thornton Sampson Gets Out of Penitentiary in Ohio After Serving Fourteen Years—Saved $200 During His Confinement.

[Publishers' Press.]

Columbus, O., Jan. 1.—After 14 years of imprisonment behind the walls of the penitentiary, Thornton Sampson, the "convict recluse," serving a life sentence for murder from Athens county, who was received March 14, 1892, was the recipient of the New Year's pardon at the hands of Governor Harris. The aged convict was stunned by the sudden news. "I wasn't expecting it at this time," he said, passing his hand over his forehead. "I'm kind 'a all knocked out," he continued in a weak voice. For nine years Sampson was keeper of the wagon gate at the penitentiary and lived in a little house in this corner of the penitentiary as the convict recluse. During his incarceration he saved up $200.

The commission is to revise and codify the laws of Ohio, and report its work to the session of the legislature in 1908. Carmel A. Thompson was sworn in as secretary of state.

These counties are Adams, Allen, Clark, Clermont, Clinton, Crawford, Cuyahoga, Delaware, Erie, Fairfield, Fayette, Gallia, Hamilton, Hancock, Madison, Highland, Lawrence, Marion, Meigs, Mercer, Miami, Montgomery, Ottawa, Paulding, Perry, Pike, Putnam, Sandusky, Seneca, Union, Van Wert, Warren and Wood. There has been paid to 30 of these counties $51,136.20, three of the counties not yet having complied with all the legal requirements. Eighty-five petitions, for the construction of roads aggregating 175 miles, have been filed.

A HEAVY RAIN FALLS

SITUATION MORE SERIOUS.

Floods of the Gila and Salt Rivers Flowing into Colorado Which is on a Wild Rampage—Much Damage Being Done.

[Publishers' Press.]

Imperial, Cal., Jan. 1.—A heavy rain further complicates the serious situation on the lower Colorado. Floods of the Gila and Salt rivers are pouring into the larger river, which washed away ten tents on the new trestle, from which it was expected to begin dumping rock in a day or two. This delays work a week or 10 days. As the time of closing the break is already limited this renders the situation more critical. It is becoming daily more apparent that unless the government comes to the rescue the situation will be hopeless for the residents of Imperial and Coachella valleys. Nothing but the most desperate measures can control the Colorado river before the summer floods, and then it will be impossible to control it. There is no menace to lives of the people, but unless the river is conquered the country must become untenable for its 10,000 to 12,000 residents.

Bank Teller Short.

[Publishers' Press.]

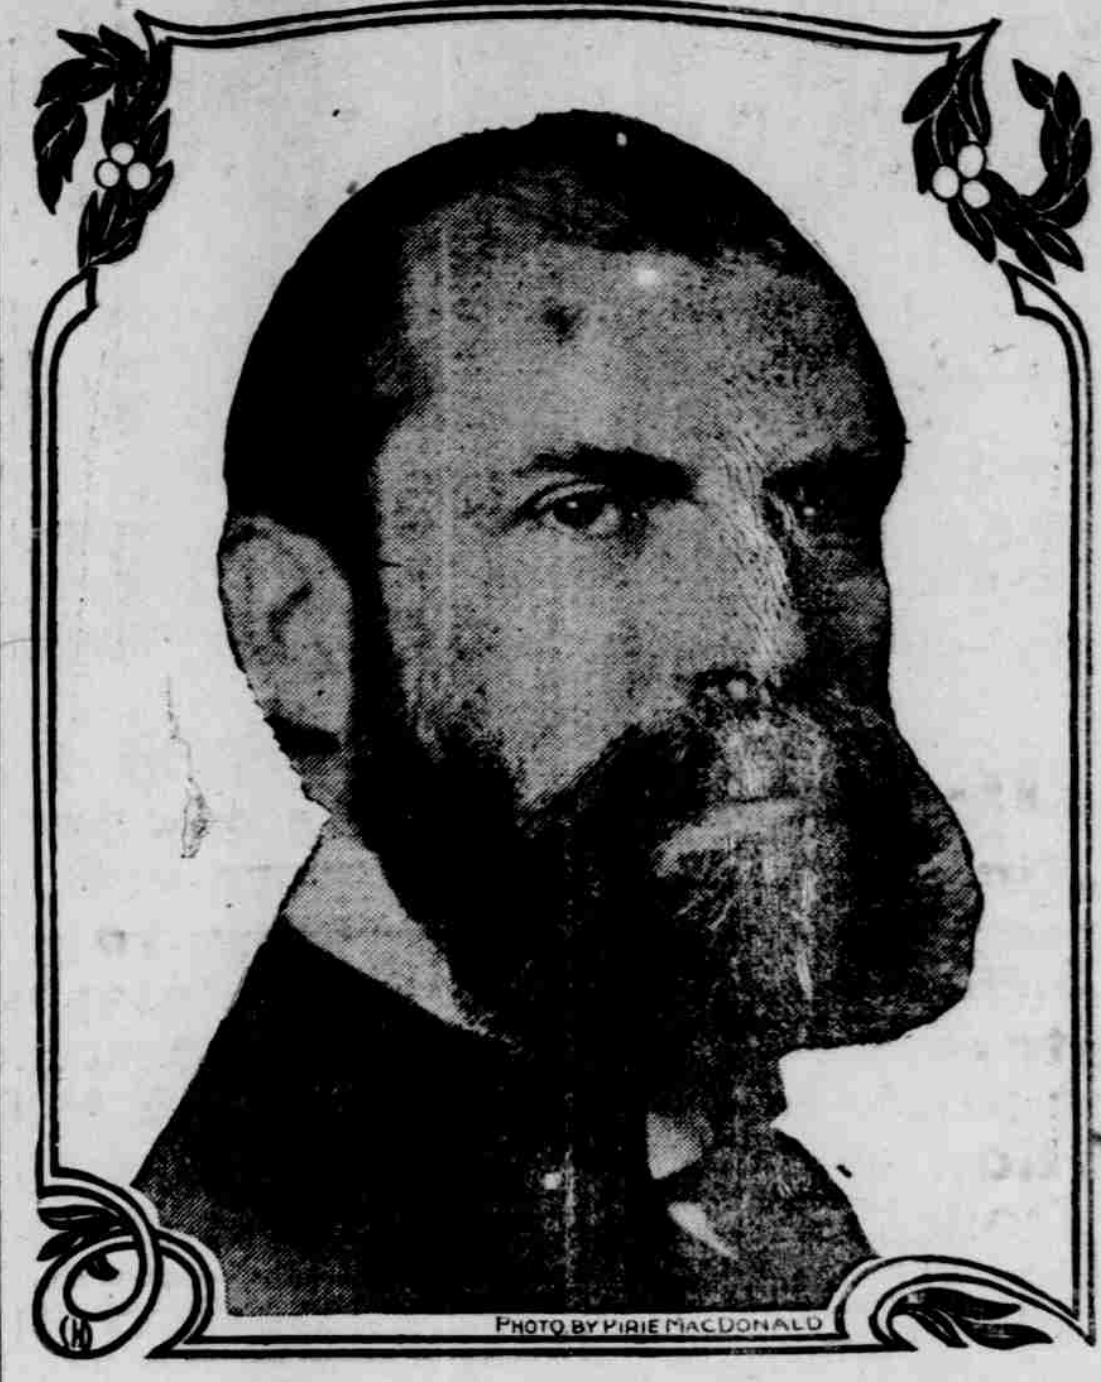

Baltimore, Jan. 1.—Charged with defaulting to the amount of $5,800, William H. White, paying teller of the Canton National bank, was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Rogers and was held in $10,000 bail. National Bank Examiner Hahn, who examined White's books, says White admitted a shortage and told the examiner he had spent the money in beautifying his home. The funds which White is alleged to have taken were savings money, and it is said that the books show a default of $1,000 as far back as January, 1905. White is about 20 years old and has been with the bank since boyhood.

NEW EXECUTIVE OF EMPIRE STATE.

Governor-elect Hughes at his inauguration yesterday promised a fair and intelligent execution of the laws.

HUGHES ASSUMES THE GOVERNORSHIP

Fair and Intelligent Execution of the Laws Promised for New York

OUTLINE OF HIS POLICY.

BRILLIANT MILITARY BALL BEGAN THE FESTIVITIES, INCIDENT TO THE INAUGURATION, GOV. HIGGINS' SPEECH.

[Publishers' Press.]

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 1.—A brilliant military ball under the auspices of Squadron A of New York, as military escort to Governor-elect Hughes, began the festivities and ceremonies incidental to the inauguration of the new governor of the state and the assumption of office by the new state administration and legislature.

The program included a military parade to escort the new governor to the capitol, where he took the oath of office; the inauguration ceremonies in the assembly chamber at noon; a reception by Governor Higgins in the executive chamber after the inauguration, and the usual public reception at the executive mansion.

The retiring governor, Francis W. Higgins, in welcoming his successor, said: "On the shoulders of the chief executive of this state must rest heavy burdens, imposed by constitutions and customs. To execute the laws, to recommend wise measures of legislation, to exercise the appointing power with judgment and discretion, to defend the liberties and enforce the rights of 8,000,000 people—these are duties which try the mental, moral and physical strength to the utmost. To this high office the people of the state, reposing well deserved confidence in your independence, patriotism, ability and integrity, have called you. I welcome you and wish you God speed."

Governor Hughes, after a few words of compliment to the administration of Governor Higgins, addressed himself to his "fellow citizens," saying in part: "We have reason to congratulate ourselves that coincident with our prosperity, there is an emphatic assertion of popular rights and a keen resentment of public wrongs. There is no panacea in executive action for all the ills of society which spring from the frailties and defects of the human nature of its members. But this furnishes no excuse for complacent inactivity and no reason for the toleration of wrongs made possible by defective or inadequate legislation or by administrative partiality or inefficiency. Whether or not we have laws enough, we certainly have enough of ill considered legislation and the question is not as to the quantity, but as to the quality of our present and our proposed enactments. Slowly but surely the people have narrowed the opportunity for selfish aggression, and the demand of this hour and of all hours is not allegiance to phrases, but sympathy with every aspiration for the betterment of conditions and a sincere and patient effort to understand every need and to ascertain in the light of experience the means best adapted to meet it. It is the capacity for such close examination without heat or disqualifying prejudice which distinguishes the constructive effort from vain endeavors to change human nature by changing the forms of government. It must freely be recognized that many of the evils of which we complain have their source in the law itself in privileges carelessly granted, in opportunities for private aggrandizement at the expense of the people recklessly created, in failure to safeguard our public interests by provid-

GREAT GRANDPA AT 55

HOOSIER GETS THE HONOR.

James W. Dailey of Ft. Wayne Shows by Evidence That Cannot be Disputed That he Leads All Other Claimants

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Jan. 1. (Spl.)—A few days ago a local newspaper printed that S. J. Braden, of Auburn, laid claim to being the youngest great-grandfather in Indiana, being sixty-six years old, with a grandchild four weeks old. Then came Charles H. Foster, of Arcola, this county, who says he will not be sixty-three years old until next May, and his great-grandchild is two months old. His daughter is Mrs. Charles Hockman, and her daughter, mother of the fourth generation, is Mrs. Pearl Hiber. However, the record of both these claimants has been broken by James W. Dailey, of this city, who produces evidence of five generations, as follows: Mrs. Susan B. Jordan, aged eighty-six years, lives at Piqua, O. James W. Dailey, aged fifty-eight years, married Mrs. Jordan's daughter at fifty-three. Mrs. John D. Piqua, Piqua, O., who became a grandmother at thirty-three years of age, two years ago lived in Toledo. Mrs. John Holmes, her daughter, eighteen years old, has an infant daughter thirty months old.
