

BOWMASTER FINDS GENOA FINE PLACE

Are Well Pleased With Their Trip With the Exception Of Some Delays.

DON'T LIKE THE COOKS.

TOURIST OFFICE OF THIS NAME IS PRONOUNCED UNRELIABLE—TRAIN SERVICE IN UNITED STATES FINEST IN WORLD.

M. L. Bowmaster, of Cambridge City, who is abroad, has written from Genoa, Italy. This extract is taken from the letter:

"We procured tickets to Genoa from Thomas Cook and Sons, and by the way I would add that they are as unreliable people as we have met so far. The clerk who sold us the tickets declared that we would go straight through with not a change of cars. Their representative at the station said we would have to change twice and in the end we changed seven times, in coming from Paris to Genoa. I would say to any friends who may come to Europe to steer clear of Cook's tourists offices and depend upon yourselves.

The trip was delightful and we enjoyed every moment of it, but that was not caused by anything they did for us. French trains are noted for slow running and the one we were on was no exception, though it was called the "Rapide" or express.

We changed cars at Maccon, seeing nothing of the city as it was dark. Reached Ambricet early in the morning. It being daylight we had a fine view of the country through which we passed. We now continued to ascend the valley of Albaine. On the left side we saw the ruined castles of Vieuxmont, Ferrand and St. Germain. I enquired of the conductor if we changed cars at Culoz and he emphatically said no and the consequence was we nearly made a tour of Switzerland, going to the frontier before discovering we were on the wrong road.

Outside of the delays it was a pleasure to us. The grand scenery, the mighty snow-capped mountains and the fertile valleys all passing in panoramic view before us. All one may read and all the pictures one may see can give you but a faint idea of the real beauties of this mountainous country.

Referring back to Bellegarde, we felt thankful that we had come further than we intended, as it is here the mountains are seen at their best, being on the border of France and Switzerland.

From Culoz to Modane we went through 25 tunnels. We reached Modane in the night. While here I met a man from Canada and he took me through their train, the Oriental Special, with a party bound to Calais. As soon as he learned that I was from the States he began boasting of the beauty of their cars, the accommodations etc. He said he would show me something that the United States, with all their boasting, could not compare with. I followed him through the sleepers and dining cars and at no time felt overawed by the elegance. Of course I praised them and he was happy and so was I and we parted good friends. Yet I knew train service in the United States was superior to anything in the world.

Soon after leaving Modane we passed through the Mont Cenis tunnel, 7 1/2 miles long, the longest in the world. We went through in 30 minutes. The construction of the tunnel was begun in 1861 and completed in 1870, at a cost of $15,000,000. From Speedily Americanized.

HARRY WEIMER AND SAMMIE COHEN.

The two boys whose pictures here appear, are noteworthy examples of the speedy Americanization of young foreigners when they reached this country. The boy at the top is Harry Weimer, who, although only in this country eight months, has been elected Mayor of School City, a juvenile self government established in public School No. 110 of New York City. The boy in the medallion at the bottom is Sammie Cohen, one of Mayor Weimer's policemen. They were elected after a red-hot fight.

1,500 to 2,000 men were constantly employed on each side and when the points of the drills met they were less than a foot apart. The tunnel is 20 feet wide and 19 feet high and almost entirely lined with masonry.

Blotches, pimples, flesh worms, black heads, are unsightly and denote impure blood. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away, carrying people clear to the top floor of health and happiness. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. A. G. Luken & Co.

Australia's Wealth in Sheep.
The greatest industry of Australia is sheep raising, mainly for the sake of the wool, but also in part of course for the meat. Australia now ranks second among the great sheep raising countries, Argentina being first with 92,000,000 sheep, Australia second with 72,000,000 and Russia third with 70,000,000. But a few years ago Australia was first, possessing no less than 108,200,000 head of sheep. That was in 1891. Prolonged droughts were the cause of the destruction of many millions of Australian sheep, but since 1902 there has been an annual gain. Yet these sheep were not indigenous to Australia. They were first introduced in 1797, being of the Spanish merino species.

PRESIDENT'S DOG IS UNDER A CLOUD

Has "Chewed Up" Too Many High Dignitaries.

DEATH OR BANISHMENT.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—"Pete," the prize bull terrier of the White house, is still nursing his wounds while the dignitaries of the administration are determining what to do with him. "Pete" only a few days ago, attempted to take the measure of a very ordinary street mongrel and was most artistically chewed up. There was mourning at the French embassy when it was learned that "Pete's" antagonist did not altogether finish him. Ambassador Jusserand is one of "Pete's" victims, for on the occasion of a recent visit to the white house to play tennis with the president, "Pete" chased the distinguished Frenchman up a tree, and he was rescued only after a squad of determined bluecoats had charged his canine captor. Several cabinet officers have been beaten hasty and undignified retreats before "Pete's" onslaught, and only the other day the dog, whose taste evidently has slightly deteriorated, took a section of leg from John T. Thomas, a clerk in the navy department. It has not yet been decided whether a death penalty shall be exacted or banishment be "Pete's" fate.

RHODES SCHOLAR IS COMING HOME AND WILL MARRY

through school, Hamilton's education up to the time he graduated from Earlham college, was secured under adverse circumstances. He not only worked during the summer months but was always employed during his attendance at school. He took an interest in athletics and despite the fact he was earning his own way, he found time to represent Earlham in football and track events. Fifteen hundred dollars a year, the sum given to Rhodes scholars annually, was like a good sized fortune to Hamilton and one out of which he did not fail to get the most possible good.

Hamilton has attended Pembroke college while at Oxford, and won athletic honors for the school, and even went further and secured a place on varsity teams. Hamilton took part in field meets, was on the boat crew and took enough interest in football to get a broken nose. The life in the open which is the greatest joy of the English, has caused Hamilton to take on much weight. He is now much heavier than when he left America in the fall of 1904.

The following are extracts taken from various letters Hamilton has written here, and give the impression he has secured of the place: "Oxford is unique among universities and visitors from abroad come to Oxford and then exclaim with surprise and delight, 'it is delightful and excellent, but where is the college, where is the main building, the administration building?' The university is a federation made up of twenty-two societies—the colleges—each of which has its own separate existence. Expenses are heavy at Oxford, yet it should not be considered as a rich man's school, as there are a large number of men there whose means are limited. There is no such thing as working one's way through Oxford, and the only way to get through without any cost to the student is by winning a scholarship. Within itself the university is very democratic, yet clubs, cliques and social discriminations exist, but are not paraded. Clear lines between the different classes are not drawn and there is no such things as class cane rushes, editing a senior year book or giving a junior prom. Conservatism essentially predominates at Oxford, and in politics anything that smacks of socialism is tabooed. The life at Oxford is real Oxford life. It was this that Cecil Rhodes cherished most in his reverence for his university. The scout boys, the system of breakfasting, lunching and entertaining, easy hours for rising, the great elasticity of tutoring, and the afternoons for athletics makes Oxford for Americans a much less strenuous place than the colleges from which the Rhodes men came. The English school offers each student wide fields for investment of his time and talent, much chance to learn, yet it does little choosing and is not a hard taskmaster."

Hamilton will graduate in history, but has given much time to reading law.

A Cigar Store Secret.
Every tobaccoist has on his counter a machine for cutting off the ends of cigars. These machines are popular for the reason that they pay for themselves many times over every year.

The ends that smokers cut off are carefully gathered from the counter, and it takes but a few hundred of them to make a pound of good tobacco. This can be sold for 40 or 50 cents.

Some cigar store clerks are very solicitous to see that the patron does not overlook the cutting machine. They push it toward him, and he is much impressed with their politeness. These clerks have for a perquisite the machine's cuttings. This adds several dollars weekly to their salaries.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

GAINING REPUTATION AS POLITICAL SPHYNX

Secretary Taft Becoming Noted for Silence.

POLICY, NOT STUPIDITY.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—Secretary Taft is rapidly becoming known as the sphynx in politics. To all the pronouncements, challenges and defys hurled at him from the Foraker camp he has remained silent. He is not asleep, however, and it is believed that he is framing up a powerful announcement of his candidacy to be delivered at Tulsa, Okla., on June 6th, on the occasion of the assembling of the first republican state convention. The visit to Tulsa will be only an incident in a considerable western trip which the secretary is about to take. It is probable he will discuss economic topics at St. Louis on the 25th, before the Millers' convention, and he may possibly arrange his trip so as to visit some of the northwestern cities. The official reason for his trip is to permit him to make a tour of inspection of the great military posts.
