

ASKS FOR MILLION FOR MISSION WORK

General Assembly Urges Presbyterians to Give Vast Sum for Home Work.

MOVE IN TEMPERANCE WAR.

MINISTERS TO BE BARRED FOR ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE OFFICES—DUTIES OF TEMPERANCE COMMITTEE TO BE DEFINED.

Columbus, O., May 22.—The Presbyterian General assembly has received and accepted a number of reports, including those of the Board of Home missions and the Board of education. The report of the board of education placed special emphasis on the need of encouraging young men of the church to enter the ministry. Taking up the suggestion that more young men might be attracted if larger salaries were paid he declared that the young man who sought the pulpit simply because it paid a large salary was unfit for the ministry. He urged larger liberality, however, in behalf of an educated ministry and a heartier willingness on the part of members of the church to give up their sons to this high calling.

The assembly adopted a resolution asking the churches for $1,100,000 as the least sum with which the board of home missions can successfully carry through its work the coming year. The assembly approved the recommendation for the establishment of schools at Sitka, Alaska, Mayagnes, Porto Rico, to train native helpers, and sanctioned the division of the missionary field into four districts, with a field secretary for each.

Ministers May Be Barred.—Developments in the temperance controversy aroused by the antagonism of the Anti-Saloon league to the Interchurch Temperance Federation are coming rapidly. The standing committee on temperance referred all the overtures affecting the attitude of the church toward the league to the committee on polity, which decided to recommend that no minister of the Presbyterian church, as such, could be an officer or member of the Anti-Saloon league; that they could participate in the work of that organization only as individuals.

The whole controversy now hangs on the definition of the duties of the permanent committee on temperance. The supporters of the Anti-Saloon league are endeavoring to have the work of this committee confined to promoting temperance along educational and scientific lines, leaving the political field entirely to the Anti-Saloon league.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take a pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by A. G. Lukens & Co.

WAYNE COUNTY MEN ADDRESS THE ECLECTICS

Drs. Neff and McKee Read Papers at Indianapolis.

VIEWS ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Indianapolis, May 22.—Tuberculosis with all its horrors was discussed yesterday by the Indiana Electric Medical association. In the opinion of the Eclectics consumption in its incipient stage is curable; in advanced stages it is possible to make the patient fairly comfortable as he travels toward his doom.

The Eclectics feel that the regular practitioners do not look upon them with friendly eyes. Said one of the Eclectics:

"Recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas should be sufficient evidence of the real attitude of these men to the representatives of all liberal systems of medicine and should enable us to see through the gauzy cloak which covers very imperfectly their long-cherished desire fully to control the medical profession and do away with any and all who may cling to the right to think and act for themselves. These fresh manifestations of animosity only prove the fact that they nourish the same feeling, foster the same desires that have until late years been openly apparent in their hostility to any political or legal advantage we may have sought or obtained. These things accentuate the truth of former statements that the extended hand of friendship (?) and the cordial invitations to join their societies simply mean a change of tactics, the end in view ever remaining the same."

Among the papers discussed were "Scarlet Fever," by Dr. W. W. Neff, of Greensboro and "Neurasthenia," by Dr. C. E. McKee of Dublin.

NOTABLE DAY IN THE HISTORY OF Y. M. C. A.

(Continued From Page One.)

Richmond is at present a good railroad center and is destined to become a larger one.

Following the signing of the articles of incorporation, which will be forwarded to the secretary of state and filed with the county recorder immediately, the meeting adjourned, and the directors and incorporators adjourned to Reid Memorial church where a sumptuous banquet was spread.

Banquet Very Successful.

The banquet was the most successful of its kind ever held in the city and more than three hundred young men and women who assisted in the campaign, were seated about the banquet board. The tables were beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers furnished by E. G. Hill, florist. The young ladies from the different churches served in a very pleasing manner. The directors and incorporators of the new association were seated to the right and left of Sharon E. Jones, who acted as toastmaster, by virtue of his position as chairman of the executive committee and the work he has done for the Y. M. C. A. in Richmond.

Money Still Needed.

Mr. Jones in his opening speech stated that since the night on which the campaign was to have been closed the executive committee had been working on the amount necessary to complete the $100,000 fund but has not yet succeeded and the total amount raised up to date is $96,357, leaving a balance of $3,643 to be secured. The executive committee will keep working for this amount and before the dedication it is thought that all will have been raised. The members of the committee, however, hope to complete the $100,000 before that time.

Secretary Stacy Heard.

Mr. Jones then introduced Eugene E. Stacy, who has served in the position of Indiana state secretary for 18 years. Mr. Stacy was loud in his praise of the manner in which the campaign has been conducted in this city. He said that never before had the state executive committee witnessed such marvelous work. Records were shattered on the amount the young men's committees raised while the expense of conducting the campaign was only $2,417.56, one that has never been exceeded in a town establishing a Y. M. C. A. in Indiana. Mr. Stacy said as a general rule the cost of conducting a successful campaign was about five per cent, and Richmond had been successful on half this amount, all the expense money having been advanced by the members of the executive committee. During the course of his remarks he read the constitution of the new association in this city and fully explained just what a Y. M. C. A. really means in the fullest sense of the word. After the constitution was read, it was signed by all those present, and by signing their names they agreed to become members of the association as soon as the building is completed. Mr. Stacy said that if Richmond built a $100,000 building the next great feature would be to live up to a building of such cost and that there would be plenty of work to do to accomplish this.

Following the address of Mr. Stacy, C. S. Rhoads, a member of the state executive committee, was introduced and said that if he were a speaker he would lock all the doors of the church and allow no one to leave the building until the complete $100,000 was raised. He offered a toast to the women present.

History of Movement.

Timothy Nicholson, who in 1867 was identified with a movement for the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. in Richmond, and in fact was a member of a small organization at that time, spoke of the history of the Y. M. C. A. movement in Richmond from its earliest date.

He showed how the members of the oldest association formed a nucleus for a new committee which has waged the most recent battle to success. He read a resolution which will be spread upon the executive committee records, concerning the employment of Field Secretary Chas. H. Brown, which was followed by prolonged applause. A fitting tribute was paid to the high character of the man who has made Richmond's Y. M. C. A. a reality, his work and conscientious efforts.

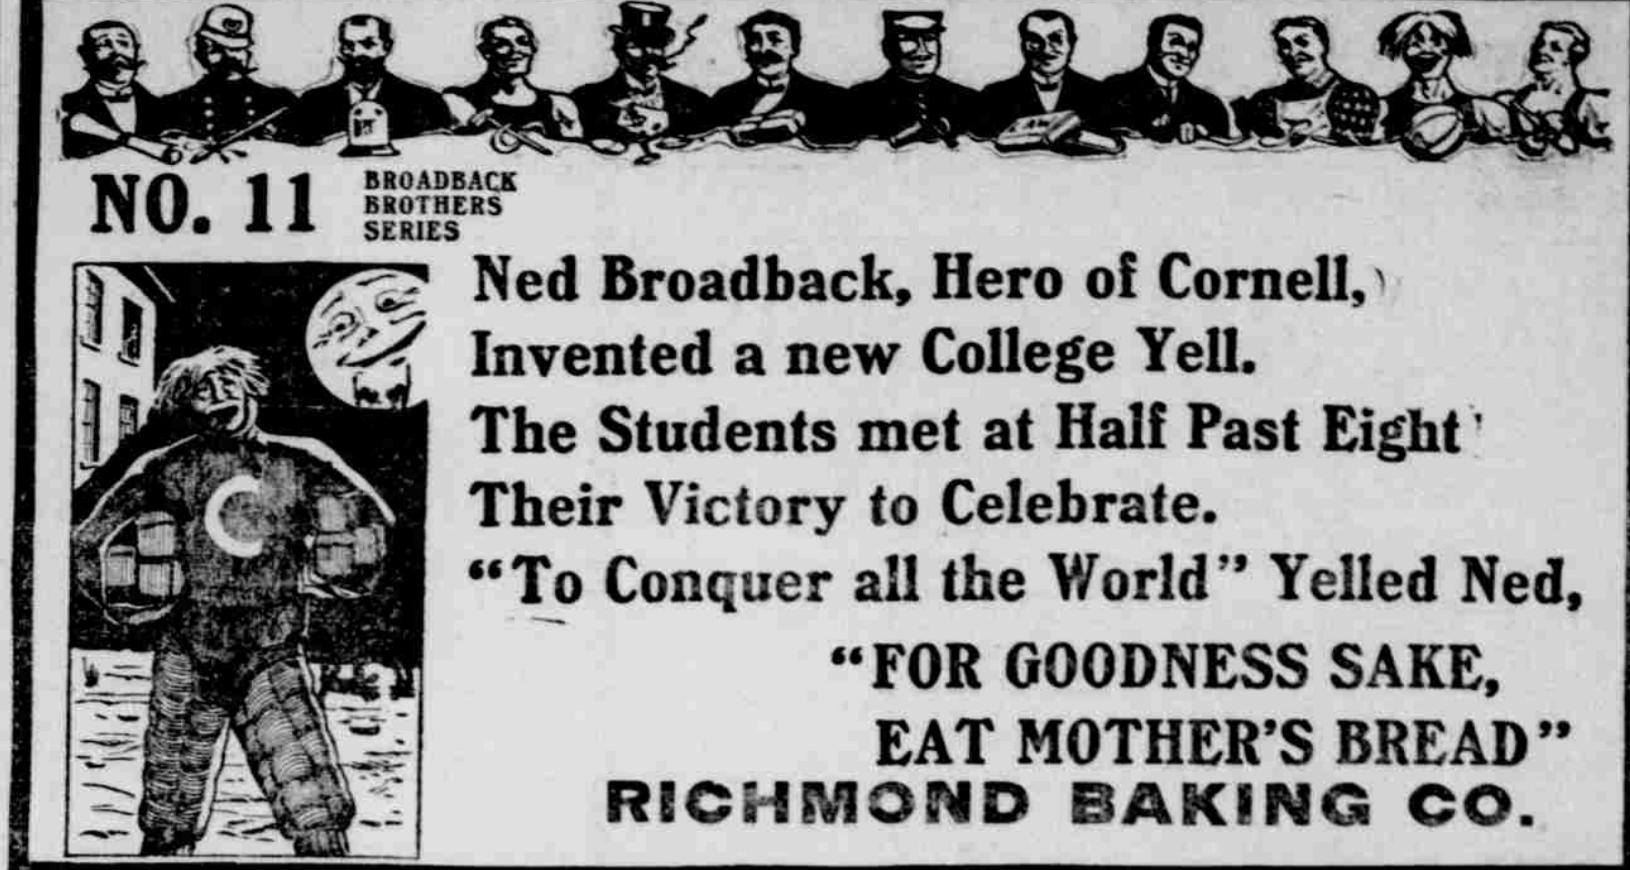

Secretary Brown Speaks.

Secretary Brown spoke briefly in reply to the applause on the resolutions of his work in this city and said that he had done nothing but his duty. He stated that when he was getting ready to leave Dayton for Richmond to open the Y. M. C. A. campaign in this city a friend approached him and when told of what he was going to do, said: "Well, you are up against a snag. They have the biggest bunch of 'tight-wads' in that town ever." Mr. Brown said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that these men to the representatives of all liberal systems of medicine and should enable us to see through the gauzy cloak which covers very imperfectly their long-cherished desire fully to control the medical profession and do away with any and all who may cling to the right to think and act for themselves. These fresh manifestations of animosity only prove the fact that they nourish the same feeling, foster the same desires that have until late years been openly apparent in their hostility to any political or legal advantage we may have sought or obtained. These things accentuate the truth of former statements that the extended hand of friendship (?) and the cordial invitations to join their societies simply mean a change of tactics, the end in view ever remaining the same."

Among the papers discussed were "Scarlet Fever," by Dr. W. W. Neff, of Greensboro and "Neurasthenia," by Dr. C. E. McKee of Dublin.

POSTUM
"There's a Reason"

Ned Broadback, Hero of Cornell, Invented a new College Yell. The Students met at Half Past Eight Their Victory to Celebrate. "To Conquer all the World" Yelled Ned, "FOR GOODNESS SAKE, EAT MOTHER'S BREAD" RICHMOND BAKING CO.

CIRCUS TRUST IS NEARLY COMPLETE

NEW PANEL NEEDED IN HAYWOOD CASE

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Show May Join Forces With The Combination.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCES.

IN CASE DEAL GOES THROUGH THE COMBINATION WILL HAVE ABSOLUTE CONTROL OF CIRCUS BUSINESS.

Circus people have flocked to Pittsburgh in large numbers during the past week, and it is reported that the Hagenbeck-Wallace show may go into the combination, which is to have absolute control of the circus business, dividing the territory so the dates of the shows will not conflict, and reducing the salaries paid to performers and feature acts.

The circus combination at the opening of the season included the Barnum & Bailey show and the Buffalo Bill Wild West, which are both owned by the same company, and the Forepaugh-Sells and Ringling shows, which are owned by the five Ringling brothers and others. The Hagenbeck-Wallace, a new show, is owned by Carl Hagenbeck, B. E. Wallace, E. D. Starr, John H. Havlin and others.

Several meetings have been held recently with a view of perfecting this arrangement, and the announcement that both the Forepaugh-Sells and Hagenbeck-Wallace shows will appear at the Madison Square Garden, in New York, before the end of the summer is taken as verification of the rumors which have been flying thick and fast.

For several years the Barnum & Bailey and the Buffalo Bill shows have been the only enterprise of this kind appearing in New York.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman at Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by A. G. Lukens & Co.

BROWN NAMED RECEIVER

Ex-clerk of Supreme Court Has a New Job.

Indianapolis, May 22.—Judge Carter named Robert A. Brown receiver for the Indiana Mutual today. The company wanted Chas. Sudlow and the state wanted Auditor Billheimer, but Carter appointed Brown. Billheimer asked for a receiver.

First National Bank

Statement of Deposits

At last nine calls made by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Nov. 9, 1905
$447,070.83

Jan. 29, 1906
$477,352.93

April 6, 1906
$512,441.46

June 18, 1906
$549,403.82

September 4, 1906
$662,260.78

November 6, 1906
$666,235.80

January 26, 1907
$707,834.77

March 22, 1907
$777,897.53

May 20, 1907
$855,791.54

sociation, made a few short and appropriate remarks.

Miss Robinson who was chairman of the women's committee, having in its charge the soliciting of fraternal and other organizations, paid a high tribute to the sterling work of Secretary Brown and to the women who had assisted in the campaign.

President Robt. L. Kelly of Earlham spoke briefly of the good work that could be done by the association.

Henry Gennett said that in his visits to different cities over the country which maintained Y. M. C. A. organizations, and in talks with secretaries, he had found the Y. M. C. A. indispensable to the good of the young men. Its work he highly commended.

To Prevent a Shrinkage.

W. S. Hiser, who spoke next, urged the young men to keep together during the course of construction of the Y. M. C. A. building in this city, and said that since the young men had learned how to raise money, their next duty is to learn of the Y. M. C. A. work proper, so that they may be in position to answer intelligently the public's questions. He suggested that the best means for the accumulation of knowledge along these lines was for every man to subscribe for "Association Men," the magazine of the organization. He advocated work on the part of the young men to see that there is scarcely any shrinkage in the pledges already received for the cause. His remarks were seconded by Secretary Stacy and especially those in regard to the prevention of shrinkage in subscriptions.

Joseph John Dickinson was called upon and recited Riley's "Towns of Tall Holt" and concluded it with the expression that "Richmond is good enough for me." His speech was very interesting and enthusiastic.

Howard Dill, the last speaker told of the advantages of the Y. M. C. A. He spoke of the campaign the young men had waged. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Dill paid an eloquent tribute to the thorough worth of Mr. Brown, secretary in charge of the work here, and as a token of appreciation for the work he has accomplished in Richmond, on behalf of the young men's committees, Mr. Dill presented Mr. Brown with a solid gold watch on which will be engraved, "Presented by the Young Men's Y. M. C. A. Committee to Charles H. Brown, Field Secretary, as a token of appreciation of his efforts in raising the money to build a Y. M. C. A. in Richmond, Indiana, May 21, 1907." Mr. Brown was completely overcome by the presentation but in a few short remarks said that his work was not deserving of the high praise which had been given it. He made the statement that the hardest part is yet to come—that of leaving Richmond.

After the trustees for the new institution are elected next Monday night the work of planning for the new association building will be begun, and a site selected.

CONDITION OF THE BANKS

Controller of the Currency Has Called For It.

Washington, May 22.—The controller of the currency has called for the condition of national banks at the close of business on May 20.

WILLIAMS VICTOR IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Richmond Boy's Fresh Honors At Indiana.

Bloomington, Ind., May 22.—The first honor in the annual spring oratorical contest at Indiana University was won last night by Clifford Williams of Richmond, who was given the decision over four other contestants, who qualified.

Williams is a member of the junior class of the Indiana University School of Law and was a member of the debating team which defeated the Ohio State University team in the tri-State debate held last winter.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well illustrating it. He spoke of his connections in Richmond and the work the new association would accomplish for the young men of the city.

Benjamin Johnson, who was one of the original members of the 1867 association, discussed the recent legislative experiences in California, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and Texas. He said that he had found Richmond to be composed of everything else but a bunch of "tight wads," the success of the campaign well