

HAYWOOD CASE NOW ACTUALLY ON TRIAL

Opening Statement Was Made
By Attorney James H.
Hawley in Court Room.

OUTLINES STATE'S CASE.

INTENT IS TO IMPLICATE THE
WESTERN FEDERATION OF MIN-ERS IN MANY CRIMES—MAKE-UP OF THE JURY.

Boise, Idaho, June 4.—At the real opening of the Haywood trial this morning the courtroom was crowded, many ladies being present. The jury was in negligee attire and prepared for a seige, Mrs. Haywood and daughters and Mrs. Steve Adams were present. At 9:45 the court directed James H. Hawley for the state to begin the opening address. After reciting the crime committed at Caldwell, Hawley began dealing with the persons involved, W. D. Haywood, C. H. Moyer, George A. Pettibone and Harry Orchard, who were members of the Western Federation of Miners. The indictment charges that the defendant exploded a bomb that killed Frank Steunenberg, former governor. The state does not expect to prove that Haywood or his associates were actually present in Caldwell or that he actually threw the bomb. He explained the law of Idaho, which makes an accessory a principal and said the law compelled the direct charge. "We expect to prove," he declared "that this crime was the result of a conspiracy by the Western Federation of Miners and that its officers are responsible to the law. We will show that besides the death of Steunenberg these leaders are responsible for many others."

Darrow objected to this statement but the judge overruled the objection. Hawley said he expected to prove all his assertions. He said the inner circle of the organization sought to perpetrate itself by employing desperadoes to do murder. Darrow objected but Hawley continued. "We will show that the defendants are members of the inner circle, that they traded in blood and left a trail of crime throughout the mining region."

The jury chosen to try the case is as follows:

Thomas B. Gess, real estate dealer.
Finely McDear, rancher.
Samuel D. Gilman, farmer.
Daniel Clark, farmer.
George Powell, rancher.
O. V. Sebern, farmer.
H. F. Meesecker, farmer.
Lee Scrivener, farmer.
J. A. Robertson, farmer.
Levi Smith, carpenter.
A. F. Burns, retired rancher.
Samuel F. Russell, farmer.

THE DUTY OF HAPPINESS.

Keep Your Face to the Sunlight and Smile Through Your Tears.

I know an old man who has had a great deal of trouble and many losses and misfortunes, but he started out in life with a firm determination to extract just as much real enjoyment from it as he went along as possible—not in dissipation, but in wholesome recreation and fun. He has always tried to see the humorous side of things, the bright side and the duty of happiness.

The result is that, although this man has had more than his share of sorrow in his career, he has developed the estimable faculty of making the best of every situation and of always facing the sun and turning his back to the shadows. This life habit of cheerfulness and optimism has brought out a sweetness of character and a poise and serenity of mind which are the envy of all who know him. Although he has lost his property and the most of his family and relatives, yet he radiates sunshine and helpfulness wherever he goes.

A man who can laugh outside when he is crying inside, who can smile when he feels badly, has a great accomplishment. We all love the one who believes the sun shines when he cannot see it.

A potted rose in a window will turn its face away from the darkness toward the light. Turn it as often as you will, it always turns away from the darkness and lifts its face upward toward the sun.

So we instinctively shrink from cold, melancholy, buty natures and turn our faces toward the bright, the cheerful and the sunny. There is more virtue in one smile than in a whole storehouse of good and gloom.

Learn to carry your own sunshine with you. Let your own radiant smile be a light to others. Let your face be a mirror that reflects the way, you will be glad to see the emergency, will respond to the call of duty and to the needs of others.
