Decatur, Ind., Sept. 7.—Decatur defeated Richmond yesterday afternoon by pounding Cole all over the yard. The Quakers never had a chance to win the game although they made eleven hits off Richardson, the new twirling recruit of the Commodores. Both teams put up fine fielding games. Witham, the Decatur first baseman, hit like a fiend, making five hits out of five times up. One was a home run, two two-baggers and two singles. Weaver led the Quakers at the bat, securing three hits, two of them doubles. Score:

PORTLAND 12; VAN WERT 0.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 7.—Portland administered a decisive drubbing to the Van Wert team yesterday afternoon on the local grounds, with a shutout score of 12 to 0. Harry Hay, late of the Dunkirk team, was sent in to the box by the Buckeye team, but was compelled to retire in the fifth inning. Moore, who followed him, did little better and was also hammered all over the lot.

Wagner, who was in the box for Portland, was in excellent form and allowed but three scattered hits. All of the Portland team took part in the long hitting. John Bambrugh had one three bagger, Bradbury, Portland's new shortstop, made good, accepting five chances without an error, and getting one hit that scored two runs. Portland plays Kokomo tomorrow. The Noonday Of Life.

Married people should learn what to do for one another's little ills, and for the ills of the children that may come. They are sure sooner or later to have occasion to treat constipation or indigestion. When the opportunity comes remember that the quickest way to obtain relief, and finally a permanent cure, is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. A bottle should always be in the house. It costs only 50 cents or $1 at drug stores.

A short, stout man asked to execute a writ against a Quaker. On arriving at his house he saw the Quaker's wife who in reply to the inquiry whether her husband was at home said he was, at the same time requesting him to be seated, and her husband would speedily see him. The officer waited patiently for some time, when the fair Quakeress coming into the room, he reminded her of her promise that he might see her husband. "Nay, friend, I promised that he would see thee. He has seen thee. He did not like thy looks. Therefore he avoided thee and hath departed from the house by another path."

FRANCE AND SPAIN DECIDE ON ACTION

They Will Occupy Morocco and Garrison the Ports for The Present.

DIVIDE THE PROVINCES.

IT IS BELIEVED THAT THE MOORS' FANATICISM WILL BE INCREASED AND THEIR PACIFICATION MADE HARDER.

Paris, Sept. 7.—France and Spain have agreed to occupy Morocco and guarantee the safety of the lives and property of foreigners living in them. Under the terms of the Algeiras convention of 1905 these two nations are required to perform such police functions and while it is announced that the occupation will last only so long as the present anarchy prevails it is generally believed that it will be permanent and that it marks the first step of the absorption of Morocco by the big European powers.

Divide the Provinces.

It has been agreed that France will occupy Marrakech, Mogador, Safi and Rabat. Spain will take possession of El Arish and Tantan and both nations will jointly police Casablanca and Tangier.

This joint agreement was precipitated by the announcement of the Moroccan war minister, El Gibbas, that his government was no longer able to protect the foreigners in Morocco. By the terms of the Algeiras convention the policing of Morocco was to be performed by Moors under the tutelage of French and Spanish instructors. Since the lives of those instructors will be unsafe, the troops of the two police powers will be allotted the task of preserving order.

In their excited and belligerent state it is feared that the occupation of the proposed ports will further increase the Moors' fanaticism and their pacification will be difficult, if not impossible. A long occupation of Morocco is expected.

SPAIN REFUSES PROPOSITION.

Moroccan War Minister Urges Summary Tribunal.

Tangier, Sept. 7.—Responding to a request of the diplomatic corps that he take steps to arrest the needless exodus of people from Tangier, caused by the prevalence of local disorders and the circulation of false and alarming reports, the Moroccan war minister, El Gibbas, today proposed the institution of a summary tribunal, before which malefactors and persons guilty of circulating damaging and exciting rumors could be brought.

A note setting forth the purposes and powers of the proposed tribunal was sent to the legations and all the representatives of the powers, with the exception of the Spanish minister, signed it. Fearing that the terms of the note might conflict with the wording of the Algeiras convention, the minister of Spain requested to be allowed to submit the document to the authorities at Madrid before giving his adhesion to it.

ALFONSO AND MAURA DISAGREE.

Policy in Morocco Causes Discord Between King and Premier.

Madrid, Sept. 7.—The Globe reiterates that discord exists between King Alfonso and Premier Maura regarding Spain's Moroccan policy. The paper adds:

"Senor Maura intends to ask the King whether he has confidence in the ministry, which involves the possibility of a ministerial crisis which would put the Liberals in power. 'If the sentiment in favor of intervention in Morocco was stronger in Spain the government would dispatch 4,000 men and a number of warships to Morocco.'"

A Dutch Superstition.

Have but to learn! When you give a pointed or sharp instrument to a friend he makes return of a penny, so that friendship may not be pierced or cut. I gave a kitten to our washwoman, the daintiest bit of Wilhelmshesque ware in this country—aetia thirty-five, avoirdupois 222. She was nearly tickled to death. "I won't thank you for the present," she said, "because the kitten would pine away and die." She then explained that in Holland to thank a friend for a present was always supposed to bring bad luck. Maybe all men these days are Hollanders. The more favors you do them the less they thank you.—New York Press.

Why Tears Flow.

All human emotions, however slight they may be, either decrease or increase the circulation of the blood. Those emotions that bring tears cause the blood vessels around the eyes to expand, thus flooding the lacrimal or tear glands with blood. The tear glands always secrete a little to keep the eyes cool and moist and carry off specks of dust through the nasal passages, but the extra supply of blood increases this secretion to such an extent that it cannot go off in the usual way, so overflows.

Von Moltke at Cards.

Count von Moltke, Germany's great field marshal, never lost a battle, and it annoyed him to lose a game of cards. A biographer says of his old age: "The family were trained to let him win if they could without his noticing their maneuver, and they would reckon up the sums to the smallest amount. 'It is really wonderful that I have won in spite of my bad play,' he remarked to me once rather suspiciously, but he abided by the result."

DRIVERS SPLIT UP A FUNERAL CORTEGE

Two Thousand Mourners Halted an Hour While Unions Had Row.

AID OF POLICE IS SOUGHT.

THREE LABOR ELEMENTS TAKE SEPARATE ROUTES—HEARSE IS NOT ACCOMPANIED TO THE GRAVE.

New York, Sept. 7.—Solemn requiem mass was said over the body of Michael Foley at St. Vincent de Paul's church Friday and over 2,000 mourners trooped in silence from the church in readiness to join the funeral procession to Calvary cemetery. But while the last ceremonies were being held inside the church, the hearse driver and men on the boxes of the mourners' carriage began a bitter quarrel over union difficulties, and while the coffin was being placed in the hearse, deserted their seats.

Drivers Are Obstinate.

The undertaker besought the drivers to resume their seats, but they were obstinate. Their spokesman explained that three separate antagonistic drivers' unions—the United Teamsters' Association of America, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the Liberty Dawn association—were represented and that, as the organizations were not friendly to each other, none of the drivers should work.

As the minutes passed and no relief came, and the streets grew more and more congested, Undertaker Hamilton sent a hurry call to the Bedford Avenue Police station for aid. In double quick time, Capt. Francis Creamer, with ten men, came on the scene. This placed matters in a new light, but the drivers were still obstinate.

Cortege in Three Divisions.

It was against the principles of the Liberty Dawn men to drive behind the United Teamsters, and the United Teamsters were equally unwilling to cooperate with either of the other two associations. After much argument and more delay, it was finally suggested that each batch of carriages go separate ways, with the cemetery as their objective point. This strange compact was finally agreed on, the 120 mourners' carriages wheeled and separated.

The hearse went its way alone and unaccompanied, and the body reached the cemetery after a delay of nearly an hour.

THE WORD "FELLOW."

Its Honorable Beginning and Its Later Day Decline.

The degeneracy of a good word was illustrated in a case at Branksome (Dorset), in which a witness spoke of the defendant as "this fellow" and was ordered by the bench to substitute "this man." "Fellow" began very honorably by meaning a person who put down money with others in a joint undertaking, its component parts being akin respectively to "fee" (property) and to "law." To this day it is dignified to be a fellow of a college, and nobody minds being called a "fellow citizen," a "fellow Christian" or a "good fellow." But ordinarily "fellow" alone ranks now as in the painful scene in which Mr. Tuppman said, "Sir, you're a fellow," and Mr. Pickwick retorted, "Sir, you're another." In the fourteenth century it was customary to call a servant "fellow" in kindly condescension. Perhaps that explains the word's decline, though it may be due to the use of "fellow" in the sense of boon companion. "Companion" and "mate" also were contemptuous at one time.—London Chronicle.

Percy Bysshe Shelley.

While it is as a poet that Shelley will always be remembered, the fact must not be overlooked that he had a passion for reforming the world, before all things. He wrote many valuable essays and pamphlets on questions of the day some time before he astounded the world with his brilliancy as a poet. Of his lyric work it has been said that it "presents a sum total of high creativeness, profound thought and transcendence in music such as cannot be found elsewhere in English literature."—Pearson's Weekly.

When North Gosforth church, near Newcastle, England, which had never been consecrated, but in which services had been held regularly, was put up at auction not a bid was made for the property.
