An Ambitious Program...

In a labor day article published by one of the leading daily papers, the president of the International Typographical Union said:
"As compared with four years ago, I believe that the condition of organized labor has been much improved. And the condition of organized labor four years ago, as compared with that four years previously, will also show wonderful improvement. Four years ago the members of the International Typographical Union working at the book and job branch of the trade were laboring nine hours per day, fifty-four hours per week; today these members are working not more than eight hours per day, or forty-eight hours per week. Wages in our trade during the past four years have been materially advanced, the total increase representing millions of dollars. We find that wherever the eight hour day has been in effect for a year or more wage increases are forthcoming, and with comparatively little friction. As a general proposition, of course wages have not increased in proportion with the upward trend in the cost of living. The advance in the cost of living has been by leaps and bounds, but through the trade-union movement we have at least been able to lessen the burden of that increased cost to our members. It is the unorganized wage earner who is suffering because of the unprecedented increase in the necessities of life; his wages remain stationary.
"As to the future, a vast amount of work requires attention. We will stand for the complete attainment of all of the reforms advocated by the labor movement.
"We must continue to agitate for free schools, free text books and compulsory education; the abolition of all forms of involuntary servitude, except punishment for crime; we oppose the abuse of the injunction process; we demand a uniform workday of not more than eight hours, six days to constitute a week's work; nationalization of the telegraph and telephone lines; the passage of anti-child labor laws in states where they do not now exist, and their rigid enforcement where they are on the statute books. In short, labor's program is comprehensive, and is inherently right.
"The International Typographical Union will continue to press, and even more forcefully, for improved sanitary conditions in composing rooms. We are enlisted in war against tuberculosis. The great white plague has been allowed free rein in our craft; we propose to curb the disease, and as nearly as may be possible to stamp it out.
"We also have under consideration certain benefit features that will greatly strengthen our union, because they are just and humanitarian. The first of these, an old-age pension scheme, will shortly go to a referendum vote.
"We believe that wages and hours, important as they are to our material welfare, are not the only subjects in the ken of trade-union action, and we intend to consider and eventually make effective, measures that will make for the greater comfort and happiness of our membership.
"In short, we intend to be a most pronounced factor in the development of society along correct lines."

CHULALONGKORA IS QUITE GOOD FELLOW
Everybody "Takes Something" With the King of Siam At Hamburg.
FREE BEER AND WINE FLOW.
A DUSKY RULER, WHO THINKS NOT OF EXPENSES, FOOTS THE BILLS AND MAKES A DAY AND NIGHT OF IT.

Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 21.—King Chulalongkora of Siam today invited all Hamburg to join him in celebrating his birthday. Champagne and red and white wines of all descriptions were served at the Kurhaus without any limit, it being arranged by the chief minister of the visiting king that each person who paid a trifling fee should become temporarily a member of the Kurhaus, and be entitled to three bottles of wine, one each of champagne and white and red wine, while in the grounds of the Kurhaus three pavilions were erected where free beer was distributed to all comers.
The king decreed that the celebration should continue at his expense for three days. He also distributed large sums of money to the poor, benevolent societies and tonight he will give a banquet to 600 persons.
From all Parts.
Among the invited guests, who come from all parts of Germany, are merchants and others, from whom the king has bought jewels, works of art, furniture, and so on.
The people of Hamburg are joining in the spirit of the king's hospitality. His majesty's portrait is in every shop window, the houses are decorated with the Siam flag, a white elephant on red ground and an immense quantity of fire works will be burned tonight at the expense of the municipality of Hamburg, while the citizens will also illuminate their residences in honor of the occasion.
Has Spent $1,500,000.
The daily outlay of King Chulalongkora in normal times while traveling is about $3,000 for the hotel bills of himself and his suite. It is presumed that the celebration of his birthday will cost $250,000 as the managers of the Kurhaus have been hastily gathering in wine by the car load from neighboring cities. It is estimated that the king of Siam has already

CHARMING SOCIAL EVENT IS GIVEN AT NEW PARIS.
Four-Course Dinner in Honor of Miss Mabel Pence, Soon to Be Married.
New Paris, O., Sept. 21.—One of the most charming social events of the season was the four-course dinner given by Miss Edith Reid, Thursday evening in honor of Miss Mabel Pence, a bride-elect. The table was very prettily decorated in yellow and white, a large mound of goldenrod and white asters formed the center piece. The place cards were cut in the shape of double hearts and were ornamented with hand-painted wedding bells. The shades on the candelabra were of yellow silk. The following guests were present: Mesdames Elsie Pence of Crafon, Pa., Maudie Arnold, Pearl Reid of Greenwood; Misses Cora Hawley, Mable Pence, Nellie McNeill, Mary Wolf, Marie Peele and Elsie Boyle.

WALNUT KNOT APPEARS LIKE BIRD DOG'S HEAD.
Natural Curiosity Belonging to Losantsville Woman Has Strange Shape.
Losantsville, Ind., Sept. 21.—Mrs. J. F. McNeves of this city has in her possession a natural curiosity that is much commented on here. It is a walnut knot in shape resembling a bird dog's head and neck. It is so natural that a person can be deceived as to its reality by placing a cloth over part of it. There are worn grooves on each side of the knot where it has been rubbed by two limbs. A local tradition says that a dog was caught in the tree when it was young and the head petrified. The knot was originally the property of an old lady who used it to hold her front door open. After her death it passed to Mrs. McNeves. It is believed to be over a hundred years old and Mrs. McNeves has refused several fancy offers for it.

LOCAL AND GENERAL SPORTS

JESSUP'S GALAXY LOSES FIRST GAME

Fast Independent Team Was Defeated by the Equally Strong Dunkirkites.

WAS A PITCHERS' BATTLE.

BUSH AND PLUMMER'S WORK OF SPECIAL INTEREST—FIELDING WAS OF THE VERY BRILLIANT SORT.

(By Tort.)
Dunkirk, 2; Richmond, 1.

Manager Jessup's galaxy of minor league stars wearing the Richmond gray, were defeated in their first game Saturday afternoon by the Dunkirk Blues, reinforced by two of the star players of the Portland I. O. league team, Gray and Bambrugh. The game was a pretty pitchers' battle and was played mostly in a drizzling rain. Hits were very sparse, but the fielding of both outfits was of high order. Burns, first baseman for the locals, is credited with the only error and this wobble came in the ninth.

Harry Hay was very effective, especially when the locals needed hits for runs. Horn was back in his old form, having good speed, control and change of pace. The big fellow breezed six of the Dunkirk sluggers. Two hundred fans braved the cold drizzle and felt well repaid. Bush, the crack little South Bend shortstop, who has been drafted by the Boston Americans, was the center of all eyes. The midge gave a good illustration of why his services are demanded by the major leaguers. He only had one fielding chance, which was handled cleanly. At the bat he faced Hay four times and bagged two singles. The first single was made off the first ball pitched by the underhand hurler. It was a beaut of a bunt which Bush beat out by remarkable sprinting. His second hit was a clean drive between first and second. Bush appears to be faster on his feet than Ritter.

Plummer Is Faster.
Tom Plummer, the old Richmond right fielder, who finished last season with the Quincy, Iowa, state league, was also watched closely. Tom did not do any batting, but he showed that he was much faster than when he was here in the spring. He pulled off one rattling good catch just back of second base, taking a pop up off his shoe strings by a fast sprint. On the bases he showed excellent form. Tom scored the only run made by the locals.

Owing to Third Baseman Johnson's failure to report, Fisher was placed at third base, while Burns, the Deatur slugger, worked at first. Both men put up fast fielding games. Parker, the Portland infielder, played a splendid game. Parker drove in our lone home run with a screaming double, while in the ninth he prevented two blue runners from crossing the pan by a spectacular stop over second bag. It was a clean robbery. Fleming worked nicely in left field while Jessup and Weaver put up their usual good game. The team will be working nicely together this afternoon and a big crowd will infest Athletic park to see these two fast independent outfits fight it out.

Story of the Game.
Dunkirk made its first run in the second. Wills led off with a single and was advanced to second on Carmichael's infield out. Wolfe then poled a hot one to right, which Plummer gathered in and heaved to Jessup in an effort to catch Wills at the plate. To some of the fans it looked like Jessup got his man, but Umps Lally ruled him safe. It was an extremely close play. In the sixth Hay led off with a single, which Weaver made a gallant bid for, Bambrugh sacrificed him and Perdieu popped out to Horn. Gray brought Hay home on a hard smash to right. In the seventh the locals made a desperate effort to corral the game. Plummer, first up, was walked. He promptly stole second. Parker then drove him home with a double. The rally died after this swiftest exhibition on the part of Mr. Parker. In the ninth, with no outs, Perdieu got a life on Burns' wobble, then Gray singled. It looked like fireworks, but the base runners were left anchored at the sacks by Horn's good pitching and Parker's remarkable stop. Score:

Football Rules For the Season of 1907.

Nearness of the football season arouses interest in the rules for this sport. Spalding's official guide announces that the actual matter of the rules has not been materially changed owing to the satisfaction that was found with the wholesale revision which took place in the rules of 1906. The particular detail of the few alterations follows later.
Meantime, it is worth while to look over the new arrangement and the headings, which will give a fair idea of the general plan.

First comes the rules relating to the field and the ball. Then those relating to the number of players and substitutes, then the length of the game and scoring. Following these come definitions of all the terms used. This group of definitions is followed by rules relating to the kick-off and the position of players on scrimmage as well as kick-off, kick-out, punt-out and place-kick, also on free kicks. Then come sections covering the putting of the ball in play and the detail of the game. Following these, unlawful interference with play, obstruction of opponents, passing or throwing the ball, and on and off side. Then the rules relating to the necessary gain on downs and distance of the kick, as well as a description of a try-at-goal.

The next two groups govern the conduct of players as well as the conduct of persons other than players. Following these come penalties and the duties of the officials, with brief of rules over which each has control. Appended to these are notes giving brief of the suggestions and interpretations placed on the rules.

The main alterations are as follows: An increased length of the game. Owing to the fact that it was found under the new rules the players were rather less exhausted than in the old game, it was determined to increase the playing time another ten minutes by adding five minutes to each half.
It was voted to continue the method of two umpires, but to define their duties more specifically, so that one would aid the referee in decisions down the field. This one is practically an assistant to the referee and is called the field judge. The other, generally speaking, has control of the decisions that belong to the line-up.

The ten-yard rule is preserved exactly as before, that innovation having met with almost general approval in that it made far less effective anything like mass plays and forced the open play which everyone so much desired.
Forward passing has been altered to a certain extent, making it less risky to use it on the first and second down. Instead of losing the ball in case the forward pass strikes the ground before striking a player of either side, the same side retains possession of the ball by losing fifteen yards in distance. When the forward pass is essayed on the third down, however, and it strikes the ground without striking a player, or is otherwise made illegally, the ball must be surrendered to the other side exactly as formerly.

In order to cover a point upon which there was some discussion last year, the following legislation was enacted: That a line man may carry the ball, provided he does not leave his position in the line until the ball is put in play. It was also determined that the forward pass or tripping or hurdling by ward pass or tripping or hurdling by the side that did not put the ball in play in a scrimmage, should be penalized fifteen yards.
In order to more clearly settle the point about the rights of a side on a fair catch, it was enacted that a man should be regarded as having an opportunity to make a fair catch when it was possible for him to reach the ball before it should strike the ground.
In order to prevent signalling by one man and a catch and run by another, it was legislated that if one man of the side signals his intention of making a fair catch, and then another of his side who did not signal, makes the catch, this player may not run with the ball nor is he entitled to the privileges coming from a fair catch, but the ball must be put down at the point where he caught it for a scrimmage by his side.
All questions of hurdling were put within the jurisdiction of the referee.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

(By Tort.)
Manager Jessup's all star independent aggregation has a heavy schedule ahead of it this week. This afternoon at Athletic park Richmond will again meet the Dunkirk Blues and try to redeem themselves of the defeat suffered at the hands of the Blues Saturday afternoon. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the locals will have as opponents at the Athletic park the All Star American association team, which is Ashenback of the St. Paul team. This outfit includes some of the best known ball players in the country. The team will lay off Friday, but Saturday and Sunday games will be played with the Medicine Hat team, champions of the Canadian league.
Saturday evening Manager Jessup received a telegram from Rolly Johnson stating that he would be here in time for the game this afternoon. Johnson will be played at third base while Fisher will be transferred to first base. Tom Plummer played with Johnson on the Quincy team, and he states that he is a star, covering lots of ground and hitting the ball on the bazz.
T. Fisher has ambitions to become a first baseman. He claims that this is his natural position. Fisher can play so many positions that it has been hard work for him to determine where he fits in best. At first he thought he was born to be a catcher. Then he decided he was a pitcher. Later Tacks decided that his mission in life was to romp in the outfield. This summer Manager Jessup decided that Tacks was a third baseman, and the fans agree that Jessup made a wise decision, but Fisher believes that he is better at first than any other place. We predict that he will make good on the initial sack. Local fans will see him rambling around that bag this afternoon.

Nat Fleming will pitch for the locals this afternoon, while Romine will twirl for Dunkirk. The Dunkirk lads are confident of making it two straight. "We just can't lose when we wear the Dunkirk Blue," says Harry Hay.
Louie Hunt, manager of the Portland I. O. league team, will help the locals out this week. Louie will take a turn in the pitcher's box whenever he is needed. The schedule arranged for this week is too heavy for Horn and Fleming to do all the work.
