AMATEUR CHAMPIONS WILL BE DETERMINED

Richmond Browns and Beallview Teams to Meet.

L. & B.-BEALLVIEW, OCT. 13

Editor Palladium:

There is some comment as to what amateur ball team of the city really holds the city championship. The Richmond Browns and the Beallview teams, who are both claiming the amateur championship of the city, will meet at Beallview park Sunday afternoon to decide which has the superior team. These are two of the fastest amateur teams of the city and both have been playing splendid ball this season. The teams are about evenly matched and there should be a big crowd at Beallview park to witness the contest. It is predicted that this will be one of the best games played at Beallview this season. The game will be called at three o'clock. The Q. and B.'s will meet Beallview at Beallview park Sunday, Oct. 13.

A FAN.

Peculiar Qualities of These Little Glass Balls.

"It is a great wonder to me," said an old chemist, "why more boys do not take up chemical experiments as an amusement. Why, I can do this with the common materials of everyday life which really seem to be magical to the uninitiated than any of the wonders that are ordinarily performed by magicians on the public stage. Some of them are so simple that by carrying them out at a parlor entertainment a bright boy could achieve the reputation of a magician. Now, there are those curious little glass balls of glass known variously as 'Prince Rupert's drops' and as 'Dumete's.' Apparently they are mere little globules of glass with elongated tails made by heating a small glass rod in a flame and allowing the molten drops to fall into water. After they have cooled you may pound the thick part with a hammer or mallet, yet you cannot break them. On the other hand, if you break a little piece off their tails or touch any part of them with a quartz crystal they will disappear into the surrounding atmosphere quicker than snow will melt on a hot fire. To the person who doesn't know how this has happened the performance is as astonishing as to seem uncanny.—London Globe.

It is reported that the smoke nuisance is in a fair way to become dispelled in the English pottery towns by the introduction of Mond gas in the firing of ovens. A recent successful test was made at Hanley before a number of pottery manufacturers. It is claimed that a temperature of 2,475 degrees F. can be produced by the gas which is said to be more safe and economical than in present methods of firing ovens, and in addition is smokeless.

SCORE WAS ONE-SIDED.

New Paris, O., Oct. 2.—The score of the ball game Saturday between the New Paris high school and New Madison high school was 17 to 1 in favor of New Madison.

There is a great deal of talk in Boston which actually trace his family back to generations. His one failing is a desire to be thought a descendant of one of the old families, and his studies he says he is an artist—contains number of heliographs. One thing which he takes particular pride in is Continental uniform complete in every detail, with flintlock and powder horn. He was showing this to a young lady the other day. "My great-grandfather wore this suit when he gave his life to his country during the brave days of the Revolution," he said. The young lady inspected the uniform carefully, but could find neither bullet hole nor saber cut. She turned to him with a charming smile. "Oh, was the poor old gentleman drowned?" she asked.—Argonaut.

A Generous Joker.
Could you have been with me on top of one of the old horse drawn buses on a certain afternoon you would have seen a middle aged gentleman, slightly the worse for wine, take a couple of half sovereigns from his purse. Before him sat two little Eton boys in short jackets and diminutive beaver hats. With much chuckling, the gentleman, leaning forward, dropped his half sovereigns down their backs, next their shirts, and it would have done your heart good to have seen the expressions on the countenances of those boys after from disunity as the cold coins slipped down their spines. A wonder and delight as, after much wriggling, each had extracted the money from the vicinity of his sock. Arthur.

INTERSTATE TOWN POLO BUGS FLYING

Reports From New England in Reference to New League Are Exaggerated.

STARS ARE RESPONSIBLE.

IT IS THE INTENTION OF THE INTERSTATE MAGNATES TO OPEN THE SEASON ON 21ST OF OCTOBER.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 2.—With the first chill of winter in the wind polo bugs have begun to fly.

From all around the circuit comes the word that the interstate will again be the polo league of the country. First reports from New England as to an organization which might rival the one in this section in drawing the greatest players of the world, have proved to be exaggerated. Many of the tales from down east were fabricated from whole cloth by stars desiring to get as good terms as possible from this league. But investigation has shown that the eastern circuit population is much smaller, the rinks less able to accommodate crowds comfortably and the backing unstable.

So the interstate magnates are going ahead preparing to start the season Oct. 21. The final meeting to complete arrangements for the coming winter will be held Oct. 4, at the Colonial hotel. The schedule has been practically adopted with the exception of holiday dates and will run twenty-three weeks. There will be two games a week in each town.

President W. F. Fouse of Akron has made a thorough investigation in all the seven towns, Youngstown, Canton, Akron, New Castle, Sharon, Beaver Falls and Erie, and reports that everything points to successful seasons in all these cities. The league intends to make the circuit better balanced than last year through the addition of several eastern players to the weaker clubs. Sharon and Erie with winning clubs will be paying propositions, it is confidently believed. In all towns the rinks are being repaired and improved and the seating capacity increased. By a rule of the league the players' dressing rooms will be made more adequate and shower baths, etc., added. It is proposed to recognize the comfort of the men who furnish the sport as much as possible.

The magnates are lining up their men. Jean, Lyons, Williams and Roberts have all practically agreed to come back to Akron although it was stated that Jean would be in the east this season. The phenoms will present a far stronger defense than last year back of the peerless pair, Higgins and Hart, both of whom have been making their headquarters here or whereabouts during the off-season. The center and half-back positions lie between Miller, Cogshall and Holderness, the latter a new man who has not been seen in the league. Cusick will in all probability be back at goal.

Flight of the Butterflies.
One of the most beautiful sights in the world is the annual migration of butterflies across the isthmus of Panama. Where they come from or whither they go no one knows, and though many distinguished naturalists have attempted to solve the problem it is still as strange a mystery as it was to the first European traveler who observed it. Toward the end of June a few scattered specimens are discovered flitting out to sea, and as the days go by the number increase until about July 14 or 15 the sky is occasionally almost obscured by myriads of these frail insects.

Gives Warning of a Storm.
In the bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast four and twenty hours before the gale which causes it arrives and of which it is the precursor. In this case the wave action, generated on the other side of the Atlantic by the wind, travels at a much greater rate than that of the body of disturbed air and thus gives warning of the coming storm.—Dundee Advertiser.

QUAKERS AND A. B. C. TEAM IN STRUGGLE

First Contest Between These Two Teams Is Favored By Fine Weather.

GOOD CROWD ATTENDING.

MUCH LOCAL INTEREST IN THE RACE BETWEEN DETROIT AND PHILADELPHIA IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE.

(By Tort.)

Midsummer weather was in evidence when the Quakers and the A. B. C. team of Indianapolis, colored champions, lined up at Athletic park for the first game of the series. Quite a good sized crowd was in attendance, colored rooters predominating. The A. B. C.'s and the locals line up again Thursday afternoon at Athletic park. It has been announced that the Hamilton Krebs will be the attraction here next Sunday. This statement calls for an explanation. The Krebs are booked here but will not play here until a week from next Sunday. The coming Sunday the attraction at Athletic park will be the Mt. Vernon, Ind., independent team. This team has just been organized and, like the Richmond stars, is composed of fast minor league players. The players on the Mt. Vernon team are from the Central and Three-I leagues. Four hundred Mt. Vernon rooters on a special train will come to this city to root for their pets.

The most intense interest is being taken by local baseball fanatics in the neck and neck race Detroit and Philadelphia are running for the championship of the American league. Cleveland was the local favorite for this honor, but when the Naps dropped out of the race, Detroit began to pull for the Chicago White Sox. Now the White Sox are practically out of the running and local fanatics are pulling for the only western team left in the exciting race—Detroit. Hugh Jennings has a great bunch of ball players and if the Tigers win out there will be several local sportsmen willing to wager on them winning the world's championship from the Chicago nationals. The Cubs have had easy going, while the Tigers have had to fight tooth and nail all down the stretch and will be in top notch battle form when the clash with the Cubs come. Several Richmond fans are planning to witness one or more games of the world's series at Chicago.

Musicians Love Long.
A French writer notes that, though a few great musicians have died young—to wit, Mozart at thirty-five, Schubert at thirty-one, Beethoven at thirty-three, Mendelssohn at thirty-eight and Weber who was but forty—a large number have lived to be very old men. Those who died between sixty and seventy years of age include Bach, Von Bulow and Rubinstein. Living beyond seventy years came Gluck, Gounod, Handel, Liszt, Meyerbeer, Rossini, Spontini and Wagner, while the great age of eighty-nine was attained by Auber and others. Dying at more than eighty were Cherubini, Cramer, Lachner, Palestrina, Rameau, Schütz and Teubert. The average age of musical celebrities is about sixty-seven years.

TORONTO THE CHAMPION.

Took Four Out of Five Games From Columbus.
Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—Toronto made it four out of five on the series with Columbus, Tuesday and earned the right to be known as the best minor league team on earth. Tuesday's victory was a 6-to-3 affair and was featured by Wicker's wild pitches, some erratic decisions that hurt each team alike and Flynn's work about first.

NEW MADISON VICTOR.
New Paris, O., Oct. 2.—The local ball team played against the New Madison team, Sunday, at the latter place. The score was 3 to 2 in favor of New Madison.

WABASH-MICHIGAN GAME WILL DRAW

Big Crown of Football Enthusiasts Expected at Indianapolis October 19.

WOLVERINES' FIRST VISIT.

MICHIGAN HAS ONE OF THE GREATEST TEAMS IN HER HISTORY AND CONFIDENTLY EXPECTS TO WIN.

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—Undoubtedly the greatest crowd that ever attended a foot ball game in Indiana is expected to be present when the "Little Giants" of Wabash College meet the mighty Michigan at Indianapolis, Saturday, Oct. 19. It will be the first time that the "Wolverines" have ever appeared in the Hoosier state and thousands of admirers will turn out to see them. Visitors are expected from almost every town and city of importance in Indiana and in some places arrangements are being made for special trains.

Michigan has one of the greatest teams in her history and confidently expects to win not only the title to the western championship this year but also to lower the colors of Pennsylvania, a member of the "Big Four" in the east, when these two institutions meet in November.

In the past several years Wabash has won fame throughout the west and with the most glowing prospects in its history, the Crawfordville institution expects to do greater things this year than ever before. One thing is certain, a battle royal is assured when the proteges of "Big Chief" Cavan go up against the gridiron heroes of the famous "Hurricane" Yost.

To take care of the crowds that will be in the Capital City on the day of the big contest the management is installing several hundred feet of extra bleachers at Washington park, and accommodations will be arranged for more than 15,000 spectators. The demand for tickets is already so great that Manager Harry Eller has decided to place them on sale Oct. 4.

Avoiding Temptation.
Cecil was much impressed by the Sunday school teacher's plea for missions and decided to save his pennies for the heathen. He made a great effort and failed once or twice. Then he prayed. "O Lord," he begged, "please help me save my money and don't let Jim, the peanut man, come down this street."—Cleveland Leader.

He Didn't Throw It.
"Miss Pechis," said Mr. Timmid at the other end of the sofa, "if I were to throw you a kiss I wonder what you'd say."
"Well," replied Miss Pechis, "I'd say you were the laziest man I ever saw."—Philadelphia Press.

A Distinction.
"Tell me," said Miss Witherupp, "Mr. Newman remarked to you that I didn't show my age, didn't he?"
"Not exactly. He said you were careful to conceal it," replied Miss Frank.—Exchange.

Mrs. Cakelbread was entertaining some ladies at a select little 5 o'clock tea, and Bobby, who had been exceptionally well behaved, was in high feather.

"Ma," he said as cake was being handed around, "may I have some tongue, please?"

"There isn't any tongue, Bobby."

"That's funny," commented Bobby. "I heard pa say there would be lots of it."—Strand Magazine.

DEAD SEA BATHING.

It Must Be Horrible Torture, According to This Account.

In an article on bathing in the Dead sea a clergyman who has made the experiment says: "No sooner has one plunged into the water than one is whipped off one's feet and goes bobbing helplessly about, like a wretched cork. In the effort to regain one's footing and get back to shore one's feet and shins are barked by the jagged stones and pebbles, and when at length one does emerge from its treacherous bosom, with the lower limbs bleeding and torn, one becomes aware of a horrible stinging and burning sensation in eyes, ears, nostrils, mouth and almost every pore of the skin from the brine and bitumen which have penetrated everywhere. Unless great care is taken the bather in the Dead sea is liable to an eruption, which breaks out all over the body and which is commonly known as the 'Dead sea rash.' The best antidote to this is to hurry across as quickly as possible to the river Jordan and to take a second plunge therein. The soft and muddy waters of that sacred but dirty stream will effectively remove the salt that has incrustated the body."—New York Tribune.

His Attempt Was Void.

They had been having a discussion concerning the necessity or otherwise of purchasing a new silk dress in order to be on a level with the De Monneys next door. Banks had vetoed the purchase on the ground of extravagance and want of funds, and his wife was much put out.

"Dinner ready, my dear?" he asked in his most conciliatory manner. Her face had been like a stale thunderstorm ever since the disagreement, and Banks wanted to change it.

"Yes," answered Mrs. B. shortly. "Must try again," said Banks to himself. Then aloud: "Ah, I'm glad of that, my love. I have what the poets would call an 'aching void' Sarah."

"You often suffer from headache," she returned in a cutting tone.

Banks drew his chair up to the table with unnecessary noise and refrained from further attempts at conciliation for the rest of the day.—Pearson's Weekly.

Appreciate the Worth of Sleep.

The amount of sleep required by a person can be determined better by the effects obtained than by the number of hours consumed, for it differs greatly with age and the condition of health. Few fallacies are more dangerous than that which is often adopted by busy people, more especially by those engaged in scientific or other forms of intellectual work, when they assume that the duration of sleep is largely a matter of convenience. The harmfulness of deficient sleep may not reveal itself until the age of decline has been reached, but it will surely hasten the decline.

It Had to Come.

Mrs. Cakelbread was entertaining some ladies at a select little 5 o'clock tea, and Bobby, who had been exceptionally well behaved, was in high feather.

"Ma," he said as cake was being handed around, "may I have some tongue, please?"

"There isn't any tongue, Bobby."

"That's funny," commented Bobby. "I heard pa say there would be lots of it."—Strand Magazine.
