

POLICEMEN PREPARE FOR ANNUAL DANCE

It Will Be Held at the Coliseum
On the Night of October 24th.

ASSIST THE WORTHY POOR.

PROCEEDS ARE NOT USED FOR THE PERSONAL BENEFIT OF THE MEMBERS OF THE FORCE—
TICKET SALES.

The members of the Richmond police force are busy these days disposing of tickets for the fifth annual policemen's ball. Every member of the force is armed with tickets and all of their hundreds of friends are being solicited to "help the cause along." On the evening of Thursday, Oct. 24, when the ball takes place, the Coliseum promises to be filled with a large crowd. There will probably be over one hundred couples on the dancing floor while the balcony and gallery will be filled with onlookers. There will be visiting delegations of "brother officers" from various neighboring cities. Eight or ten officers from Indianapolis, representatives from Columbus, O., Cincinnati and several of the gas belt cities are expected to be present. These visiting officers will take part in the grand march which will be headed by the local "finest" with Chief Bailey, Prosecutor Jessup and Judge Converse in the extreme lead. The police reporters of the two local papers have been invited to participate in this dazzling parade and have taken the matter under advisement.

The question is frequently asked "what do the policemen do with the money they make off these annual balls?" It is the impression among some people that the "spoils" are divided equally among the members of the force. Other and wiser citizens are under the impression that the proceeds of these balls are placed in a benefit fund for policemen. But very few people really know what the members of the force do with the money they clear from these balls.

Assist the Worthy Poor.

Every winter unfortunates in this city and those who happen to wander into the city appeal to the police for financial assistance. The police never "turn down" any person in distress who is worthy of this assistance but the members of the force cannot afford this charity out of their own private incomes, so the proceeds of the big dance the policemen give each year is devoted to a fund which can be drawn upon to assist the worthy poor. Sickness, starvation and suffering from exposure is found on every hand by the police officers each winter. Without the blare of trumpets and in the spirit of true charity the policemen draw upon their relief fund to assist those who they find to be in distress. "I know the splendid charitable work the members of the local police force do each winter. I have purchased ten tickets to their ball and I think that every citizen should purchase as many of these tickets as can be afforded" stated a business man to-day.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improperly treated cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate coughs and prevents serious results. It costs you no more than the unknown preparations and you should insist upon having the genuine in the yellow package. A. G. Luken & Co.

No man has ever made and never will make a machine that will go perpetually. The "going" of the machine implies a steady loss (to the particular machine) of stored up power, and it is only a question of time for the power to run out, when the machine will necessarily have to stop. But in a deep sense there is nothing but perpetual motion. The motion of the thing the stops is imparted to something else and so on ad infinitum. By the law of the conservation of force motion is indestructible and must therefore be perpetual.—New York American.

NOTICE TO OUR CUSTOMERS.
We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. A. G. Luken & Co.

Need to marry.
The modern bachelor is by no means so black as he is painted. He is simply one of those exceptional men who have been born without the genius for matrimony. To marry at all, a man requires inspiration; to marry well, aspiration; and to marry foolishly, desperation. None of these qualities has been vouchsafed to the singular being who deliberately and of malice pretense leads the single life.—Madame.

GEORGE WEBB FILES A SECOND DIVORCE SUIT

Effort to Live With His Wife
Was a Failure.

COMPLAINT SENSATIONAL.

For the second time this year George Webb has, through his attorneys, Robbins, Starr & Robbins, brought suit for divorce from Ethel A. Webb. During the April term of the circuit court Webb filed his first suit for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. Some time after the filing of the suit Webb asked his attorneys to have the suit dismissed, stating that he and his wife had made up and that she was living with him again.

A few days ago Webb instructed his attorneys to again file suit against his wife. He said that she had deserted him and had gone to Indianapolis to live. Webb stated that prior to her taking French leave she had resumed her old habit of being cruel and inhuman. Webb stated that when he would return to his home his wife would greet him with curses and would accuse him of running around with other women. Webb charges that his wife neglected to properly care for the fifteen-month-old baby, often leaving the child alone in the house while she was away.

Webb also charges that she failed to do the cooking or the house work and that the money he gave her for household expenses went for other purposes.

"Comin' Through the Rye."

It is said that Robert Burns' famous song "Comin' Through the Rye" did not have reference to a rye field, but to a small river, Rye, in Ayrshire, which could be fordable. In wading through, however, the lasses had to hold up their petticoats, and it was a favorite pastime of Robbie Burns and his chieftains companions to lie in wait for the lasses coming through the Rye. When they got to midstream the lasses would wade out and snatch a kiss from the lasses, who were unable to resist without dropping their skirts in the water.—Westminster Gazette.

VENUS OF MILO.

The Famous Ancient Statue in the Louvre at Paris.

The Venus of Milo in the Louvre, Paris, is supposed by some to be the work of Alexandros, one of the Asiatic Greek sculptors. It is said that the base of the statue bearing the artist's name was destroyed for the purpose of causing the king of France to believe that the work was more ancient than it really was.

It was discovered on the island of Milo in 1820 by a peasant. It was a niche in a wall which had been buried for years. The Marquis of Riviere bought it and gave it as a present to Louis XVIII of France. It is made from two blocks of marble joined about the drapery which envelops the legs. As it now stands it has two blemishes which have been repaired by modern artists. The tip of the nose was broken when it was found and also the foot which projects beyond the drapery.

In point of fact, it has a great deal more resemblance to a goddess than to a beautiful woman. At one time it was dressed in clothes of a modern sort, and the effect was anything but pleasing. The figure of the statue is not at all adapted to modern clothes.—New York Tribune.

Why He Did Not Marry.

As a reason for not marrying Brahms once wrote to a friend: "At the time when I should have wished to marry, my compositions were either hissed at or at any rate very coldly received. I knew their worth, though, and that sooner or later the public would be turned, and in unmarriageable solitude I never really took my reverses to heart. But to be questioned by a wife at such moments, to have her inquiring eyes anxiously fixed upon me, to hear her ask, 'Again, fiasco? No, that I could never have borne, for, however much she loved me and believed in me, I could not have expected her to have unwavering faith in my subsequent victory. And had she attempted to console me! Ugh! I can't even think of it. It would have been little less than hell!'—Monthly Review.

Convenient Arrangement.

"What are you buying now?" "I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not out a penny thus far."

"How do you manage it?" "It is very simple. After we were married, when her birthday came round, I gave her a $5 note. When my birthday came round, she gave me the note back, and we have kept this up ever since, and neither of us is out a penny."—London Weekly.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath.

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can Be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free.

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning—that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. You've had onions, or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you betch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as everyone knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour brash and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together, and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorbent.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner" inside.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address P. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Certain adjectives are reserved for men and others for women. A man is never called "beautiful." Along with "pretty" and "lovely," that adjective has become the property of women and children alone. "Handsome" and the weak adjective "good looking" are the only two adjectives of the kind common to either sex. Even "belle" has no real masculine correlative in English, since "beau" came to signify something other than personal looks. It is singular that "handsome" should have become the word for a strikingly good looking person, since its literal meaning is handy, dextrous. But "pretty" likewise comes from the Anglo-Saxon word meaning "sly."

Postoffice "Derelects."

On an average no less than 130,000 letters are posted annually without any address, some of them containing money which amounts to about $6,000 a year. Among the cryptographic addresses submitted for decipherment to the postoffice expert were "Obanviodock," which being interpreted is "Holborn Viaduct," and "Hillevite," which stands more obviously for "Isle of Wight." These were easy of decipherment compared with a letter addressed "Haseleach in no faupshire," which nevertheless was fully forwarded to "Hazelbeach, Northamptonshire," and with another, thus superscribed, "To the Secretary of War, Chelsey Ossiltie, London, Queen Victoria," which was duly delivered to the secretary of war.—T. DECIDED PROGRESS SHOWN IN REPORT

Miss Woodard, Fountain City,
Corresponding Sec'y, at
W. C. T. U. Convention.

A GAIN IN MEMBERSHIP.

THERE IS MUCH INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS WHICH TAKES PLACE TODAY.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 12.—Every county in the state in which there is a W. C. T. U. organization is represented at the state convention now being held in this city. Every train and interurban car Friday brought in additional delegates until there are fully 300 accredited representatives of the local organizations in the city, in addition to many visitors who do not represent any organization.

Mayor George R. Dugan last night delivered the address of welcome at the Trinity church, to which response was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley of Liberty, the state lecturer. Following that the night was spent in a jubilee by the presidents of the counties which have made a gain of fifty or more in membership, and a sort of general renewing of old acquaintances and the forming of new ones.

The convention opened Friday at 9 o'clock with devotional services. Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton of Richmond, state evangelist, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, the president of the state organization and the other state officers were all present.

Convention Approves Reports.

Miss Woodard of Fountain City, the corresponding secretary, read her report first and it showed that excellent progress has been made in all branches of the organization work since the last annual meeting, which was held at Portland.

The figures submitted by Treasurer Clara Sears of Anderson showed the financial condition of the organization to be good and her report was approved by the convention. Mrs. Ida Mix, the secretary of the Royal Temperance League, reported that there had been a gain in membership in her department until now there are nearly 1,700 in the state. Friday afternoon President Vayhinger delivered her annual address, which was along the lines of the others, showing a heavy increase and widening sphere of operation on the part of the organization.

Today will be one of the busiest of the entire convention. Many women who have gained considerable distinction in temperance work will take part in the exercises and it is probable that one or two of the national officers of the W. C. T. U. will be present. The principal feature of today's work, however, will be the election of officers and it is expected that much rivalry will be shown before the final selections are made. Many women are mentioned for leading places, but none of them so far has declared herself to be a candidate.

THE MADSTONE.

Valuable Because Absorbent—A Clay Pipe Makes a Good One.

Physicians are often asked whether there really is any virtue in what are called madstones. One of them declares that these stones are of value, but that they would be of more value if their limitations were understood. "There is no particular variety of stone or substance which may be designated exclusively as the madstone," he says. "I have seen many of them, so called, and no two were of exactly the same composition, geologically considered."

"Madstones act on the same principle that a blotting paper does when absorbing ink, and there is nothing that makes a better one than baked pipe-clay. A new clay pipe, procurable for a cent at nearly any store where tobacco is sold, cannot be excelled by any madstone, no matter how great its reputation."

"The action can be clearly demonstrated by placing a common dry red brick in contact with the margin of a puddle of water and noticing what capillary attraction will accomplish. Therefore to be efficient the only necessity is for the stone to be porous and have strong adhesive and absorbent qualities. Nothing mysterious about it."

"I have seen several that appear to be concretions, either vesical, renal or biliary, and were found in the bladder, kidney or liver of some animal—those taken from the deer supposed to be the best."

"When a person is bitten by a reptile or dog supposed to be mad and the porous stone applied to the wound the blotting paper action begins, and the blood, saliva from the mouth of the animal and whatever poison these fluids contain will naturally by capillary attraction be absorbed by, and into the substance applied, no matter what name you may give it."

"The saying that if a stone sticks the wound is poisonous and if it does not take hold there is no venom present is untrue. If the stone is clean and dry it will adhere when moisture is within reach till it becomes saturated."

"For instance, a new red brick will absorb one pint of water. After the venom has been taken into the circulation the madstone is worthless, but as the victim is usually filled with whisky or alcohol at the same time the stone is being used the spirits may counteract the effect of the poison."

"I know of a stone which has a wide reputation and makes a good living for the family owning it. They never let it go out of their sight, and when the victim cannot be taken to the store the member of the family can be hired to take the stone to the victim. In addition to traveling expenses, they charge $5 for the application and $2 extra for each hour that the stone sticks."

"This stone is busy a large part of the time. Not long since the stone held to a man's leg for over 100 hours, yet the man died. His life could have been saved if dependence had not been placed entirely in the stone."—Medical Brief.

A "Touching" Story.

The young lady who had sat for a crayon portrait was not altogether pleased with the result. "It looks like me, of course," she said, inspecting it doubtfully, "and yet I think there are some things about it that ought to be changed."

She suggested that the eyes should have rather more of an upward look, that the right hand should be a little less prominent, that the hair should be made more wavy and that certain changes ought to be made in the drapery.

"That would require a great deal of retouching," said the artist, "and should have to charge you about $10 additional."

"Oh, dear," she exclaimed with a pout. "I shall have to give it up. 'Pape won't stand my 'retouching' him to that extent."

ANGLICAN CHURCH IN MOST SOLEMN RITE

Holy Eucharist Celebrated at Historic Spot.

ROBERT HUNT HONORED.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 12.—The Anglican church in America today celebrated the holy eucharist, its most solemn rite, in the very spot where three hundred years ago good master Robert Hunt made his first communion in the world, according to the rites of the English branch of the primitive church. Gathered around the ruined tower, lone sentinel of colonial times, on Jamestown island, five thousand convention pilgrims worshipped God and paid tribute to the memory of Robert Hunt, who laid the foundation of this church in America.
