

RICHMOND FLOWERS MUCH IN EVIDENCE

Roses, Carnations and Chrysanthemums by Local Growers Are Shown.

INDIANAPOLIS DISPLAYS.

RHEA REID ROSE IS SAID TO EQUAL OR SURPASS THE MRS. MARSHALL FIELD, A CHICAGO SENSATION.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—There are many new flowers in town today—new roses, new chrysanthemums, new carnations. They are showing themselves in competition with the aristocrats of the flower kingdom in three separate shows, and the displays they make of themselves is one to delight the eye and warm the heart. Simultaneously this morning the show of the State Florists' association opened at the conservatory of A. Wiegand & Sons, Illinois and Sixteenth streets; that of the Bermenter Brothers in their Massachusetts avenue store and that of Henry Riemann in the greenhouses at Morris and East streets. All exhibitions are free and all are beautiful.

The show at the Wiegand conservatory is the annual competitive exhibition of Indiana flower growers and has entries from all parts of the state, in addition to exhibitors from other states. Judges this afternoon went through the displays picking prize winners. Chrysanthemums are most important, judging from the prize list for the seven classes of that flower, ranging from the tiny Pompons to the immense Eatons. American Beauty roses are next in importance in that respect. However, the show is notable for the new varieties introduced for the scrutiny of the experts.

Mrs. Marshall Field Rose.

Among the newcomers is the Mrs. Marshall Field rose, which was the sensation of the season in Chicago—if that term can be applied to a flower. Equaling or surpassing it in favor is the blood-red Rhea Reid rose, grown by E. G. Hill in Richmond and named for the daughter of the financier, Dan G. Reid. This rose has been winning prizes wherever exhibited, including the recent big Chicago show. Hill's silver cup winner, Princess, is another exhibit. The list is almost unending. New Castle (Heller Brothers) furnishing a notable variety in the William R. Smith.

Of the chrysanthemums, the big yellow Eatons, a Richmond exhibit, catch the eye first. The Timothy Eatons also attract attention. Others of Hill's chrysanthemums are the French flower, Mile, Angele Lourant, white, and the A. J. Balfour.

How Varieties Are Produced.

The Henry W. Relman greenhouses at Morris and East streets are the scene of a different sort of flower show. Relman has turned all his conservatories into exhibition halls, showing the flowers as they grow and illustrating how the much sought new varieties are produced. In addition a display of cut flowers of his own and outside exhibitors is shown in the office. Among the flowers of the last named sort are carnations bearing the name President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt, Richmond products.

Display at Bertermans'.

Rows of small evergreen trees, reaching from the store, in the middle of the Massachusetts avenue block, to Pennsylvania street in one direction, and Delaware street in the other, point the way to the exhibit of Bermenter Brothers. The display here is chiefly that of table and other home decorations.

Baskets of flowers and ferns, mirror decorations, decorative posts and everything of the nature of home beautifying with flowers or plants is shown. In addition there are exhibits of most of the recent prize-winners among carnations, chrysanthemums and roses. Of these the Rhea Reid rose is causing more exclamations of delight than any other. Florists like it, too, because of its stable qualities. If Richmond never does anything more, Hill's new rose will have been enough say the florists. The Du Pousson Foubert, one of Hill's French chrysanthemums, stands out distinctly.

No. 51, tea rose, from New Castle, is expected to win prizes. The Richmond, not yet a year old, is another winner shown.

WALSH BEING TRIED IN CHICAGO COURTS

Is Charged With the Misuse of Funds Belonging to a National Bank.

JURY SECURED WEDNESDAY

A STATEMENT IS PRESENTED SHOWING THE NATURE OF THE FINANCIAL OPERATIONS CONDUCTED BY WALSH.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The trial of John R. Walsh, ex-president of the Chicago National bank, on a charge of misuse of the funds of that institution, has formally opened.

The jury was completed shortly after noon Wednesday and Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Lobys, at the opening of the afternoon session, commenced the preliminary statement in behalf of the government. It is expected that Mr. Dobyns will not conclude his opening address until late tomorrow.

The government will attempt to show that Walsh took from the Chicago National bank, the Equitable Trust company and the Home Savings bank $100,000.

In his statement Mr. Dobyns declared that Walsh obtained the ownership of various large properties without cost to himself by using the funds of the banks. He said "watered stock to the probable amount of $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 was issued. Mr. Walsh, through his employees, voted the stock to himself. He then sold this stock to the banks, taking the money to build up his private enterprises. All of the stock so sold by Mr. Walsh was practically valueless. It was the practice of Mr. Walsh to make loans to one of his companies and then sell the bonds of that company to the banks. These bonds were practically worthless."

The assistant District attorney then stated to the jury how Mr. Walsh had induced various people to sign "accommodation" notes for the bank. "Then," said Mr. Dobyns, "he signed the names of people to notes. Checks were made out, payable to bearer and credited to the personal account of Mr. Walsh. Bonds were made out to the same 'dummies' whose names were on the notes and the credits were made to Mr. Walsh's account.

"In 1903 Mr. Walsh was told by the bank examiner that the Chicago National bank was being loaded down with the securities of Mr. Walsh's personal enterprises. The examiner ordered him to take these securities out, and Mr. Walsh promised to do so.

"In 1904 the bank was found in the same condition, the warning was repeated and Mr. Walsh again promised to remove the securities. Another examination showed that the bank was in a worse condition than ever, and it was then ordered closed.

The government will show that Walsh's method was to buy from himself, fix his own price and put the money in his pocket."

As an illustration of Mr. Walsh's procedure in matters of finance, the Assistant District Attorney cited the Peoria Gas and Electric Company, which he referred to as "perhaps the least objectionable of any of Mr. Walsh's enterprises."

"This company," he said, "was organized in 1899, and the capital stock was fixed at $300,000. Two hundred thousand dollars was paid in and it was all paid by others in the company than Mr. Walsh. Mr. Walsh was to hold $300,000 of the stock and issued certificates for bonds to that extent. These were worthless but he put them in his banks and took out money for them with which to build up the company."
