

NAVY DEFEATS ARMY IN HARD CONTEST ON FRANKLIN FIELD

Douglas Scored Only Touchdown for the Boys From Annapolis in the First Half of A Gruelling Struggle.

SCORE REMAINED 6 TO 0 DESPITE HARD EFFORTS.

Second Half Passed With Neither Side Able to Score—A Great, Spectacular Crowd Witnessed the Game.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—Before the most spectacular crowd ever gathered on a football field, those two ancient foes the Army and Navy, met on Franklin field this afternoon. In a grueling contest, lasting two hours, the Navy won by a score of 6 to 0. It was a throat grappling, Greek meet Greek contest in which every moment of play was marked by desperate action. On either side during the game the two militant arms of the greatest country on earth, sat rank upon rank, thronged in opposition with battle flags flying. When the teams appeared on the field a great cheer rent the air. Beavers, for the Army, kicked off and the struggle was on. The teams buckled to the work like game cocks. Douglass catching a punt in mid-field went whirling up the turf toward the Army goal. Man after man of the Army sprang to meet him but he ducked and dodged the tackles until he was dropped on the Army's ten-yard line by Smith. On the Navy side there arose a thousand tongued cheer. After a desperate struggle, Douglass made the touchdown and kicked the goal for the Navy. Neither side could score in the second half.

INDIANA AND PURDUE ARE NOW MAKING EYES

Probable Two Universities Re-sume Athletic Relations.

A story from Lafayette today is to the effect that Indiana and Purdue universities will resume athletic relations next season. According to the report, a member of the Purdue faculty has declared that the authorities of the two schools have agreed upon a football game for 1908. The game, he said, is already tentatively scheduled. Indiana and Purdue will get together next spring in track athletics, although not in a dual meet. It is possible that they may play basketball this winter.

The Passing of Courtroom Oratory.
Inspiration is a lost art in the courtroom. Nowadays no true lawyer advises, prepares documents or tries a case without a careful preparation. Forensic oratory has passed away. No longer does the crowd gather in the county courthouse to listen to and be moved by the wit, pathos and eloquence of the advocate as for hours or days he addresses the jury. The courtroom may be filled, but it is largely with the ubiquitous reporters, many of whom are as destitute of tears as Santa Claus is of water and as callous to emotion as the mummified sleepers of Egypt. No longer is it true that weeping men and women with handkerchiefs to their eyes are moved by the eloquence of counsel. Time is a pressing factor. Facts rather than eloquence is the demand.—D. C. Brewer in Atlantic.

Ristori.
She once remarked to me, "I cannot portray vice, but I can understand and realize crime." All the more powerful passions were within her range—bated, jealousy, remorse, revenge—but her lovemaking, except in farce, was as a rule a failure. Her mind, like her life, was so singularly crystalline that she could not understand mere vice, that would rather be a great masterpiece," said she, "than a morbid, sickly fantasia, such as are, for the most part, the heroines of your modern drama."—Saturday Review.

The First Lady.
Adam looked at his helpmate thoughtfully. "Well," he said in his emphatic way, "there's certainly one honor that is indisputably yours, my dear." "And what that, Ad?" queried our first mother.

Adam suddenly smiled.

"Nobody can dispute the claim that you are the first lady in the land," he said.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A Bad Mix.
The advertising manager was in a towering rage. "What's the trouble?" they asked. "Why, they went and placed our prima donna's testimonial for a cold cure on the same page with the announcement that she had a sore throat and couldn't sing."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

There is no better balsam for keeping the mind steady on its keel and saving it from all risk of crankiness than business.—Lowell.

RICHMOND DEFEATS NEW MADISON IN GAME SATURDAY

Richmond Lads Waded Over The Field in Snow and Came Out Victorious by the Score Of 6 to 5.

TWO UNIVERSITY PLAYERS IN NEW MADISON LINEUP.

The Contest Was Considered The Best That Has Been Played at New Madison During Present Season.

The Richmond high school team defeated the New Madison high school team Saturday afternoon at New Madison by a score of 6 to 5. The game was played in a sea of mud and snow, making fast work impossible. New Madison was reinforced by two Miami university football players, but they failed to create any havoc with the locals.

In the first half New Madison kicked off to Richmond. By line bucks the locals fought the ball to the New Madison forty yard line where Wane of Richmond, secured the ball and made a dash of forty yards for a touchdown. It was the one spectacular feature of the game. Captain Karns kicked goal. The half ended Richmond 6, New Madison 0.

In the second half New Madison kicked off again to Richmond. A forward pass was attempted by the locals, but it failed. The locals were penalized fifteen yards, which put them on their ten yard line. There New Madison held Richmond for downs. By line bucks New Madison shoved the locals back of their goal for a touchdown. The attempt to kick goal failed. This made the score Richmond 6, New Madison 5. When the locals left Saturday morning for New Madison, Lamb, the right guard, was missing. Nothing daunted he took a traction car to New Paris and from there he walked to New Madison arriving in time to play in the game.

END OF THE UNIVERSE.

How It Will Come According to the Norseland Myth.

One of the most striking of the Norseland myths is that in which is pictured the end of the universe, when all the gods of Asgard and Nidhheim and the inhabitants of Jotunheim and Midgard, together with their habitations, would be destroyed. That this catastrophe would come to all the visible creation they firmly believed, for their untaught minds could not conceive of immortality.

And this is how they pictured the fearful time: Three winters would come upon the earth, one after another, without the tempering influence of a single summer. Snow would fall from every quarter of the heavens, wild storms would sweep over the earth, with tempestuous winds that nothing could withstand, and the sun would lose its heat.

Three other winters would succeed the first three, during which red visaged war would stalk over the universe, leaving blood and death in its ruthless track. Then the earth would begin to tremble in uncontrollable fear, the sea would rush from its bed, the heavens would be rent, and the eagles of the air would feast upon the still quivering flesh of multitudes of men slain without warning.

Fenris, the wolf monster, would throw off his bonds; the Midgard serpent, whose gigantic form encircled the world, would rise from its lair, and Loki, the evil genius of the universe, would desert the gods and go back among their enemies. Surtur would lead his followers to the Bifrost bridge, devouring flames before and behind them, and, having destroyed it in their passage, they would join Loki and the frost giants on the battlefield of Vigrid, where Fenris, the Midgard serpent and the hosts of Hela had already assembled.

Meanwhile Heimdall, the watchman of Asgard, the abode of the gods, would sound the alarm with the Giallar horn, summoning the celestial cohorts to the field. Odin, clad in all the splendor of his supreme office, would lead forth the gods in martial array. Fenris, pressing forward, would throw himself upon Odin with a ferocity that the deity could not withstand, and the All Father would fall, pierced with a thousand wounds from the monster's fangs.

Then Vidar, the son of Odin, would fall like a thunderbolt upon the blood reeking wolf and avenge his celestial father's death. Thor, the all powerful, would slay, with his great hammer, the Midgard serpent, but even as the monster gave up its life its venomous breath would wreak vengeance upon the slayer, and Thor would sink down, suffocated to death.

Meanwhile Loki and Heimdall have been seeking each other, and, having met, they would fight with the fury of demons until both were slain. Thus all over the bloody field gods and giants, good spirits and evil, would meet and stay each other, and when the dreadful carnage was ended Surtur would send his fiery flames abroad, and the universe would be burned.

The sun would lose its light, the earth would disappear, the stars would fall from heaven, and time would no more.

NO INDIANANS INCLUDED ON ALL-WESTERN ELEVENS.

Several Hoosier Stars Are Given Places on Second Teams—Chicago Critics Make the Selections.

Indiana football players failed to get a single position on the All-Western elevens chosen by the Chicago football critics this week. Last year Haze Clark and Frupin were given places by two of the experts and several others were placed on the second team or given honorable mention. This year a considerable number are given honorable mention and a few are placed on the second team.

Walter Eckersall, in the Tribune, goes into the detail of each player's work. He says that Tucker, of DePauw, while the best end in Indiana would be a much better half-back. He also mentions Sohl, of Wabash, and Shade, of Purdue, as comers. Eckersall characterizes Cartwright, of Indiana, the third best full-back in the West, after Weller, of Nebraska, and Osthoff, of Wisconsin. But he says Cartwright is lamentably weak in interference work, which is true. Harlan, of Wabash, is mentioned as a coming quarterback and Talbot, of Indiana, also mentioned. Sutherland and Burkheimer are named as good guards and Gipe is given some attention as a tackle. Burns, of Wabash, and H. Paddock of Indiana, are called good ends.

The Record-Herald names only one Indiana player, Gordon, of Purdue. This man is given a half-back position on the Record-Herald second eleven, his work against Chicago gaining him the place. He is characterized as a great offensive player, doing well at line-plunging and receiving forward passes.

The Inter Ocean names four Indiana players on the second team. They are Burkheimer, Purdie, at guard; Scott Paddock, Indiana, end; Forsythe, Purdue, quarter and Cartwright, Indiana, full-back. The Evening Post names Forsythe as second team quarterback. The Examiner gives H. Paddock and Gordon honorable mention.

NOTRE DAME TEAM LOSES THREE MEN

The Prospects for the Catholics Next Season Unusually Bright.

WAS A SURPRISE THIS YEAR

INDIANA AND PURDUE GAMES WERE ONLY HARD ONES ON SCHEDULE BUT WERE PLEASING TO COACHES.

Notre Dame, Ind., November 30.—The football schedule of Notre Dame's victorious eleven is at an end, and the rooters are highly elated over the outcome of the season's battles. Coach and although everyone looked forward to a victory, none thought the score would be over 5 to 0.

Barry Given Credit.

The outcome is due to the coaching ability of Barry, who is without doubt one of the best men in the business. It is not known whether he will return to take charge of the team next fall. If he decides to return every one here will welcome him with open arms. The result of the games played are as follows:

Notre Dame 32, P. and S. 0; Notre Dame 23, Franklin 0; Notre Dame 22, Oliver 4; Notre Dame 0; Indiana 0; Notre Dame 22, Knox 4; Notre Dame 0; Alumni 0; Notre Dame 17, Purdue 0; Notre Dame 21, St. Vincent College 0.

It is said that Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust Company, of Illinois, and former controller of the currency, will quit banking and finance, to become a composer of music. He is a great lover of music and has already composed many pieces that have been well received in New York and Chicago.

Let HASSENBUSCH "Feather the Nest."

You can't lose

at least not when you put your money in your home. Just one big dollar will do a lot here. There is hardly a thing you can mention for a home that you cannot buy here, while you would have practically nothing to show for your dollar in a bank—with always a chance of your losing your money.

You can't lose a house full of furniture, can you?

Ever look at it in that way? It's simply making your home your bank. Try HASSENBUSCH'S PLAN. There's not another as simple and as easy. You simply pay a small amount down to bind the bargain—and pay the balance a little at a time, as best suits your convenience. We do not ask for your "references." All we ask is: Your name—your address—and your occupation. Positively we do not go to your employer or your friends and question them about you. All you have to do is to tell the salesman to "charge it."

Barry took hold of a bunch of men who it was thought would not more than measure up with a high school team and welded them into the eleven that holds the state flag in partnership with Indiana university. The 1907 team was the best on the locals have put into the field in years. The 1908 eleven promises to be even better, for only three men of the present squad will not appear next fall. These are Captain Callicrate, Munson and Doc Berteling. Their loss will be keenly felt. Munson has another year to play, but it is hardly possible that he will return to school next year. Callicrate has played his time out, and Berteling will be graduated in the engineering department, so that he will be ineligible next year.

The Indiana and Purdue contests were the only hard games the locals had upon their schedule this year, and the outcome of both games was more than the coaches expected. When the team left for Indianapolis to play Indiana it was the opinion of everyone here that the varsity would be defeated, but, contrary to expectations, they shared the honors of the day with the Sheldons. The result of the Purdue contest was equally unexpected, Coach and although everyone looked forward to a victory, none thought the score would be over 5 to 0.
