

See us on XMAS
Decorations

We will be headquarters.

We handle the finest Holly that comes to the city.

BEE HIVE

Moore & Ogborn

Can supply you with a good loan at a low rate of interest.
Can furnish you with bonds of any kind on short notice.
Room 16 I. O. O. F. Bldg. Phones,
Home 1589, Bell 53-R.

Kiblinger Motor
Buggy, $375
And Upwards
DOUBLE CYLINDER,
Air cooled—9-10 H. P. The Automobile sle for winter. No water to freeze.
No punctured tires. Simple, safe and reliable. Built for country roads.
W. H. KIBLINGER CO.,
Box No. 320. Auburn Ind.

EASY PAYMENTS
J. HASSENBUSCH
Furniture, Carpets
Stoves, Etc.
505-507 Main St., Richmond, Ind.

INSURANCE, REAL ESTATE
LOANS, RENTS
W. H. Bradbury & Son
Rooms 1 and 3, Westcott Bldg.

Round Trip
Sunday Rates
Every Sunday
Via The C. C. & L. R. R.

To Cincinnati, O. $1.90
To Cottage Grove, Ind.55
To Boston, Ind.25
To Williamsburg35
To Economy50
To Losantville70
To Muncie20
To Marion20
To Peru95
Trains leave going East, 5:15 a. m.
Trains leave going West 10:55 a. m.
Daily.
For further information call
C. A. BLAIR, P. & T. A.,
Home Tel. 2062. Richmond.

LOOK FOR TOWN CLOCK THAT ISN'T THERE

Visitors in Richmond, Involuntarily Turn Their Gaze to the Court House Tower.

Nine out of ten strangers who come to Richmond, involuntarily turn their gaze to the court house dome whenever they desire to know the time of day.

Did you ever think of that? Have you ever noticed someone you did not know, turn his eyes up to the top of the court house? It looked funny, and the stranger looked sheepish afterwards, as though he knew he had made a mistake.

But, sure as you're alive, that same stranger will not walk ten steps until he finds himself again looking at that court house dome. Then he fumbles at his watch pocket.

ROBBED BY FAKE WIVES ARE MANY FOREIGNERS

Bold Scheme Now Being Operated in Pittsburgh.

PRETTY GIRLS ARE USED.

Pittsburgh, December 7—A remarkable scheme, involving the importation of "dummy" wives from points in Ohio and the performance of "fake" marriages by make-believe magistrates, all with the object of swindling trusting foreigners who desire life partners of their own nationality, has been uncovered by Pittsburgh police, and the alleged principals in the traffic are in jail.

Cleveland police will be asked to find the Ohio headquarters of the gang. Three Italians and a Pole conducted the business in Pittsburgh. They had a large supply of pretty girls, whom they brought to Pittsburgh from Cleveland long enough to stand as brides before a "fake" magistrate, rob their unsophisticated husbands and disappear.

VIEWERS' TIME EXTENDED.

The county commissioners have extended the period for the viewers of the proposed Washington township road to make their report to January 20. This road was petitioned for under the new road law.

Had to Do Something.
A cabby was brought to the police station for having hit one of his fares over the head during a dispute about his payment.

"Couldn't you explain to the gentleman without hitting him?" inquired the magistrate.

"Yes, sir, of course I know I was wrong, but, you see, I had jumped off the box, and I couldn't do that for nothing"—Nose Loisirs.

The Hub Of The Body.
The organs around which the other organs revolve, around which they are largely dependent for their welfare, is the stomach. When the functions of the stomach become impaired, the bowels become deranged. To cure a disease of the stomach, liver, bowels get a 50 cent or $1 bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup. Pepain and ginger. It is a宫殿 for constipation and dyspepsia ever surrounded.

DR. A. B. PRICE

DENTIST
14 and 15 The Colonial. Phone 681
Lady Assistant.

DR. W. J. SMITH
.. DENTIST ..
HOME PHONE 1382.
1103 Main Street, Ground Floor.

SUITS AND OVERCOATS

For Fall and Winter Wear.

We are showing all the latest things in Browns, Blues, Grays and the New Mixtures in fancy fabrics. We can fit anybody and no matter how much or how little you pay we will give you the greatest value money can buy.

$10 to $20

K. Clothiers & Hatters
K. Furnishers Krone & Kennedy
803 Main St.

NO STEPS TAKEN TO FORM LEAGUE

Manager Jessup Will Begin
Work of Organization
Next Week.

WINTER BASEBALL DOPE.

APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS ON LOCAL TEAM ALREADY ARE COMING IN—FANS WILL DANCE
ON DECEMBER 18.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.

He may stay one day or one year, and when he starts to go away he will find himself involuntarily making eyes at the court house.

Probably the architect would feel a chill in his bosom at seeing so much attention directed to the dome he had designed; surely he had to put something up there that kept constantly attracting the strangers. Perhaps he would feel that the architecture causes all the rapt attention of every stranger who comes into the city or goes by on the interurban cars.

Perhaps the strangers aren't accustomed to seeing such noble structure.

But the habit clings to the stranger.