

AGAIN RICHMOND SCORES SIGNAL POLO VICTORY

Tipton Team Was Clearly Out of the Running During the Contest of Friday Night at The Coliseum.

CURTAIN RAISER WAS BETTER GAME OF THE TWO.

Kibbeys and High School Played a Tie in Sensational Fashion—Muncie to Come Next Week.

Before the largest crowd that has attended polo this season, Richmond defeated Tipton Friday night, by a score of 7 to 4. Tipton came here with a record of having won 15 out of 19 games, but the team proved to be a quintet of youngsters and not in Richmond's class. The score does not represent the respective strength of the clubs, the Quakers being head and shoulders above the Tipton bunch.

The curtain raiser was the more interesting game of the evening, in which the Kibbeys and High School played a tie game. The score was 6 to 6. On account of it being past the hour for calling the "big" game, the two local teams did not get to finish their contest. The high school lads, showed much stronger than they did a week ago. Allison was again their particular star and his work was of the sensational type. Half back Fetter probably did the best work for the Kibbeys.

The Richmond-Tipton game was pretty much Richmond all the way through. Richmond took the lead and then toyed with the visitors until they threatened to tie the score. Then the Quakers braced and easily regained a good margin.

During the latter part of the third period, Van Etten of the Richmond team was put out of the game for rough playing, he being replaced by Barker. Barker worked the floor in pretty style and seems to be as good if not a better man than Van Etten.

Center Parry of the Richmond club, who is being much sought after by eastern polo organizations played a splendid game. He caused two of the locals goals and figured in the making of nearly all the others.

The best work for the visitors was done by their nervy little half back. Next Friday, Muncie will play here and the best game of the season is expected, as it is always Greek against Greek when Richmond and Muncie meet. The Richmond team since the acquisition of Quigley is much stronger than at the opening of the season and the winning streak it has been enjoying will likely continue unless the outside clubs strengthen considerably. Lineup and summary:

Richmond (7). Russell (4). First Rush. Quigley. Lane. Second Rush. Van Etten. Hiatt. Center. Parry. Jennings. Half. Williams. Ogan. Goal. Alexander.

Quigley, Richmond, 12:30. Van Etten, Richmond, 12:30. Quigley, Richmond, 12:30. Van Etten, Richmond, 12:30. Russell, Tipton, 12:30.

Second Period. Russell, Tipton, 12:30. Lane, Tipton, 12:30. Quigley, Richmond, 12:30. Parry, Richmond, 12:30.

Third Period. Hiatt, Tipton, 12:30. Parry, Richmond, 12:30. Stops—Alexander, 12:30. Foul—Richmond 2; Tipton 1. Attendance—700. Referee—Williams.

The lineup in the High School-Kibbey game was as follows: H. S. Kibbeys. Allison. First Rush. Henley. Karns. Second Rush. Reid. Haas. Center. Newman. Besoke. Half. Fetter. Steinkamp. Goal. Snively.

Sporting Notes.

Jim Jeffries will never fight again. His mother says he told her so, and she has supreme confidence in his word.

Jimmy Sebring, whose actions caused the big guns to be so harsh on the Tri-State leaguers, who had jumped their contracts, will be with Trenton next season.

Frank Mantell, the witterweight, of Pawtucket, R. I., and Harry Lewis, the clever Quaker City pugilist, are to battle after Jan. 1. They have been engaged to try out in a 10-round bout before the Edgewood A. C., of New Haven, Conn., on Jan. 23.

Pitcher William Bernard, of Cleveland, has signed a contract to manage the Nashville club of the Southern league next season. It is understood that he is to be paid a salary considerably in excess of that he was getting as a pitcher for the Naps.

John L. Sullivan says the variety and burlesque business is a bit too strenuous for him, and he intends to give up after the New Year. The old champ will have a drama of his own next year and promises to stir up the

Mrs. Swager Critten, of Kentucky, whose father, a wealthy commission merchant of Staten Island left her a pair of gold link buttons on his death. His will provided that his widow be given practically the whole estate. Mrs. Critten's sister gets only a gold signet ring, according to the will. "NO DIVORCE, NO AFFINITY," HIS POLITICAL PLATFORM

Pittsburg, Jan. 4.—With "No divorce, no affinity," as his platform Robert E. Heath, of this city, is to receive a republican nomination for the legislature in the twelfth district, which is republican and largely composed of working men.

Several trades unions are behind Heath, and the farmers in the country districts have also taken up the slogan. The many recent instances of wealthy Pittsburghers of humble origin who put away the wives of their relatives through the lax divorce laws of theatrical world when he starts out with it.

Marvin Hart, the heavyweight pugilist, of Louisville, Ky., who retired from the ring over a year ago, has decided to try his hand at fighting again, and is at present training hard to get himself in shape. He has sold out his saloon and says he will be ready to box again in about four weeks.

On account of a death in Packey McFarland's family, the twelve-round bout between Packey and Tommy Murphy, which was carded to be fought at the Armory A. A. of Boston, on Jan. 7, has been postponed until Jan. 14. Harry Gilmore, manager of McFarland, telegraphed to Jimmy O'Brien last night, asking him if he would postpone the bout for a week, and O'Brien consented sooner than lose the match.

Before Charley Harvey, manager of Owen Moran, started for California, he promised Jack McGinigan, matchmaker of the National A. C. of Philadelphia, that he would let Moran meet Grover Hayes, of Chicago, in a six-round bout at his club on Jan. 15th whether Owen won, lost or fought a draw with Atell. Hayes is a great favorite in Philadelphia and a bout between him and Moran would pack the club house to its capacity.

Hughy Jennings will try to repeat in 1908 by making a winner out of Joe Harris, who has twice distinguished himself by being the most consistent loser in the American league. Harris is likely to become a Tiger and Hughy thinks he can show Harris how to pitch successfully. Joe is a big fellow—bigger than George Mullin—and should be and Ira Thomas he paired the Tigers will be in possession of the champion avoidous battery of the big circuits.

It is evident at last that there will be no war declared by the American Association. It is not even likely that their cause will be presented to the national commission. Ban Johnson says that the commission has no jurisdiction, but that the proper way for them to proceed, if they wish to enter Chicago would be to place the question in the hands of the national association, and then allow the majors to vote on their entering Chicago.

This curious incident of travel in Africa is told by Henry Savage Landor: "I wished to buy a bag of grain, but the woman who owned it would on no account accept silver money for it, nor any article which she saw in my camp. My Somali servant had a bright idea—the only one he had during the journey across Africa. He went to one of the boxes of provisions and tore off a highly colored label from a corned beef tin. Having licked it copiously he stuck it in the middle of his forehead. Inquisitive, like a woman, the Caryu asked him what he did it for. The Somali said he had been seized with a violent headache and the colored paper was a certain cure. The Caryu at once offered the grain if the Somali would part with the magic paper. Her wish was satisfied without delay and the woman departed happy."

Pennsylvania inspired the novel political platform.

"If I am elected there will be new divorce laws in this state," said Heath today. "This indiscriminate putting away of a wife simply because she is not so handsome perhaps as some new affinity must be stopped. It has come to pass where it requires no more thought or trouble to get rid of a wife and take on a new woman than it requires to make a horse trade down South. It has come to be a disgrace to the state."

Men Who Worked on Turnpikes to Suffer.

Rushville, Ind., Jan. 4.—There will be many disappointed men in Rush county today when those who have labored for several months with pick and shovel on the turnpikes of this county to earn a livelihood for their families come to the county treasurer to draw their wages for the work they have done.

The auditor of the county stated that the county commissioners had overrun the appropriation limit about $8,000 and the men who expect their pay today will have to be turned away empty-handed. The commissioners have expended about $28,000 this year on the turnpikes in the county and only have $21,000 with which to pay. A partial payment has been made to the stone quarries who furnished the material, but the laborers must wait until the next spring assessment of taxes and they will not get their money until next June.

Those in the southern part of the county will feel the failure the worst as they are mostly in very limited circumstances and depend upon their daily earnings for the support of their families.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT Governor Hanly Takes a Hand in Muncie Streetcar Strike.

Indianapolis, Jan. 4.—Upon receipt of information that the local officials had exhausted their full power without being able to insure the safety of the cars of the Muncie Street Railway company, Governor Hanly this morning ordered twelve companies of infantry and the Indianapolis battery of light artillery to Muncie to control the situation. This detail comprises the companies of the national guard stationed at Indianapolis, Martinsville, Franklin, Greenfield, Winchester, Kokomo, Crawfordsville, Columbia City and Warsaw.

IMPRISONMENT FOR PACK OF COWARDS

Kentucky's New Executive Is Greatly Incensed Over the Most Recent Raid.

DOES NOT MINCE HIS TERMS

DECLARES KUKLUX CAN NOT FIND FOOTING IN BLUE GRASS STATE AND GIVES A WARNING TO THIS END.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan.—A prison cell stares every participant in the raid at Russellville in the face of Governor Willson has his way about it. In a statement issued he declares that every power of the law will be invoked to bring to justice and imprison "the cowards who secretly conspired to intimidate the people into obeying mob rule."

"Mob law can not stay in Kentucky, and even though it strike cowardly, in the dark, and runs and hides, presently the forces of the state will catch the criminals that pollute the state and the consequences will fall upon the heads of the men whose plots have brought those things to pass," he says.

Governor Willson does not mince words and talks pretty plainly to those whom he says he will exterminate. He says:

"The Russellville raid was clearly a violation of the promises made by the managers of the associations in that part of the state and was made to hinder the prosecution at Hopkinsville by intimidating the officials and witnesses, but the only result will be to add new crimes and new criminals and to make it harder for the tobacco growers in that region ever to get living prices for their tobacco; to further disgrace the state; to further destruction of values of farms and property in that district; to destroy the tobacco market there; to oppress and drive the people and to take away their liberties; to shake their faith in protection of the laws and to force capital and valuable immigration to leave Kentucky, and all this without the least hope or chance to help the men who formed these conspiracies.

Raids Mean Prison Fate. "It means the penitentiary for infamous men who formed the conspiracy and for many of their dupes, for, though their associations number thousands, the law-abiding, law-loving people number hundreds of thousands and there can be no possible hope that the Kuklux can govern Kentucky and a possible escape from punishment when, as it surely must come to pass in a short time, the full extent of the crime and hurt is understood and the conscience, duty and faith of the people resume control and restore the full and irresistible power of the people.

It Does The Business. Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c. at A. G. Loken & Co., drug store.

BATTLE OF SAN JACINTO. The Desperate Fight That Heralded the Dawn of Texan Freedom.

On the morning of the 21st of April, 1836, the day chosen for the battle which was to decide the fate of Texas, Houston's first words had been, "The sun of Austerlitz has risen again." He had then called a council of war and asked the opinion of his six field officers as to whether they should attack the enemy or wait for the attack to come from them.

The four senior officers strangely counseled delay, but their arguments did not convince Houston, who declared that the hour for action had arrived and plainly announced the intention on his own responsibility to risk a general engagement. He then dispatched Deaf Smith, his most trusted scout, to cut down the bridge which offered the only means of escape to either army.

"Make the best of your way," he had said in his habitual tone of kindly friendship, "to Vince's bridge, cut it down and burn it up and come back like eagles or you will be too late for the day." And just as the first charge was starting a horseman flecked with foam from his panting charger had dashed along the lines of the patriot army, as Houston had arranged that he should do, calling out clearly that all might bear, this deathknell to all hopes of possible escape: "I have cut down Vince's bridge! Now, fight for your lives and remember the Alamo!"

The Texan army, with Houston riding at the front of the center column, had then dashed forward against the Mexican breastworks behind which stood the army of Santa Anna, drawn up in perfect order and calmly receiving its fire for short range. Their first volley, however, by the grace of a divine Providence, as the Texans declared, went too high. Houston's leg was shattered at the ankle and his horse severely wounded, but his column still advanced uninjured.

Then came the answering volley, "poured into the very bosoms" of the astonished Mexicans—unable to reload and without bayonets for the charge. The Texans had "clubbed their muskets" and dealt desperate blows, and finally, when they had thus battered their way into the very center of the Mexican army, they had drawn their numerous bowie knives and "literally cut their way through dense masses of living flesh."

The battle had lasted only twenty minutes, but in that time a new nation had been born into the world. "From the battle of San Jacinto," said Webster in 1842, "the war was at an end."—Metropolitan Magazine.

PARIS IS EXCITED OVER FISTIC DUEL

Talk of a Duel With Deadly Weapons and Wedding Is Heard on All Sides.

PRINCE PROPPED UP IN BED

Paris, Jan. 4.—The newspapers of this city today publish long accounts of the encounter between Count Boni de Castellane and Prince Helle de Sagan, in the Rue de Chailou. The two men are cousins. Count Boni was recently divorced by his wife, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York, and Prince Helle is credited with having been attentive to the Count Boni's former wife.

Count Boni is quoted as declaring his cousin to be outside the pale of society and he reiterates the statement made yesterday that it would be impossible for Prince Helle to procure acceptable seconds even if he desired to challenge to a duel.

Prince Helle de Sagan was propped up in bed smoking cigarettes. He declared that after conferring with his fencing master and other friends he saw no reason to change his decision not to send to challenge. "If Boni had struck me in the face with his glove I would fight him," said the prince.

Marriage Now Impossible. Asked about the report published in Le Journal that his engagement to Miss Anna Gould would be announced in a few days and that the marriage would follow in Germany, Prince Helle replied that the public should be satisfied with the denials issued by Miss Gould and himself.

QUARTER SAVES LIFE OF NEW YORK MAN

Woman Throws Stove Lifter And Explodes Cartridge.

New York, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Josephine Comensky, 18, became angry last night with Caster Gussus, who boards with her, and struck him with an iron stove lifter. Immediately there was a loud report and Gussus fell to the floor screaming with pain. Mrs. Comensky got a policeman and called an ambulance from St. John's hospital.

The surgeon found that Mrs. Comensky's blow had exploded a cartridge Gussus had carried in his pocket and the bullet, striking against a 25-cent piece, had driven the coin partly into his right side. The hospital directors cut out the coin and Gussus will recover. The coin undoubtedly saved the man's life.

Mrs. Comensky was not arrested, as Gussus corroborated her story of the accident.

STOLE TO HELP KEEP CHILDREN

Father of Ten Couldn't Keep Them on $1,100 a Year.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—John J. Healy, 48 years old, for 29 years an employee of the Chicago postoffice, and the father of ten children was arrested for the theft of a letter containing $4.

"I did not make enough to take care of my family," said Healy. "I took it for them."

When the inspectors reached Healy's home there was no coal in the stove and the place was damp and chilly. There was so little food that if the ten children had all asked for some there would not have been enough to go around. Their clothing was old and worn.

Healy was unable to furnish bond and was lodged in the county jail. He has been receiving $1,000 a year.

Phantom Hounds. Conan Doyle's "Hound of the Baskervilles," a "fearsome animal," is said to have its origin in the legends of packs of spectral hounds which are popular in various parts of England and Wales. In the north of England these apparitions are known as "Gable's hounds," in Devon the "Wisk," "Yest" or "Heath hounds," in Wales "Cron Anwnn" or "Cwn Wybir" in Cornwall the "Devil's Dandy dogs." They are supposed to be evil spirits hunting the souls of the dead. Generally they are only heard and seem to be passing swiftly along in the air, as they usually choose cloudy nights for the pursuit of their prey. Their yelping is said to be terrific, resembling the note of a bloodhound. All of which tends to show that the origin of these legends of goblin hounds is to be found in the terrifying noises made by flocks of wild geese.

Hugh Tighe, of Hennessey, Okla., was bitten by a dog. Without saying anything about Hugh's name, the incident does not lose interest with this explanation in the Press-Democrat: "The boy was clad in a red bearskin cloak cap, cloak and leggings and it is probable that the dog did not recognize that he was a child, hence made the attack with the above result."

SPERK WILL COACH PURDUE NEXT FALL

Former Chicago Star Will Teach Football.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4.—Fred A. Spiek, for four years an end on the University of Chicago football team, and for three years Coach Stagg's right-hand man, has been selected to coach the Purdue football team next fall. At present Spiek is an interne at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. The athletic authorities believe that Spiek will turn out a winning eleven at Purdue next fall.

He succeeds Turner, who was unsuccessful with last season's team. Spiek and Sheldon, I. C.'s coach, were team mates. Spiek's selection is most likely to mean a contest next season between Indiana and Purdue.

OVERFEMINIZATION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Male Principals in Schools Are Becoming "Sissies" Stanley Says.

EFFEMINATE BOY FAVORED.

Des Moines, Jan. 4.—"The time has come for a movement in favor of men's rights," declared G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark university, before the Iowa State Teachers' association.

"There has been a thirty years' war for women's rights, and now the pendulum has swung too far," declared Prof. Hall. "This is an age of over feminization, especially in the schools. Men should be principals and should have men under them. With women under them men principals are becoming 'sissies.' By the presence of women teachers in the public schools, flogging has gone out and the effeminate 'sissy' boy is honored and called perfect. This does not make for manhood."

Good For Twenty. "Lawyers get stung as easily as other people," said one who practices in the criminal courts. "Here's what happened to me the other day: A friend of mine tipped me off that there was a case coming up in special sessions and it would be easy to get the defendant, a negro, free."

"There's a twenty in it for you," he added. "I've got another case on upstairs or I would take it myself."

"Sure enough, I got the fellow off, and when we reached the corridor I politely intimated that I had heard there was a twenty awaiting me for my trouble."

"Sure thing, boss," said the negro, diving into his pockets. "It certainly ain't worth twenty, all right." Without a smile he handed over two dimes.—New York Sun.

Colds and Bald Heads. A baldheaded physician said: "I used to be dreadfully subject to colds even in the summer. I had to wear a black skullcap all the time. The minute I took it off I began to sneeze and wheeze. But now for a year I have not once worn a skullcap, and I have not once had a cold. Why, I could go and stand bareheaded in a snowstorm without any ill effect. My immunity to colds comes from this: Every morning I put my head under the cold water spigot and let the cold water run for a minute on my bald crown. This is a refreshing thing, and since I began to do it I have never had a cold."—Milwaukee Journal.
