LOVER BLITHE IN SECOND CHILDHOOD

Senator H. G. Davis Will Soon

an of Washington.

RUMOR CANNOT BE KILLED.

MISS ASHFORD WAS A CHARMING
SOCIETY EDITRESS ON A WASH-INGTON PAPER—THE OLD MAN IS MUCH IN LOVE.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—The report that former Senator Henry Gassaway Davis of West Virginia is to marry Miss Maude Ashford has been revived in the last few days by the statement of her intimate friends that the engagement is indeed true and that the marriage will take place in the near future. In fact, it is said the wedding of the former senator and Miss Ashford will take place the coming week.

Senator Davis plans, it is understood, to take his bride to Palm Beach for a honeymoon, and it is further said he will settle upon her, at the time of their marriage, the sum of $1,000,000, in consideration for which she will waive all her dower rights. This probably is in consideration for the feelings of his family.

Marriage to be Quiet.

One of the senator's daughters, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, wife of the senator from West Virginia, still denies the engagement of her father to Miss Ashford, in consequence of which some of her friends think the senator is keeping his family in ignorance of his intended plans, and that the wedding will therefore be extremely quiet.

Bride-Elect Once Reporter.

Miss Ashford, whose name has been linked so persistently with that of the last democratic candidate for the vice-presidency, was for a time society reporter on one of the local papers.

She is, of course, much younger than the former senator, who was born at Baltimore as far back as 1823 and is now in his eighty-fifth year.

As a youthful old man he has distanced even Speaker Cannon, and, while his bride to be is more than two score years his junior, no one seems inclined to criticise the marriage, except, possibly, some of his own immediate family.

BODY TO BE BURIED.

ANONYMOUS LETTER MAY GIVE SOME LIGHT UPON THE MUR-DER-CHANCE REMARKS LEADS TO AN ARREST IN THE CASE.

Harrison, N. J., January 6.—Theodore Whitmore, the New York motorman in his cell "to await the action of the coroner," is the central figure in the Passaic river swamp murder mystery. The identity established beyond dispute, the body of murdered Lena Whitmore is to be accorded private burial by relatives. It will be sent to Schenectady, the home of her youth. Whitmore today expressed a desire to rescue the body from the morgue. Whitmore, who gave away to occasional bursts of weeping Saturday, had himself well in hand today. The anonymous letter received by the police some days ago, in which the writer said that he had accompanied the woman to the flats and there stunned her with blows on the head, may prove important evidence. The writer denied that he had killed the woman, but suggested that she had probably drowned herself because of her chagrin when she regained consciousness and found her clothing had been stripped from her. It now appears, according to the police, that the handwriting in this letter bears a striking resemblance to the writing in the letters received by Mrs. Whitmore's sister, which purported to have come from Mrs. Whitmore, but must have been written after her death. All of the letters will be examined and compared by experts. The inquest has been set for next Thursday evening.

A chance remark led to the arrest today of Caleb Evans, a time clerk employed by the Third Avenue elevated. The remark quoted Whitmore as having said that he would steal home some morning and surprise his wife. The Quinine of Life.
Infants and children are constantly needing a laxative. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomach and bowels are not strong enough to digest solid, purgative waters or cathartics, powders, etc., taken internally, are a most unpleasant, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, which sells at the small sum of 50 cents a bottle, is a most valuable and one great remedy for those who have to live in the house to give children when they need it.

GIRLS OFFER BONUS TO THE YOUNG MEN

Will Pay Them 50 Cents an Hour to Dance.

Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 6.—Because they could not get young men to attend their dances in sufficient numbers, even when they reversed the usual method and charged the girls instead of the boys at the door, members of the Modern Brotherhood of America have announced that they will pay 50 cents an hour for twenty-five young men to attend the dance they will give next week.

About 125 applications have already been received, which the brotherhood take as an indication that the financial stringency rather than high morals, is the cause of the lack of attendance during the last few months.

BURIED IN CEMENT.

The Story of an Arab Boy Who Renounced Mohammedanism.

According to history, there was born about the year 1520 an Arab boy named Geronimo. He was captured in infancy by the Spanish garrison at Oran, and when about eight years old he escaped from his captors and went back to his family, living as a Mohammedan until the age of twenty-five. He then voluntarily returned to Oran and resumed the Christian life which he had adopted previously when in the hands of the Spanish authorities. A few years later he went on a coasting raid with a party of Spaniards, but the raiders were themselves captured by a Moorish corsair and brought to Algiers. Here the attempt was made to convert him to Mohammedanism, but he persistently refused to embrace that faith, so that he was tried and condemned to die. His hands were tied behind his back, and he was cast alive, face downward, into a block of concrete then being prepared for the Fort des Vingt Quatre Heures, then building. Careful note was taken of the spot by Hailo, a Spanish Benedictine missionary to Algiers, who prayed the time might come when the Lord would pave the way for his exhumation and Christian burial. In 1853 the French found it necessary to destroy the fort, and the data left by Hailo were found to be correct, for the designated block of concrete on being cut open disclosed the bones of Geronimo and the cavity left by his body. The bones were removed Dec. 27, 1853, and given Christian burial, and they now rest in a massive stone sarcophagus in the cathedral. A plaster cast was made of the cavity and afterward was photographed. Cement age.

MURDERED MAN'S SUIT CASE FOUND

Was About Two Miles From Scene of Tragedy.

Winnipeg, Ind., Jan. 6.—The suit case of George Widesmith, who was murdered and robbed near Crown Point was found about two miles from the scene. The contents had been removed. It has been discovered that one of the vestibule doors on the train on which Widesmith was traveling had been opened, and the theory of the detectives is that he was sandbagged and thrown from the train. No clew to the perpetrators of the crime has been found.

AN UNCONQUERED PEAK.

Lizard Head on Mount Wilson Has Defied the Climbers.

The mountains and peaks of the San Juan in northwestern Colorado present a different appearance from any of the northern Rockies.

They are grander, more precipitous, with sharper pinnacles and more jagged in outline. In height Mount Massive, Elbert and Bierstadt slightly outstrip those of the San Juan, but nowhere else can be found whole groups of mountains rearing their heads to and above 14,000 feet.

Mount Wilson—14,250 feet—the dominant peak, is one of the most massive in the entire Rocky mountain range. Just east of this mountain is the remarkable trachyte obelisk called Lizard head. The vivid imagination of an early pioneer who had been "seeing things" is said to be responsible for the name.

The summit is 14,100 feet above the sea. From a ponderous base the pinnacle rises 250 feet, with a diameter at the foot of only about sixty feet, gradually tapering to less than half that at the top.

Lizard head has defied all attempts of mountain climbers to reach its summit.

The foot of the pinnacle is easily accomplished, but thus far the steep sides of the 250 foot shaft have proved insurmountable. No doubt the time will come when the venturesome mountain climber will find a way, but many a failure is the record of the past.

Trails circle this mountain for miles on the way from Telluride to Rico, New York Post.

"It's funny they can't find anything in this whole block that suits them," said an interested observer of their progress. What is the matter?"

"There are plenty of vacant flats," said an agent, "but they wouldn't suit those people. They are not on the first floor. That couple is just from the country. Like all other people who never have lived in an apartment, they are afraid of fire and on that account can't be persuaded to go above the ground floor. A year from now they will cheerfully climb to the fourth or maybe the fifth story, but until they get broken in nothing but the first floor will do."—New York Press.
